APPROPRIATIONS AND TAX ORDERS FOR THE FINANCIAL YEAR 1921-22.

Ordered, That to meet current expenses payable during the financial year beginning with the first day of February, 1921, of performing the duties and exercising the powers devolved by statute or ordinance, or by vote of the City Council during the year, upon the City of Boston, or the County of Suffolk, or the departments or officers thereof, and to meet their respective obligations for interest on debt, sinking fund requirements, and maturing debt not provided for by sinking fund, the respective sums of money specified in the tables and schedules hereinafter set out be and the same are hereby appropriated for the several departments and for the objects and purposes hereinafter stated.

Ordered, That the appropriations for Water Service, current expenses, and the payment to the state under the provisions of chapter 488 of the Acts of 1985, and acts in addition or amendments thereto, and for the interest and debt requirements for loans issued for water purposes, be met by the income of said works and any excess over income from taxes; that the appropriation for City Record be met by the income from the publication and any excess over income from taxes; that the other appropriations hereinafter specified be met out of the money remaining in the treasury at the close of business on January 31, 1921, exclusive of the money raised by loan or needed to carry out the requirements of any statute, gift, trust or special appropriation, and by the income of the financial year, beginning February 1, 1921, and taxes to the amount of $22,612,236.33 and that said amount be raised by taxation on the polls and estates in the City of Boston.

Ordered, That all sums of money which form no part of the income of the city, but shall be paid for services rendered or work done by any department or division or for any other department or division, or for any person or corporation other than the City of Boston, be paid into the general treasury, and that all contributions made to any appropriation be expended for the objects and purposes directed by the several contributors thereof.

Ordered, That all taxes raised to meet the appropriations of the city and all taxes assessed for meeting the city's proportion of the state tax of the year 1921, or of any other taxes or assessments payable to the Commonwealth, be due and payable on the fifteenth day of October, 1921; that interest shall be charged on all taxes remaining unpaid after the first day of November, 1921, in accordance with the provisions of chapter 460 of the Acts of 1920, until paid, except the taxes assessed upon shares of national banks, which shall bear interest at the rate of twelve per cent per annum from the fifteenth day of October, 1921, until paid; and that all interest which shall have become due on taxes shall be added to and be part of such taxes.

Ordered, That except as the appropriation for any purpose or item shall be increased by additional appropriations or by transfers lawfully made, no money shall be expended by any department for any of the purposes or items designated in the tables and schedules hereinafter set out in excess of the amount set down as appropriated for such specific purpose or item; and except as aforesaid, no salaries or wages shall be paid in excess of the rates specified in said tables and schedules.

Referred to the Committee on Appropriations, when appointed.

OPPOSITION TO SENATE BILL NO. 130.

Coun. WATSON offered the following:

Resolved, That the City Council of Boston hereby requests the members of the Massachusetts Senate and House of Representatives, especially the Boston members, to use their influence to defeat or modify the provisions of Senate Bill No. 130, entitled "An Act to Equalize the Cash and Share Capital of Certain Gas and Electric Companies," so that the interests of the citizens of Boston and the Commonwealth may be properly safeguarded.

Ordered, That the City Clerk be requested to send an attested copy of this resolution to the Clerk of the Massachusetts Senate and House of Representatives.

Coun. WATSON. Mr. President, I appreciate the fact that I have discussed the bill known as Senate 130 on the floor of this body prior to today. That was two weeks ago today, when the City Council with a full attendance voted, with a roll call of nine votes, to call upon the Committee on Power and Light at the State House to provide an opportunity for a committee of five appointed by you, sir, to protest against the passage of that bill. But, owing to the fact that the interests back of that measure worked with speed and cunning, and without heart, the bill was reported unanimously to the House of Representatives, and was passed with speed in that body without a dissenting voice. It then went to the Senate and was considered two weeks ago today by that body. On that very day the Boston American printed a strong editorial calling to the attention of the public the fact that the bill to permit the capitalizing of premiums by the public lighting organizations of the Commonwealth meant taking from the people large sums of money, and because of that editorial and because of interviews that I had prior to that time with those interested in the public welfare, citizens of the Commonwealth, I introduced that resolution.

In view of the fact, however, that the committee had reported, my order, passed unanimously by this body, was without effect, and the Clerk of Committees was so interviewed by letter of Mr. Coolidge, the president of the Senate. I have not the letter with me now, but in substance it said that it was against precedent for the Boston City Council to be heard before the Senate, as the committee had already performed its work and reported the bill. I have been working on the measure somewhat, and on the question I will discuss today I have gathered facts that Mr. Edgar may try to camouflage and discount, but I assure you, gentlemen, that he will fail in his objective. In consequence of the order passed by this body two weeks ago, and in consequence of the great publicity given to Senate Bill 130 two weeks ago today by the Boston American editorial, the chairman of the Committee on Power and Light on the part of the Senate, Mr. Parkhurst, suggested an amendment to except the Boston Consolidated Gas company from the benefits of the measure, and Senator Reed of Taunton, by reason of the publicity given the matter, started to make a fight for the light-consuming public of the State of Massachusetts, and has been fighting since then with his back against the wall.

The bill will be amended tomorrow in the Senate. I have received from the Clerk of the Senate, through the Clerk of Committees, a copy of Senate Bill 130, with this typewriting at the top: "This bill is on the Senate calendar for Tuesday, March 1, and is the bill referred to in your letter of February 15, as the Burdett bill." Now, gentlemen of the Council, whenever there is no light, where there is darkness, filth and disease will be created and extended. Wherever there is darkness, and night, the thief and highwayman do their work. So it is with the Edison Electric Illuminating company and the Consolidated Gas company, and practically all the public service corporations of the Commonwealth from the Berkshire Hills to Cape Ann, and from Barnstable to New Hampshire line. They all work in unison and if you hit one, you hit them all.

I have been told that I was too vigorous, and it has been suggested to me (not to my face but in anonymous letters and in vague telephone calls), that I can have this and that if I will lie down. But, Mr. President, I do not intend to be stopped in my efforts to do something for my constituents. While I refer to my efforts, I do not claim the glory; I am willing to divide the credit for whatever good comes from this measure with my colleagues. Without their assistance I would be unable to do any good, and they are entitled to the credit as well as myself. I, as the father of the legislation, gladly publicly pay tribute to them for their unanimous vote for the order of two weeks ago today. I must also give credit and show my appreciation by my statement, to the press for having let the light of day, the light of publicity in on this attempt of the lighting interests to rob the public of Massachusetts, not alone Boston.

When the Edison company robs the electric light consumer, and when the Cambridge Gas Light Company robs the consumer of gas, when they rob you and me, people generally who use gas and electricity, they affect the high cost of living, because when the storekeeper pays that tribute to the Edison company and to the gas company it is added on your meat bill and mine, it is added on to our grocery bills, is added on to our rent bills, and ultimately the ordinary toiler, the laborer, pays for the burden brought about by the increased cost of lighting because of the pilfering of the public by the Edison and kindred interests. Oh, they do hate the light! If it were not for the press, Sherman Whipple, Channing Cox, President Harding, might stand here and in Washington and point their fingers at these companies, at these thieving corporations, day in and day out, and the corporations would still continue their pilfering. But as soon as the light of publicity is shed on these things, as soon as the public read in the columns of the papers, the Boston and the metropolitan papers we have here, about these doings, the officials of the corporations then begin to shiver.

I must digress a moment, Mr. President and gentlemen of the Council, and bring to the attention of the members of this body, and the press as well, one matter that is interesting. Mr. Edgar has suddenly become deaf, dumb and blind, concerning the coal charges, since I produced my figures concerning the great drop in the price of coal. But he was interviewed, at the time when the thing came out in the American, and said that there was no coal-plus charge of $90,000 in connection with the street lighting bills here.

Mr. President, I had never uttered one word relative to the street lighting contract, but a newspaper man had an interview with him and he told him that. Well, that is interesting, because behind closed doors here we were told by an attorney that, following the action of the Edison company, concerning the ordinary consumers, the city would probably be obliged to pay $90,000 more to the Edison company because of our contract for street lighting. But Mr. Edgar in his interview said that the city would not have to pay that, and suddenly Mr. Edgar was called away on the matter and has become deaf, dumb and blind. We have not since heard a word from him. He referred to that matter in that way, although I had not mentioned it on the floor of the Council. So it may now be seen that, even with our limited functions, if Mr. Edgar will keep his word publicly given, as shown by the quotation in the Boston American, there will be no coal charges in connection with the contract for street lighting, and we will thereby have saved at least $90,000 for the year 1919 and at least $100,000 for the year 1920. He is now saying no more; he put his foot in it. I did not before the meeting today say anything about the $90,000 in connection with street lighting, but we will take his word for the situation there, and will take it for granted that there will be no claim against the city for it unless the banking interests make him claim that the papers misquoted him, which is a very common duck for those gentlemen to make.

Might I be permitted to bring to the attention of the members of the Council the difference in price of electricity sold by a manufacturer of electricity in Boston to one of our public buildings, and these prices charged by the Edison company? Through the instrumentality of myself, using a little of my influence and effort as a member of the body, in the time of the late John Quinn as sheriff, I got after the Edison company, and as a result a contract was made up there at the Court House for five years, which I understand has been renewed since, in 1919, with the Old Colony Real Estate Trust Company, of 39 Somerset street, where they have a dynamo and generate their own electricity and also light the Court House night and day. I have in my hand a bill rendered by the Old Colony Real Estate Trust Company to the City of Boston for electric service at the County Court House, and the total bill, from October 30 to November 30, 1920, is $772. It appears to have been furnished at the rate of 5½ cents per kilowatt hour, or one-half of the amount that the Edison company is charging for lighting our public buildings, court houses, and other buildings that are lit by them. At the South Boston Court House they are charging 11 cents. Why that great difference? Why such a difference in price? Who is getting it all? Furthermore, the Old Colony Real Estate Company, 39 Somerset street, buys some of its juice that it sells to the Court House from the Edison company, a fact that cannot be controverted or denied.

Let me read for the benefit of the members a bill against a big corporation. For the reason that the official in charge has not been given an O.K., or the right, as he says, to go ahead wide open with the expose, I will withhold the name of the company. From December 21, 1920, to January 21, 1921, this concern's total bill for electric power was $4,278, and the charges under the coal clause $2,068, or 50 per cent, in the bill for the month of January. They then began to curtail in the use of electricity, because the fountainhead of that corporation said, "Your bill is higher than you said it was going to be, and we will cut it down," and they cut it down. For the next month, January 29 to February 19, it totalled $2,482, and the charge under the coal clause was $1,110, the figures relatively being 50 per cent or 100 per cent, according to the way that you figure. This was notwithstanding the fact that in November, 1920, the finest New River coal, best quality coal, could be purchased at the mine for $6 a ton, in December, 1920, for $5.50 a ton, and in January, 1921, for $4 a ton, and today you can buy all the New River coal you want at the mines, per long ton, for $2.64 per ton. Naturally, with the decrease in the cost of coal, the cost of electricity or any commodity should be lowered. But no,—these thieving, powerful, arrogant corporations continue to bleed the very babies on the street, for whom their mothers perhaps have to buy adulterated milk to meet the size of their purse, and they have to pay an increased price for their food all along the line, and for their housing, because of the increased cost of lighting.

That does not mean that all the high cost of living can be attributed to the Edison company and the Consolidated Gas company, but when you have an accumulation of prices charged by the street railways, lighting companies and all these other corporations, and add them together, you find that the cost of living has been very largely increased in the last four years because of the action of these great big pilfering corporations like the Edison and the Consolidated. I have in my hand a copy in typewriting from the Edison company's information blank. How do they arrive at their price of coal under the coal clause? They say here at the bottom, No. 11, "difference upon which kilowatt hour charge is to be based, 11.234." Do they pay $9 a ton for transporting their New River coal from the mines to tidewater and from tidewater here? No, they don't, and they know it. They are lying. I might use a more polite term, but that suits my purpose much better. They believe that they are authorized, definitely appointed to do as they please with the ordinary man. They do not pilfer from those who cannot get back at them, but they pilfer you, sir (Coun. Lane), who live on Beacon street; they pilfer from the big users of electricity; they pilfer from everyone, and they believe, like President Baer, of the Reading Coal Company, that they are ordained or definitely appointed by God to do what they do. We know that Baer said practically that some years ago, in connection with the coal mining proposition, when coal was so scarce. They have become so arrogant that you might be their slave for 364 days in the year, and if you fell down the 365th day they would put somebody in your place, and after you were prostrate drive their heels into your neck and stop your very existence.

I know them. They have never had me; they have never used me. Since my advent into politics I have been radical and, some say, too hot headed. But I have remained in the same road. I would like to have people say, when I am dead, "There he lies; he was all right, averagely honest," rather than have them say, "Well, he left a lot of money, and how did he get it?"

I am going to close shortly, but I want to say this in conclusion, or near conclusion, rather, that during last year the Legislature, those in corporation control, wanted to amend the charter, and the father of the bill or the greatest sponsor was Martin Hays of Boston—Rep. Hays, former Senator Hays, and always on Public Lighting until now. And, by the way, Public Lighting was the old name of the committee. It has been changed to "Power and Light." Power is right. Their power is supreme on Beacon Hill, and the fountainhead or source of the supply of power does not stop at Mr. Edgar or the directors of the Edison company. It goes a step farther. Kidder, Peabody, Lee, Higginson, Hornblower & Weeks, and the moneyed interests in State street are the fathers of all this kind of legislation. Mr. Edgar is merely a puppet in the hands of the great financial interests, who can close banks and ruin business men in order to satisfy their greed for power and to get back at somebody who has offended them.

Thank God, I haven't any great wealth. They cannot shut me up. They can close all the banks in Boston and they won't affect my financial credit or financial standing—through no fault of my own. They can close up all the banks, and it won't affect me a particle. They cannot take away from me my health or my convictions, or even this office here, without the consent of the people of Boston. And I don't care that for them (snapping his fingers). I don't mind if I am called up on the phone and told, "You are a sucker, Jerry." You are kicking over the beans for the presidency of the Council." I said, "To hell with the presidency of the Council. I want to go through with what I consider right and proper." And, whoever telephones me—and I don't know who they are—it makes no difference in my stand. It may be one of those funny fellows, may be some joker, I don't know.

Then there are the letters I am receiving, signed by stockholders. Some say, "Go to it," and give me a lot of data. A man came to my house yesterday and before he came he called me up on the telephone and asked if I was in. He said, "I am down at the corner of Dudley street, and if there is nobody there I will come up." And he gave me information concerning the Edison and the Consolidated companies that would open your eyes. I suppose if it got out there would be some jobs in the Edison company that would go floozy.

Now, Mr. Hays put a bill into the Legislature that would have put out of office the nine members of this body who sat here in 1920. He wasn't going to give any chance to pack up our grips, even. Of course, the public generally are not pleased with the charter, but I believe they recognize the fact that in this body there are you, Mr. President, as well as the rest of us, who are an averagely honest, capable set of members, and in their wisdom they defeated the measure. That gentleman, Hays, and his cohorts, Democrats and Republicans on Beacon Hill alike, pointed to us as being out of touch with the people. We may be as far as non-essentials are concerned, but on real fundamentals, where the public is affected, I believe the City Council of today will average up well with any governing body in Massachusetts or in the United States at the present time or for many years past. Mr. Hays and his friends said that we were out of touch with the people, that we were elected at large and arrogant, and they wanted district councilors. No, Mr. President, we are not arrogant and we are not out of touch with the people. We are here on the job, and you can find us here. You don't have to send a card to our offices in order to have an opportunity to see us. We are here.

It is not so with that gentleman. He is permitting the Edison company to put its hands into the public pockets and draw money from it without a protest, and also from his pockets, because it affects everybody in the Commonwealth who burns electricity. But there may be a balance for his charges that I know nothing about. As far as the Legislature is concerned, here is an opportunity for the members of the House of Representatives of Massachusetts and the members of the Senate of Massachusetts, elected by the people from their respective districts for two years, beginning January, 1921, to do something for their constituents, and I believe they will do it. I believe the preponderance of the members up there, if they know the situation, want to do the right thing. There is being a good deal of inquiry made concerning this measure. I have not entered into any technical discussion of this measure, but there are amendments on the calendar, and tomorrow is the day, and in order that this order may have some effect or force I respectfully ask a suspension of the rule that it may go upon its passage at this time.

The rule was suspended, and Coun. Watson asked for a roll call on the passage of the order.

Coun. WATSON. Mr. President, before the roll call is taken I desire to say that Coun. FORD would desire to be recorded as voting in the affirmative upon the measure.

The order was passed, yeas 8, nays none, Coun. Ford being temporarily absent.

MILITARY COMPENSATION, COUNTY EMPLOYEES.

Coun. BRICKLEY offered an order—That chapter 38 of the Acts of 1921, entitled "An Act to Authorize Counties to Pay their Employees who Served in the World War the Difference between their Military and their County Compensation"—be and the same hereby is accepted.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

RECEIPTS OF MONEY FOR POLICE.

Coun. BRICKLEY offered an order—That the Police Commissioner be hereby requested to obtain, if possible, from the persons in control of the fund contributed for the benefit of the members of the Police Department who remained on duty during the police strike, a statement of the receipts and expenditures and of their intentions as to the disposal of the balance on hand, and transmit the same to the City Council.

Passed, under a suspension of the rule.

HEATING OF FANEUIL HALL.

Coun. BRICKLEY offered an order—That the Superintendent of Public Buildings be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to cause Faneuil Hall to be suitably heated for the comfort of the public when said Hall is used.

Passed, under a suspension of the rule.

MORRIS C. YERKES SQUARE.

Coun. BRICKLEY offered an order—That the space at the corner of Dover street and Harrison avenue be named and known as Morris C. Yerkes square, in honor of Private Yerkes of the Fifth Regiment, Marine Corps, who died from wounds received in action during the World War; and that said space be suitably marked with signs.

Passed, under a suspension of the rule.

MICHAEL CLAYMAN SQUARE.

Coun. BRICKLEY offered an order—That the space at the corner of Broadway and Harrison avenue be named and known as Michael Clayman square, in honor of Private Clayman who died from wounds received in action while a member of the 163d Infantry; and that said space be suitably marked with signs.

Passed, under a suspension of the rule.

JOHN R. MEEHAN SQUARE.

Coun. BRICKLEY offered an order—That the open space at the junction of West Canton street and Shawmut avenue be named and known as John R. Meehan square, in honor of Sergeant Meehan of the 101st Infantry who was killed in action during the World War, July 13, 1918; and that said space be suitably marked with signs.

Passed, under a suspension of the rule.

THOMAS F. KENNEDY SQUARE.

Coun. BRICKLEY offered an order—That the space at the corner of Dover and Albany streets be named and known as Thomas F. Kennedy square, in honor of Private Kennedy who died from wounds received in action while a member of the 101st Infantry during the World War; and that said location be suitably marked with signs.

Passed, under a suspension of the rule.

WILLIAM POHL SQUARE.

Coun. BRICKLEY offered an order—That the space at the corner of East Dedham street and Harrison avenue be named and known as William Pohl square, in honor of said Pohl who fell in action while a member of the 103d Infantry during the World War; and that said space be suitably marked with signs.

Passed, under a suspension of the rule.

JEREMIAH W. SULLIVAN SQUARE.

Coun. BRICKLEY offered an order—That the open space at the junction of Tremont and Dover streets be named and known as Jeremiah W. Sullivan square, in honor of Lieutenant Sullivan who was killed in action during the World War; and that said space be suitably marked with signs.

Passed, under a suspension of the rule.

MATTHEW EMMETT RYAN SQUARE.

Coun. BRICKLEY offered an order—That the space at the corner of Carver street and Broadway be named and known as Matthew Emmett Ryan square, in honor of said Ryan of the 101st Infantry who was killed in action October 27, 1918, during the World War; and that said space be suitably marked with signs.

Passed, under a suspension of the rule.

LEGISLATION FOR MRS. O'BRIEN.

Coun. DONOGHUE offered the following:
Resolved, That the City Council of the City of Boston hereby favors legislation in the State House for the passage of a bill to pay to the widow of Maurice O'Brien, who was killed by a fire engine of the Boston Fire Department, a sum of money.

Passed, under a suspension of the rule.

REGISTRATION OF WOMEN.

Coun. HAGAN offered an order—That the Board of Election Commissioners be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to establish registration places in sufficient numbers in the various wards of the city to permit the women voters to enroll on the voting lists for the coming municipal election.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

APPOINTMENT OF TEMPORARY COMMITTEES.

Coun. HAGAN offered an order—That the temporary presiding officer be authorized to appoint the committees as provided for in the rules, said committees to serve only until a permanent president is elected.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

ANOTHER BALLOT FOR PRESIDENT.

Coun. MORIARTY. Mr. President, I move that we now proceed to the election of a president for 1921.

Coun. WATSON. Mr. President, I would like to know if the gentleman is aware of the fact that Coun. Ford has left the hall, not expecting that there would be another vote? If the gentleman presses his motion I have no objection.

Coun. MORIARTY. Mr. President, I am not responsible for men leaving the hall, and am not responsible for what any man may do.

Coun. WATSON. Then, Mr. President, I second the motion that we proceed to another ballot.

The motion was carried, with the following result:

For David J. Brickley—Coun. Brickley, McLaughlin, Moriarty, 3.

For Daniel W. Lane—Coun. Collins and Lane, 2.

For James A. Watson—Coun. Donoghue, Hagan and Watson, 3.

And there was no choice.

RECESS TAKEN.

The Council voted at 3.21 p. m., on motion of Coun. BRICKLEY, to take a recess subject to the call of the President.

The members of the Council reassembled in the Chamber and were called to order by the President at 5.08 p. m.

EXECUTIVE.

Coun. WATSON, for the Executive Committee, submitted the following, viz.:

1. Report on petition of Timothy Sughrue (referred today), to be retired under the provisions of chapter 765, Acts of 1914, recommending the passage of the following, viz.:

Ordered, That the Retirement Board for Laborers be hereby authorized and requested to retire, under the provisions of chapter 765 of the Acts of 1914, as amended by chapter 63 of the Special Acts of 1915, Timothy Sughrue, employed in the labor service of the City of Boston in the Public Works Department.

Report accepted; order passed.

2. Report on order (referred today), that the election commissioners establish registration places for women voters—that the order ought to pass.

The report was accepted and the question came on the passage of the order as reported by the committee.

Coun. WATSON. Mr. President, in order that there may be no misunderstanding concerning my position on this order I desire to repeat what I said in Executive Committee, of which there will be no record, of course, but there will be a record of my remarks here, and they will be substantially the same. According to Coun. Hagan, this order is introduced at the request of the chairman of the Democratic City Committee. We sent for the chairman of the Board of Election Commissioners. He informed us that it would be out of the question to start registering either men or women until after the police list had been completed, and that generally that does not come to the Commissioners until about September. I then raised the question of the necessity of the order, and I think the chairman of the Election Board agreed that there was no necessity. However, the matter was pressed by the introducer of the order, Coun. Hagan, and I then raised the question that, in view of the fact that the women had equal rights with the men in the matter of voting, through suffrage, they should not be given any special privileges. I said that in the Executive Committee, in the presence of representatives of the League of Women Voters, one of the ladies present being the secretary. I believe. In order that there may be no mistake concerning my position, I will say now that when the women were granted equal suffrage by ratification of a sufficient number of states and by the national government, they then accepted, as I believe they willingly and properly accept, the same responsibilities and rights as men, no more and no less. I then moved in executive committee, in view of the fact that the introducer of the order desired that it be passed, because, as he said, it was harmless in effect, in order that we might not be made ridiculous, to amend it by striking out the word "women" in order that it might apply to "voters." The order as recommended by the committee, as reported favorably by them, reads "That the Board of Election Commissioners be requested through his Honor the Mayor to establish registration places in sufficient numbers in the various wards of the city to permit the women voters to enroll on the voting list for the coming municipal election." I say now that it is ridiculous to pass the order in that form, having it apply only to women. It is the most ridiculous order, as recommended to this body by the Executive Committee, that I have read, and I have read some ridiculous orders and perhaps have introduced some. I will leave it to any member of the Council except the acting chairman if this is not the most ridiculous order he ever read, and I think the members will agree with me. I move, therefore, in order that we may be seriously considered at this particular time as trying to do some good for the voters, that we strike the word "women" out of the order.

The amendment was declared rejected. Coun. Watson doubted the vote and asked for the yeas and nays. The amendment was rejected, yeas four, nays five.

Yeas—Coun. Brickley, Donoghue, Lane, Watson, 4.

Nays—Coun. Collins, Ford, Hagan, McLaughlin, Moriarty, 5.

The order as reported by the Committee was passed, Coun. Moriarty calling for the yeas and nays, yeas 8, nays 1, Coun. Watson voting nay.

3. Report on communication from Back Bay Tenants' Association (referred today), for acceptance of chapter 144 of the General Laws relative to tenement houses—recommending reference to the Health Commissioner for report.

Report accepted; said reference ordered.

4. Report on order (referred today), to accept chapter 38 of the Acts of 1921 entitled "An Act to Authorize Counties to Pay their Employees who Served in the World War the Difference between their Military and their County Compensation"—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; order passed.

5. Report on message of Mayor, communication and order (referred February 14), for transfer of $7,200 to Rent and Housing Committee—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; order passed, yeas 8, nays 1, Coun. Moriarty voting nay.

CONFIRMATION OF APPOINTMENTS.

Coun. HAGAN called up unfinished business, Nos. 1 and 2, viz.:

Action on appointments submitted by the Mayor February 21, 1921, viz.:

(1) Robert Emmett Lynch, to be a Constable.

(2) Joseph C. Troy, to be a Constable.

The question came on confirmation. Committee—Coun. Brickley and Donoghue. Whole number of ballots cast 8, yeas 8, and the appointments were confirmed.

GENERAL RECONSIDERATION.

Coun. COLLINS moved a general reconsideration on all business transacted at the meeting, hoping that the same would not prevail. Lost.

Adjourned at 5.17 p. m., on motion of Coun. McLaughlin, to meet on Monday, March 7, at 2 p. m.

STATEMENT OF MAYOR PETERS ON ANNUAL BUDGET.

This year by exercising the greatest care, I was able to cut $1,400,000 from the estimates submitted by department heads. Last year the cut in budget estimates amounted to $1,000,000. This cut of $1,400,000 leaves an unused appropriating power of $2,267,000 and I hope it is going to be possible for me to use this entire sum in reducing the tax rate. Last year the total sum which I recommended be appropriated by the City Council was approximately $21,603,000. This year the amount I recommend be appropriated is approximately $23,523,000. In view of very large increases in two departments, the increase in the recommended appropriation for this year over the amount appropriated last year, is comparatively small. In the Police Department alone the increase this year over last year's appropriation is $409,000. Last year the Police Department's appropriation was $3,704,000, while this year, it amounts to $4,113,000.

The appropriation for the Public Library last year was $663,870. This year the appropriation I recommend is $747,120, an increase of approximately $83,000, but it should be borne in mind that I am recommending that the sum of $100,000 be provided for expenditure by the Library Trustees for the purchase of new books which are so badly needed in the branch libraries throughout the city.

Considering the situation from every angle, I believe that the showing is a favorable one.

February 28, 1921.

To the City Council:

GENTLEMEN,—This year the tax limit of $6.52 on the thousand for general municipal purposes, has been raised by legislation to $11 on the thousand. The amount that can be raised by taxes within the limit of $11 is $16,790,025.50 to which should be added estimated income of $5,184,000, and the surplus of $3,817,250.61. Of this sum, I recommend the appropriation of $23,523,277.58, the total for municipal purposes.

It is to be remarked that as predicted, the yield from the tax limit of $11 on the thousand, plus estimated other income, falls far short of the budget requirements. The large surplus with which the city closed the last financial year alone makes possible the continuation of many public services with which the citizens could ill dispense.

This year I plan to further extend the motorization of the Fire Department, such great advances in which have been made during my administration, and for this purpose I am setting aside the sum of $150,000.

It is evident that there is a great shortage of books suitable for the branch libraries throughout the city, and mindful of the importance of having available as large a supply as possible for the children of our city, I am providing the sum of $100,000 for the purchase of new books.

Salary increases this year have been granted only in exceptional cases where I was convinced that unless increases were granted real injustice would be done. I do not believe that general group increases are needed, for there is every indication that the cost of living is now on the decline, and in addition, the finances of the city would not warrant any such group increases.

Those increases which have been granted are intended to be effective April 1, in the case both of employees on the monthly basis, and on the weekly basis.

I hope that the City Council will be able to finally adopt the budget before that time.

Respectfully yours,
ANDREW J. PETERS,
Mayor.

MAYOR'S OFFICE.

February 24, 1921.

To the City Council:

GENTLEMEN,—I have received the order passed by the City Council on February 21, that the heads of departments be authorized to allow all city employees who actually participate in the Evacuation Day celebration, a half holiday without loss of pay.

I am herewith returning this order without my signature as I believe that the granting of such a half holiday would not only be exceedingly hard to limit to the cases of those who actually participate in the celebration, but also because it is against the best interests of the city's business to increase the already large number of holidays granted to city employees.

Respectfully yours,
ANDREW J. PETERS,
Mayor.

HEALTH DEPARTMENT.

February 25, 1921.

HON. ANDREW J. PETERS,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR SIR,—I respectfully request authority to go to Washington, D. C., at the expense of the City of Boston, to attend a conference on the 26th inst., to which I have been invited in my official capacity by the Surgeon General, U. S. Public Health Service, to discuss the present quarantine situation; also, incidentally, to confer with the proper representatives of the U. S. Department of Agriculture concerning shipments into the City of Boston of foodstuffs in violation of the Federal Food and Drug Act, of June 30, 1906, as amended, with a view to the establishment of more efficient co-operation than now exists with respect thereto.

Respectfully,
WM. C. WOODWARD,
Health Commissioner.

February 25, 1921.

HON. ANDREW J. PETERS,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR SIR,—Under authority of chapter 3, section 22, of the Revised Ordinances, I have designated, subject to your approval, Dr. M. Victor Safford, Epidemiologist in the service of the Health Department, to perform the duties of the Health Commissioner during my absence from the city from February 26, 1921, to March 6, 1921, inclusive.

I respectfully request that this be approved.

Yours very truly,
WM. C. WOODWARD,
Health Commissioner.

RETIREMENT BOARD.

At a meeting of the Retirement Board for city laborers held at the Auditor's Office, on Saturday, February 26, 1921, at 11 a.m., it was voted to retire the following employees, said retirement to date from Friday, March 4, 1921, at the rate of $360 per annum:

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.
John Cassell, age 65, Water Division, 38 years' service, salary, $1,252.

MASSACHUSETTS CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATIONS.

Visitors, Department of Public Welfare, March 22, 1921.—The salary for all men and women visitors usually begins at $1200.

The classification of visitors in the service of the Department of Public Welfare is as follows:

Class 1. Investigating Visitors for the Division of Child Guardianship and for the Division of Aid and Relief, and Visitors under the Mothers' Aid law for the Division of Aid and Relief. Women only are eligible to apply for this division. Applicants should be versed in the principles of investigation as they apply to babies, children under self-supporting age, youths and adults. They should have some knowledge of case-work, and of individual family problems.

Class 2-A. Visitors to children under self-supporting age for the Division of Child Guardianship. Women only are eligible to apply for this division. Applicants for this class should have some knowledge of investigation, although they will be examined particularly on the placing out and supervision of children under self-supporting age. Their duties will be largely supervisory. They should have some knowledge of the laws pertaining to minors and practical experience with children up to twelve years of age.

Class 2-B. Nurse visitors to babies for the Division of Child Guardianship. Women only are eligible to apply for this division. Applicants for this class are called upon to work with babies. It is necessary that they be graduate trained nurses. It is desirable that they should have had special experience in the care of infants.

Class 3-A. Visitors for older boys for Division of Child Guardianship and Division of Juvenile Training. Men only are eligible to apply for this division. The requirements are a knowledge of the laws pertaining to minors and practical experience with boys from twelve to twenty-one years of age.

Class 3-B. Visitors for older girls for Division of Child Guardianship and Division of Juvenile Training. Women only are eligible to apply for this division. The requirements are the same as in Class 3-A, except that the practical experience must be with girls from twelve to twenty-one years of age.

Class 4. Visitors who shall have special knowledge of settlement laws to treat with needy families and adults for Division of Aid and Relief. Men only are eligible to apply for this division. Applicants should have special knowledge of the settlement laws of Massachusetts, knowledge of case-work with needy families and adults and a knowledge of investigation.

Applicants are to elect for examination some one of the classes outlined above, and will be required to have a knowledge of the chief public and private agencies dealing with the group regarding which they elect to be examined.

The examination will include the following subjects with their respective weights: Training and experience (4); report (1); cases and practical questions (3); personality and fitness as determined by an oral interview (2); total (10).

Applicants are required to obtain a mark of at least 65 per cent in experience, practical questions, and in the oral interview.

Applicants must not be less than 25 nor over 40 years of age at the time of filing application. A certificate of date of birth must be filed with the application.

Successful applicants will be required to submit a certificate from a reputable physician in regard to their physical condition.

Stenographic Service, April 16 and April 30, 1921. (This examination is for the service of the State and of all cities, and of such towns in the state as are classified under Civil Service. On April 16 the examination will be held in Boston and all persons who reside within commuting distance will be notified for that day. Applicants residing in other places will be examined on April 30 at certain centrally located cities throughout the State.) Stenographers and Typists, Grade I.—Annual compensation not more than $780 a year. This grade includes persons who obtain a mark of at least 60 per cent in accuracy of transcription with a general average in the entire examination of less than 80 per cent. Stenographers and Typists, Grade II.—Annual compensation more than $780 and not more than $1,200 a year. This grade includes persons who obtain a mark of at least 60 per cent in accuracy of transcription with a general average in the entire examination of 80 per cent or better, but less than 85 per cent. Stenographers, Secretaries, Office Correspondents, Office and Executive Assistants, Grade III.—Annual compensation more than $1,200 a year. Applicants who receive a mark of at least 60 per cent in accuracy of transcription and a general average in the entire examination of 85 per cent or over will have their experience rated, and their general average computed on the following basis: Written examination (7); experience (3); total (10). They will not be placed upon the Grade III eligible list unless they receive a mark of at least 65 per cent in experience. Applicants who pass the examination for Grade II or Grade III will be certified for positions in lower grades if they are willing to accept the salaries offered. The same tests will be given for city service as for Commonwealth service, and persons qualifying in this examination may have their names placed on the State list as well as on the list for any city or town. The subjects of examination with their respective weights are as follows: Stenography (5); rough draft (2); plain copying (1); business correspondence (2); total (10). The dictation is given at the following rates of speed per minute: 80, 100, 120, and 140, the dictation at each rate of speed consisting of a letter of from 300 to 350 words in length. Each applicant elects any two of the four speed tests for transcription, and is obliged to obtain at least 60 per cent in the transcription of one of these speed tests. Specimen examinations may be secured from the Civil Service office, State House.

Head Social Workers (Female), Department of Mental Diseases (Boston Psychopathic Hospital), March 25, 1921.—The salary is $1,980 a year. The duties of the position are as follows: To direct and supervise, under the general control and direction of the head of a Department or Institution, the work of a division, whose functions include social work with special classes or groups of mental patients connected with State hospitals. To direct, plan, and be responsible for the after-care work, investigations, social case work and special studies relative to mental patients and feeble-minded persons connected with State hospitals and similar institutions. To train such students and volunteers in psychiatric and general social work as may be connected with the Social Service Departments of hospitals for mental patients and feeble-minded persons. To perform such other related, incidental or emergency duties as may be assigned. The subjects of examination with their respective weights will be as follows: Experience (40); report (10), questions on methods, technique, and case work, based upon the duties of the position as outlined above (25); personality, as determined by an oral interview (25); total (100). Applicants will be required to obtain at least 65 per cent in each subject of the examination. Successful applicants will be required to submit a certificate from a reputable physician in regard to their physical condition.

General Information.—In certifying from the eligible lists established as a result of the examinations named above, preference will be given to veterans as provided for in chapter 150 of the General Acts of 1919. Only citizens of the United States who have been residents of Massachusetts for the past year have a right to apply. Preference in certification will be given to applicants who, at the time of filing application, are residents of the city or town from which requisition is received. As far as practicable, these examinations will be held in various centrally located cities throughout the state. Application blanks may be obtained by applying in person or by letter at the office of the Department of Civil Service and Registration, Division of Civil Service, Rooms 148-152, State House, Boston.

STATEMENT ON SALARY INCREASES OF SCHOOL TEACHERS. February 25, 1921.

HON. ANDREW J. PETERS,

Mayor of Boston:

SIR,—Last October the School Committee requested the Governor to include in his call of the special sitting of the Legislature consideration of a petition of the School Committee to have its appropriating power enlarged, for the purpose of increasing the salaries of teachers and to meet the increased cost of fuel and school supplies. The Governor referred the School Committee to Your Honor and the Finance Commission for approval of its petition.

The School Committee then requested Your Honor's approval of its petition and the matter was referred by Your Honor to the Finance Commission for investigation and report.

The School Committee submitted to the Finance Commission the facts upon which its petition for this legislation was based, and among these facts was a proposed schedule of salary increases, showing the amount of increase proposed for every person in the service of the School Committee who was to have an increase. By this schedule no teacher or other employee of the School Committee was to receive an increase greater than $216.

This schedule of the School Committee was incorporated in the report of the Finance Commission to Your Honor, dated December 6, 1920, and later submitted to the legislative Committee on Municipal Finance when the Finance Commission appeared in favor of the bill. Moreover, a copy of this schedule was furnished on request, to the Governor of the Commonwealth when the bill was before him for his approval.

After the School Committee's bill had been signed by the Governor, it required the approval, also, of Your Honor before it became a law. This approval Your Honor gave on January 11, 1921, based on the salary schedule which had been presented to you by the School Committee through this Commission in November, 1920.

On February 1, 1921, three weeks after Your Honor gave your approval to the law, the School Committee of last year at its last meeting of the year changed the salary schedule in many important respects. Increases of $432 each were granted to one rank, $384 each to another rank, and $360 to still another, while 2,000 teachers ($89 of whom received the increase immediately) were granted increases of $248, and all teachers in elementary grades entering the service were reduced $96.

It is difficult, therefore, for the Finance Commission to understand the School Committee when it says, as reported in the public press, that its petition to the Legislature "contained no reference to any increase in salary of any definite amount." The petition of the School Committee to the Legislature and to Your Honor included not only the formal written petition, but every representation that it made to the Legislature and to Your Honor as the basis of its need for more funds.

The School Committee is the legal body charged with the duty of fixing the salaries of teachers and other employees of the School Department. In this instance, however, Your Honor had an absolute veto power over the additional appropriations granted the School Committee by the Legislature to increase salaries at all. Your Honor, therefore, could have refused to approve the legislative act on January 11, had you known that the salary schedule that was to go into effect was to be different from the one proposed to you and to the Legislature in obtaining the necessary funds, and such disapproval by Your Honor could not have been overruled by the School Committee.

It seems, therefore, clear to the Finance Commission that the School Committee owed Your Honor the duty of informing you that it intended to make substantial changes in the salary schedule, before you gave your approval to the law.

There is a further point that the Finance Commission desires to call to Your Honor's attention at this time, concerning the School Committee's appropriations. The Legislature allowed, with the approval of Your Honor, an additional appropriating power of 34 cents to the School Committee to meet the increased cost of coal and school supplies as these costs existed last November. It is generally known that these costs have decreased very materially since that time. For instance, soft coal was figured at $16.50 per ton for the purpose of this legislation, but can now be purchased as low as $10.50 per ton. Moreover, the mildness of the winter has enabled a considerable saving to be made in fuel. There is, therefore, in the opinion of the Finance Commission, a substantial part of the appropriating power of the School Committee for the item of fuel that need not be exercised this year.

The Finance Commission commends Your Honor's veto of the salary schedule made by last year's School Committee, because the schedule is substantially different from the schedule for which the Legislature and Your Honor authorized the appropriation.

Respectfully submitted,
MICHAEL H. SULLIVAN,
COURTENAY GUILD,
JOHN F. MOORS,

MUNICIPAL SERVICE.

Complaints, inquiries or suggestions regarding the work of municipal departments should be made in writing to the officials directly in charge. The failure of such officials to make reply within a reasonable length of time should be brought to the attention of the Mayor. Communications should be directed as follows:

TO THE BOARD OF STREET COMMISSIONERS, room 401, City Hall Annex, for information relative to the laying out, relocation, widening and the discontinuance of highways; the taking of real property for municipal purposes; the assessments of betterments for streets and sewers; the plotting of undeveloped areas for streets and the opening of private ways; the granting of licenses for the storage or sale of merchandise in public streets; the regulation of street traffic; the making of specific repairs in public streets, the naming of public streets, the planting and removal of trees in public ways, the issuing of licenses for the storage of gasoline, oil and other inflammable substances or explosive compounds, the use of the public ways for any permanent or temporary obstruction or projection in, under or over the same, including the location of conduits, poles and posts for telephone, telegraph, street railway or illuminating purposes, signs, marquees, bay windows, coal holes and vaults.

TO THE COMMISSIONER OF PUBLIC WORKS, room 511, City Hall Annex, for information as to the watering, cleaning, lighting and repairing of streets, the construction and care of sewers and catch-basins, the operation of the ferries, the maintenance of bridges and drawbridges and the removal of ashes and offal.

To room 604, City Hall Annex, for information relative to the supplying or metering of water and the water charges of the city.

TO THE HEALTH DEPARTMENT, room 1107, City Hall Annex, for information relative to the inspection of milk, vinegar, meat, fish and vegetables, the issuance of permits for stables, slaughter houses, etc., smoke nuisances, the existence of contagious diseases or public health nuisances.

TO THE BOARD OF PARK COMMISSIONERS, 33 Beacon street, for information as to the care of the Common, Public Garden, Franklin Park, Franklin Field, Commonwealth avenue, Back Bay Fens, Marine Park and the small parks and playgrounds in general throughout the city, and as to the extermination of gypsy moths and the charges made for such service. Application may be made to this department for information regarding the public baths and gymnasiums maintained by the city, and with regard to municipal indoor concerts and band concerts; also information relative to Mount Hope, Evergreen, Fairview and other public cemeteries owned by the City of Boston.

TO THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE, 26 Mason street, for information relative to the operation of the schools of the city.

TO THE SCHOOLHOUSE COMMISSIONERS, room 1007, City Hall Annex, for information as to the construction and repair of school buildings.

TO BOARD OF EXAMINERS, room 1001, City Hall Annex, for information regarding the licensing of persons having charge or control of the work of construction, alteration, removal or tearing down of buildings.

TO THE WIRE DIVISION OF THE FIRE DEPARTMENT, room 905, City Hall Annex, for all information relative to the erection of poles, the building of conduits, the installation of wires and electrical apparatus. Also to the same office for permits for the installing of wires and electrical apparatus within buildings in the City of Boston, and for the payment of fees incident to the granting of the privileges above named, and which must invariably be paid in advance.

SUPPLY DEPARTMENT.

PROPOSALS FOR FURNISHING MILK.

The Supply Department will receive sealed proposals for a supply of milk for the Hospital Department to be delivered during the period from April 2, 1921, to Oct. 1, 1921, inclusive. The supplies to include delivery at the hospital proper, 818 Harrison avenue; the South Department, 745 Massachusetts avenue; Haymarket Relief Station, Haymarket square; East Boston Relief Station, 14 Porter street, East Boston; The Convalescent Home, 2150 Dorchester avenue, Dorchester, and the West Department, Spring street, West Roxbury, Mass. The bidder must leave his proposal at Room 811, City Hall Annex, with a certified check for $300, payable to and to become the property of the City of Boston if the proposal is not carried out. The quantity of milk desired for all departments, will vary from 900 to 1200 quarts per day, more or less, according to the requirements of the season and the number of patients. Each receptacle must be clean and particularly free from dents, must bear the name of the dairy from which the milk comes, have the name of the contractor and "Boston City Hospital" plainly and indelibly marked thereon, and be sealed when it leaves the dairy. The milk is to be transported in coolers with a capacity of about 20 quarts. These coolers are to be used exclusively for the Boston City Hospital. The contractors will be required to furnish the Trustees a list of the dairies from which the milk supply for the hospital will be taken, to comprise not more than six dairies at any one time. In each case the product and the premises will be subject to the approval of the inspector appointed by the Trustees. The employees must be also subject to an examination by this inspector. The contract calls for pure dairy milk, neither skimmed, topped, nor watered, and which when subjected to analysis shall be shown to have none of its natural constituents removed and nothing added thereto. Said milk to be of the quality required by the laws of the Commonwealth. The bacterial count of the raw milk shall not exceed 100,000 per cubic centimeter. The milk should be pasteurized at 145 degrees Fahrenheit for thirty minutes in City Hospital receptacles, with seals intact, and the bacterial count on delivery shall not exceed 10,000 per cubic centimeter. If the dairies are situated outside the Commonwealth the right is reserved to have them inspected by an officer of the State Board of Health, as well as by an inspector appointed by the Trustees. The successful bidder must furnish a bond for $1,000 with a surety company authorized to do business in Massachusetts, for the faithful performance of the contract. Milk must be delivered at the Hospital before 4 p. m., on each day and must not be more than twenty-four hours old. Price quoted to be per quart. The contractor is to be responsible for the cleanliness of the coolers. Proposals to be obtained at the office of the Supply Department, Room 811, City Hall Annex, until 12 m., Tuesday, March 15, 1921, at which time and place they will be publicly opened and read. A duplicate copy, without check, must be filed with the City Auditor before 12 m. on the date given above for receiving proposals. The Superintendent reserves the right to accept or reject any or all proposals and to award the contract as he deems for the best interests of the City.

PROPOSALS FOR FURNISHING WATERING CARTS.

The Commissioner of Public Works of the City of Boston, office 508 City Hall Annex, invites proposals for furnishing watering carts for watering streets in Districts Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6-9, 7, 8 and 11. A bond will be required for doing the work of a surety company approved by the Commissioner in the sum of one thousand dollars ($1,000) for each district, to secure the due performance of the contract and the full protection of the city. Forms of proposals may be obtained at Room 508, City Hall Annex. Each proposal should be inclosed in an envelope, sealed, marked "Proposal for Furnishing Watering Carts," and left at Room 508, fifth floor, City Hall Annex, before 12 m. on Wednesday, March 16, 1921, with a certified check for three hundred dollars ($300) for each district or twenty-seven hundred dollars ($2,700) for all the districts, payable to and to become the property of the city if the proposal after acceptance is not carried out. The proposals will then and there be publicly opened and read. Proposals must be made in duplicate, the sealed duplicate, without check, to be deposited by the bidder with the City Auditor previous to the time named for opening the bids. If the price bid on any district appears to the Commissioner to be abnormally high or low, it may lead to the rejection of the proposal for said district. The undersigned reserves the right to reject any or all proposals or to accept any proposal should he deem it to be for the best interest of the city so to do.

EXPENDITURES FOR PUBLIC IMPROVEMENTS PER CAPITA IN LEADING CITIES 1917 (by rank).

Detroit, $8.13; Chicago, $13.13; San Francisco, $12.72; Cleveland, $12.14; Philadelphia, $11.36; Boston, $9.86 (as corrected to include Rapid Transit construction); Pittsburgh, $7.58; Cincinnati, $7.34; St. Louis, $6.57. (See U. S. Census Bureau's Financial Statistics of Cities, 1918, p. 144.)

INCREASE OF PUBLIC DEBT IN LEADING CITIES, 1908-1918 (Ranking from Highest).

The net debt in the ten-year period increased as follows: (1) San Francisco, $31,534,084 or 267.57 per cent; (2) Detroit, $11,561,738 or 118.10 per cent; (3) Baltimore, $32,797,853 or 98.40 per cent; (4) Cleveland, $23,673,565 or 72.59 per cent; (5) Buffalo, $13,026,177 or 61.14 per cent; (6) Pittsburgh, $20,912,039 or 58.76 per cent; (7) Philadelphia, $47,282,300 or 57.62 per cent; (8) New York, $348,840,074 or 50.97 per cent; (9) Boston, $12,596,050 or 17.11 per cent.

All of Boston's increase was Rapid Transit debt, representing a 4½ per cent investment. Omitting this, there was a decrease of $3,849,927 or 5.23 per cent in Boston's net debt during the period stated.

PUBLIC STREETS IN BOSTON, 1920

Total length of the 2,443 paved streets, February 1, 1920, 603.71 miles; total area, 11,391,742 square yards, or 8.45 per cent of the City's total land area. This is exclusive of the private streets (not accepted), numbering about 2,840. 369.90 miles, or 62.93 per cent, are paved with macadam (including 113.22 miles bituminous macadam); 104.69 miles with granite block; 41.40 miles with asphalt; 32.13 miles with gravel; 23.65 miles with bitulithic; 10.66 miles with wood block; 5.46 miles with brick. Old macadam pavement is gradually being replaced with more satisfactory and durable kinds, such as bitulithic, concrete, granite block, etc. Granolithic sidewalks laid in 1919, 117,311 square yards or 22 miles, averaging about 8 feet wide, 50 per cent of cost assessed on estates benefitted.

The 18 principal thoroughfares and traffic routes selected by the Mayor's committee of citizens in 1918 as in urgent need of repair have mostly been resurfaced with granite block, original estimate of cost being $1,506,200.

New highway construction ordered for 1917-19 and mostly completed includes 29 streets in Dorchester; 25 in West Roxbury; 12 in Roxbury; 14 in Brighton; 6 in East Boston; 2 in Hyde Park and 2 in South Boston, roadway pavement bitulithic or asphalt surface on concrete, and bituminous macadam. Gross debt outstanding February 1, 1920, for all street construction, including damages, $21,608,521 or $369,990 less than in 1919.

CONTROL OF POLICE FUND.

Office of the Police Commissioner,
March 2, 1921.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I am in receipt of a copy of your request that the Police Commissioner obtain from those in control of the funds contributed for the benefit of the members of the Police Department who remained on duty in September of 1919, a statement of the receipts and expenditures and also a statement as to what the trustees intend to do with the balance.

I respectfully advise your honorable body that the fund is in the hands of a board of trustees consisting of the following: Henry Parkman, Boston; Thomas J. Kenny, Boston; Wilmot R. Evans, Boston; Harry G. Stoddard, Worcester; H. H. Bowman, Springfield. I further advise your honorable body that according to the call for funds, published in the newspapers in September of 1919, the fund was to be disbursed to:

1. The members of the police force of Boston who have remained loyal during the present crisis and future appointees, and the dependents of both in every case with the approbation of the Commissioner.

2. The military and naval force of the Commonwealth and their dependents.

3. Any organization ministering to the welfare of, or any members or their dependents in, any force or organization providing for the public security of this Commonwealth, and any balance of said fund to be distributed in the absolute discretion of the trustees.

As the control of this fund is in no wise under the Police Commissioner, I do not think that it is proper for me to request an accounting from the trustees who are in possession of the fund under such specific conditions.

Very respectfully,

E. U. CURTIS,
Police Commissioner.

CONSTABLE'S BOND.

The City Treasurer, after having approved duly of the same, submitted the constable's bond of Joseph C. Troy.

Placed on file.

REGULATION OF PUBLIC AMUSEMENTS.

Coun. LANE offered the following:

Resolved, That the City Council of the City of Boston hereby protests against the passage of the proposed legislation founded on House Bill No.

807, transferring from the Mayor of the City of Boston to the Licensing Board appointed by the Governor, the regulation of public amusements, public entertainments and public halls in the City of Boston, believing such legislation to be an unwarranted interference with the municipal functions of the city, an additional and uncalled for expense to the tax-payers, and an attempt to perpetuate a body whose principal function has been eliminated and which should be abolished.

The question came on the adoption of the resolution.

Coun. LANE. Mr. President, the House Bill referred to, No. 807, reads as follows:

"The Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

In the year 1921.

An Act to Simplify and Make Uniform the Making of Rules and the Granting of Licenses and Permits in the City of Boston.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives in General Court assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:

All existing powers, in whatever officers, councils, bodies, boards, or persons, other than the general court and the judicial courts of the Commonwealth, they may be vested, to license persons or premises, to grant permits for, or to regulate and to make rules governing the business and conduct of public amusements, public entertainments and public halls in the City of Boston, are hereby transferred to and vested in the Licensing Board of the City of Boston."

Now, Mr. President, it seems to me that the State or the Legislature is doing everything it can to take all the power away from the City of Boston.

This bill or a similar bill was up last year and was defeated—or, in other words, was referred to the next General Court, and it has been taken from the files of last year, although up to the present time no publicity has been given to it, reported favorably to the House, has taken three readings, and only the Senate and his Excellency the Governor now stand in the way of its becoming a statute. I am sure we are all agreed that the licensing power of the Mayor's office has been properly conducted under Mr. Casey. There has been no complaint and there is no reason why this power should now go to a Licensing Board appointed by the Governor, except that the Legislature feel that the Licensing Board is about to be abolished, that by reason thereof two or three men will be thrown out of employment, and that they can be kept in their jobs in this way. The Licensing Board today costs the City of Boston $75,000 to $100,000 to maintain. At the present time no license fees are being received from the sale of intoxicating liquors, and so these men are sitting there drawing their salaries and performing little work. In order to keep them in their jobs it is proposed to take away this power from the Mayor's office and give it to that Board. I would move a suspension of the rule that the resolution may go on its passage at the present time.

Coun. FORD. Mr. President, I would like to have the Council withdraw the motion to suspend the rule upon the ground that I have simply looked at the resolution and know very little about it. Without having more time to consider it, if I should be pressed to vote at the present time, I would have to vote "No," simply to protect myself, not having the knowledge of the matter that I would desire. I think, with the gentleman's permission, that I would like to have it go to the Executive Committee.

Coun. LANE. I would be very glad to have it go to the Executive Committee and have it acted on in executive session. I merely asked suspension of the rule that it might be passed today, but if the Council would like to act upon it today in executive session I have no objection.

The motion to suspend the rule was withdrawn, and the resolution was referred to the Executive Committee.

PAYMENT TO MRS. CULLEN.

Coun. McLAUGHLIN offered an order—That chapter 76 of the Acts of 1921, entitled "An Act Authorizing the City of Boston to Pay a Sum of Money to the Widow of John F. Cullen," be and the same hereby is accepted.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

Coun. McLAUGHLIN offered an order—That, under the provisions of chapter 76 of the Acts of 1921, there be allowed and paid to Bridget M. Cullen, widow of John F. Cullen, late an employee of the Public Works Department, the sum of nine hundred and ninety dollars and fifty-three cents, being the sum which he would have received had he lived and served in said capacity for the remainder of the current year; said sum to be charged to the Reserve Fund.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

REDUCTION IN GAS PRICE.

Coun. WATSON offered the following:

Resolved, That his Honor the Mayor be requested to direct the Corporation Counsel to appear forthwith before the Department of Public Utilities and request a reduction in the price of electricity and gas for the people of Boston, as it is the opinion of the City Council that a reduction should be made.

Coun. WATSON. Mr. President, I owe the members of the Council something of an apology for talking at this time, at four consecutive meetings, on the prices of electricity and gas in the city of Boston; but if anything is to be accomplished in the way of loosening the control upon the people of Boston by the Edison company and the Boston Consolidated Gas Company, publicity, through continued assaults, attacks and argument, must be had. This explains my attitude in introducing the order I have introduced today, in connection with which I propose to discuss at length the Edison Illuminating Company, its methods, its stockholders, and the same thing concerning the Boston Consolidated Gas Company. Four weeks have elapsed since the Edison company was exposed on the floor of this body by myself, and the order passed that day was passed unanimously by myself and my eight colleagues. My charges then concerning extortion and what might perhaps be called by those who are more conservative the colossal profiteering known as coal charges were then set forth. Even though the price of coal has been reduced, the arrogant powers that control the company refuse to stop charging the customers under this infamous method, or even to reduce the price. Not alone are they continuing extortion in the manner that I have suggested, but they have the audacity to attempt to put through the Legislature a well arranged plan to bleed the public under Senate Bill No. 314, which is Senate No. 130 amended to suit their designs. This bill, Senate No. 130, has in it what is called a preamble, but what is designated as an emergency clause which may be used in time of stress, danger or trouble, the Legislature being enabled by that means to pass a bill which can be signed by the Governor and become operative at once. For example, speaking of legitimate emergencies which would justify such a preamble, there might be such a catastrophe as the Galveston flood, when the State of Massachusetts might desire to give aid to Texas or some other great state, or some city in our Union, which had suffered. An emergency bill might then be introduced hurriedly appropriating a large sum of money for relief, and an emergency preamble might well be placed on such a bill, so that it would become effective as soon as possible, or immediately. The usual process, however, in the public interest, is to have legislation which is introduced go through the proper channels, have it go to the Governor for his signature, and while the last clause in every bill is usually that "This bill shall take effect upon its passage," it really does not become operative until ninety days after the signing of the bill by the Governor. By that means the people, if the bill is a vicious one, against the public good and secured by corrupt methods, are enabled by proper action to have the initiative and referendum put into effect, upon petition containing a certain number of names, and to have that measure submitted to the people for their approval or disapproval, the bill not becoming operative until the election is had and the "yeas" or the "nays" predominate on the particular measure. But these crafty, corrupt, profiteering, soulless corporations will not permit the people to invoke the initiative and referendum, if they desire it, in order that their rights may be protected. Seventeen million dollars is the amount of premiums that will go into the pockets of the stockholders of the Edison company if this measure becomes effective, if it passes the House and is signed by the Governor with the preamble in it; and it does not alone apply to the Edison company of Boston, but to companies throughout the State. I have in my hand Senate Bill No. 307, which contains information submitted by the Department of Public Utilities in answer to an order of the Senate requesting information concerning Senate Bill No. 130, entitled "An Act to Equalize the Cash and Share Capital of Certain Gas and Electric Companies." But, while it was sent to the Senate by the Department of Public Utilities, furnishing information which the Senate requested, the Senate did not wait to get the information before passing the bill. It shows here that not alone is the Boston Edison company the gainer, but a great many other companies would also gain similarly by the bill, and under the original bill the Boston Consolidated Gas Company would benefit to the extent of $8,000,000 by its passage. The Cambridge Gas Light Company would benefit to the extent of $1,000,000 under it; the Worcester Electric Company $1,400,000, and the aggregate sum of money that would go into the pockets of the stockholders of the lighting interests would be close on to $125,000,000 of the public money. If this measure was the product of clean hands and clean minds, and if there was not in it the profit and the special privilege for the lighting companies and their stockholders, it would take the same course that all other measures take. But they know it is a corrupt measure; they know it is going to take from the pockets of every man, woman and child in this Commonwealth money that they can ill afford to lose or give up and so they have put on this emergency provision so that it will go into effect immediately. Without souls they continue on with their high binding methods, not conservative methods but radical methods. This is the work of business highwaymen. The gas and electric consumers of Boston are paying outrageous prices for gas and electricity because of the tremendous overhead charges, padded payrolls, and princely salaries paid to high officials of these companies. The salaries paid to Mr. Edgar of the Edison Electric Illuminating Company of Boston and to Mr. Wood, the president of the Consolidated Gas Company, are astounding. The annual salary paid to Mr. Edgar, the president of the Edison Illuminating Company of Boston, is five times the salary paid to the Governor of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, five times the salary paid to the Mayor of the city of Boston, four times the salary of the Vice-President of the United States of America and two-thirds the salary of President Harding, who was inaugurated last Friday. Mr. Edgar's salary, according to the report given to me today, taken from the report made by the company to the Public Utilities Board, is $40,000 per year plus $20 as a director for every meeting he attends, and he attends at least five meetings a week, meaning $100 a week as a director. Every time when the light is turned on that is the sort of thing the citizens are paying for in the hills. Gentlemen, $50,000 a year is the salary of the President of the Edison company of Boston, who grinds the employees of the company down, will not permit them to organize, will not give them what I consider a living wage. Still, he gets $50,000 a year. Then there is Walter C. Baylies, vice-president, at $5,000 a year. He probably is only a penwiper! Then Thomas K. Cummins, treasurer, gets $11,326.90, plus the $20 a day for attending directors' meetings, and he is also treasurer of three other corporations in Massachusetts. Then we have got the directors, all rich men, great in Red Cross work, great in buying Liberty Bonds, but they are taking their $20 a meeting every time. For instance, here is Oliver Ames, of North Easton, J. Tucker Burr of Milton, Thomas K. Cummins of Milton, who is a director as well as treasurer, R. F. Herrick of Milton, a hanker, George R. Jewett, of Salem, Robert Saltonstall, of Readville, John E. Thayer, of South Lancaster, and Robert Amory of Boston of the Good Government outfit. Gentlemen, there is one lot in the whole lot who resides in Boston; every other man there lives outside of Boston. These are facts, something that cannot be denied, in black and white. Now, taking the Boston Consolidated Gas Company, we have W. A. Wood, of Boston, president. I don't know whether he is the one who is president of the American Woolen Company or not. He gets $10,000 a year, plus $10 a meeting. They are a little more conservative with their pay to their directors in the gas company. Then there is E. N. Wrightington, vice-president and manager, who gets $14,500 a year, or $4,500 more than the president, and $10 for every meeting he attends. We then have Dana D. Barnum, also vice-president, who gets $16,500 a year, or $2,000 more for doing less work than the other vice-president does, and $10 for each meeting he attends. We then have Henry S. Lyons, secretary, the same Henry who stayed on the padded payroll of the Elevated until the Legislature said, "Get out!" For once, they acted right. Lyons gets $5,000 a year, and I suppose, the additional $10 for a meeting, otherwise I don't see how he gets a living. Then we find as directors Charles Francis Adams, of Boston, patriot; W. C. Baylies, of Boston, — do you notice that this is W. C. Baylies, of Boston, who is a director? Over here in the other place we have Walter C. Baylies, a vice-president of the Edison. Well, he is on both payrolls. You see, Walter C. Baylies is of Taunton, Mass., and W. C. Baylies is of Boston. And he gets the $10 per meeting here from the gas company, the same as he gets the $20 a meeting as director of the Edison company. He will jump from the Edison company meeting and go by airplane to the gas company meeting. So, you see, if he gets $30 a day for attending the meetings of both companies, and they have five meetings per week, that is $150 a week. This is in addition to the $5,000 salary and all these other soft things. The poor fellow! It is a wonder that he isn't starving to death. Then, Samuel Carr, connected with some of the hanks here in Boston, another poor man; and Neal Rantoul, another poor chap; and James L. Richards, of Newton, poor fellow! Then we have Joseph B. Russell, of Cambridge, Charles G. Smith, of Brookline, Frederick E. Snow, of Gaston, Snow & Saltonstall, William S. Spaulding, of the Revere Sugar Refinery Company, Edward F. Webster, of Newton, of Stone & Webster, Charles G. Davis, of Plymouth — they tell me that he has been dead for about three months, and, therefore, he is not collecting at present. Then there is Robert Winsor, of Weston, of Kidder, Peabody & Company, W. A. Wood, of Boston, and Myles Connor, of Boston — who he is, I don't know. Mr. President, is it any cause of surprise to you that the man of limited means is wondering if a square deal is possible? Is it any wonder that the man who works at his daily toil without any income except what he gets from his labor, when he gets home to his fireside and sees just enough to carry him through the day or the week, asks if there is a just God? Is it any wonder that he hobbles? Is it any wonder that he is near the point of losing faith in God and himself, when he sees profiteers like this, who in war times will ostensibly give to the Government by buying Liberty Bonds with the one hand, while with the other they are taking twice the amount from the Government for munition and ammunition contracts? Is it any wonder that the Bolsheviks are increasing? Isn't it a wonder that there is any private honesty left when we see this sort of thing being multiplied throughout the United States, the rich and the aristocrats continuing to plunder the people, even although they have already been plundered to the limit? Mr. Chairman, God is just, and man is just when he knows the circumstances, and there is going to be a reckoning hereafter for those who do not pay the price and who do not properly deal with the public. There will be a reckoning here as well, because when the public understands the doings of these rich, unscrupulous, near-criminal aristocrats, they will find a means for punishing them. It may be harsh, but a means will be found for halting them and stopping their horrible conduct. Mr. Edgar, you do not dare to deny that your salary is out of all proportion to the value of the services you render to the public and the Edison company, because, after all, the Edison company is a quasi public corporation, created not alone for the purpose of making money for the stockholders, on the one hand, but to serve the public properly on the other. Why, I doubt if Mr. Edgar gives more than an hour a day to the Edison company. He has other interests, besides. These two companies, each a monopoly unto itself, are top heavy, with the high salaries, unnecessary officials they have, who in many cases are relatives of the interests controlling the affairs of the two corporations. To the water already in the stock of the new companies Senate Bill 314 will add more water. By capitalizing the premiums the Edison company will add $17,000,000 more, which will go into the pockets of the company and its stockholders, besides the increased cost which is being charged for electricity under the coal clause and otherwise; and, as far as the gas company is concerned, we have seen the increased cost going from 80 cents a thousand feet less than four years ago to $1.40 a thousand feet today. To make it plainer, I might cite my own bill of January, 1918, to illustrate my argument or make it plainer. In January, 1918, at my home at 38 Thornton street, Roxbury, using, I believe, the same amount of gas that we are using today, or were using a month or six weeks ago, the bill, rendered in February, 1918, was $1.19 — and I had to pay it; and December 14, 1920, more than two years after, my gas bill was $6.89, an increase of about 400 per cent. Here is another bill of January 12, 1921. My bill was $5.54 for 4100 cubic feet of gas, at $1.35 per thousand, and for 100 cubic feet of gas at $1.40 per thousand, and 14 cents, making a total bill of $5.68. They seem to be getting after the Watson family. I have a mother of eighty-six and a blind father of eighty-four, whom I have to look out for, and am proud of the opportunity, but the Edison company doesn't care for the blind, the feeble, the old, the poor, the orphan, the churches or anything. They want their pound of flesh. My mother got this bill, rendered in the name of William R. Watson, my father's name, at 61 Rockland street, Roxbury, October 26, 1920. The current gas bill was 54 cents and for the month before 81 cents, the two bills together amounting to $1.35; and in the following month, Nov. 23, 1920, some of them needed some money for automobiles or fur coats, or something else, sealskins, for their pets and fancies, and they sent in a bill of $3.51, an increase of 300 per cent over the month previous. In God's name, is the public going to stand for this kind of treatment? And my own case, and my father's and mother's cases, are not the exception but the rule, as far as cost of gas is concerned, if I am to believe what is told to me generally by consumers. It is true of any of you who burn gas, true of every member here, that your bill has increased inside of a year more than 200 per cent, and I defy you to say otherwise. I cannot burn electricity, but at that it might be cheaper. Well, Mr. President, the increase in my bill, as I say, in three years was about 425 per cent. The price in 1918 was 80 cents per thousand, and it went up in 1921 to $1.35 and $1.40 per thousand, and there was an increase of fifty per cent in the number of feet used. But the actual amount charged represented an increase of 425 per cent in three years; and my mother's bill increased nearly 300 per cent in thirty days and is going yet. Oh, how much longer will the public stand this kind of treatment, how much longer is the influence of the officials of these robber corporations — because they are robber corporations — to continue? What is the use of mincing words, Mr. President, calling things out of their names? These men are arrogant, and they own men in this town body and soul. The influence of the officials of these hardened and heartless robber corporations is far reaching. The Mayor of our city was asked on January 16, 1920, by the Council, under an order introduced by Coun. McLaughlin, my colleague who is not present at this moment — and I wish he were, so that he might hear this, — to employ experts to examine the books of the gas company, with an idea of finding out the situation with reference to the price of gas in this city. Coun. McLaughlin put in that order, and I want to give him credit for it. That was a little more than fourteen months ago, and you will find it printed in the minutes of our meetings, on pages 265 and 266 of 1920. In that order in substance he provided that the Mayor might go the limit in the matter, in order to safeguard the interests of the people, so far as the price of gas was concerned. On February 16, 1920, a month later, Coun. McLaughlin, having waited in the meantime after having introduced his previous order, offered another order, which will be found on page 18 of the minutes of the past year: "That his Honor the Mayor be requested to inform the City Council what action he has taken in the matter of the resolution adopted on January 16, 1920, relative to an examination of the books of the Boston Consolidated Gas Company and opposing any increase in the price of gas."

That order was passed unanimously under a suspension of the rule. On March 1, 1920, a communication was received from his Honor the Mayor, dated February 25, 1920. I will not read it all, although it says a lot of things that are of interest, but the last paragraph is the most important of all. I want to qualify my remarks by stating that I have great respect for the chief executive of this city. I believe he is doing things according to his lights. I believe he is endeavoring to do things that are right as he sees them. But I also believe that he is not seeking information from the proper sources in order to guide him safely on his journey out of office. I have no complaint to make and no suggestion that he is in any way corrupt or deliberately influenced by the Edison officials, the Boston Consolidated Gas Company or kindred interests, or by the banking interests — because, after all, the Consolidated Gas Company and the Edison Electric Illuminating Company of Boston and all the public lighting concerns in Massachusetts are owned, controlled and operated as an actual fact from the banking rooms of the three great banking institutions — Kidder, Peabody & Co., Lee, Higginson & Company, and Hornblower & Weeks — and they have many subsidiary organizations, such as Herrick's and others that I might name, that are merely pawns in the hands of the great interests that lead from State street to the great money center in Wall street. I have been called a demagogue at times. I remember that William J. Bryan was called a demagogue when he said that Wall street moved the world. But we have lived to see the truth of Bryan's statement. Wall street does move the world. It makes presidents and unmakes them, and God knows what it might or might not do with little puppets like this Council, or the Legislature, or Mayors, or Governors. Listen to the last paragraph here in the Mayor's communication, which was sent to this body March 1, 1920, and which was written February 25, 1920, please. I will not read it all. The Mayor signs this letter, and you will find it on page 22 of the minutes of that date, March 1, 1920:

"During the whole course of proceedings I have been in constant conference with the Corporation Counsel on the matter, and at no time has there been any danger that the standard price of gas would be increased until the city was given ample opportunity to participate in the investigation of the questions involved and to be assured that the rights of the consumer were adequately presented. Respectfully yours, Andrew J. Peters, Mayor."

On March 29, 1920, the Mayor comes back at us again, in a communication dated March 26, 1920, and which will be found on page 46 of our minutes. It appears under the heading, "Investigation of Boston Consolidated Gas Company." This final action on March 26 was the result of the action started in this body on January 16, 1920, by my colleague, Coun. McLaughlin, and I intend that he shall receive every iota of credit belonging to him. He started it and he probably is responsible for many things that have occurred that I am using today, although I have not been in conference with him. He is the originator of the intent to get fair treatment for the taxpayers. The trouble is that the Councilor let the matter drop, I presume under press of business. But I want him to receive from me at least my earnest statement that he deserves credit for starting the ball rolling, and I am going to see that it keeps rolling awhile longer.

"Office of the Mayor,
March 26, 1920."

"To the City Council:

"Gentlemen, — The Boston Consolidated Gas Company applied under the provisions of chapter 422 of the Acts of 1908, commonly called 'The Sliding Scale Act' for an increase in the standard price of gas furnished in Boston and its vicinity from $1 to $1.20 per thousand. Upon such application public hearings were held, at which the city was represented through the Law Department and objected to the increase in the standard price.

"The Public Utilities Department" — and I wish to interject the statement here that the Public Utilities Department have been in control since December, 1920, more than a year — "The Public Utilities Department was of the opinion and expressed the desire that the City of Boston should make a thorough investigation of the affairs and business of the Boston Consolidated Gas Company, which undoubtedly would materially aid it in arriving at a just conclusion, and pending such investigation" — listen, gentlemen, — pending such investigation! — "tentatively increase the standard price from $1 to $1.10 per thousand."

"I am strongly of the opinion that an investigation would be beneficial to the City of Boston and its gas consumers and feel that an investigation and report thereon can be well and exhaustively made as outlined in the accompanying letter of the A. D. Little Company, a Massachusetts corporation eminently qualified to do the work, for which they will charge $20,000."

"In connection with the work which they are to do it will be necessary to have the services of expert accountants, and the firm of Patterson, Teele & Dennis, expert accountants, will do the work of A. D. Little Company for a sum not exceeding $4,000."

"As I consider this investigation of great importance to the City of Boston and the consumers of gas therein, I recommend the passage of the accompanying order." Which was in effect that the Council appropriate $24,000 in order to carry out the wishes of the Public Utilities Board and his Honor the Mayor. We passed that very measure that very day, and since then, beginning with March 26, 1920, nearly twelve months have elapsed and there has been no report from the A. D. Little Company and no report from Patterson, Teele & Dennis, accountants, and there has been no information for this body or for the tax payers as to where the $24,000 has gone. I may be incorrect, but I understand that people have tried to get, through his Honor the Mayor, some information concerning the report of the Little Company, chemists, and the accounting concern of Patterson, Teele & Dennis. As far as the A. D. Little Company is concerned, they have laboratories on Charles River dam, I am told, and— I think my information is also correct in this respect—they are gentlemen who are used at times by the Edison company and the Consolidated Gas Company in looking up matters. Let them deny it. I will go further, later. While I cannot confirm it at the moment, it is my opinion that they are on both the payrolls of the City of Boston and of the gas company. Somebody may say that they haven't bothered to collect their money. Oh, yes, they have. That is a thing that they never overlook. The last payment of the $24,000 was made in January of this year, and yet not a word do we have concerning what the Little company and the accountants have done; and, notwithstanding the assurance given to this body and through the Mayor by the Public Utilities Commission that there would be no further increase for gas pending this information that we sought, gas has gone from $1.10 a thousand to $1.40 a thousand, and it is still a self operating elevator, going up, up, up. I am not talking for the purpose of hearing myself talk. I can do that with those I love, day in and day out, those I respect, my associates. But I want it understood that I am doing this not for my personal glory, but I want my gas bill cut down, I want your gas and electric light bills cut down. I want the public treated fairly, and it never will be done as long as there is no team work, as long as we remain deaf and submissive to the corporations, these great, gigantic companies, backed and controlled by the arrogant aristocracy of State street. The American has been kind to me. I have nothing in common with that newspaper, except at times when we may both happen to be working in the public interest together. But they owe me nothing. They have, however, tried to work up publicity concerning my efforts in this matter. The other papers—the Herald, Globe, Post and others—have been kind. They have printed as a rule, however, the news that attracted the eye. If gas escaped and damage was done, it has been treated as a matter of news; if there was a murder it has been made an item of news; an explosion was an item of news; a big snow storm was a matter of news. But it has been too often the case in the public print that unless there was an accident the importance of a thing has been overlooked or forgotten, and too often corrupt corporations, with their aristocratic and evil influences, corporations that grind the people down, have not had sufficient attention paid to them, have not properly had their doings brought to the public eye. I have said a number of times on this floor that at the present time the reactionaries are in the saddle. Theodore Roosevelt is dead. People are busy cleaning up their own houses and are not bothering with things beyond the boundaries of their homes, and when they are so occupied, these evil influences, like a thief in the night, start again to plunder the people by way of legislation and special privilege. I am going to continue this fight if I am ridiculed out of Boston eventually. If I cannot get action otherwise, I may go after it by taking a box and an automobile and individually stamping on every corner in Boston, carrying this story to the people and telling it right to their faces—and, if necessary, I will take any consequences. I will accept any penalty that these evil influences can bring about to interfere with my so doing, and I defy them. Thank God, I believe in those who sent me here, and I hope that they still believe in me. I am human, I make errors, like any other human being. When I know that I have made errors, I regret it. I say very sarcastic and biting things at times to those that cross me, and I regret it very much at other times, after I have done so, when I find that I have erred. To be frank, perhaps I am too gullible. I forgive too quickly and I am too ready to believe. But now, as I have passed the fifty-year mark and am going towards the grave rather than from the cradle, I realize the necessity of being serious and being careful. That is now my attitude in public affairs, in my business affairs and my conduct among my friends and in my home. I want to establish in this community, fellow members, a reputation that those who know me best believe I am entitled to—that I am not the wild radical individual of twenty years ago, when I first came here and sat with 74 colleagues, or when I went to the Legislature in 1891 and sat there with 239 colleagues. As you grow old you become serious, and I want the people to know that my endeavor and desire is to serve them, as is that attitude of my colleagues here. I do not claim all the virtue, but I want to impress upon the public, if I can, in some way, that I love to serve them, love to know that they know that I am doing my duty, as I see it; and I wish, above all, to make an element in this community who have not treated me seriously or fairly in my political career know that I am as honest and fair, pretty nearly as able and surely as fearless, as any man they send here bearing their label in the pamphlet that they have sent out this year as in other years. I pay my respects to them in that way. They misunderstand me. I will say that, to be charitable. They say that I cannot be trusted. I can be trusted when the public interests are at stake, but when it comes to conniving, manipulating and doing the things that will not bear the light of day, I cannot be controlled and I will not be controlled. I have about exhausted what I had to say, and in conclusion I want to just make this one statement, and then I am through. Tomorrow—and I ask the papers to bear this in mind—Senate Bill 314, which is the bill reported by the Committee on Power and Light unanimously (the bill which in its original state was called Senate 130, which went through the House of Representatives unanimously without a single one of the 240 members voting no upon it and then went to the Senate burying ground, where very clever manipulators, the greatest legislative fixers of the land, handled it) will be up for action. The names of these manipulators and fixers have been across newspaper headings in red type. They are presumed to have retired from Beacon Hill. Yes, when progressiveness was going forward, when people were progressive and watchful, when the tendency was to be liberal and fair during the war time, these people retired temporarily. But again, I repeat, the reactionaries are in power everywhere. I repeat that that bill went through the House and the Senate, and it seemed as if everything was going all right, as far as those who wished it were concerned. But they then found that there was something not in it that the lighting interests wanted—not alone the Edison company, but the lighting interests in Massachusetts generally. Of course, this is not a thing that concerns simply the Edison company, the Boston Consolidated company or the Cambridge company. It is true that the Edison company will be enabled to capitalize $17,000,000 of premiums, the Cambridge Gas Light Company $3,000,000, and so on. By amendment the Boston Consolidated Gas Company has been taken out of the provisions of the bill. But altogether there would be over one hundred millions, in different corporations, handed over to the companies and the stockholders, if this bill should pass. Now, let me read this preamble which has been placed in Senate No. 314, to meet something else which arose, and which these corporations thought should be met:

"Whereas, the deferred operation of this act would largely defeat its purpose to afford the relief therein provided for, therefore it is hereby declared to be an emergency law necessary for the immediate preservation of the public convenience."

That has been introduced, and that part of the bill makes it operative the moment it passes. There is only one other bill that has been passed in this session of the Legislature with that provision, and that was something for the Election Department, providing registration for women voters, as an emergency. That could not wait for ninety days, but had to go through; and then they put a provision of that sort into this bill, so that it would not have to wait ninety days, but would go through at once, without any opportunity to stop its operation. But while the bill was passed as amended, to be engrossed, 23 to 15, Senator Reed of Taunton fought the thing nobly, and some of the senators from Boston stood up in their boots in spite of the attitude of some of the senators, including a few Republicans, noble representatives of the city! and voted "No" on the proposition. There was also a member from Worcester, and Chamberlain of Springfield. I had better read the names, in order that they may be recorded. Among those against it were Senator Monk, of Watertown, Senator Naphen, representing Newton, Natick and Wellesley, Senator Nelson of Worcester, Senator Martin L. Quinn of Swampscott, representing Lynn, Senator Silas Reed of Taunton, Senator Albert P. Wadleigh—I don't know just where he is from. But there were fifteen against it and twenty-three for it. Then the bill was amended, because there was a joker in it that would strike at the importance of it, and they then got it busy. They amended it in the Senate. Of course, under the law, it then had to go back to the House for concurrence. A cry was made by the American in its editorial columns that I have here, to which I called attention before. They set up the cry about this bill, stating what it meant as applied to all the gas and electric light companies, and created so much of a stench in the nostrils of the public that it was amended by inserting this section:

"Section 7. None of the provisions of this act shall be held to apply to the Boston Consolidated Gas Company, its successors or assigns."

The only reason I can give for that company being exempted is that they are getting it fast and plenty in other ways. Now I have had my say, and I have nothing further to say. I seek the co-operation of you, Mr. President, and my associates in an endeavor to serve the public that has served us by sending us here. We ought to hold a mass meeting in Faneuil Hall before the Legislature acts on this measure and before the Governor signs it if the Legislature passes it. If necessary, we might hold a great concourse of people in a place where people are likely to go. There are in this town 100,000 competent business men of medium means who will protest against this commercial highway robbery act, and I ask your co-operation so that the matter may be properly before them and so that we as representatives may properly voice their feelings in the matter and bring the facts to their attention. I have had your co-operation to date. And I ask the Mayor's co-operation. I ask him to let this body know what has been the result of the expenditure of $24,000 of the people's money, the taxpayers' money, in inquiring into the justice of the charges of the Boston Consolidated Gas Company. I ask him how it is that the assurance he had that there would be no increase from the $1.10 of a year ago until he had this information in his hands and could present it to the gas company, has not been carried out. I ask him to inform this body, which is just as close to the public as he is and just as competent and just as willing as he is to serve them, as to the situation, as he has found it. I do not desire to talk further. I might ask for a suspension of the rule and, if there is no objection, I will ask for it. If any members desire the matter to go into executive session, I am perfectly agreeable. Perhaps it might be just as well to refer it to executive session. The reason why I have talked so long at the present time was that I thought I might ask for suspension of the rule. But it may be wise to refer it to the Executive Committee, to report back this afternoon.

The order was referred to the Executive Committee.

RECESS TAKEN.

The Council voted at 3.24 p. m., on motion of Coun. DONOGHUE, to take a recess subject to the call of the President.

The members of the Council reassembled in the Chamber and were called to order by the President at 3.53 p. m.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE REPORTS.

Coun. WATSON, for the Executive Committee, submitted the following, viz.:

1. Report on order (referred today), accepting chapter 76 of the Acts of 1921, entitled "An Act Authorizing the City of Boston to Pay a Sum of Money to the Widow of John F. Cullen"—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; order passed.

2. Report on order (referred today), that there be allowed and paid to Bridget M. Cullen, widow of John F. Cullen, $990.53—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; order passed.

3. Report on resolve (referred today), protesting against the passage of House Bill No. 807, concerning regulation of public amusements, etc.—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; resolution passed.

4. Report on resolve (referred today), that the Corporation Counsel appear before the Department of Public Utilities and request a reduction in the price of electricity and gas—that the resolution ought to pass.

Report accepted; resolution passed.

5. Report on petition of Frances Lee (referred today), for permit for children under 15 years of age to appear at Huntington Chambers Hall, March 11—that a permit be granted.

Report accepted; permit granted on the usual conditions.

6. Report on order (referred Feb. 28), that the temporary presiding officer appoint committees to serve until a permanent president is elected—that the order ought to pass.

The report was accepted, and the question came on the passage of the order.

Coun. DONOGHUE. Mr. President, I would say in regard to that order for the appointment of committees that I was not in the Executive Committee when the order came up, or did not hear it when I was there. I feel, in view of the fact that there are four members of the Council absent now, no such order should be allowed to go through until we at least have the full membership present. I do not believe the temporary presiding officer can appoint committees properly, and then have a permanent president elected afterwards, making new appointments or being obliged to confirm the appointments made pro tem by the preceding officer. I think matters should be handled as they are now, through the Executive Committee. I certainly hope that they will continue to be so handled until we have elected a president. I rise to a point of order at this time, that it requires a suspension of the rule to pass this order.

Coun. WATSON. Mr. President, I think Coun. Donoghue was absent when the matter was first taken up. It was taken up at my suggestion. I talked with several members of the Council concerning the matter, but did not talk with the member especially today, as the opportunity did not offer, not through any intentional oversight. I supposed that he understood the situation from last week, when we expressed ourselves in regard to the matter in the Executive Committee. I expressed myself last week, and I believe the Council did, in sympathy with the idea suggested by Coun. Collins, that it might be embarrassing for the president-elect to knock off the chairmen of the different committees appointed by the temporary chairman and substitute others. I thought then that the better way was to send matters to the Executive Committee for consideration until we had organized, but the preponderance of opinion was the other way, and we then agreed, if we did not organize today, to vote for the order as it had been introduced. I do know that it is necessary for us to function very quickly. I am satisfied from what I know that there will be no decision as to the presidency for some time. I have announced my position. I shall vote for myself first and last, if I receive only one vote at the finish. I have served notice on my colleagues to that effect. The presidency does not mean anything to me, but I have felt that I was entitled to it, under the circumstances, and I feel that the two gentlemen who have voted for me to date will continue to do so. If so, to the end it will be three for Lane, three for Brickley and three for myself. It appears that we are all determined to hold our ground. If we do, we must not permit the city departments to fail to function. This way seemed to be the way out of it that was suggested, and I am agreeable. I think after my talk with Coun. Hagan that he is agreeable to almost any plan which will result in committees functioning. I talked with my colleague a week ago and he and I agreed that the better way to do it would be through the Executive Committee, but we must have some way to make things move along, and so I have been willing to vote for Coun. Hagan's order. I wish the Councilor opposite had been present when the matter was taken up in the Executive Committee.

Pres. HAGAN. The point of order raised by the gentleman, that a suspension of the rule is necessary, is not well taken. It is not necessary to suspend the rule, that the chairman may appoint temporary committees.

The order is reported by the Executive Committee, and the report may be accepted and the order passed by a majority vote.

Coun. DONOGHUE. Mr. President, the rules state that the president of the body shall appoint all committees, and this order says that the temporary president shall appoint all existing committees. If that is not an amendment to the existing rules, I don't know what is. But, inasmuch as the Chair has ruled that it is not an amendment to the rule, that a suspension of the rule is not necessary, I am going to appeal from the decision of the Chair. I would say that I personally believe we should get down to business and should function, but there is a difference of opinion as to how we should function under existing conditions. I would call attention of the members of the Council to the fact that the loan budget submitted by the Mayor, which is intended to be in effect after April 8, 1921, appropriates $3,469,500 out of a total appropriating power for this year of about $4,400,000. In other words, there is less than $1,000,000 left to be appropriated for the rest of this entire fiscal year. When I submitted an order last year to appropriate $750,000, which was afterwards amended to $200,000 in the Executive Committee, with the understanding that the $200,000 was to be provided in that year and $200,000 in the following year for improvements at the City Hospital, I was met with a rebuke from the Mayor's office, he stating in his veto of that proposition that we should always leave a certain amount of money available for emergency purposes. At that time, there was $500,000 left, with about a month of the fiscal year to go. Here this year we have gone through but one month of the year, and we already have submitted from the Mayor a bill for $3,470,000. I feel that some of those recommendations of the Mayor should be withdrawn. If that is done, I have no objection to any procedure in the way of appointment of committees. But I do object to having practically the entire appropriating capacity of the city eaten up by the Mayor in the first month of the fiscal year. I stand on my appeal from the decision of the Chair, and ask for a roll call.

Pres. HAGAN. The Chair has not heard the appeal seconded. It is not in order unless it is.

Coun. BRICKLEY—Mr. President, I will second the appeal.

Pres. HAGAN. The question is on sustaining the Chair. Shall the decision of the Chair stand as the judgment of the Council?

Coun. FORD. Mr. President, I am going to vote to sustain the Chair. But I merely wish to say that if there were some other plan that would take care of Mr. Donoghue's suggestion I would vote to recommit the matter. At this time, however, I shall vote to sustain the decision of the Chair.

The decision of the Chair stood as the judgment of the Council, yeas 3, nays 2; yeas—Coun. Ford, Lane, Watson, 3; nays—Coun. Brickley, Donoghue, 2.

The order as reported by the Executive Committee was passed. Coun. Donoghue doubted the vote and asked for the yeas and nays.

The order was passed, yeas 4, nays 2; yeas—Coun. Ford, Hagan, Lane, Watson, 4; nays—Coun. Brickley, Donoghue, 2.

APPOINTMENT OF COMMITTEES.

Pres. HAGAN. The Chair will at this time appoint the members of the standing committees of last year, in the order in which they were appointed at that time, with the exception that, on the Committee on Appropriations, Coun. Donoghue not caring to serve, Coun. McLaughlin will be appointed chairman; Coun. Donoghue will be appointed chairman of the Committee on Finance, and Coun. Moriarty will be substituted for myself (Pres. Hagan) on the Committee on Claims. The committees will stand as appointed until such time as a president elect has the right to appoint his committees.

EXAMINATION OF CONSOLIDATED GAS BOOKS.

Coun. DONOGHUE offered an order—That his Honor the Mayor be requested to submit to the City Council at his earliest convenience reports on the examination of the books of the Consolidated Gas Company, by Arthur D. Little and Messrs. Patterson, Teele & Dennis, for which an appropriation of $24,000 was made by the City Council on March 29, 1920, at his request; and such further information on the matter as he may deem fit to submit.

Passed, under a suspension of the rule.

CONFIRMATION OF APPOINTMENTS.

Coun. HAGAN called up unfinished business Nos. 1 and 2, viz.:

Action on appointments submitted by the Mayor, February 28, 1921, viz.:

1. William James Keller, to be a Constable.
 2. Clayton T. Joslyn, to be a Weigher of Goods.
- The question came on confirmation. Committee, Coun. Brickley and Donoghue. Whole number of ballots cast 5, yeas 5, and the appointments were confirmed.

POLICE STATION 2 MATTER IN SUPREME JUDICIAL COURT.

Pres. HAGAN announced that on Tuesday March 8, there would be a hearing on the writ of mandamus of Police Commissioner Edwin U. Curtis against the City of Boston and others, in regard to the Police Station 2 situation, in the Supreme Judicial Court.

GENERAL RECONSIDERATION.

Coun. DONOGHUE moved a general reconsideration on all business transacted at the meeting, hoping that the same would not prevail. Lost.

Adjourned at 4 07 p. m., on motion of Coun. LANE, to meet on Monday, March 14, at 2 o'clock p. m.

MUNICIPAL SERVICE.

Complaints, inquiries or suggestions regarding the work of municipal departments should be made in writing to the officials directly in charge. The failure of such officials to make reply within a reasonable length of time should be brought to the attention of the Mayor. Communications should be directed as follows:

TO THE BOARD OF STREET COMMISSIONERS, room 401, City Hall Annex, for information relative to the laying out, relocation, widening and the discontinuance of highways; the taking of real property for municipal purposes; the assessments of betterments for streets and sewers; the plotting of undeveloped areas for streets and the opening of private ways; the granting of licenses for the storage or sale of merchandise in public streets; the regulation of street traffic; the making of specific repairs in public streets, the naming of public streets, the planting and removal of trees in public ways, the issuing of licenses for the storage of gasoline, oil and other inflammable substances or explosive compounds, the use of the public ways for any permanent or temporary obstruction or projection in, under or over the same, including the location of conduits, poles and posts for telephone, telegraph, street railway or illuminating purposes, signs, marquees, bay windows, coal holes and vaults.

TO THE COMMISSIONER OF PUBLIC WORKS, room 511, City Hall Annex, for information as to the watering, cleaning, lighting and repairing of streets, the construction and care of sewers and catch-basins, the operation of the ferries, the maintenance of bridges and drawbridges and the removal of ashes and offal.

TO room 604, City Hall Annex, for information relative to the supplying or metering of water and the water charges of the city.

TO THE HEALTH DEPARTMENT, room 1107, City Hall Annex, for information relative to the inspection of milk, vinegar, meat, fish and vegetables, the issuance of permits for stables, slaughter houses, etc., smoke nuisances, the existence of contagious diseases or public health nuisances.

TO THE BOARD OF PARK COMMISSIONERS, 33 Beacon street, for information as to the care of the Common, Public Garden, Franklin Park, Franklin Field, Commonwealth avenue, Back Bay Fens, Marine Park and the small parks and playgrounds in general throughout the city, and as to the extermination of gypsy moths and the charges made for such service. Application may be made to this department for information regarding the public baths and gymnasiums maintained by the city, and with regard to municipal indoor concerts and band concerts; also information relative to Mount Hope, Evergreen, Fairview and other public cemeteries owned by the City of Boston.

TO THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE, 26 Mason street, for information relative to the operation of the schools of the city.

TO THE SCHOOLHOUSE COMMISSIONERS, room 1007, City Hall Annex, for information as to the construction and repair of school buildings.

TO BOARD OF EXAMINERS, room 1001, City Hall Annex, for information regarding the licensing of persons having charge or control of the work of construction, alteration, removal or tearing down of buildings.

TO THE WIRE DIVISION OF THE FIRE DEPARTMENT, room 905, City Hall Annex, for all information relative to the erection of poles, the building of conduits, the installation of wires and electrical apparatus. Also to the same office for permits for the installing of wires and electrical apparatus within buildings in the City of Boston, and for the payment of fees incident to the granting of the privileges above named, and which must invariably be paid in advance.

BOSTON'S ASSETS AND PROPERTY IN DETAIL, FEBRUARY 1, 1918.

Assets in Sinking Funds, $42,394,290; Trust Funds, $9,984,404; value of Parks, Public Grounds, Bathhouses, etc., $69,072,400; Rapid Transit Subways and Tunnels, $34,032,177; Schools, $27,670,043; Water Supply System, $19,976,462; Hospitals and other Institutions, $9,075,200; General Government, $9,418,000; Cemeteries, $7,106,100; Public Library, $6,157,500; Fire Department, $3,218,600; Public Markets, etc., $2,781,200; Public Works Department, $3,753,800; Police Department, $1,605,100; General Cash on hand, $4,674,540; all other, $5,525,123. Total, $256,444,939. (See U. S. Census Bureau's Financial Statistics of Cities, 1918, pages 288, 289, 294, 295.)

HOW BOSTON'S CITY DOLLAR WAS SPENT IN YEAR 1919-20.

For State tax and assessments, 19.7 cents; Public Schools, 18.9; Public Works, 16.2; Debt Requirements, 14.3; Police Department, 7.8; Fire Department, 6.9; County Courts, etc., 3.5; Hospitals and Health, 3.4; Institutions and Poor Relief, 3.0; General Government, 2.7; Public Recreation, 2.4; Public Library, 1.2, making a total of 100 cents. This excludes all expenditures from loans, etc., but includes Special Appropriations from Tax Levy and other General Income.

The revenue of the departments amounted to 23.84 per cent of their expenditures. The revenue of Public Service Enterprises alone (including Water, Transit Subways, Ferries, Markets, etc.) amounted to $5,639,513 or $6,977 more than their total expenditures.

CITY OF BOSTON.

SUPPLY DEPARTMENT.

PROPOSALS FOR COAL.

The Superintendent of Supplies invites proposals for furnishing 1,000 tons, more or less, of semi-bituminous coal to be delivered at once for the Boston City Hospital. Delivery is to be made either alongside or in the storage hopper but the bidder must state point of delivery. The bidder must use the form of proposal to be obtained at the office of the Supply Department, Room 811, City Hall Annex, and furnish a certified check for $500 payable to and to become the property of the City of Boston if the proposal is not carried out. A duplicate bid, without check, must be deposited with the City Auditor prior to the time named for opening bids. The bidder must state the price per ton of 2,240 lbs. and leave his proposal at the office of the Supply Department on or before 12 m., Wednesday, March 16, 1921, at which time and place they will be publicly opened and read. The successful bidder must furnish a bond for one-quarter the amount of the contract with a surety company authorized to do business in Massachusetts. The Superintendent reserves the right to accept or reject any or all proposals or any part of a proposal, and to award as he deems for the best interests of the city. All contracts made subject to appropriations to meet payments thereunder.

GEORGE J. CRONIN,
Superintendent of Supplies.

(Mar. 12.)

CITY OF BOSTON.

SUPPLY DEPARTMENT.

PROPOSALS FOR FURNISHING RUBBER COATS TO THE FIRE DEPARTMENT.

The Supply Department of the City of Boston invites proposals for furnishing to the Fire Department, at the Fire Department Headquarters, Bristol street, 349 rubber fire coats as per specifications to be obtained at the Supply Department, Room 811, City Hall Annex. Delivery to be made as required. Coal.

March 12 to the Northern Coal Co. as per following communication and bids:

March 11, 1921.

HON. ANDREW J. PETERS,

Mayor of Boston,

DEAR SIR,—Attached please find list of bids, which were publicly opened and read at this office under date of March 10, 1921, on proposals for furnishing 2,500 tons, more or less, of semi-bituminous coal to the Ferry Division and the Hospital Department of the City of Boston.

I respectfully recommend that the contract for furnishing the 1,500 tons to the North Ferry be awarded to the Northern Coal Co. for Pool No. 1 and Pool No. 2 coal at $7.24 per long ton.

Regarding the prices received on the 1,000 tons to be delivered to the Boston City Hospital, would state that owing to the confusion among the bidders regarding the exact delivery point, where this coal was to be delivered, it is my intention to readvertise for the city's requirements at this location immediately.

Respectfully yours,

G. J. CRONIN,

Superintendent of Supplies.

APPOINTMENT OF IRVIN McDOWELL GARFIELD.

The following was received:

Office of the Mayor,
March 14, 1921.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—You are hereby notified that I have this day reappointed Irvin McDowell Garfield, of 127 Marlboro street, Ward 8, as Director of the Collateral Loan Company, for the year ending December 1921.

Respectfully,

ANDREW J. PETERS, Mayor.

Placed on file.

VETO, PAYMENT TO BRIDGET M. CULLEN.

The following was received:

Office of the Mayor,
March 14, 1921.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I am herewith returning without my signature the order passed by the City Council on March 7, accepting chapter 76 of the Acts of 1921, together with the order providing for the payment to Bridget M. Cullen the sum of nine hundred and ninety dollars and fifty-three cents under the provisions of chapter 76 of the Acts of 1921.

In connection with this order I have consulted with the Commissioner of the Public Works Department in which the late Mr. Cullen was employed. The Commissioner of Public Works in a report to me on this subject makes the following comment: "I cannot recommend that the City favor the acceptance of this legislation when we are unable to assist the families of deceased laborers who have spent an equal or longer length of time in the city service at more laborious work and for considerably less wages."

I believe, under the circumstances, it is my duty to veto the orders in question.

Respectfully yours,

ANDREW J. PETERS, Mayor.

Placed on file.

COST OF WIDENING MORTON STREET.

The following was received:

Office of the Mayor,
March 11, 1921.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—In compliance with the order of the City Council of February 14, 1921, the Board of Street Commissioners have prepared a report on the advisability and cost of widening Morton street, West Roxbury, between Canterbury and Washington streets. As it is self-explanatory, I am herewith transmitting a copy of this communication.

Respectfully yours,

ANDREW J. PETERS, Mayor.

Street Laying-Out Department,
March 11, 1921.

Hon. Andrew J. Peters,

Mayor of the City of Boston.

Dear Sir,—In response to the order of the City Council of February 14, last, requesting a report on the advisability and cost of widening Morton street, West Roxbury, between Canterbury street and Washington street, the Board of Street Commissioners submit the following:

A plan for the widening of Morton street for its entire length was made many years ago. It has already been widened between Canterbury street and Fuller street, in Dorchester, to eighty feet. The street between Washington street and Blue Hill avenue has become one of the most important traffic thoroughfares in the city. During the summer season it is densely congested with motor vehicles.

On the section of the street between Canterbury street and Washington street there are two dangerous places where accidents are of frequent occurrence. These danger spots should be eliminated at the earliest opportunity.

At no time has an appropriation been available to make this widening. It would cost $300,000 to do so as suggested in the order of your honorable body. Such a widening would involve takings of about 150,000 square feet of land, of which about 124,000 square feet would be taken from the Forest Hills Cemetery.

If a plan which has recently been prepared by the park department should be carried out it would not be necessary at this time to widen Morton street between Washington street and the entrance to the Forest Hills Cemetery. This plan calls for an extension of the Arborway across Forest Hills street and through Franklin Park, joining with Morton street at Morton road. This would eliminate the two dangerous turns at the corner of Forest Hills street and Morton street, and by the construction of Morton street, which has already been widened, nearly opposite the Forest Hills Cemetery entrance, the dangerous curve at this point would be materially reduced and accidents greatly lessened.

This much of the improvement could be made at a comparatively slight cost, of perhaps less than $25,000. It is the intention of this board, co-operating with the board of park commissioners, to make this improvement during the coming summer. Morton street, between Morton road and Canterbury street, could then be widened at a cost of about $175,000.

Very truly yours,
JOHN J. O'CALLAGHAN, Chairman.

Placed on file.

REPORTS OF GAS COMPANY EXAMINATION.

The following was received:

Office of the Mayor,
March 14, 1921

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—In accordance with your request I am herewith transmitting a copy of the report of Patterson, Teale and Dennis upon an examination of the accounts of the Boston Consolidated Gas Company, and also copy of the report on the business operations of the Boston Consolidated Gas Company made by Arthur D. Little, Inc.

Respectfully yours,

ANDREW J. PETERS, Mayor.

(Annexed were the reports referred to.)

HENRY T. JOHNQUIST SQUARE.

Coun. McLAUGHLIN offered an order—That the space at the junction of Savin Hill avenue, Rockdale street and the bridge, Dorchester, be named and known as Henry T. Johnquist square, in honor of said Johnquist, who was killed in action while a member of the 101st infantry during the World War; and that said space be suitably marked with signs.

Passed, under a suspension of the rule.

INFORMATION ASKED CONCERNING STREET LIGHTING.

Coun. WATSON offered an order—That his Honor the Mayor and the Corporation Counsel are hereby requested to appear forthwith before the Executive Committee and furnish it with such information that they may have that will in any way aid the Council in the matter of the contract between the City of Boston and the Edison Illuminating Company for street lighting, and any other information that they may have bearing on the question of price, etc., of electric and gas lighting as it has to do with the city of Boston and the consumers generally.

Coun. WATSON, Mr. President, for the fifth consecutive Monday and the fifth consecutive meeting of this body I have introduced another order here pertaining to the gas and electric lighting situation and concerning the bill that provides for premiums to the holders of stock in the lighting companies of Massachusetts. I have a two-fold reason for introducing this order today: First, to call to the attention of the public through the press that tomorrow in the House of Representatives Senate Bill No. 314, which provides, in my opinion, for the taking from the pockets of the taxpayers of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts of not less than fifty million dollars in premiums which will be paid to the holders of stock in the several lighting companies of the state will be up for consideration. The bill has already passed the Senate and is now before the House. Mr. President, while I know of these sinister designs and the great influence that the lighting interests, backed by the financial interests of Massachusetts, use to steer away from the straight path those sent to the Legislature by the sovereign people of Massachusetts, I have confidence in the members on Beacon Hill, so far as the public interests are concerned, whenever they will look into matters carefully. But when we have designing interests back of corrupt legislation, filed for the purpose of increasing the burden upon the taxpayers of the Commonwealth benefiting the privileged class, I am a little mite pessimistic and a little mite fearful of the result, unless the members up there are thoroughly awake.

No member of the Legislature of Massachusetts, knowing the intent of the legislation proposed in Senate Bill 314, would for one moment dare vote for it. He would certainly not dare vote for it if he was a candidate for re-election next year; and no member will vote for it unless he is controlled through friendly or business relations that interlock with the interests asking for the legislation, or because he is willing to be corrupted by a lobby that is always willing to corrupt the representatives of the people in the interests of the privileged class.

That is a broad statement, gentlemen of the press, and in order to make it more emphatic I will repeat it. No member of the Massachusetts House of Representatives would dare to vote tomorrow for Senate Bill No. 314 without its being amended so as to protect the taxpayers' interest, unless he does it because of interlocking friendship or business relations with those who are behind this bad and crooked legislation or because he is willing to be corrupt and is going to be corrupted by the evil influences behind Senate Bill No. 314. I cannot make it any clearer than that. I intend to say that, and exactly that, because that is exactly the proposition today, fellow members. That is the situation on Beacon Hill today. The great lobbying interests there were formerly in charge of J. Otis Wardwell. He is not now operating in the open, but those interests are there, and the machinery and the gumshoe men are now at work on Beacon Hill. That is the reason why I have introduced this order today.

Something should be done to block Senate Bill No. 314. There ought to be a mass meeting held on Boston Common tomorrow at noontime, at which all nine of the members of the City Council might be present, the eight members beside myself, because my fellow members have been sympathizing with and following me in my attempt to get justice and fair treatment for the public from these unscrupulous men of great wealth and these heartless corporations. We ought to have a public meeting in Boston, giving it publicity in the press, calling on the citizens of Massachusetts and of Boston to go there and pass resolutions, not requesting members of the Legislature to vote against the bill but demanding it.

There would be but few votes for the bill if we had annual elections of the members of the Legislature. But they are elected for two years. They think the people forget these things—and they do, I am sorry to say. Even great public leaders forget, at times. I have sought the assistance of James M. Curley, of John F. Fitzgerald, and of Edmund Billings. I have sought the assistance of numerous men in my endeavor to have something done. I called a meeting last Friday in order to take some of the burden of the work off my shoulders. A chairman and a secretary were appointed, and the committee is anxious to do something. But we still need the help of some of those big men of the community, who are always talking about Boston and its commercial opportunities, about the fact that the port of Boston ought to be one of the greatest ports in the United States. They are, at times like this, however, deaf, dumb, and blind. I have been leading these committees, but I would certainly be glad to step aside if some of these men can handle the matter more ably than I can handle it. But they must be as honest in the matter as I am, to take my place.

As far as ex-Mayor John F. Fitzgerald is concerned, let me say that I have nothing whatever against him. He goes to Hull, however, where he resides in the summer, and takes up in a town meeting there the matter looking towards the decreasing of taxes in the town of Hull, but when there is a matter coming up involving taking from the pockets of the public at least fifty million dollars in the state of Massachusetts, and when there is a matter in which we are interested concerning the cost of gas, which affects every man, woman and child in the state, he is absent. However, as a friend of mine says, "Jerry, don't blame him. If he can't be the bell cow, he won't be a cow at all." (Laughter.) There is the same situation with regard to ex-Mayor James M. Curley. If he does not care to be connected with the movement because I am the leader and because I am prominent in it, I will gladly step aside, giving up whatever glory there may be for me as one of the pioneers, and letting him go through with it. I am willing that these other men shall come into the movement and go through with it, and I will step aside, but I want them to go through straight, and they must go through straight.

Edmund Billings, the Collector of the Port, is said to have aspirations to be mayor. He cannot mix with the plain people now, because he doesn't need to. There is not now a mayoralty campaign on. But very likely he might be glad to do so later. God help Boston, if that is the kind of people who are going to put it on the map.

I hold no brief for Mayor Peters, but I have been intimate with him personally for perhaps thirty-five years, having lived within a stone's throw of him at Forest Hills in childhood. He knows me and knows my people, and I know him and his people. Although I did not support him for mayor, I have no quarrel with him. I do stand back of him, however, in the quarrel, mix-up, discussion or disagreement that he has had with ex-Mayor Edwin U. Curtis, the Police Commissioner, on the matter of badges for the policemen. I am free to confess that in that matter I agree with Mayor Peters that the Boston Police Department is a Boston department. They could not be sent into Cambridge, and the state police can. Police Commissioner Curtis has made a mistake, but it is one that will benefit the Democratic party when there is an election. However, I agree with Mayor Peters in that matter. But it is a small thing for Mayor Peters to quarrel about a little tin badge on the front of a policeman's hat, especially when at least fifty million dollars of the money of the taxpayers of Massachusetts is held in the balance in another matter in which I would like to see him interest himself. That is what this order is for, Mr. President, they have not reached me and they cannot reach me, although they have tried to reach me. I could say more, but I will not do so.

As far as Mayor Peters is concerned, by the way, I feel this way in regard to him. I want to give him all the credit that belongs to him. I think that he has made a fairly good mayor, as good as the average we have had, and I might say better than some, but he ought to have done a lot more than he has done. He could have improved vastly on his performance if he had been a little more frank with this body and with the press. I have no quarrel with him, and he must take this as I send it, with the best of feeling. He does his duty as he sees it. When I do my duty in this body and he disagrees with me, he says so plainly, and I feel that I have a right to take the same position when the positions are reversed. I might refer to his action on the gas matter, when we gave him $24,000 without a whimper under orders introduced or initiated by Coun. McLaughlin a year and two months ago.

The report of the Arthur D. Little Company is here before us. The Mayor has had it in his custody since November 20, and here it is marked. Why has it been kept back until this time? What use has been made of that report, that book which cost $24,000 of the taxpayers' money? All we have got to show for it is a volume of about 500 pages, for which the $20,000 was spent, and about 25 pages for which $4,000 was spent. This book contains a mass of figures from the Arthur D. Little company; and, while I am on the proposition, I am going to touch upon a letter that I received from Arthur D. Hill, Corporation Counsel. It is dated March 8, 1921, and is addressed to me. He says:

"Dear Sir,—In the report of yesterday's proceedings of the City Council in this morning's Post, page 12, column 3, the following occurs in what purports to be a part of your speech."

And by the way, it is rather strange that a conservative, well-balanced lawyer would attempt to base any comment on a newspaper report of a speech, knowing the way they have to cut down speeches and remarks. But he takes me up, nevertheless, instead of waiting for the official report, which I now have and which he can read, which does not say what the paper says but which at least suggests it.

"He (Coun. Watson) charged that one of the firms doing the examination of the company books was on the payroll of both the city and the gas company. The company he referred to is that of Arthur D. Little."

"May I ask that you will furnish me with the evidence on which you base this charge? It is obviously of great importance to my intelligent handling of the City's case that I should know the facts in such a matter. I have never heard any suggestion of the kind and have believed Messrs. Arthur D. Little, Inc., to be experts of high professional standing upon whose fidelity, capacity and freedom from relations with the Gas Company, which would in any way hamper their giving the City the full benefit of their services, I was entitled to rely. If you have any definite information which would show me that I was erroneous in my belief I think you should let me have it at the earliest possible moment."

"This letter is written for the sole purpose of effective co-operation with you in the city's interest. I am not giving it to the press but I do not mean to impose any restrictions of privacy upon you."

Very truly yours,

ARTHUR D. HILL, Corporation Counsel."

Mr. President, I got Mr. Hill on the phone and told him that he had better read the minutes of the Council, because if the Post had printed all of my speech there wouldn't have been room for anything else in the paper. Of course, they cut down the speech. You cannot expect a newspaper to run verbatim what is said here. They take that which they consider to be good reading, and print it. I have no fault concerning the Post or any other paper as regards the way in which they have treated me in my controversy on this matter of legislation on Beacon Hill and this attempt to protect the taxpayers.

Then Mr. Hill followed this up with another letter, under date of March 9, 1921:

"James A. Watson, Esq.,
City Councillor, City Hall.

"Dear Sir,—I enclose herewith copy of letter dated March 9, 1921, received from Mr. Arthur D. Little, President of Arthur D. Little, Inc."

Very truly yours,

ARTHUR D. HILL, Corporation Counsel."

The letter enclosed is too long to read, but I am going to give it to the press. They do admit through their auditor, the bookkeeper working with the Arthur D. Little Company, that "the total payments received from the Boston Consolidated Gas Company for similar occasional services rendered during this term of about nine years aggregate $283.83."

Well, I did not say that they were on the payroll. I said it was my information that they were, but that I would not charge it definitely until I had checked up my information. But they come back here and prove my case. The Arthur D. Little Company have received from the Consolidated Gas Company at least $283 for work performed for the Consolidated Gas Company. Mind you, that is from the bookkeeper of the Arthur D. Little Company. Does the Arthur D. Little Company do any work for the Edison Electric & Illuminating Company? Methinks they do, a lot of it. Mr. Hill told me that the Institute of Technology is connected with the Arthur D. Little Company, Inc. Yes, and Harvard College and other institutions of learning have recommended other people for different positions, and they have fallen down. The endorsement of the Institute of Technology is a grand one, but I prefer an endorsement concerning a man or an institution from some source that is less susceptible to influence because of business relations. The Institute of Technology is a pet scheme of Stone & Webster's, and the Stone & Webster Company are as closely linked with the gas company and the Edison company as the Siamese twins were linked to one another. Intend to close shortly, but I must refer to two or three matters of vital importance to the public and I believe, gentlemen of the press, that you will run them, print them. They are new. The Boston Consolidated Gas Company lays nothing aside for depreciation. That is admitted to be a bad business policy, one that would not exist in a little store in Roxbury, if the woman or the man who ran it intended to stay in business. What man of us will not lay something away in the way of insurance? Perhaps death may come. Who will not, if they can, purchase accident insurance? A man who has a wife and children is criminal if he will not carry insurance against death, in order to leave them a little something when he passes away. The same principle applies to a great corporation like the Consolidated Gas Company. Not one nickel for depreciation, but plenty for salaries.

They don't make gas any longer out of coal. Scientific research and knowledge has shown to the gas company that gas can be manufactured cheaper, poorer gas and more dangerous to the health, from what is called illuminating oil. Therefore, in the wisdom of Mr. Snow, Mr. Richards, Mr. Wrightington, and Mr. Winsor of Kildler, Peabody & Company, who are also directors of the Consolidated Gas Company, as well as of the Massachusetts Gas Companies, the holding company, they decided that they would build an oil tank in Everett. And they did, the Boston Oil Company. They organized as a separate corporation. They said, "We have to pay salaries to the boys and make a profit for the stockholders and, therefore, we will not buy illuminating oil direct from the producers but will erect a plant and be middle men and collect from both ends and the middle." So they organized the Beacon Oil Company, a Massachusetts corporation organized January 27, 1919, capitalized for approximately $2,000,000. The president is William E. McKay, according to the records at the State House; the treasurer is E. N. Wrightington, and the directors are William G. McKay, J. L. Richards, C. M. Leonard and F. E. Snow. Mr. Snow is of the firm of Gaston, Snow & Saltonstall, and is also connected with the Consolidated Gas Company, and there is also Robert Winsor, connected with the Consolidated Gas Company and with Kildler, Peabody & Company. In fact, you have almost the identical membership of the Consolidated Gas Company. On the certificate filed January 27, 1919, the treasurer was E. M. Richards, the son of James L. Richards; but they have reorganized, and a later certificate shows that Mr. E. N. Wrightington, who is vice-president and manager of the Boston Consolidated Gas Company, with a salary there of $14,500 a year, is also treasurer of this company, the Beacon Oil Company of Everett, Mass.

Oh, Mr. President, the consumers of gas are paying the freight. What Barnum said is as true today as it ever was. "There is a sucker born every minute, and two to catch him." It is absolutely true. Shame on the leading public men of Massachusetts and of Boston, to allow a little fellow like me to make this fight that I am making. I could not make it alone, of course, and I have here the co-operation of Coun. Lane, Coun. Donoghue, and other members of this body. You are aiding me. But by helping me you are helping yourselves; by helping me you are helping the public; you are helping every man, woman and child in Massachusetts. You are starting a snowball down the hill which, when it reaches the bottom, will have become a great mass, and you will be remembered for it, as I will be.

I ask, through the press, the assistance of every public-spirited man in Boston and in Massachusetts in this matter. When I invited ex-Mayor Fitzgerald, ex-Mayor Curley and Edmund Billings, and about nine others, just three responded. A number of gentlemen, like Mr. William C. Prout, did respond. There were Mr. Prout and some others, about a hundred, who came here. But they were not leaders, men in the public eye in these public movements. They were ordinary, everyday men, of standing, it is true, of ability and honor; but we need the big fellows—the big fellows on paper, at least—to help in this contest.

Mr. E. A. Filene wrote me back—or rather his secretary did—that owing to the fact that he had to go on to Chicago he would be unable to attend; and Joseph O'Connell, the former congressman, told me that he was tied up in court. All the others have not even treated my invitation with the courtesy that I would extend to them, of at least a reply to the letter. While they have held positions of high honor in public life, they lack that sense of courtesy. It costs nothing to be a gentleman; it would have taken but a moment to dictate a letter to a stenographer, and to sign their names. But they have never even answered. Are they against the people? Are they with the lighting interests and the financial interests? I leave it for them to answer. Do they hold stock in the Edison company of Boston? Do they hold shares in the Massachusetts Gas Companies? Are they interested in the Beacon Oil Company? Are they interested in some of the subsidiary companies of the Consolidated Gas Company and the Massachusetts Gas Companies? Because the Massachusetts Gas Companies do have subsidiary gas companies, they do cover the field. They even have a subsidiary company that has boats to handle oil and other cargoes, and they went through the war without losing a boat or a man.

Where are these people I speak of? Where do they stand? Are they with these corporations and against the multitude, with the few and against the many? Are they against the people, who honored them with high public office? If they are, they are a degraded lot of men who never should have held public office. I do not say that they are low or degraded men, but I say that if they hold stock in the Edison company and remain quiet because they do, they are no longer friendly with the masses—and when I say "the masses" I don't mean simply the men who work for $3 or $5 a day. This is a matter which affects rich men as well. Why, Coun. Lane showed me a letter from a rich man whom he knows on Beacon street, a man who signs his name and who says frankly that these lighting people are robbing him. They charged him the same bill for three months when his house was closed in the summer as they did when he was at home, absolutely.

So much for that. Now, as to interlocking directorates. We have the Massachusetts Gas Companies—and, by the way, the poor Consolidated Company is in a awfully tough shape. Do you know what has happened? They have bought a $1,600,000 building. They bought it, not directly, but through one of their little cunning schemes. I have got the record of it here. They were not satisfied with the old-fashioned building on West street, where they could serve the people, but they are going to give them an up-to-date big building, which the people will pay for. So they have bought a fine building from the Lawrence estate at the corner of Mason, Tremont and West streets, a magnificent building which represents $1,600,000 in value on the books of the assessors of the City of Boston. The Lawrence estate on a given date conveyed that property and, according to the stamps upon it in the assessors' office, it amounts to $850,000. That was the cash transaction. This conveyance of deed recites that the estate is subject to two mortgages—the first of $800,000, held by the Massachusetts Life Insurance Company, and second, of $575,000, held by Lawrence et al., trustees. I have here the number of the deed, which is a matter of record. By the deed Sober, a dummy in the operation, conveys the property to the Massachusetts Gas Companies. And who are they? If you will permit me, I will read, as I go along, the names of the directors of the Consolidated Gas Company and will also read the names of the directors of the Massachusetts Gas Companies, the controlling or holding company that owns about all the gas plants in Massachusetts.

The deed is signed by the following Massachusetts Gas Companies' trustees: Robert Winsor, also a Consolidated Gas Company director, Walter C. Baylies, Massachusetts Gas Companies trustee and also a Consolidated Gas Company director; Edwin S. Webster, a Massachusetts Gas Companies trustee, also a Boston Consolidated Gas Company director; James L. Richards, trustee of the Massachusetts Gas Companies, and also a director of the Boston Consolidated Gas Company; Charles Francis Adams, a Massachusetts Gas Company trustee, and also representing the Consolidated Gas Company; Samuel Carr, connected with Massachusetts banks, a trustee of the Massachusetts Gas Companies and also a director of the Consolidated Gas Company; Frederic E. Snow, of Gaston, Snow & Saltonstall, a Massachusetts Gas Companies trustee and also representative of the Boston Consolidated Gas Company; Charles S. Davis, trustee of the Massachusetts Gas Companies, and director of the Consolidated Gas Company. Interlocking directorates, for the purpose of bleeding the people, making the poor poorer and the few privileged rich class richer. They conveyed that property immediately, in order to cover it, but they could not conceal their movements entirely and so we can trace them. Articles of organization of the Lawrence Building, Inc., were filed July 3, 1920. This whole transaction took place in a very few weeks. A majority of the directors of the Lawrence Building, Inc., were given as George W. Mathews, Roger W. Bennett and Dunbar F. Carpenter. I believe that they are office boys in Gaston, Snow and Saltonstall's offices. I will check that up later. The address is given as Room 714, National Shawmut Bank Building. The authorized capital stock is 1,000 shares common, but the incorporators whose names I have given held but one share each of the stock. You see, they were only dummies, and there were only three shares issued, they holding one share apiece. The other 997 shares are owned and controlled by the managing trustee by the name of Frederick Cunningham. Frederick Cunningham is merely a useful agent or tool to aid the gas companies in collecting tribute from the consumers of Massachusetts, and of Boston in particular.

The report filed by the A. D. Little Company shows that their investigation terminated in June, 1920, and upon conditions as found up to that time they made a report. But since then until the present time prices have been dropping, particularly the price of labor, which always comes down first—not what is paid to the big fellows. Theirs comes down last, if it comes down at all. But the prices for commodities and labor entering into the making of gas since June, 1920, have been reduced to a very considerable extent. Their report, however, only gives us information from February 14, 1920, to June, 1920. They say in that report—I have seen it—that there is an advantageous contract with the Beacon Oil Company. Of course—advantageous to the Beacon Oil Company! It makes the Consolidated Gas Company the borrower and compels it to raise the price of gas, but it makes the stockholders in the Beacon Oil Company richer, and the consumer pays it all. I might say more, Mr. President, but I have already taken longer than I should. I have done so with a purpose. We are going to compel the Boston Consolidated Gas Company to lower the price of gas to the consumer. We may not be able to do it by law, but we are going to do it by the greatest weapon in existence when you are fighting an injustice, the weapon that is being used throughout the world to give to Ireland self-determination! Public sentiment; public sentiment will take from their thrones kings, it will remove from public office at the end of their term men who stand highest in public life in our republic; and public sentiment, properly directed and properly conducted, will compel the gas companies to give to the public fair treatment. That is all that we ask, justice. It is all that the people ask, that there shall be no profiteering upon them. We have been witnessing profiteering on every side.

I am talking strong, vigorously; you would think I was addressing a public meeting. Perhaps you think I am talking to hear myself talk. But I have an inspiration in this matter. A great injustice has been done to the public, and it can be and must be righted. You, my fellow members in this body, are helping me to right it. We are the pioneers in this movement, myself and my eight colleagues here, standing shoulder to shoulder, and showing to the public that at least nine men in Boston, Mass., are united in standing against the sinister and corrupt influences here represented in the state of Massachusetts. I move a suspension of the rule in order that we may request his Honor the Mayor to appear before us and give us the data that we desire.

The rule was suspended and the order was passed.

VOTE FOR PRESIDENT.

Coun. WATSON. Mr. President, while Coun. Ford is absent, nevertheless, I call for a ballot on the presidency.

The Clerk called the roll, with the following result: For David J. Brickley—Coun. Brickley, McLaughlin and Moriarty, 3. For James A. Watson—Coun. Donoghue and Watson, 2. For Daniel W. Lane—Coun. Hagan, Lane, and Collins, 3.

And there was no choice.

Coun. WATSON. Mr. President, I ask for unanimous consent to make a statement. I desire to say, Mr. President and fellow members, that I knew that Mr. Ford was not present, but that, while I felt satisfied that he would vote for me if he were here, I desired to give the Council an opportunity to organize. Otherwise, I would not have made the motion.

SIDEWALK, WILLOWOOD STREET.

Coun. COLLINS offered an order—That the Commissioner of Public Works make a sidewalk along Willowood street, both sides, from Woodrow avenue to Norfolk street, Ward 21, in front of the estates bordering thereon, said sidewalk to be from 3 to 10 inches above the gutter adjoining, to be from 5 to 12 feet in width, and to be built of artificial stone with granite edgestones under the provisions of chapter 196 of the Special Acts of 1917.

Passed, under a suspension of the rule.

RECESS TAKEN.

The Council voted at 3.39 p. m., on motion of Coun. McLaughlin, to take a recess subject to the call of the President.

The members of the Council reassembled in the Chamber and were called to order by the President at 5.10 p. m.

EXECUTIVE.

Coun. WATSON, for the Executive Committee, submitted the following, viz.:

1. Reports on petitions (referred today), for permits for children under 15 years of age to appear at various places of amusement—that permits be granted, viz.:

Dorchester Hebrew School, Norfolk Hall, March 27.

Walter R. Whiting, Jr., Waverley Hall, April 1. Jennie May Trainor, Jordan Hall, May 10.

HEADQUARTERS FIRE DEPARTMENT.

GENERAL ORDERS NO. 20.

UNIFORMS.

Officers and members of the department must use the same care regarding their uniforms as they have used heretofore when uniforms were not furnished by the City of Boston.

When a uniform is torn, in need of cleaning and pressing, or buttons lost and require replacing, after inspection by the commanding officer the uniform will be sent to the repair shop for correction.

A report covering each individual case where uniforms or parts of uniforms are sent to the repair shop for repairs, on account of misfits, etc., will be forwarded to the Fire Commissioner through official channels.

Whenever it can be done, the uniformed man will make minor repairs himself, such as sewing on buttons, etc.

Any reports made on uniforms, defects or otherwise, by an officer of the department will be the result of the personal inspection of the officer making the report.

The wearing of uniforms is regulated by rules 61, 425 to 431 of the Department Rules and Regulations.

Lieut. Christopher F. Curran, in addition to having charge of the hose and harness shop, will have charge of the receipt and distribution of uniforms to the officers and members of the department.

INSPECTION OF STEAM FIRE ENGINES.

Engineer Peter J. Corrigan, in charge of the Engineers' School, will also be detailed to inspect the various steam fire engines in the stations of the department. He will report the condition of each piece of apparatus inspected through the usual official channels to the Fire Commissioner.

FIRE COLLEGE.

The officers' school of the Boston Fire Department will hereafter be known as the Fire College of the Boston Fire Department.

REPORTS OF NATIONAL BOARD OF FIRE UNDERWRITERS.

A copy of the Special Report of the National Board of Fire Underwriters superseding the report of the National Board of 1916 on the Boston Fire Department and the Fire Alarm System has been forwarded to the commanding officer of each company. The Commissioner requests that this report be read by the officers and members of the department and that it be kept for reference by the commanding officer.

TRANSFERS.

The following transfers are hereby announced:

George H. Morris, from Engine 41 to Engine 34; Harold B. Bannon, from Engine 41 to Engine 34; Arthur J. Short, from Engine 34 to Engine 41; Henry S. Franz, from Engine 34 to Engine 41.

GENERAL ORDER NO. 21.

I. COMPANY DRILLS.

The Company Drills at Headquarters, which commenced September 1, 1920, and finished October 23, 1920, have been very satisfactory in their results. Each company was drilled in ten evolutions, namely:

1. Connect two lines, 100 feet each, from engine to deluge set.

2. Connect two lines, 100 feet each, from engine to Morse gun.

3. Raise 50-foot ladder to fourth floor window and dog same.

4. Run 200 feet $2\frac{1}{2}$ -inch line over 50-foot ladder, up stairway and show pipe out fifth floor window.

5. Raise 30-foot ladder to fire escape, carry 17-foot roof ladder over same to story above. Dog 30-foot ladder.

6. Run 250 feet $2\frac{1}{2}$ -inch line over 30-foot ladder, over fire escape to roof, 75 feet from ground.

7. Take life line and haul 25-foot ladder to roof 75 feet from ground.

8. Take life line, haul 200 feet $2\frac{1}{2}$ -inch hose to roof.

9. Run 100 feet $2\frac{1}{2}$ -inch hose from engine, connect Morse gate and Bresnan nozzle.

10. Connect chuck to hydrant (flexible suction) water to engine.

The Fire Commissioner commends the officers and men of the department for the high state of efficiency which the drills showed existed throughout the department.

OFFICIAL COMMUNICATIONS.

NEW POLICE HELMET BADGE

March 12, 1921.

HON. EDWIN U. CURTIS,

Police Commissioner,

Pemberton Sq., Boston, Mass.

DEAR SIR,—I have just read in one of the morning papers that the Police Department has adopted a new helmet badge which bears the seal of the State of Massachusetts instead of the seal of the City of Boston. I am writing to express the hope that this newspaper statement is incorrect.

If the statement is correct, I feel it my duty, as Mayor of the City of Boston, to enter my most vigorous protest against the adoption by the Police Department of the City of Boston of a badge bearing any seal except that of the City, for the protection of which the force is appointed.

The Police Commissioner is, of course, appointed by the Governor, but the expenses of the department are all paid for by the City of Boston, and the members of the force are in every sense, city employees, and the department is undoubtedly a city department. Under the circumstances, I believe, and I have no doubt that the majority of the citizens agree with me, that it would be most inappropriate for members of the Boston Police Department to wear any badge which carries the seal of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts in place of the seal of the City of Boston.

Very truly yours,

ANDREW J. PETERS,
Mayor.

March 12, 1921.

HON. ANDREW J. PETERS,
Mayor.

DEAR SIR,—Yours of the twelfth inst. in regard to the new device for the cap received. The device does bear the seal of the State of Massachusetts. I most respectfully disagree with your statement that "members of the force are in every sense city employees". They are not, in the first place, "city employees" but public officers and I quote from the decision of Phillips v. Boston, 150 Mass. 491, see page 494: Speaking of a police officer of the City of Boston, the Court says: "He was essentially a state officer, appointed to preserve its peace and to execute its laws as well as the ordinances of the city. He was not an officer of the city. After the reorganization of the police force in October, 1878, such an officer was not appointed by the city, or by any of its governing boards, nor was he removable by them. Upon the city was imposed by law the duty of paying these officers, although they were not controlled by it, as the Legislature held this to be the proper mode of distributing the public burden. With the plaintiff's removal, neither the city nor any of its officials had anything to do."

I most respectfully call to Your Honor's attention the 1878 Statute to which the Supreme Court refers was also the statute providing for the appointment of a police commissioner by the Mayor of the city and it therefore decided that even before the Board of Police Commissioners and its successor the Police Commissioner was appointed by the Governor, that police officers of Boston under the 1878 statute were outside the city or any of its governing officials. I respectfully call to Your Honor's attention also the case of Kimball v. Boston, 1 Allen, 417: "He was not a servant or agent of the city. * * * He was a public official, appointed to discharge important duties, in which the city had no special interest, and from which they derived no particular advantage." See also Buttrick v. Lowell, 1 Allen, 172, and Hathaway v. Everett, 205 Mass. 246.

I further most respectfully call your attention to a paragraph taken from an opinion by Attorney General Henry A. Wyman, under date of September 16, 1919: "As you are aware, it has been expressly decided by our Supreme Judicial Court that a member of the police force of the City of Boston is not an officer of the city but is essentially a state officer. Phillips v. Boston, 150 Mass., 491, 494. Furthermore, by St. 1906, c. 291, the police force of the city of Boston was put under the authority and control of the Police Commissioner, who is appointed by the Governor. The Police Commissioner is by this act given broad authority to appoint, establish and organize the police of said city."

I regret that Your Honor should have any feeling in the matter, as in ordering the cap device, I considered several drawings and finally decided to make the device one that conformed with the law, and I see no reason why any citizen of Boston should feel ashamed or consider it inappropriate for the police officers of the City of Boston to wear the State seal, of which we are all so proud.

Very respectfully,

EDWIN U. CURTIS,
Police Commissioner for the City of Boston.

FINANCE COMMISSION.

REPORT ON LICENSING AND REGULATING
THEATRES, ETC., BY LICENSING BOARD.

March 11, 1921.

HON. ANDREW J. PETERS, Mayor,

SIR,—In compliance with your request of the seventh instant, for a report of the Finance Commission on House Bill 807, which would transfer from the Mayor of Boston to the Licensing Board of the city the licensing and regulating of theatres and all public amusements, entertainments and public halls in the City of Boston, the Finance Commission submits the following report:

For some time prior to 1905, the licensing of theatres, entertainments, public amusements and public halls in the City of Boston was under the joint control of the Mayor and City Council. This control by more than one person resulted in abuses of various kinds, chief of which was that of the free pass privilege and other special privilege favors upon the theatres especially, which weakened, if in fact it did not entirely nullify, any effective censorship and regulation of theatrical performances and public amusements and entertainments of whatever character. Therefore, in 1905, this power of licensing and control of theatres and other public entertainments and amusements was lodged in the chief executive of the city. For the sixteen years since that time this policy has proved wise. All complaints can be definitely lodged before a single individual, and immediate and effective action, if necessary, can be obtained.

Moreover, under the direction of the different mayors since that time a very satisfactory method of procedure in dealing with this very important municipal function has been developed. A voluntary committee of 25 citizens assists the Mayor in this work. At the present time the Rev. Raymond Calkins is chairman, and among the membership are such men as Rev. Michael J. Scanlon, Rev. Paul Revere Frothingham, Rabbi Harry Levi, Edward Chandler and Bernard J. Rothwell.

Boston probably has more theatres, moving picture houses and public places of amusement and entertainment than any other city of its size in the country. The public is vitally interested in the forms and kinds of amusements and entertainments that are offered to its citizens and especially its youth and children. No better assurance can be afforded the people of Boston that objectionable kinds and forms of amusements will not be permitted in public places than to have the licensing and control of those public places in the hands of its chief executive, advised by twenty-five prominent and public spirited citizens.

The present system has worked well. Such complaints as have been made have received immediate attention and the power is lodged where it is immediately responsive to every citizen in Boston.

It is now proposed to take this power from the Mayor and pass it over to the Licensing Board, a state commission of three persons, whose members are appointed by the Governor for a term of six years. This proposed transfer will violate the very purpose accomplished in 1905 when the authority was lodged in a single person. Again, there is no direct responsibility between the people of Boston and the Licensing Board. On the contrary it is as indirect as it well could be.

In 1906, when the power over the police of Boston was taken from the Licensing Board, it was done largely to make the police service more effective and better disciplined, by having a single commissioner instead of a three-headed commission.

The Governor of the Commonwealth who suggested this change in 1906 stated in his inaugural message an objection equally applicable to the bill under consideration. He said:

"Disagreement, moreover, as to method among three perfectly sincere men may create delay at any time, and prevent the promptness of instant action in emergencies, absolutely necessary for an effective police."

The Finance Commission believes that the licensing and control of theatres is a police power which should be lodged in one person and not in three.

The Commission desires also to point out that, although the licensing of the sale of intoxicating liquors is no longer a duty of the Licensing Board, it has as many duties to perform as it had before the abolition of the intoxicating liquor traffic. These duties in detail may be seen by reference to the last two reports of the Licensing Board, and by the following quotation, which is taken from a letter dated March 10, 1921, from the Chairman of the Licensing Board to this Commission:

"I might say that since the passage of the True Name Bill, so called, with the consequent licensing of lodging houses and the additional restrictions placed on hotels, and also with the coming of prohibition, and the consequent temptation to our licensees as well as others who sell liquor or its substitutes unlawfully, the actual work of our Board has considerably increased."

It would seem therefore that this bill would deprive the Mayor of the city of a particularly municipal function and transfer it to a three-member board, appointed by the Governor for terms of six years, the chairman of which board now states that it has more duties to perform than it had prior to the abolition of the licensing of the sale of intoxicating liquors.

The passage of this bill, in the opinion of the Finance Commission, would not only be a step backward in the progress obtained in licensing and controlling public amusements but would be a serious infringement of a municipal function that should rest with the responsible official of the people.

Respectfully submitted,

MICHAEL H. SULLIVAN,
COURTNEY GUILD,
JOHN F. MOORS,
JAMES M. MORRISON,
J. WALDO POND,

The Finance Commission.

STREET COMMISSIONERS.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ON TAKING OF LAND ON DIXWELL STREET.

In Board of Street Commissioners of the City of Boston, March 17, 1921:

Ordered, That due notice be given that this Board is of the opinion that public necessity requires the taking of land on the northwesterly side of Dixwell street, West Roxbury District, supposed to belong to Arthur S. Webster and to Marion E. Gage, for school purposes, substantially as shown on a plan on file in the office of this Board, that it intends to pass an order to make said taking, and that it appoints 11 o'clock a. m., of April 6, 1921, and the office of this Board as the time and place for a public hearing in the matter. A true copy of an order passed by said Board on said day.

Attest:
(Mar. 19-26.) JOSEPH F. SULLIVAN,
Secretary.

SUPPLY DEPARTMENT.

March 18 to the Spring Coal Co. as per following communication and bid:

March 17, 1921.

HON. ANDREW J. PETERS,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR SIR,—Attached please find list of bids received at the public opening for 1,000 gross tons of semi-bituminous coal for the Boston City Hospital. The Spring Coal Co., the lowest bidder, has declined to accept the contract for furnishing this coal, giving as a reason for his declination that he had made an error by omitting to include the cost of lightering of cargo. The $500 certified check submitted with his proposal automatically becomes forfeited to the City of Boston unless your Honor directs otherwise.

I respectfully request authority to place the award with the next lowest bidder, the Coastwise Coal Co., at a price of $8.85 per gross ton. This bid is based on delivery alongside the City Hospital hopper and is for Pool 1 and Pool 3 New River coal.

Respectfully yours,

G. J. CRONIN,
Superintendent of Supplies.

City Fuel Co., $9.45 per gross ton, at conveyor-bins at hospital, New River or Pool 1 and 2 (no check); Maritime Coaling Co., $8.87, alongside, Pool 1 and 2; Coastwise Coal Co., $8.85, alongside, Pool 1 and 2, New River; Spring Coal Co., $7.20, alongside, Pool 9.

SUPPLY DEPARTMENT.

March 23 to Simpson's Patent Dry Dock Co., as per following communication and bids:

March 19, 1921.

HON. ANDREW J. PETERS,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR SIR,—I attach hereto list of bids on two bronze impellers for No. 1 and No. 2 pumps at Calf Pasture Pumping Station, which were opened at this office under date of the 16th inst.

I respectfully request permission to place the award with the Simpson's Patent Dry Dock Company at $675, they being the lowest bidder.

In explanation of the award I would state that the Power Equipment Company advised me under date of the 16th instant that their price bid represented quotation made to the City in February of last year of $875, total $1,750; from this they deducted $424 which they have billed to the City of Boston on account of cancellation of the original order; they have further reduced the price 5% on account of labor. The price bid by the Power Equipment Company really covers the cost of machining two castings, but does not include the cost of the castings, therefore their price is not the lowest.

Respectfully yours,
C. J. CRONIN,
Superintendent of Supplies.

Simpson's Patent Dry Dock Company, impellers for De Laval centrifugal pumps, $675 each; Power Equipment Company, $630 each.

Mfg. Co., $340 ("Electro" as per sample); The Glidden Co., $340; Chas. L. Huisking, Inc., $318.

SUPPLY DEPARTMENT.

March 24, for bank gravel and sand, to bidders indicated in following communication and bids:

March 22, 1921.

HON. ANDREW J. PETERS,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR SIR,—Attached please find list of bids on proposals for furnishing bank gravel and sand to the various city departments for the year ending January 31, 1922, which were publicly opened and read at this office under date of March 21, 1921.

I respectfully request permission to award the contracts to the lowest bidders in each district as indicated on the attached sheet.

Regarding the award in the East Boston and Charlestown Districts where the prices submitted by A. DeStefano and Thos. Jos. McCue are identical, would respectfully ask permission to make the award for both of these districts to A. DeStefano Co. as they will allow us a 2% cash discount for payment in ten days which would bring their bid below that of Thomas Joseph McCue, who has offered no discount.

Respectfully yours,
G. J. CRONIN,
Superintendent of Supplies.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

March 23, to Thomas J. Hind Company for construction of artificial stone sidewalks as per following communication:

March 22, 1921.

HON. ANDREW J. PETERS,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR SIR,—Permission to award a contract for the construction of artificial stone sidewalks in the public streets, without advertising, to Thomas J. Hind Company, 45 Milk street, Boston, Mass., is hereby requested on the ground that this contractor is not selected by the city in the first instance, but by the abutters, and secondly, the expense of construction being divided by the city and abutters; also because such contracts vary greatly in amounts and seldom involve one thousand dollars ($1,000).

Respectfully yours,
T. F. SULLIVAN,
Commissioner of Public Works.

HEADQUARTERS
FIRE DEPARTMENT.*GENERAL ORDERS NO. 22.*GASOLINE.

On April 1, 1921, company commanders will report to the Fire Commissioner on Form 5, through official channels, an estimate of the quantity of gasoline in the underground tanks attached to their respective stations on that date.

NEW COAL STATION.

A new coal station has been established for the department at West End Yard of the Public Works Department on North Grove street. The coal wagons will be stored as heretofore, in the rear of the quarters of Ladder Co. 24, but a surplus supply of cannel coal is stored in a shed in the Public Works Department Yard on North Grove street.

REPORTS ON MOTOR APPARATUS.

Hereafter, company commanders, when forwarding reports on motor apparatus will make certain to embody in the reports the serial number of the apparatus reported. This information is essential and necessary for the proper keeping of records at Department Headquarters.

GENERAL ORDERS NO. 24.MOTTO.

In response to the request made in General Orders No. 1, issued January 4, 1921, inviting the members of the department to suggest an appropriate motto to be inscribed on the walls of the fire station of Engine Co. 26-35, a large number were received.

A committee consisting of Rev. Augustine F. Hickey, Diocesan Supervisor of Schools, and Mr. Frank V. Thompson, Superintendent of Schools of Boston, considered the mottoes submitted.

The committee decided that the motto submitted by Hoseman Philip S. Bates of Engine Co. 26-35, namely, Pro Domo et Civitate, was the most suitable.

The Fire Commissioner has ordered this motto to be inscribed on the walls of the fire station of Engine Co. 26-35 in recognition of the efficient service rendered by that company at the Worcester fire, January 19, 1921.

MAYOR'S OFFICE.

CENSUS BUREAU ON DEBT OF BOSTON.

The census report which was published by the Census Bureau in last evening's papers tends to give an inaccurate idea of the debt of the City of Boston. The figures which the report gives of Boston's indebtedness are those of 1919. Boston's indebtedness on January 31, 1921, was $79,379,994.88, a decrease of $4,650,124.51 over the figures published by the Census Bureau, for the last two years.

The Census Bureau arrived at its computation of the per capita debt of the City of Boston on the basis of the gross debt, which includes the Rapid Transit debt. It is quite unfair that the Bureau should publish the per capita debt on this basis for comparative purposes, inasmuch as other cities do not have a Rapid Transit debt; and, in addition, the city has special assets in its municipal tunnels, as the cost of the tunnels has already been very much reduced by Sinking Funds and they are worth now much more than the Rapid Transit debt.

The city's net funded debt on January 31, 1921, exclusive of the Rapid Transit debt was $48,203,935.89, or a per capita debt in 1921 of $64.50 as against a per capita debt of $75.50 in 1918 when I took office as Mayor.

BATHS ON PUBLIC STREETS DURING SUMMER.

March 24, 1921.

MR. JOHN R. MURPHY,
Fire Commissioner.

DEAR SIR,—I think it is very desirable that the city make some more adequate provision than we now have for the health of the children in the more congested district of the city during the hot spells in summer. I refer to the custom of the Fire Department turning on the hydrants in certain streets and allowing the children to bathe in the stream.

My idea is that the city might have some sort of sprinkler made which could be attached to the hydrants. This should provide facilities for a greater number of children than the heavy stream which now issues from the hydrants under comparatively high pressure. I have no doubt that the children would appreciate this improvement.

I should like to have you look into the general question of the working out of something similar to what I have in mind and communicate your findings to me at the earliest possible moment.

Very truly yours,

ANDREW J. PETERS,
Mayor.

MASSACHUSETTS CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATIONS.

Deputy Commissioner in Charge of the Division of Child Hygiene, Boston Health Department, March 29, 1921.—The salary is $1,500 per year. The examination is open to both men and women. Applicants should be not over 50 years of age at the time of making application, and should file a certificate of birth with the application. Applicants should be graduates of a reputable medical school, school for public health, or school for public health nursing, or should have equivalent training or experience. The position will require substantially four hours a day and may become full time. The duties of the position will include welfare of the children of Boston in so far as it relates to health; the direction the study of all matters pertaining to the and supervision of the activities of such employees as may from time to time be assigned to duty in the Division of Child Hygiene; cooperation with the Director of Health Education in matters of child hygiene; enforcement of the laws and regulations pertaining to the health of children.

Dictaphone Operator, Boston Health Department, March 24, 1921.—The examination is open to both men and women. The salary is $900 per year. There is one vacancy in the position of ediphone or dictaphone operator. The examination will consist of practical dictaphone tests.

Inspector of Wires (Male), Boston Fire Department, March 30, 1921.—The salary is $1,600 per year. There are two vacancies as Interior Inspectors for the Wire Division of the Boston Fire Department. The subjects of examination with their respective weights will be as follows: Experience (6); practical questions (4); total (10). The practical questions will be based on various interior systems in use, proper methods of construction and maintenance of these systems, a knowledge of the rules governing the installation and inspection of interior electric wiring for heating, lighting, and power in accordance with the requirements of the National Electrical Code, proper fittings; abnormal conditions and testing; electric generators, motors, batteries, instruments, etc.

Pianist, Boston Park Department (Female), March 25, 1921.—The salary is $16 a week. The appointee will be required to serve as pianist in a gymnasium about fourteen hours a week and will also have to play for practice for new drills, dances, demonstrations, etc., amounting on an average to two or three hours a week extra, for about eight months in the year.

General Information.—In certifying from the eligible lists established as a result of the examinations named above, preference will be given to veterans as provided for in Chapter 150 of the General Acts of 1919. Only citizens of the United States who have been residents of Massachusetts for the past year have a right to apply. Preference in certification will be given to applicants who, at the time of filing application, are residents of the city or town from which requisition is received. Such preference, however, does not apply in the case of the Boston Police Department. Application blanks may be obtained by applying in person or by letter at the office of Civil Service and Registration, Division of Civil Service, Rooms 148-152, State House, Boston.

IMMIGRANT ALIENS ARRIVED IN YEAR, 1919.

Total number of immigrants landed at Boston, 5,572, of which 1,618 or 29.04 per cent stated Massachusetts as their destination. Of said total, 3,623 were South Italians, 859 Portuguese, 365 English, 205 North Italians, 124 Scotch, 68 Hebrews, 51 Irish, 29 Scandinavians, 24 Germans, 10 Greeks and 214 others. Total arrivals in 1918 were only 1,344; in 1917, 6,527; in 1916, 15,297; in 1915, 9,483; in 1914, 38,299. Total in the six years, 76,522; South Italians 36.86 per cent.

ACCEPTANCE OF RESIGNATION.

The following was received:

March 15, 1921.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—This is to notify you that I have accepted the resignation of Mr. William Endicott, as Sinking Funds Commissioner, taking effect February 24, 1921.

Respectfully,

ANDREW J. PETERS, Mayor.

Placed on file.

IMPROVEMENTS AT WAYFARERS' LODGE.

The following was received:

Office of the Mayor,
March 21, 1921.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I have several times discussed with the Overseers of the Poor the matter of making certain necessary changes and improvements at the Wayfarers' Lodge on Hawkins street, and

I have also discussed the matter with the Superintendent of Public Buildings. As a result of these conferences, and also of my personal experience at the Wayfarers' Lodge last week, I am convinced that certain improvements are absolutely essential for the well-being of those who are forced to find shelter at the Lodge.

I am herewith attaching a copy of a communication from the Superintendent of Public Buildings stating what changes should be made, and estimating the cost of making them. You will note that his estimate is $42,900, but in order to be on the safe side, I believe it would be wise to authorize the expenditure of the sum of $45,000. I therefore recommend the passage of the accompanying order.

Respectfully yours,

ANDREW J. PETERS, Mayor.

February 23, 1921.

Hon. Andrew J. Peters,

Mayor of the City of Boston.

Dear Sir,—In accordance with your communication under date of February 16, 1921, same having reference to the various repairs necessary to provide suitable quarters for the Overseers of the Poor Department, I respectfully report that I have taken the subject matter up with the Overseers and in making up my estimates I have been governed wholly by their wishes.

The building used by the Overseers of the Poor Department on Hawkins street is known as the Wayfarers' Lodge and it has become totally unfit for the purposes it is intended for. The bathing showers, kitchen and disinfecting rooms are all located in the basement which is below the sidewalk grade, the ceilings being low studded and improperly ventilated. The street floor is used for offices, doctors' examining quarters, storerooms, dining rooms and sleeping quarters for the night superintendent.

The second and third floors are used for general sleeping quarters, one small room for hospital purposes, two small toilets (one on each floor with a toilet and urinal in each) and the surrounding space outside the building is used for the storage of wood with outside toilet rooms for the workers in the yard.

The shower room has but three showers. This is far too small a number and should be increased to twelve to meet requirements and should be located on the street floor in order to get the proper light and ventilation.

The dining room could be located in one of the present storerooms and the kitchen in the other storeroom. The offices will require some changes also. The dormitories will require a general overhauling. The ceilings should be replaced by new ones throughout the building. The lighting system will need changing throughout to agree with the general remodeling of the building.

The cost of the necessary improvements would be approximately $42,900, itemized as follows:

Carpentry	$8,000
Plumbing	6,000
Plastering	2,500
Electric work	2,500
Waterproofing	1,500
Replace woodshed with brick building	12,000
Fireproofing and fire escapes	1,500
Sprinklers	2,500
Painting	1,500
Incidental	1,000
	$39,000
Architectural services	3,900

Total

In conclusion I would say that if it would be the pleasure of Your Honor to carry this work through to completion, it would be necessary to provide a special appropriation in the above mentioned sum.

Respectfully yours,

FRED J. KNEELAND,

Superintendent of Public Buildings.

Ordered, That the sum of $45,000 be appropriated, to be expended by the Superintendent of Public Buildings, for reconstruction and improvements of the Wayfarers' Lodge, fawkins street, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be hereby authorized to issue from time to time on the request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the City of Boston to said amount.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

PETITIONS REFERRED.

The following petitions were received and referred to the committee named, viz.:

Claims.

American Coal Co., to be paid expense incurred on account of an accident to truck at Walnut avenue and Holworth street.

Josephine Arno, for a hearing on her claim for injuries caused by a defect in Blossom street, February 27, 1921.

David Burstein, for compensation for damage to automobile by fire apparatus.

Clearing House Parcel Delivery Co., for compensation for damage to truck by city automobile.

Ellen T. Gavin, for compensation for damage to fence because of a rope attached to it by policemen.

Giuseppina Celestre, for compensation for injuries caused by a defect in sidewalk at 10 Hanover avenue.

Samuel Lander, for compensation for injuries received on icy pavement at the taboggan slides in Franklin Park.

Rose Levin, for compensation for injuries caused by a defect in Oliver street, June 5, 1919.

William J. Maguire Estate, for a hearing on claim for damages at 544 Washington street, Brighton, caused by sidewalk construction.

W. T. McLaughlin Co., to be paid for damage to truck by a defect in Railroad street.

Veronica Roberts, for compensation for injuries caused by being struck by an automobile of the Park Department.

Anna T. Bryan, for refund of money for ash tickets which are unused.

Executive.

Marie Reardon, for permit for children under 15 years of age to appear at South Boston Municipal Building, May 13.

CONSTABLES' BOND.

The City Treasurer, after having duly approved of the same, submitted the constables' bond of Powhatan Bagnall.

Approved by the City Council.

NOTICE OF CONTRACT.

Notices were received from Joseph P. Manning of interest in contract with the Institutions Department.

NOTICE OF APPOINTMENT.

Notice was received of the appointment of Jacob Wasserman as Election Commissioner.

Placed on file.

NOTICE OF HEARING.

Notice was received from the Department of Public Utilities of hearing on March 28 at 10.30 A.M., on petition of Boston Elevated Railway Company for right to own and operate motor vehicles.

Placed on file.

DISCHARGE OF HOSPITAL EMPLOYEES.

A communication was received from the Trustees of the City Hospital giving copy of vote of said Trustees discharging Aubrey W. Cook and James F. Dooley, X-ray orderlies, for stealing a car and operating the same under the influence of liquor.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

SOLDIERS' RELIEF.

Coun. BRICKLEY, for the Committee on Soldiers' Relief, submitted a report recommending the passage of an order for the payment of aid to soldiers and sailors and their families in the city of Boston for the month of March, 1921.

Report accepted; order passed.

SIDEWALK, COREY STREET.

Coun. BRICKLEY offered an order—That the Commissioner of Public Works make a sidewalk along Corey street, from Centre street to Weld street, Ward 23, in front of the estates bordering thereon, said sidewalk to be from 3 to 10 inches above the gutter adjoining, to be from 5 to 12 feet in width, and to be built of artificial stone with granite edgestones under the provisions of chapter 196 of the Special Acts of 1917.

Passed, under a suspension of the rule.

CHARLES J. MCCARTHY SQUARE.

Coun. MORIARTY offered an order—That the space at the junction of Marine road, Columbia road, I street and the Strandway be named and known as Charles J. McCarthy square, in honor of said McCarthy who was killed in action during the World War while serving in the 109th Infantry, and that said space be suitably marked with signs.

War Department.

The Adjutant General's Office, Washington.
201 (McCarthy, Charles J.) W. W.

January 23, 1920.

Hon. James A. Gallivan,

House of Representatives.

My dear Sir,—In further response to your letter of September 21, 1919, in which you request the particulars concerning the death of Charles J. McCarthy, Co. A, 301st Infantry, later transferred to Company M, 109th Infantry, who, it is stated was killed in action September 6, 1918, I have the honor to advise you that this office is in receipt of a communication from one Paul McGill, formerly a member of Co. M, 109th Infantry, as follows:

"I was personally acquainted with Pvt. McCarthy. On or about the 6th of September, 1918, Company M, 109th Infantry, was on the line and stationed at Fismes, France. We were in the town holding the line. Sometime during the night while McCarthy was on an outpost in a house, about 300 yards from the river, as near as I can tell, a shell came over from the Germans and hit the building he was in and McCarthy and about five others were killed. The bodies were removed and were buried about twenty-five yards from the place they were killed."

The date of death of Pvt. McCarthy will be determined as soon as the investigation of the case is completed, when you will be further advised.

Very respectfully,

P. C. HARRIS.

The Adjutant General.

Passed, under a suspension of the rule.

JOSEPH KENT GIBBONS SQUARE.

Coun. FORD offered an order.—That the space at the junction of L street and Broadway, South Boston, be named and known as Joseph Kent Gibbons square, in honor of said Gibbons who died while in the Naval Service of the United States during the World War; and that said space be suitably marked with signs.

Passed, under a suspension of the rule.

PENSION FOR GEORGE A. HOLMES.

Coun. COLLINS offered an order.—That chapter 103 of the Acts of 1921, entitled "An Act Authorizing the County of Suffolk to Pension George A. Holmes" be and the same hereby is accepted.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

Coun. COLLINS offered an order.—That under the provisions of chapter 103 of the Acts of 1921, George A. Holmes, a clerk in the Suffolk Registry of Deeds, be and hereby is retired at an annual pension of four hundred and eighty dollars, payable monthly.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

PAYMENT TO THOMAS F. GOODE.

Coun. HAGAN offered an order.—That chapter 129 of the Acts of 1921, entitled "An Act Authorizing the City of Boston to Pay a Sum of Money to Thomas F. Goode" be and the same hereby is accepted.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

Coun. HAGAN offered an order.—That, under the authority of chapter 129 of the Acts of 1921, the sum of four thousand dollars be allowed and paid to Thomas F. Goode, for injuries received by him while assisting a police officer in the performance of his duty; said sum to be charged to the Reserve Fund.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

INVESTIGATION OF LIGHTING AND HEAT.

Coun. WATSON offered an order.—That the temporary Executive Committee of the City Council be directed to take such steps as it may deem necessary to bring about a hearing before the Board of Public Utilities of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts to take steps to compel the gas and electric lighting companies to reduce the price of heat and lighting to the consumers of the City of Boston, and to cancel the so-called "fuel clause."

Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be respectfully requested to recommend the City Council to appropriate the sum of $5,000 to enable the Executive Committee to conduct such investigation before the Board of Public Utilities as will compel the heat and lighting companies to reduce their rates to consumers and to cancel the "fuel clause."

Coun. WATSON. Mr. President, for the sixth consecutive meeting I introduce an order pertaining to the gas and electric light situation in the City of Boston. If in the beginning I had merely introduced the first order and then the body had passed it unanimously and I had let it go at that, nothing would have been thought of it today. Consequently, I have continued to introduce these orders, all having for their purpose results favorable to the great consuming public of Boston; and I have been, if I may use the term, heroically and fearlessly sustained by my fellow members of this body, without a dissenter. If there are to be any results that will benefit the public of the City of Boston whom this body represents in City Hall, then the credit should be divided into nine equal parts, one-ninth for myself and one of each of the other eight-ninths to each individual member of this body, because without their assistance, co-operation and votes without their sustaining encouragement, I would have had to give up long before this the efforts I have made in behalf of the consumers of gas and electric light in Boston, and things would be back where they were before I started this little movement.

I feel stronger today concerning the successful results of our efforts than I have felt at any time during the last six weeks. I am proud of my membership in this body; I am proud of my associates here, because I believe they are immune from the sinister influences of the great financial interests of the City of Boston, this great, gigantic, financial business highwaymen's combine which is draining from the pockets of the people of Boston and the State of Massachusetts enormous sums of money so sadly needed in other channels of activity in the Commonwealth. Their activities are draining the coffers of the workmen of needed money, money that they could and should use in other directions, for the support of their families.

When I came from my place of worship yesterday I was congratulated by more than one individual on the action we have taken here, and one man told me, "Jerry, if I had in my pocket the excess charges that have been placed on my gas bills in the last three years by the Consolidated Gas Company, there would be no better dressed family of children in Roxbury than mine on Easter Day." I merely say this to you, Mr. Chairman and fellow members, to show you how these men are dragging at the very vitals of our citizenship. I do not intend to discuss at length today this proposition. I merely desire to place upon the record a continuity of circumstances, remarks and facts, data that in the future some individual with far more ability and influence than I have, somebody occupying a higher position in public life than I, may be able to use.

I started out with the support of a concern with the greatest electrical engineering ability in the United States, if not as great as any. They have informed me that I may use the facts that they give, but under no circumstances use their name. And I have another communication just handed to me containing facts that cannot be denied by the paid engineers of the Edison Company or the engineers in charge of any of the Massachusetts public utilities. I will use the facts later, when their use will be more germane to the question and be more important. But I must refer to two things today to show the heartlessness and the contemptibleness of the corporations that are dragging at the very vitals of our people from the cradle to the grave, taxing them when they come into the world and taxing them when they pass out. They care nothing about the people or their sufferings; but, thank God, in this body we have nine members whose blood is red and whose hearts beat for the unfortunate, who have a word of encouragement for the down-trodden, and who will not hesitate to render any assistance that is within their power to give.

The gas company taxed a deaf and dumb man in Dorchester, with a wife and two children, occupying three rooms, for the month of December, 1920, $2.16 for gas. He paid it. His name is Elias Dulkan, of 25 Preston street, Dorchester. For the month of January, 1921, the following month, Elias Dulkan received a bill of $16.24, nearly 800 per cent increase over the month previous, although he was occupying the same three rooms, using the same lights, and using practically the same amount of gas. He complained to the gas company and they sent him this letter:

March 7, 1921.

Mr. E. Dulkan,
25 Preston street, Dorchester, Mass.

"Dear Sir,—In further reply to your inquiry of recent date, we have verified the statement of your consumption as shown on the bill in question, by re-reading your meter, and find the same to be correct as rendered.

"Should you, however, still feel that the amount is out of proportion to the actual usage, kindly communicate with us further."

And he did.

"For your convenience, we enclose herewith a card showing how to read your meter, and would suggest that by taking readings at regular intervals you may check up your usage and trace and eliminate waste on the premises."

What a joke, simply sending him a card telling him how to read his meter.

"Very truly yours, Boston Consolidated Gas Company."

That man lost three days' pay, which he could ill afford to lose, running to the Boston Consolidated Gas Company's office to right that injustice, and he has sent me today another bill. The agitation here has done some good, because the bill has now dropped down for the month of February to $7 and some odd cents, which, even at that, is 300 per cent more than his bill for December. He writes me, "My bill is $23.80 for the months of January and February. I cannot pay it. What shall I do? I would pay it now if I had the means, but I haven't." He has to pay that amount or else his gas will be shut off. That is the arrogant, contemptible conduct of that whole crew called the Boston Consolidated Gas Company. Mr. Wrightington gets $14,500 a year as treasurer and he also gets a large amount as treasurer of the Beacon Oil Company, from which company the Consolidated Company buys fuel oil to make gas; and I am told by a scientific engineering man that gas made with this illuminating oil goes three times as fast through the meter as gas made from coal. That is why your meters run around like an automobile; that is why you have to pay the bills you are paying today.

And here we have had a report from the Arthur D. Little Company, Inc., a company to whom we paid $20,000 for information, a mass of stuff that looks like a dime novel to me. We paid $20,000 for that information, that it would take a Philadelphia lawyer to digest, and that report was simply placed in the hands of the Mayor, the Little Company saying that the Consolidated Gas Company were doing all right, that it had made an advantageous contract with the Beacon Oil Company for illuminating oil in connection with the manufacture of its gas. And still here are the Beacon Oil Company and the Boston Consolidated Gas Company, with interlocking directorates, and yet we are told that an advantageous contract has been made with the Beacon Oil Company for the oil, and that $1.40 is not too much for gas. That is what the A. D. Little Company tells us, "God help the Commonwealth of Massachusetts," as they say in court and on Beacon Hill. I say, "God help the people of Boston, and God spare them from being let further into the clutches of those who make up the Boston Consolidated Gas Company."

A corporation is a dead thing, but I will say that these directors and officers of the Boston Consolidated Company and of the Edison Company are not, in my opinion, Christian men. When they pass to their judgment, they will have much to answer for. I would not want to do the penance that they will have to do for all the wealth of the world. Even if they should try to make restitution, they would be unable to restore to the public that which they have robbed from them if they started now and continued until the day they died. If they handed the money to the public as fast as it could be counted they could not make restitution for the highway robberies they have committed in the last twenty-five years in Boston.

I have had my say. If anybody desires my order to go to the Executive Committee I will welcome it. I have several important questions to ask of the Arthur D. Little Company and of Arthur D. Hill, Corporation Counsel of the City of Boston, as well as representatives of Patterson, Teal & Dennis. I was in conference recently in my house until half past ten at night with one of the most eminent engineers in matters of lighting, costs and dividends in the United States, and got many facts. All the facts in my possession have not been furnished by him, but have been furnished by public-spirited individuals and organizations. He came from New York and furnished me with certain information, however.

Mr. President, 990 out of 1,000 of the men, women and children in the streets of this city are with us in our fight against this outfit. In fact, I was told by Mr. McIntyre, attorney for the Loyal Coalition—for which I have no regard—that he was a stockholder of the Edison Company, and he said to me, "I believe in your stand. You are doing right. I do not believe the Edison Company is doing the right thing. They are paying too much money to Edgar, and I don't approve of it." Mr. McIntyre is an attorney at law and knew me when I was in George Fred Williams' office years ago. He stopped me in front of the Kimball Building and expressed that opinion, and I don't believe he will deny it. So, you see, the feeling in this matter is not confined to the rabble, so-called. That is the weapon that they use when some one starts to right an injustice. They refer to him as representing the mob, the rabble, anarchists, Bolsheviks, unreliable people, and sometimes insane and crazy people. But this time they are in bad, and that sort of talk will not do them any good. The public are aroused, and the public will continue this fight, even if this Council should go out of existence today. It has got to a point where it has passed beyond the nine of us. The public are aroused, not only in Boston but throughout the state. Last Wednesday I went on a business trip to Worcester and met Mayor Sullivan, who is in entire sympathy with this movement. I also talked in Northampton with the chairman of the Board of Aldermen, Mr. Smith, and in Pittsfield I talked with the chairman of the Board of Aldermen, the City Clerk and leading newspaper men. They all agreed with my position and said that the Berkshire Edison Company are charging 11 per cent under the coal clause, although they are now getting their coal delivered cheaper than we get it here in Boston at tidewater. Mayor Creamer, in Lynn, and Mayor White, in Lawrence, other leading public men, are with us in this fight. They realize that the time is ripe to curb the on-rushing desires and ambitions of heartless wealth.

Unless some member desires reference to the Executive Committee, I would move suspension of the rule in order that the order may take its passage at this time, because we want action. I have asked the Mayor to send to us an appropriation for $5,000. I don't think we will spend, perhaps, $500 of it, but we want to be in a position where we can handle the matter properly. I know the public are satisfied that the committee of which I am chairman will handle it properly in behalf of the community as against the privileged class. Therefore, I would move a suspension of the rule, unless somebody wishes the order referred to the Executive Committee.

(A suggestion being made that it be referred to the Executive Committee, Coun. Watson said he was willing, if it was to be reported back this afternoon.)

The order was referred to the Executive Committee.

SIDEWALK, HYDE PARK AVENUE.

Coun. WATSON offered an order—That the Commissioner of Public Works make a granolithic sidewalk along Hyde Park avenue on the southerly side of Oak street to Maple street, and along the westerly side of Maple street to Pine street, Ward 24, in front of the estates bordering thereon, said sidewalk to be from 3 to 10 inches above the gutter adjoining, to be from 5 to 12 feet in width, and to be built of artificial stone with granite edgestones under the provisions of chapter 196 of the Special Acts of 1917.

Passed, under a suspension of the rule.

MUNICIPAL BUILDING, WARD 4.

Coun. WATSON offered an order—That the Superintendent of Public Buildings be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to submit to the City Council an estimate of the cost of a municipal building to be erected on the site now occupied by the Ward 4 municipal building, Charlestown, said building to be equipped with gymnasium, shower baths, etc., and to serve as a ward room.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

ABOLITION OF CONTRACT SYSTEM.

Coun. DONOGHUE offered the following:

Resolved, Whereas the Mayor of the city of Boston has publicly stated that he is lending his every effort to help relieve the employment situation at present existing in said city; therefore be it

Resolved, That the City Council of Boston feeling that this result can best and most speedily be brought about by the abolition of the so-called contract system, and the performance of such work in the future by citizens of Boston employed direct by the city, do hereby request his Honor the Mayor to take immediate steps to bring about this condition.

Coun. DONOGHUE. Mr. President, I move a suspension of the rule that the resolution may be put upon its passage. Last week we saw in the newspapers a statement purporting to come from the Mayor, in which he criticized me, as chairman of the Committee on Finance, for not calling a meeting of that committee one week after I had been appointed chairman of the committee. I want to state that the Commissioner of Public Works practically asked every other member of this Council to have that meeting called for last Monday, but he failed to extend to me, as chairman of the committee, the common courtesy of asking me to call the meeting. I had no particular objection to calling a meeting of the Committee on Finance last Monday, any more than I have to calling such a meeting for today. When I saw the Public Works Commissioner last Monday afternoon, I told him that I would call the meeting for this Monday, and evidently he was satisfied; but later on, in the Executive meeting, we saw an attempt to rush a matter through without the courtesy of asking the chairman of the committee to call a meeting. I naturally rebelled against any such proceeding on the part of any members of this Council, attempting to place me in a position in which I did not desire to be placed.

The following day, previous to the Mayor's celebrated trip to the Wayfarers' Lodge, he issued a statement to the papers. And, right here, I want to comment on that trip, which in my opinion, really amounted to nothing. The Mayor's going down to the Wayfarers' Lodge and spending the night there and eating his breakfast the following morning, has been heralded far and wide. He got there at ten o'clock at night, was up at five in the morning, and worked on the woodpile for four hours, in his overcoat, as evidenced by the pictures in the newspapers. I wonder how much wood he either sawed or split? And down at the bottom of the interview he gave to the reporters after he came back, he immediately wanted to appropriate $45,000 for improvements at the Wayfarers' Lodge. Now, I have no objection to improving any city property that needs improvement, but I feel that a question might be raised in regard to the Wayfarers' Lodge where a man who is down and out is compelled to work four hours in the morning for the very meagre meal that his Honor the Mayor said he received after spending the night there. To get back to my original subject, I want to say that in this week's issue of the Boston Review, which is one of the weekly papers of Boston that is not afraid to say what it thinks, and which seems to me to state facts as they are, there is something regarding this particular controversy between the Mayor and myself. It says:

"This week we are regaled with a statement by the Mayor that is entirely characteristic of those who prepare his statements for him. We are told that Coun. Donoghue is 'causing untold suffering to hundreds of families' because a loan of one million dollars for sewerage works has been held up. That on its face is a falsehood, and, if the man who framed that assertion is not a liar he is a fool. The only people who may be suffering because those contracts are not yet made are the contractors, and the contractors, I am informed, have not suffered much under the present administration.

"There may be contractors who are not on the right terms with those who dig for gold in City Hall, but they would suffer, no matter what contracts were made. Knowing that, if a loan should be voted, it would take weeks to prepare for the work and make necessary contracts, it was not only absurd but it was asinine for the Mayor, or anybody representing him, to declare that 'untold suffering to hundreds of families' was the result of holding up the order.

"Coun. Donoghue was right when he replied that 'the contractors would have benefited and most of the work would have been done by aliens'. Moreover, he might have added that, under the eagle eyes of those charged with protecting the city from bunco-steers, some of the contractors now employed by the city are making neat profits out of charging the city a great deal more for labor than they pay for it."

I want to say that all through this issue of the Boston Review there are very pertinent sayings. Another one is here:

"Here and now I desire to warn the group of intellects surrounding the nominal mayor of Boston that if they don't keep their eyes open the Commonwealth will leave nothing on which Andrew may support his dignity except the chair in which he sits when he is not exchanging the foggiest of his office for the foggiest of the Maine and Cape Cod coasts. There are intense intellectuals in the Peters group; they exude profundity; they lunch together and they discuss wicked politicians with a content that is almost withering."

"I don't know just how to express my feelings at the present time. I still believe that the Mayor is honest, but I cannot feel that his administration is honest or constructive. He has done so many remarkable things which should not have been done; he has insisted on finding so much fault with the City Council as an excuse for his own shortcomings, that I am surprised to a degree which hitherto I had believed impossible in connection with anything that might happen at City Hall under any administration."

He then goes on to say that, whether justly or unjustly, the newspapers of Boston have practically covered up the administration of Mayor Peters so that the most flagrant things that have happened during his administration have never even seen the light of day. He points out the following:

"The discovery that the Mayor's closest political friend, one who has been his man Friday in all his political engagements, was being carried on the payrolls of a corporation that is taking money from the city for accepting the city's garbage and selling the treated stuff at a profit."

All these things are pointed out in this paper. In answer to the statement issued by his Honor the Mayor in regard to the employment situation, I want to say, if Mayor Peters is really interested in relieving the non-employment situation that now exists in Boston, let him immediately place in effect a system of hiring directly citizens of Boston to perform the work of the city of Boston. Today he has an unusual opportunity to do that and to have his very work performed. Today we have in the city of Boston practically 20,000 men in the building trades, mechanics, out on strike, and the Mayor of Boston, if he sees fit to do so, can start work on municipal enterprises, putting those men at work on those jobs. He will thus not alone provide work for the mechanics of Boston and for those out of employment, but will immediately break the effort of the interests to crush down the laboring class. I read something in the Boston American yesterday bearing on the importance of the situation here today in this respect. There may be some talk to the effect that this is not possible, that under civil service rules and regulations it is not feasible to put this idea into effect, but I say that the civil service rules and regulations really do not amount to anything. The Boston American, I believe yesterday, said that up in the State Auditor's office there is practically a sign hung outside the door, "No Irish Catholic need apply." I say that if the Civil Service rules are such that that condition can prevail in that office, they do not amount to anything, and I am certainly absolutely opposed to any rules and regulations that restrict or restrain any citizen, no matter what his faith or bringing-up may be, from getting any job he is qualified for or has passed the test for. We know, those of us who are practical, that this contract system will take weeks and weeks to be placed into effect. Only a week ago we read in the newspapers that thousands of dollars' worth of work had been let out to contractors, that work that had been let out last year was about to be started this year. Now, are we going to have the same condition prevailing again this year that has prevailed in previous years? Are we going to appropriate $1,000,000 for sewer construction without knowing how much money was appropriated last year and how much money was spent? Are we going to appropriate another million dollars under sewer loans and $1,400,000 for street laying out, without having any idea of what is going to be done? Why, the Mayor himself sent in an order to the Council the first week of this year asking for $1,400,000 for streets, and a week or two weeks later he revised his estimate as to how much money should be spent on the streets of Boston, calling back his original appropriation order and, instead of suggesting $1,400,000, introducing an order of $800,000 for streets, and $600,000 for the Chelsea bridge. That is what we see under existing conditions, with a total appropriating power of $4,400,000—the Mayor appropriating within the first three weeks of his administration $3,500,000, and leaving less than $1,000,000 in the city treasury of appropriating power. He showed himself, through his action in sending in the Chelsea bridge appropriation, that he has no idea of what amount of money should be spent on any proposition that he sends in here. When anything is referred to the Mayor for his information, he turns it over to others, and it comes back here, if it does come back at all, as information or an opinion from somebody else, and not from the Mayor. I want to call the bluff of the Mayor of Boston, when he states that he is trying to relieve the unemployment situation. If he is as earnest as he says he is in trying to relieve the situation, let him hire citizens of Boston to perform Boston's work.

Coun. WATSON. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Councilor who has just finished speaking if he will kindly permit that resolution to go to the Executive Committee?

Coun. DONOGHUE. Certainly, Mr. Chairman. I don't care where it goes, as long as it is acted upon as soon as possible.

The resolution was referred to the Executive Committee.

RECESS TAKEN.

The Council voted at 3.15 p. m., on motion of Coun. MORIARTY, to take a recess subject to the call of the President.

The members of the Council reassembled in the Council Chamber and were called to order by the President at 6.54 p. m.

BALLOT FOR PRESIDENT.

On motion of Coun. WATSON, the Council proceeded to a ballot for President. The Clerk called the roll, with the following result:

For David J. Brickley—Coun. Brickley, McLaughlin and Moriarty, 3.

For Daniel W. Lane—Coun. Collins, Hagan and Lane, 3.

For James A. Watson—Coun. Donoghue, Ford and Watson, 3.

And there was no choice.

FINANCE.

Coun. DONOGHUE, for the Committee on Finance, submitted the following reports on orders for appropriations—that the orders ought to pass, viz.:

Order (referred February 7), for loan of $1,000,000 for sewerage works.

Order (referred February 28), for loan of $800,000 for highways and $600,000 for Chelsea bridge, south.

Order (referred February 28), for loan of $78,000 for municipal building, old Ward 12.

Order (referred February 7), for loan of $7,500 for Marine Park improvements.

Order (referred February 7), for loan of $55,000 for branch library, West Roxbury.

Order (referred February 7), for loan of $110,000 for Forest Hills Court House construction.

The report was accepted and the order given its first reading and passed; yeas 8, nays 1, Coun. Moriarty voting nay.

The reports were severally accepted, and the orders given their first readings and passed; yeas 9, nays 0.

The orders will take their final readings not less than 14 days from date.

Order (referred Feb. 7) for loan of $30,000 for Forest Hills Court House site.

Coun. WATSON. Mr. President, I desire to be placed correctly on this matter. I desire to have my position stated, as a matter of record. I am in favor of building a court house at Forest Hills, but I am opposed to changing the location from a site we already own to another one that means an additional cost for land.

The report was accepted and the order was passed; yeas 6, nays 3.

Yeas—Coun. Collins, Donoghue, Ford, Hagan, Lane, McLaughlin, 6. Nays—Coun. Brickley, Moriarty, Watson, 3.

The order will take its final reading not less than fourteen days from date.

EXECUTIVE.

Coun. WATSON, for the Executive Committee, submitted the following, viz.:

1. Report on order (referred today), accepting chapter 103 of the Acts of 1921, to pension George A. Holmes—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; order passed.

2. Report on order (referred today), giving George A. Holmes a pension of $450 per annum—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; order passed.

3. Report on order (referred today), for estimate of cost of Ward 4 municipal building—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; order passed.

4. Report on petition of Marie Reardon (referred today), for permit for children under 15 years of age to appear at South Boston Municipal Building Hall on May 13—that a permit be granted.

Report accepted; permit granted on the usual conditions.

5. Report on orders (referred today), that the Executive Committee appear before the Board of Public Utilities, and that his Honor the Mayor recommend an appropriation for investigation of heat and lighting—that the orders ought to pass.

Report accepted; orders passed, yeas 9, nays 0.

6. Report on communication from Hospital Trustees (referred February 28), relative to removal of William J. Corcoran—recommending the passage of the following, viz:

Ordered, That a hearing be given by the City Council on Tuesday, March 29, 1921, at 2 o'clock P. M., to determine whether or not William J. Corcoran, an employee of the Hospital Department, should be removed for the reasons charged by the Hospital Trustees, and that the City Clerk be directed to give the notice and statement required by law.

Report accepted; order passed.

7. Report on preamble and resolve (referred today), concerning work of the city by contract—that the preamble and resolve ought to pass.

Coun. WATSON. Mr. President, in order that I may be properly recorded, so that my position at this time may be clear in the future on this matter, I am compelled to say something briefly. I think the intent of the introducer of the order is to be commended, but I don't think the order reaches the point that it should reach. It is so broad that we would go on record as being opposed to any city work being done other than by day labor and by city horses. That would mean that the Schoolhouse Commission, which builds schoolhouses by contract, would be called upon to build the schoolhouses, draw the plans and do all its work by city help. That would call for the employment of skilled mechanics for that work, and that work, which only takes a part of a year, would mean the carrying on the rolls of high class and high paid employees who would not be needed. I am not one who would deny day work. I would like to see the city do all its own work by day labor, provided the taxpayers would get a return for their money. I do not mean by that that the laborers of the city would not perform their work properly if they had it to do, but I do know that the skilled mechanics who might be employed by the Schoolhouse Commission and other departments to do work for the city, would not be employed at their trades for the entire year. Therefore, the order being so broad, I cannot vote for it.

Coun. MORIARTY. Mr. President, I realize that the hour is getting late, but I will not perform my duty if I allow certain statements to go on record without answering them. The order does not say that any head of a department will have to keep an employee who works in that department on a yearly basis. Let us take the statement of the Councilor who just spoke on the other side. If they did hire an architect, for instance, and had him in the employ of the city, would he get a year's salary for drawing the plans of one school? No. The situation would be just as it is at the present time. Just look and see what an architect gets for drawing plans, and you will find about the same result as has been referred to here this afternoon, where $24,000 was spent for certain work. The building trades mechanics of this city would not ask the City of Boston to keep them employed when it did not have work for them to do. All they want is, when there is work to be put on it, and when the work was finished they would do the same as they do today,—loaf five months a year, which is the average for a building trades man. But if you had them doing the work directly you would not find anything like what you found down on Long Island in the nurses' home, in the building that was built by contract, where some friend of the administration did the work and they did not put the stock into the building that they were supposed to put in. The result is that the building is falling down and the nurses cannot sleep on the easterly side, because the contractor skun the job. And the municipal building in South Boston is a disgrace to the City of Boston, on account of the contract system. If the city was doing the work and handling the mechanics, it would accomplish something in the way of getting buildings that it was paying for. For instance, we have a little place in the top of this building, where every bit of cement that goes into the sewers, mark you, is tested; but there is no cement that goes into the structures above ground that is tested by any department. The City of Boston does test the cement that goes underground. That helps some. But there was no test of anything that went into the building I have referred to at Long Island, and where cement should have gone in they put in beach sand, and you can go there and tear down the partitions with your thumb nail, allowing the water to come through. My contention is that people seem afraid of giving the man who works with his hands too much; but there is no fear of giving too much to the contractor who comes in here and loots your city treasury. There sometimes seems to be a desire to give him all the opportunity he wants. While I do not want to steal any thunder from the Councilor who introduced the order, I think I know a little bit more about building conditions on account of my connection with the industry than the Councilor, and I don't want to allow certain statements that have been made to go unchallenged. I claim, taking the schoolhouses built for the City of Boston alone, that the city could buy the equipment necessary, the equipment that is being used by the contractors, and in the building of five schools could save the amount necessary for the equipment in the saving that would be made as compared with the contract price at the present time. It is all right for a head of a department to come in and exaggerate, saying that it would cost so much for lumber and so on, and then coming back and telling you that if we had taken care of a wall out in the South Channel some time ago, for a small amount of money, it would not afterwards have cost the city $300,000 to fix it up as it is at the present time. Yes, and maybe if there are not some inspectors out there watching the type of cement that is being put into some contract work at the present time, we may have to pay $200,000 or $300,000 more in a short while.

I feel that a city employee who works for the city today as a laborer or as a mechanic is giving as much of a return as any employee who works for the city, and I believe the more quickly we get away from the contract system the better. But I don't feel that we are accomplishing anything here; I don't feel that the order is worth the paper it is written on—because when it goes down stairs it is going into the waste basket. But I do believe that we should try to let the citizens of Boston know the facts and should also bring to their attention the fact that political promises that were made by the present Mayor on the stump, to do away with the abolishing of some contracts, have not been lived up to in the three years and approximately two months of the present administration.

Coun. COLLINS. Mr. President, I did not intend to say anything on this matter, but I could not conscientiously, discharging my duties as a member of this Council, vote for this order, because, carrying it to its logical conclusion, if the order were adopted it would mean the entire elimination of everything in the nature of contract work as controlled, contracted for or supervised by the city. We had the Commissioner of Public Works today, discussing the question of a million dollars which we were about to pass for the purpose of building sewers, and he said roughly speaking, that if this order were carried out by the executive and administrative heads of the city, for the cost of equipment alone there would be about $700,000 or $800,000 of the money spent. That is interesting from this angle, Mr. President. I have been in this body for some years and in my own poor way, realizing that we had very little, if anything, to do with the administrative and executive work of the city, I have yet gone repeatedly on record in favor of resolutions contemplating the elimination of the contract system as pertaining to the disposition of garbage and ashes. I believe that is a most crying municipal need today, to do away with our contract system as applied to that work, for the reason that we do not get proper service in this city in the disposition of garbage and ashes under the present contract system. Why has it not been done away with? The argument has been the same as that set forth by the Commissioner of Public Works, that the initial cost of equipment would be practically so great as to be prohibitive, so far as doing the work for the municipal year within the amount available was concerned. We must cut our cloth according to our means. We cannot go to work and vote money ad libitum. We are controlled by the statutes. Our borrowing capacity is limited, our tax rate is set by the Legislature; and if you were to carry this out to its logical conclusion you would, in my opinion, have this municipality paralyzed. I do not believe the employees of the city, the taxpayers or the citizens, would favor a proposition that would result in making bad matters worse. Consequently, I am going to vote against this order; mindful, however, of the fact that wherever practicable the day labor system ought to be employed. I believe that this order, carried to its logical conclusion, is impracticable, under the circumstances, and unwise, and I shall vote "No."

Coun. DONOGHUE. Mr. President, I did not intend to get into any further controversy over this matter, but I would like to say that when Coun. Moriarty arose, in answer to the Councilor on the other side, and said that the skilled mechanical laborer hired by the City of Boston under this order would only expect to be paid while he worked, that was my thought, and it is what I have contended right along, that they will only expect to get paid when they work. The other Councilor, who has sought to alibi himself by voting against the order with one breath and saying that he believes in doing away with the contract system in relation to garbage and ashes in the next breath, is certainly illogical. I cannot see wherein there is anything consistent in his statement. If it is logical to do away with the contract system as far as the garbage and ashes are concerned, it is logical to do away with it in everything pertaining to the city. When the Commissioner of Public Works says it would cost a million dollars to provide the equipment to carry out this order, I don't see how he gets his figures. However, the higher he makes his figure, the more merit there is in this proposition, because it means that the contractors have paid the price of that equipment out of the City of Boston. They have made that $700,000 or $800,000 out of the taxpayer, and I say, even if we should spend $1,000,000 or $2,000,000, no matter how many million dollars it might be, for equipment, it will eventually come back to the people of Boston, and they will receive something in consideration for the money they are spending in public improvements and municipal enterprises.

I think it is ridiculous to have councilors stand on this floor and say that they are in favor of day labor in one breath and in the next breath say they will vote against the abolition of the contract system. I don't want to stir up any further trouble on this. I think we all know how we are going to vote. But I am absolutely in favor of the abolition of the contract system, and I think the sooner we make a start on it the better it is going to be all down the line for every citizen of Boston.

Coun. McLAUGHLIN. Mr. President, I did not intend to say anything on this matter, and I don't intend to now, so I will sit down. (Laughter.)

Pres. HAGAN. You said a whole mouthful.

The order was passed, yeas 5, nays 4. Yeas—Councilors Brickley, Donoghue, Ford, McLaughlin, Moriarty—5; Nays—Councilors Collins, Hagan, Lane, Watson, 4.

COUNTY ACCOUNTS.

Coun. FORD, for the Committee on County Accounts, submitted the following, viz:

1. Report on communication from the Chief Justice of the Municipal Court of the City of Boston (referred February 21), relative to acceptance of chapter 109, Acts of 1916—recommending the passage of the following, viz:

Ordered, That chapter 109, Acts of 1916, providing for permissive appointment of interpreters for the civil sessions of the Municipal Court of the City of Boston be and the same hereby is accepted.

Report accepted; order passed.

2. Report on communication from Justice of Brighton Municipal Court (referred February 14), concerning salary of probation officer—recommending the passage of the following, viz:

Ordered, That the salary of Edward J. Drummond, probation officer of the Municipal Court of the Brighton District of the City of Boston, determined by the justice of said Court at the rate of $2,000 per annum, to date from January 1, 1921, be and the same hereby is approved.

Report accepted; order passed.

CONFIRMATION OF APPOINTMENTS.

Coun. HAGAN called up unfinished business, Nos. 4, 5, 6 and 7, viz:

4. William C. Anderson, James B. McCarthy, Herbert E. Duffill, to be Weighers of Coal.

5. Allen H. Young, to be a Weigher of Coal and a Measurer of Wood and Bark.

6. Daniel J. Kelly, to be a Weigher of Goods.

7. John T. Robinson, to be a Weigher of Boilers and Heavy Machinery.

The question came on confirmation. Committee—Coun. Brickley and Donoghue. Whole number of ballots cast 8, yes 8, and the appointments were confirmed.

JAMES F. WALSH SQUARE.

Coun. FORD offered an order—That the space on Dorchester avenue, South Boston, between Fourth and Fifth streets be named and known as James F. Walsh square, in honor of said Walsh who died from wounds received in action during the World War; and that said space be suitably marked with signs.

Passed, under a suspension of the rule.

CITY OF BOSTON.

STREET COMMISSIONERS.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ON TAKING OF LAND ON DIXWELL STREET.

In Board of Street Commissioners of the City of Boston, March 17, 1921:

Ordered, That due notice be given that this Board is of the opinion that public necessity requires the taking of land on the northwesterly side of Dixwell street, West Roxbury District, supposed to belong to Arthur S. Webster and to Marion E. Gage, for school purposes, substantially as shown on a plan on file in the office of this Board, that it intends to pass an order to make said taking, and that it appoints 11 o'clock a. m., of April 6, 1921, and the office of this Board as the time and place for a public hearing in the matter.

A true copy of an order passed by said Board on said day.

Attest:

Secretary.

CITY OF BOSTON.

SUPPLY DEPARTMENT.

PROPOSALS FOR CRUSHED STONE.

The Supply Department of the City of Boston invites proposals for furnishing 65,500 tons, more or less, of crushed stone, etc., between April 11, 1921, and January 31, 1922, according to the copy of the contract which may be seen at the office of the Superintendent of Supplies, Room 811, City Hall Annex, Boston, Mass. The bidder must use the form to be obtained in said office, furnish a bond for $2,000 with a surety company authorized to do business in Massachusetts, as surety for the faithful performance of the contract, and leave at said office on or before 12 m., of Monday, April 4, 1921, with a certified check for $500, which is to be the property of the City of Boston if the bidder fails to carry out his proposal. Proposals will be publicly opened and read at the above-named time and place, and the undersigned reserves the right to accept or reject any or all proposals, or any part of a proposal, and to award the contract as he deems for the best interests of the city. A duplicate bid, without check, must be deposited with the City Auditor previous to the time named for opening bids. All contracts made subject to appropriations to meet payments thereunder.

(Mar. 26.) GEORGE J. CRONIN,
Superintendent of Supplies.

CITY OF BOSTON.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

PROPOSALS FOR SHEET ASPHALT, BITULITHIC, ASPHALT CONCRETE AND UNIONITE PAVEMENT IN HALIFAX AND ORIOLE STREETS, WEST ROXBURY.

The Commissioner of Public Works of the City of Boston, office 508 City Hall Annex, invites proposals for sheet asphalt, bitulithic, asphalt concrete and Unionite pavement in Halifax street, from South Huntington avenue to Pond View avenue, and Oriole street from Bellevue street to Emmons road, West Roxbury. A bond will be required for doing the work of a surety company approved by the Commissioner in the sum of seven thousand (7,000) dollars, to secure the due performance of the contract and the full protection of the city. Forms of proposals may be obtained at Room 508, City Hall Annex. Each proposal should be enclosed in an envelope, sealed, marked "Proposal for Sheet Asphalt, Bitulithic, Asphalt Concrete and Unionite Pavement, Halifax Street, Etc.," and left at Room 508, fifth floor, City Hall Annex, before 12 m. of Thursday, April 7, 1921, with a certified check for twelve hundred (1200) dollars, payable to and to become the property of the city if the proposal after acceptance is not carried out. The proposals will then and there be publicly opened and read. Proposals must be made in duplicate, the sealed duplicate, without check, to be deposited by the bidder with the City Auditor previous to the time named for opening the bids. If the price of any item appears to the Commissioner to be abnormally high or low, or the bidder neglects to bid on each and every item, it may lead to the rejection of the proposal containing such price. and day high schools, requesting that the rules be amended to include provision for their appointment as assistants in Latin or day high schools after seven years' permanent service or after obtaining degree from a college or university, was presented.

Laid over.

SALARIES OF CERTAIN ATTENDANCE OFFICERS.

On motion, it was ORDERED, That those attendance officers appointed between Oct. 1 and Dec. 1, 1919, shall be placed upon the second year of the salary of their rank, to take effect on the dates of their several appointments, and shall be advanced thereafter on the anniversaries of said appointments until the maximum of their rank is reached, subject to the provisions of the salary schedule orders of Jan. 5, 1920, and Feb. 1, 1921.

On motion, it was ORDERED, That Joseph W. Ferris, reappointed attendance officer, to take effect Sept. 14, 1920, shall on that date be placed upon the maximum salary of his rank.

OCCUPANCY OF CHARLESTOWN HIGH SCHOOL-HOUSE ON MEMORIAL DAY.

On motion, it was ORDERED, That the Bogan Camp, Spanish War Veterans, and the Bunker Hill Post, American Legion, are hereby authorized to occupy the gymnasium, locker rooms and kitchen in the Charlestown High School-house on May 30, 1921, between the hours of 9 o'clock A. M. and 5 o'clock P. M., without charge for light and heat or for janitor or other service.

ADJOURNMENT.

The Board adjourned at 6:46 o'clock P. M.

Attest:

THORNTON D. APOLLONIO,
Secretary.

PUBLIC DEBT OF BOSTON IN 1920.

Gross funded debt, February 1, 1920, \$124,410,101 (including \$380,000 issued by State for enlargement of Court House); sinking funds, \$41,934,033.41; other redemption means, \$1,567,670.12; net debt, \$80,908,397.47 (i. e., \$1,558,505.28 less than in 1919 and \$3,661,779.57 less than in 1918), of which total \$48,329,646.98 or 59.73 per cent was City debt; \$30,757,415.36 or 38.01 per cent Rapid Transit debt (representing $4\frac{1}{2}$ per cent investment); \$1,485,335.13 or 1.84 per cent County debt and \$336,000 or 0.42 per cent Water debt. Net debt per capita \$102.41; net debt exclusive of Rapid Transit debt, \$50,150,982.11, or \$63.48 per capita, which is \$11 less per capita than in 1915. Loans authorized but not issued (within debt limit) \$1,467,500.

In the fiscal year 1919-20, the net City debt was reduced by $1,448,392.23; the net Rapid Transit debt by $104,698.59 and the net Water debt by $16,000. The net County debt was increased by $10,585.54. Total debt contracted $3,210,500; total debt paid, $5,924,616.69; total decrease of gross debt, $2,714,116.69; of net debt, $1,558,505.28.

Total debt incurred in the ten years 1909-1919, $51,460,433, of which $19,320,000,000 or 37.5 per cent was Rapid Transit debt.

Total amount of debt incurred by the city in the 97 years since its incorporation (in 1822), $259,324,437, of which 58 per cent belongs to the last 25 years, 20.1 per cent to the last 10 years.

PROCEEDINGS OF CITY COUNCIL.

Monday, March 28, 1921.

Severally laid over under the law.

COST OF MUNICIPAL BUILDING, WARD 4.

The following was received:

Office of the Mayor,
March 25, 1921.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I am herewith transmitting a report just received from the Superintendent of Public Buildings in reply to an order of the City Council passed on March 21, requesting information as to the cost of a municipal building for Ward 4.

Respectfully yours,

ANDREW J. PETERS, Mayor.

Office of Public Buildings Department,
March 25, 1921.

Hon. Andrew J. Peters,
Mayor of the City of Boston.

Dear Sir,—Replying to the enclosed order of the City Council, that the Superintendent of Public Buildings be requested through his Honor the Mayor to submit to the City Council an estimate of the cost of the municipal building to be erected on the site now occupied by the Ward 4 Municipal Building, Charlestown, I wish to say that to erect a suitable building to contain the various features enumerated in the order would cost approximately $225,000.

Respectfully yours,

FRED J. KNEELAND,

Superintendent of Public Buildings.

Placed on file.

PARKMAN FUND APPROPRIATIONS.

The following was received:

Office of the Mayor,
March 25, 1921.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I am herewith transmitting copies of communications from the Park Department relative to certain appropriations from the income of the George F. Parkman Fund, and I recommend the passage of the accompanying orders.

Respectfully yours,

ANDREW J. PETERS, Mayor.

Ordered, That the sum of $42,400 be and hereby is appropriated from the income of the Parkman Fund, to be expended under the direction of the Park Commission for the maintenance and improvement of the Common and parks in existence on January 12, 1887, as follows:

Greenhouses, etc., Franklin Park, $30,000 additional; Zoological Garden, improvements, $12,400. Total, $42,400.

January 26, 1921.

Hon. Andrew J. Peters,
Mayor of Boston.

Dear Sir,—At a meeting of the Park Commissioners held on January 26, 1921, it was voted to recommend appropriations from the income of the George F. Parkman Fund as follows:

Greenhouses at Franklin Park, $30,000. This amount is to be added to $60,000 already appropriated and is made necessary by the proposed centralization of the present Mt. Hope Cemetery and the East Cottage Street Greenhouses.

Grading and laying permanent walks and the necessary planting for same at Franklin Park Zoological Garden: planting, $1,500; grading, $2,500; tar macadam walks (5,600 sq. yds. at $1.50), $8,400.

Total, $42,400.

Very respectfully yours,

JAMES B. SHEA, Chairman.

January 26, 1921.

Hon. Andrew J. Peters,
Mayor of Boston.

Dear Sir,—With reference to the request of this Board dated January 26, for the appropriation of the balance of the income of the Parkman Fund, I present the following explanation:

The bids for Greenhouse construction received on September 30, 1920, were rejected for the reason that the Cemetery Department was annexed to the Park Department by vote of the City Government, and as it would not be economical to conduct two separate outfits for growing plants, it is now the opinion of the Board that the Greenhouses to be located at Franklin Park would most effectively do the work required. These houses being open to the public would prove an additional attraction to Franklin Park visitors.

A further economy would be effected by the use of the land now occupied by the Mt. Hope Cemetery Greenhouses, which, when sold for burial lots would produce an amount estimated at $74,250, (33,000 sq. ft. at $2.25 ft.) nearly half of which would go to the Perpetual Care Fund.

The additional amount required to erect Greenhouses of sufficient capacity to care for the combined departments is $30,000, and the specifications are so drawn that the contractor may use such material as can be salvaged from the Mt. Hope Greenhouses,—the plans being arranged with that end in view.

Relative to the disposition of the balance of the income, namely $12,400, for grading and laying macadam walks and the necessary planting in connection with the same at the Franklin Park Zoological Garden, I wish to say that it is a noticeable fact that this portion of Franklin Park has been overrun for a number of years past by visitors to the Zoo, who make their own paths and tread out the turf, giving the place a very untidy look.

This condition has been publicly criticized by many people during the past few years, and the Board feels that it is its duty to correct this fault.

Very respectfully yours,

JAMES B. SHEA, Chairman.

Referred to the Committee on Parkman Fund.

PROPOSED SALE OF POLICE STATION 2 SITE.

The following was received:

Office of the Mayor,
March 28, 1921.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I am herewith transmitting an order authorizing the City of Boston to dispose of the so-called Police Station 2 site at the corner of Arch street and Hawley place, for a sum not less than its 1920 assessed valuation.

The City has owned the property now for more than four years, and of course during the entire time it has lost any income which might have been derived from taxes. The Police Commissioner has stated definitely to me that the property is not large enough for his needs, and he will not consent to the erection of a building for Station 2 on the plot.

It is therefore most inadvisable for the City to continue to hold this property, particularly as there seems to be every possibility that the property may be disposed of at a good figure at an auction sale. It is uneconomic to permit this property to lie idle any longer, and I hope the City Council will give its immediate attention to the sale of this property by passing the accompanying order.

Respectfully yours,

ANDREW J. PETERS, Mayor.

Ordered,—That the Board of Street Commissioners be authorized to sell the estate at corner of Arch street and Hawley place, at public auction, at a price not less than the assessed valuation, the proceeds of such sale to be used toward the purchase of a site and the erection and furnishing of a police station for Police Division 2.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

PETITIONS REFERRED.

The following petitions were received and referred to the committees named, viz:

Claims.

Joseph P. Cutter (poll tax collector) to be refunded amounts paid by him to the city for taxes which were afterwards abated under chapter 49, Acts of 1918.

Salvatore Di Perri, Jr., for compensation for injuries caused by being struck by an automobile of the Fire Department.

A. J. Furbush, for compensation for damages to a hack and an automobile used by the Election Commissioners at the November election.

Adeline A. Jacques, for compensation for injuries caused by a defect at 667 Columbia road.

Edward J. Kilduff, for compensation for a fence at 23 Mt. Vernon street, Dorchester, broken by a police officer.

Michael J. Lynch, for compensation for injuries caused by a hole in sidewalk at 20 So. Margit street.

Mary Ryan, for a hearing on her claim for injuries caused by a defect in Draper street.

Otis A. B. Skinner, to be paid for a set of drawing instruments stolen from the drafting room at 602 City Hall Annex.

Katherine Troy, for compensation for injuries caused by a fall at junction of Market and No. Beacon streets.

Mrs. Bessie Munroe, for a hearing on her claim for injuries caused by a defect in Elm street, Jamaica Plain.

Executive.

Ruth M. McShane, for a permit for children to appear at the South Boston Municipal Building on June 3, 1921.

Per Marquette Council No. 271, K. of C., for a permit for certain children to appear at St. Augustine's Hall on April 4-5, 1921.

Mary Swan, for a permit for children under fifteen years of age to appear at South Boston Municipal Building Hall on May 20, 1921.

REGISTRY OF DEEDS PAYROLL.

A certificate was received from W. T. A. Fitzgerald, Register of Deeds, of the payroll of his office for the month commencing February 21, 1921. The payroll was approved and ordered paid, amounting to $7,019.49.

MINORS' LICENSES.

President HAGAN submitted applications of 43 newsboys and 1 vendor for minor's licenses.

The licenses were granted under suspension of the rule.

TEMPORARY LOAN FOR MUNICIPAL NEEDS.

Coun. COLLINS offered an order, That to provide temporarily money to meet the appropriations for the financial year 1921-1922, the City Treasurer issue and sell, at such times and in such amounts as he may deem best, notes or certificates of indebtedness to the City of Boston not exceeding fourteen million dollars in the total, in anticipation of the revenue of the current municipal year; that all such notes or certificates of indebtedness be dated the day the money for the same is received, be made payable with the interest thereon within one year of their date from the revenue of the year 1921, and bear interest from their date until the same are made payable at such rate as the City Auditor, the City Treasurer, and the Mayor may determine.

Coun. COLLINS. Mr. President, this is a customary order, one which has appeared here every year at about this time, providing that the city may borrow from time to time a certain amount of money for the purpose of taking care of needed things, the money eventually to come from taxes. In view of the fact that the complete membership of the Council is not here, I suggest that the order be referred to the Executive Committee. Of course, if there is no objection on the part of any member I would move suspension of the rule. But I thought as long as we did not have a full membership present today, it might be well not to do so.

Coun. WATSON. I think it might be well to let it go to the Executive Committee.

The order was referred to the Executive Committee.

THE "RACE SUICIDE" RENT CLAUSE.

Coun. FORD offered an order, That the Rent and Housing Commission of the City of Boston at once consult with the Corporation Counsel to ascertain whether or not it is possible legally to prevent landlords from including in leases the so-called "race suicide" clause.

Coun. FORD. Mr. President, I would like to have the rule suspended so that the order might be put upon its passage today. This at first blush does not seem to be a very serious order, but when we consider what the City Council has tried to do to relieve the housing situation, orders along that line having been introduced by yourself, Mr. Chairman, and Coun. McLaughlin, and when we then find that the landlords are taking advantage of the inactivity of both the City Council and the Mayor in the housing matter, by including in leases a clause which says that if there shall be another member of the family there will be an addition of $10 a month in the rent, it does seem either that something should be done in regard to the general housing situation or that something should certainly be done in regard to that particular matter, when there is such criminal conduct on the part of landlords. When people go into a home they look forward to having some blessing come into it, and when any landlord says that when a child appears in the home there shall be an increase of $10 in the rent, it puts a premium on an extremely bad state of affairs and prevents the development and progress of civilization itself. Such a clause in a lease is a specific thing that can be remedied by some sort of legislation, and I ask that this order be passed so that the Rent and Housing Commission can spend a part of the $7,500 which we have appropriated in doing something in the way of constructive legislation to help in the housing situation. I ask a suspension of the rule that the matter may be sent along, so that they can get together with the Corporation Counsel and decide whether anything can be done in regard to this particular situation.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

SIDEWALK ON WACHUSETT STREET.

Coun. FORD offered an order.—That the Commissioner of Public Works make a sidewalk along Wachusett street, between Walk Hill and Weld Hill streets, West Roxbury, Ward 22, on both sides of said street, in front of the estates bordering thereon, said sidewalk to be from 3 to 10 inches above the gutter adjoining, to be from 5 to 12 feet in width, and to be built of artificial stone, with granite edgestones, under the provisions of chapter 196 of the Special Acts of 1917.

Passed.

PROPOSED NEW GYMNASIUM FOR SOUTH BOSTON.

Coun. FORD offered an order.—That the Chairman of the Park and Recreation Department be requested to send to the City Council an estimate of the cost of a site and building for a gymnasium in South Boston.

Coun. FORD. Mr. President, I move that the rule be suspended and that this order be put upon its passage today. Last year we were notified that the gymnasium in South Boston which had been at Commonwealth Park for twenty years was about to be abolished and removed, because the state was re-taking the land on which the gymnasium was then situated. We had a conference with the Park and Recreation Commissioners and they agreed at that time that in the budget there would be an appropriation to take care of that new gymnasium in South Boston. It is needless for me to recount to the Council the benefit and value of a gymnasium in that particular location. I understand that the building is to be demolished on April 1 and taken away. I know that the whole Council is interested in the matter and would like to see a new gymnasium located in South Boston to take the place of the one that is being taken away. I am reminded by the Council on my right (Coun. Watson) that the chairman of the Park and Recreation Department is going to be before the Executive Committee; so I would like to withdraw my motion to suspend the rule and have the order sent to the committee, so that the matter may be drawn to his attention.

The order was referred to the Executive Committee.

JOSEPH F. WALSH SQUARE.

Coun. FORD offered an order.—That the space on Dorchester avenue and Fourth street, South Boston, be named and known as James F. Walsh square, in honor of said James F. Walsh, who died from wounds received in action during the World War, and that said space be suitably marked with signs.

Passed, under suspension of the rule.

BREWSTER E. LITTLEFIELD SQUARE.

Coun. FORD offered an order.—That the space at the junction of Fourth, K and Emerson streets, South Boston, be named and known as "Brewster E. Littlefield square," in honor of the memory of said Brewster E. Littlefield, who lost his life in the World War, and that said space be suitably marked with signs.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

PAYMENT TO WIDOW OF JAMES E. McDONOUGH.

Coun. FORD offered the following orders, That, under the provisions of chapter 135 of the Acts of 1921, there be allowed and paid to the widow of James E. McDonough, formerly an employee of the Public Buildings Department, of the City of Boston, the sum of five hundred and seventy-five dollars, being the balance of the salary to which he would have been entitled had he lived and continued to occupy his position until February 1, 1921.

That chapter 135 of the Acts of 1921, entitled "An Act Authorizing the City of Boston to Pay a Sum of Money to the Widow of James E. McDonough"—be and the same hereby is accepted. The orders were referred to the Executive Committee.

NEEDED IMPROVEMENTS AT CARSON BEACH.

Coun. HAGAN offered an order, That his Honor the Mayor be respectfully requested to confer with Commissioner Shea of the Park Department in reference to the badly needed improvements at Carson Beach, Dorchester, so that these improvements can be put into effect this spring, and have this beach resort in proper condition for the mothers and children who patronize Carson Beach during the summer months.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

FREDERICK D. EMMONS PLAYGROUND.

Coun. WATSON offered an order, That his Honor the Mayor be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to change the name of the playground on Rutherford avenue, Charlestown, to Frederick D. Emmons playground.

Coun. WATSON. Mr. President, I have a letter that accompanies that, which I would like to have made a part of the record, and I would ask a suspension of the rule that the order might be put upon its passage.

The letter referred to is as follows:

Municipal Court of the Charlestown District, Clerk's Office,
March 26, 1921.

James A. Watson, Esq.,
City Council, Boston.

Dear Sir,—Many of the men of the former Charlestown companies of the Fifth Infantry, Massachusetts National Guard, the majority of whose men were transferred to the 101st U. S. Infantry, have asked me to invite your interest in having a public street or public ground named in honor of Frederick D. Emmons, who was a member of Company A, Fifth Regiment, Massachusetts National Guard, and who was transferred to Company A, 101st Infantry. He was killed in action at St. Mihiel, France, at the same time that his commanding officer, Captain McConnell was killed.

He lived with his parents on Union street, Charlestown. I am told that some of his comrades made an effort to have the name of Union street changed to Emmons street, but what steps were taken I am unable to ascertain. I understand that the changing of the names of streets meets in some instances with opposition. If you do not advise advocating the changing of the name of Union street, will it be possible to have the name of the Rutherford avenue playground, which borders on Union street, changed to the Emmons Playground?

Knowing your interest in the Fifth Regiment is my reason for asking your aid in the matter.

Very respectfully,

MARK E. SMITH.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

OBJECTION TO LIGHTING COMPANY STOCK AND BOND BILLS.

Coun. WATSON offered the following:

Be it Resolved, Whereas Senate Bill No. 131, "An Act to authorize the issue by gas and electric companies of capital stock without nominal or par value"; Senate Bill No. 132, "An Act relative to the issue of Capital Stock by Gas and Electric Companies," and Senate Bill No. 133, "An Act relative to the issue of Bonds by Gas and Electric Companies," have passed the Senate and are soon to be considered by the House of Representatives; and

Whereas, these bills, Senate 131, 132 and 133 are against public policy and established custom of the Commonwealth and will create special privilege for a special class of individuals,

Be it Resolved, that the Boston City Council unqualifiedly opposes the passage of Senate Bills Nos. 131, 132 and 133, and requests his Honor the Mayor to join with the Council in its efforts to defeat said bills.

Ordered, that a copy of this resolution be sent to the Speaker and to the Republican and Democratic floor leaders of the House of Representatives.

Coun. WATSON. Mr. President and fellow members of the Council, this might, in the language of the moving picture houses, be referred to as the sixth episode in the serial of the gas and electric companies' attempt to bleed the public. In all seriousness, I want to say that I regret that I am compelled to burden my fellow members with any further discussion of the matter upon which I have introduced this order. But, having in mind that an early statesman said that "eternal vigilance is the price of liberty," I am going to use that term in another way, by saying that constant agitation and constant publicity with reference to the conduct of the privileged class is necessary to prevent the legal robbing of the public—vigilance plus publicity through the public press. Without the publicity that has been given by the action of this body concerning the lighting situation in Massachusetts, it is my candid belief that the legislation known as Senate Bill No. 314 would by now have passed through the hands of the Governor and would have been operative, because the ways were well greased and it was skilfully and cleverly started on its momentous voyage by the master mind of the framers of legislation for the privileged class on Beacon Hill. For twenty-eight years, off and on, I have been in public life, covering service in this body in 1898 and 1899, followed by two years on Beacon Hill in 1900 and 1901, and I have seen a number of measures against public policy and against public interest passed by the Legislature and signed by the Governor. I have in mind the leasing of the Boston & Albany Railroad, the only independent line in Massachusetts, to the New York Central, a foreign corporation, and the merging of the Fitchburg with the Boston & Maine, as well as other matters that were handled skilfully, cleverly, and, in my opinion, illegitimately by the master minds of the lobby on Beacon Hill. So I have had some experience in observing things as one on the outside looking in, always on the outside looking in, with no desire to be a party to their methods or their acts. I believe there is no greater master mind in manipulation and greasing the ways legitimately and otherwise for legislation against the public interests, public policy and public good, than Everett W. Burdett, the legislative counsel for the Massachusetts gas and electric lighting interests; and it was Everett W. Burdett, plus the puppet gang employed by him, plus the financial interests, who always benefit by these measures, that would have passed this bill through the House and Senate, and the Governor of the Commonwealth would not have dared to veto it. It would have become a law and the public would have been bled to the extent of upwards of fifty million dollars in additional charges for electricity and gas.

I note in the bulletin of the Legislature that this master mind—I was going to say of corruption, because I have an opinion on the subject, but I will be careful in my statement—that this master mind of manipulation introduced three bills in the Senate, and each of the three bills contained the now famous and, to my mind, notorious and infamous clause called the emergency preamble or clause. The first bill was Senate 130, afterwards amended to Senate 314,—and that is where they first slipped, by amending the bill. For the information of you, my fellow members, let me tell you why they amended the bill providing for the capitalizing of premiums by the lighting interests of Massachusetts. The bill included all lighting companies and necessarily that included the Consolidated Gas Company. They reported the bill unanimously. Every member of the Committee on Light and Power assented to its report to the Senate. But when it got into the Senate, the crafty brain of Everett W. Burdett, plus his paid puppets in the Senate, found that the bill would not operate for the benefit of the Consolidated Gas Company, because they were doing business under an independent act called the sliding scale act; and Senate 130 was amended by inserting a clause stating that that act should not apply to the Consolidated Gas Company. That necessarily obliged the re-drafting of the bill, and that re-drafted bill is Senate 314, formerly Senate 130, which according to the chairman of the Committee on Light and Power on Beacon Hill, Senator Parkhurst, is on its way to the graveyard in the House of Representatives. That is according to his own statement made on the floor of the Senate, when some of these bills were being considered, as reported in the Herald a few days ago.

Yes, it is, thank God, because of the alertness of this body, because of our desire to support and protect the public interests, because the representatives of the public here, as shown by their conduct on this floor, are alive and active, and are bringing publicity to bear on matters of this sort. Because of that fact the bill is on its way to the graveyard, and if it had not been for our activities and my talk here, fellow members—although I may have burdened you with what I have said at times—that bill would have been passed and signed today, and the public would be paying tribute to the lighting interests from the Atlantic coast to the Berkshires and from Newburyport to Buzzards Bay, to the extent of $3,000,000 a year at least. So we are doing something for the public. I am proud of my associates and incidentally proud of the fact that I am a part of this movement to stop the greatest highbinders, as far as legal highway robbery is concerned, that we have seen in Massachusetts. I am proud that they are being thwarted in their attempts to bleed the public and to perpetrate upon the public what, in my opinion, is absolute, downright thievery.

Just a word concerning this Senator Parkhurst. I think that this may be a revelation to the members of this body and to the members of the public, too. Mr. Parkhurst, the Senate chairman of this important Committee on Light and Power, comes from Winchester, Mass. He never saw any experience in public life before this year. But he comes from Winchester. The Committee on Light and Power considers all these matters that have to do with the lighting interests of the Commonwealth, the great lighting trust, which in turn is represented by Kidder, Peabody and Lee, Higginson & Company. Senator Parkhurst is chairman of that committee, from Winchester. I repeat, to make my point clearer and more forcible to you gentlemen. The moderator of the town of Winchester, the Republican leader of the town of Winchester, is Mr. Ives, the attorney for the Edison Company in all its legal matters outside of the Legislature. Think of it. The first year that he is in the Legislature, Mr. Parkhurst of Winchester, in my opinion through the influence of Ives and Burdett, is made chairman of that all-important committee that has to do with the public interests and that is responsible for this attempt to bleed the public. Here is proposed action that not only benefits the privileged class, but benefits the few. There might be some quarrel with matters that injured three-quarters of the people for the benefit of the other one-quarter, but here is a matter that benefits a thousand against the multitude of this Commonwealth. It is high-handed business. I wonder—and I say this in a very moderate and conservative way, although my thoughts would lead me into other channels—I wonder, was Mr. Parkhurst made chairman of the Committee on Power and Light with the full knowledge that Everett W. Burdett was going to introduce these bills, in order that Mr. Burdett, through Mr. Ives, the moderator of the town of Winchester and the Republican leader out there, might talk the matter over with Mr. Parkhurst at home rather than inconveniencing him to go elsewhere?

It is plain to me, as was said by an illustrious leader, a well known man in the city, that they badly messed the whole proposition. They have badly messed it, and I will make this suggestion, Mr. President, and I think you will agree with me. Were not these three or four Senate bills framed and talked over in the presence of Mr. Parkhurst, who was elected Senator from the Winchester district, by Mr. Ives and Mr. Burdett, prior to Mr. Parkhurst taking the oath of office and prior to his being made chairman of the Committee on Public Light and Power? May not that suggestion be correct? I think perhaps you will agree with me that the suggestion may be correct. I would go further and say it is my honest, candid belief that this is a premeditated proposition raised beforehand, with malice aforethought, to frame this legislation and shove it through on Beacon Hill, to put a greater burden on the people of this Commonwealth. We read much concerning the investigation of the Boston Elevated trusteeship bill on Beacon Hill because of the action of certain members of the Legislature of 1918 who, it is understood, borrowed money from a bank in Boston pending the passage of the trusteeship bill and invested that money in Elevated stock when it was quite low. That is a case of locking the stable door after the horse has been stolen.

What can come of that investigation? Nothing can come of it. It will be hushed up and forgotten. Some men's characters and reputations will be smirched, and rightfully so. But where will the public benefit by the proposition? More power to them in the matter. It means publicity and may help, generally speaking, but as far as real service is concerned nothing can be done. That is my prediction, and I have no apology to make and no defence to offer for the men who may have done that sort of thing, men who, because of their vote on the bill, may have been able to borrow money from banking institutions presided over by the president of the Senate, Mr. McKnight, and buy stock of the Elevated, using their advance information.

Why, that is nothing more nor less than is being done every day by the so-called respectable element on State street. How do Lee, Higginson and Kidder, Peabody & Company make money on stock? Through inside information. They know what is going to happen and they pound the stock down, knowing that it is worth more than the price which is set for it, and when they get it low enough they buy it up and then push it up again, becoming millionaires over night. It is all done through inside information. Although I hold no brief for members of the House of 1918, and say that they ought to be condemned, that they were not fit to represent a constituency in that body, the public, as far as they are concerned, is not now getting information that it has not already heard. People know that they have been misrepresented on Beacon Hill for years. It is nothing new, the electing of men to public office because they are good fellows. There are too many elected who use their office for their own personal benefit and too few who serve the public interest. I am not discrediting the investigation. But the action that this body has been taking recently to defeat the kind of bills that are now pending means the protection of the public. Some good can come from it. I sincerely trust that the proposition I am talking for today will not be beclouded, pushed aside or lost sight of, because of what is considered by the press and perhaps rightfully so, to be better information and greater news to sell through the papers. I have no quarrel with that. But this means something at the present time, Mr. President.

I am going to continue for one moment longer, I do hope that the present move on Beacon Hill will not over-shadow this proposition. I have talked about long enough, but I do desire to read one or two sections of Senate Bills Nos. 131, 132 and 133; and that brings me back again to where I broke the thread of my remarks and went on to the Parkhurst matter. There are those four bills now pending—the original 130, which is now called 314, and 131, 132 and 133. They were all filed in order on petition of the Massachusetts Gas and Electric Association, by Mr. Everett W. Burdett. The first one, No. 131, is "An Act to authorize the issue by gas and electric companies of capital stock without nominal or par value." Professor Ripley, one of the best writers on corporation administration, has said that the most dangerous method in the matter of issuing stocks is to issue them at less than par value; and when these people try to pass this bill with a preamble which means that the moment the bill passes the House and Senate and is signed by the Governor, it is operative, thereby doing away with the opportunity to invoke the referendum, there is something rotten about it—that, plus the fact that these bills are the creatures of Burdett, Parkhurst and Ives. Of course, Winchester is probably a place where the majority of the people own Edison stock and they will keep sending back Parkhurst and keep doing what Ives wants them to do and what Burdett wants them to do; or if they cannot get Parkhurst back they will call on Kidder, Peabody and Lee, Higginson, and they with their war chests will take care of the rest. One section of Senate No. 131 is interesting. The bill tells how the stock may be issued, and the last paragraph of section I is very interesting.

"Gas or electric companies hereafter organized or incorporated may issue their original stock without nominal or par value,"—listen!—"and the issue thereof shall not require the approval or authorization of said department," referring to the Public Utilities Department. Cunning! I guess there are those in that department who would let them go easily, but they don't even want to take a chance with the Public Utilities Commission; and when the Edison company and the lighting interests are afraid to take a chance with the Public Utilities Commission, they must have a pretty rank proposition to present. There are many other sections here that might be examined. Section 10 says, for instance:

"If any provision of this act shall be adjudged unconstitutional such judgment shall not affect, impair or invalidate any other provisions of this act."

Talk about cunning in framing legislation! Oh, if you do anything, even commit murder, and retain Everett W. Burdett, he will get you out. Senate No. 132 accompanies the petition of the Massachusetts Electric and Gas Association for legislation relative to the issue of capital stock by gas and electric companies. It is the same general proposition, and the emergency preamble is also attached to that, so that the public will not have an opportunity to pass upon it. Senate No. 132 provides for the issue of capital stock at less than par value, and Senate No. 133 is an act relative to the issue of bonds by gas and electric companies. So they have covered the whole situation. The bills are born in corruption, conceived in the minds of a few, who cry "Bolsheviks" to us who oppose their attempts to rob the public. Gentlemen, these bills are going to be defeated by the House of Representatives, all of them—314, 131, 132 and 133. These men do not dare to use their usual argument. They do not dare to tap the war chest. When we started this movement, the boys on Beacon Hill said, "You are going to make business for us." I don't mean to say that they are all off-color there, but that was the way some of them felt. They said, "That means good business for us, Jerry." But I have made a mess of it, now. These men don't dare to do business with their war chest, and I predict that the House of Representatives will not dare pass these bills, because any members of the House of Representatives who vote for No. 314, or for Nos. 131, 132 and 133, will be relegated to private life one year and eight months hence, because the effect of this legislation will be felt then, and when the public know those who have sold them out—and that is all it means—those who have sold out their honor, their reputation and their public careers in the future for a mess of pottage that will not last over night, they will see that they are no longer kept as public servants. The result will be that those who take the places of those who have been relegated to private life will go to the Legislature and vote right on momentous questions that pertain to the public good. In order not to attempt to do something hurriedly, I am willing that the order should be referred to the Executive Committee, if that is the wish of any member here; but if no member desires such reference, I respectfully move a suspension of the rule that it may go on its passage now. I trust that any member who may be absent will be given an opportunity later either to be recorded or to state his position on the matter. I don't want to take any advantage of an absent member.

The rule was suspended, and the preambles, resolve and order were passed, Coun. Watson calling for the yeas and nays. Yeas, 8; nays, none.

REQUEST THAT ONLY CITIZENS BE EMPLOYED IN PUBLIC WORKS.

Coun. DONOGHUE offered an order, That his Honor the Mayor request all department heads to instruct all inspectors and other supervisory officials employed by the city and assigned to jobs which have been let out by contract to report to said department head all instances where any other than citizens are employed, and that they see to it that in so far as possible none but citizens be employed.

Coun. DONOGHUE. In offering this order, Mr. President, I want to say that last week, at a budget hearing, when the Commissioner of Public Works was present, he stated that he would be glad to comply with a request similar to that which I have presented here today. I feel that if he, as head of the Public Works Department, and other department heads, will comply with this request and will see that none but citizens are employed on jobs that are let out by contracts—work on which the Public Works alone expends three or four million a year—that we will have accomplished something for the citizens of Boston in relieving the unemployment situation.

The order was referred to the Executive Committee.

ROPING STREETS FOR ROAD RACE.

Coun. DONOGHUE offered an order, That the City Messenger be hereby authorized to rope off the streets in the vicinity of Union Park street and Harrison avenue on Saturday, April 9, 1921, for the road race held by the Cathedral Young Men's Catholic Association, the expense to be charged to the appropriation for City Council, Flags, Ropes and Stakes.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

RESPECT TO MEMORY OF CARDINAL GIBBONS.

Coun. DONOGHUE offered an order, That the Boston City Council rise and remain standing for one minute in silence, to record their sense of the great loss that has befallen the nation in the death of His Eminence Cardinal Gibbons, who for many years has been so potent a force in everything that has made for a nobler, juster and purer life, and whose great qualities as a churchman, American citizen and patriot, will continue to serve as an inspiration for generations to come.

The order was passed by a unanimous rising vote, and the members stood silent for a minute.

BALLOT FOR PRESIDENT.

On motion of Coun. WATSON, the Council voted to proceed to a ballot for president for the year, with the following result:

For David J. Brickley—Coun. Brickley, McLaughlin, and Moriarty, 3.

For Daniel W. Lane—Coun. Collins and Hagan, 2.

For James A. Watson—Coun. Donoghue, Ford and Watson, 3.

And there was no choice.

RECESS.

On motion of Coun. McLAUGHLIN, the Council voted to take a recess at 3.15 p.m., subject to the call of the Chair. The members reassembled in the Council Chamber at 4.30 p.m. and were called to order by President Hagan.

EXECUTIVE.

Coun. WATSON, for the Executive Committee, submitted the following:

(1) Report recommending that permits be granted on the following petitions (referred today):

Ruth M. McShane, for a permit for children to appear at the South Boston Municipal Building on June 3, 1921.

Pere Marquette Council No. 271, K. of C., for a permit for children to appear at St. Augustine's Hall, May 4, 1921.

Mary Swan, for a permit for children to appear at South Boston Municipal Hall on May 20, 1921.

Reports accepted; permits granted on the usual conditions.

(2) Report on the order (referred today), that the Mayor request all department heads to instruct all inspectors and other supervisory officials assigned to contract jobs to report to their department heads all instances where any other than citizens are employed, and that they see to it that in so far as possible none but citizens be employed—that the same ought to pass, Chairman Watson stating that the report was unanimous.

Report accepted; said order passed.

(3) Report on the orders (referred today), that $575 be allowed and paid the widow of James E. McDonough of the Public Buildings Department, and that the act authorizing said payment (Chapter 135 of the Acts of 1921) be accepted,—that said orders be passed.

Reports accepted; said orders passed.

(4) Report on the order (referred today), asking the chairman of the Park and Recreation Department to send to the City Council an estimate for the cost of a site and building for a gymnasium in South Boston—that the same be passed.

Report accepted; said order passed.

(5) Report on orders (referred March 21), to pay to Thomas F. Good $4,000 for injuries received by him while assisting a police officer in the performance of his duty, said sum to be charged to the Reserve Fund, and accepting the act of the Legislature (Chapter 129 of the Acts of 1921), authorizing said payment—that said orders be passed.

Report accepted; said orders passed.

(6) Report on order (referred today), authorizing the Treasurer to raise not exceeding $14,000,000 by loan in anticipation of current revenue to temporarily provide money to meet the appropriations for the financial year—that the same ought to pass.

Report accepted; said order read once and passed, yeas 8, nays none.

Assigned for fourteen days for final action.

ACTION ON EXECUTIVE APPOINTMENTS.

President HAGAN called up, under unfinished business, the following, viz.:

Action on appointments submitted by the Mayor March 14, 1921, viz.:

(1) Arthur George Grant, to be a Constable.

(2) James J. O'Brien, to be a Constable.

(3) Georgia L. Oakes, to be a Constable.

Action on appointments submitted by the Mayor, March 21, 1921, viz.:

(5) Julius Rosenblum, to be a Constable.

(6) Frank Shaw, to be a Constable.

(7) Charles Shargo and Walter J. Macauley, to be Weighers of Coal.

(8) Michael J. Esmond and William G. Ball, to be Weighers of Coal and Measurers of Wood and Bark.

The question came on confirmation.

Coun. WATSON, Mr. President, I ask that the vote on No. 1 and 3 be taken separately. I desire to say that I cannot vote in favor of a constable who is a detective.

The Council voted to pass first on the question of confirmation on Nos. 2, 5, 6, 7 and 8. Committee, Coun. Ford and Watson. Whole number of votes 8, yes 8, no none, and the appointments were confirmed. The question then came on confirmation of No. 1.

Same committee. Whole number of votes 8; yes, 3 no 5, and confirmation was refused.

The question then came on confirmation of No. 3. Same committee. Whole number of votes 7; yes 3, no 4, and confirmation was refused.

GENERAL RECONSIDERATION.

On motion of Coun. FORD general reconsideration of all action taken today was refused.

Adjourned at 4.45 p.m., on motion of Coun. MORIARTY, to meet on Tuesday, March 29, at 2 p.m.

Tuesday, March 29, 1921.

Special meeting of the City Council in the Council Chamber, City Hall, at 2 P.M., to give a hearing on the question of whether William J. Corcoran, a veteran, shall be removed from his position as ambulance driver in the Hospital Department, in consequence of charges against him.

President HAGAN presided, absent, Councilors Ford and McLaughlin.

Corporation Counsel Arthur D. Hill was present to advise the Council on points of law.

For the Hospital Department, Trustee Thomas A. Forsyth and Superintendent John J. Dowling were present, accompanied by Joseph A. Campbell, Esq., of the Boston Law Department as counsel for the Trustees.

William J. Corcoran, the ambulance driver, was also present, being represented by Herbert A. Kenny, Esq., as counsel.

The notice to the Trustees of the Boston City Hospital was as follows:

Office of the City Clerk,
March 23, 1921.

Trustees of the Boston City Hospital,

Gentlemen,—You are hereby notified that the City Council will hold a hearing in the City Chamber, City Hall, on Tuesday, March 29, 1921, at 2 o'clock P.M. to determine whether or not William J. Corcoran shall be removed from his position as ambulance driver in the Hospital Department, in consequence of the charges contained in your vote of February 14, 1921.

Yours very truly,

JAMES DONOVAN, City Clerk.

The vote of the Hospital Trustees was read, as follows:

Voted, That in the judgment of this board William J. Corcoran, now employed as an ambulance driver in this department, should be removed for the following reasons:

First, use of intoxicating liquors and intoxication on or about the following dates: June 16, 1920; July 7, 1920; July 14, 1920; September 26, 1920, and on divers other dates.

Second, carelessness or inefficiency in the operation of his machine and injury to city property, April 28, 1920; May 5, 1920.

Third, the good of the service, and that the City Council be respectfully requested to institute necessary proceedings for such removal pursuant to the provisions of General Laws, ch. 31, sec. 26.

John J. Connorton, foreman of the Hospital Ambulance station, and in charge of the City of Boston ambulances, testified in regard to the conduct of Mr. Corcoran, stating that he had not noticed any evidence of drinking on Mr. Corcoran until he had been employed for about six months, and that then for the next nine months, up to September, 1920, about once each week he had noticed the smell of liquor on his breath, and that at times he seemed disagreeable and surly. But he had not known of cases where he had run the ambulance improperly as a result. He had not complained when he might otherwise have done so, because Mr. Corcoran was a service man. He started to testify about what had happened when Mr. Corcoran was not on duty, a question which was ruled to be admissible by Corporation Counsel Hill, but which was objected to by Coun. Watson and was not allowed to be gone into by the Council.

Other witnesses were James H. Buxton, night supervisor at the South Department of the hospital; Superintendent John J. Dowling, Daniel R. Higgins, an employee and Charles Daly, an ambulance driver at the institution. They had not noticed anything that had interfered with Mr. Corcoran's performance of his duties during business hours.

Mr. Kenny asked if, under the circumstances, the Council felt that he was called upon, as representing Mr. Corcoran, to meet the case that had been presented against him, and after a conference Mr. Hill said:

"Under the rulings made by the Council, the evidence as against the veteran is so slight that I have advised them, as a matter of law, that they would be warranted, if they saw fit in their discretion, to decide in his favor without hearing any evidence on his behalf."

President HAGAN. The Council has so voted and decided the question, and I will now declare the hearing closed.

This closed the hearing, and the Council adjourned to Monday, April 4, at 2 P.M.

MAYOR'S OFFICE.

SENATE BILL 314 (TO EQUALIZE THE CASH AND SHARE CAPITAL OF CERTAIN GAS AND ELECTRIC COMPANIES.)

March 26, 1921.

In the Boston evening papers of March 24, Senator Lewis Parkhurst publishes a reply to my circular letter of March 22 with relation to Senate Bill 314, entitled, "Bill to Equalize the Cash and Share Capital of Certain Gas and Electric Companies." In this reply Senator Parkhurst accuses me and the Corporation Counsel of "gross injustice" to the Power and Lighting Committee. He states that one of the members was delegated to go to the offices of the Public Utilities Commission and that the report of that member was given careful consideration before action was taken on the bill. He states further that:

"After listening for hours to the arguments of representatives of the gas and electric light companies and the counter-arguments of the Public Utilities Commission, we suggested to them that instead of continuing in this fashion they retire, get together, thresh out their differences, and agree, or agree to disagree on these various bills in which they were interested, and report their findings to us. This they did. As a result they agreed on three bills, all of which we have reported, and the fourth, the last, we expect to receive back from them today."

The paragraph above quoted gives the impression that Senate Bill 314 was agreed to by the Public Utilities Commission and it was evidently so understood by the press. The Boston Evening Transcript, for example, printed as one of its headlines, "Bill Was Agreed to by Utilities Commission."

It is not the fact that Senate Bill 314 was agreed to by the Utilities Commission. It is not even the fact that a majority of the Commission have ever expressed approval of that bill. So far as I can get information, not a single member of the Commission has ever stated either publicly or privately, that he approves that bill. The four bills to which the Public Utilities Commission did agree were:

House No. 169, relative to the Filing of Prices of Gas, Electricity and Water.

House No. 171, relative to Provisions for Depreciation by Certain Companies.

House No. 172, relative to the Issue of Coupon Notes by Certain Companies.

House No. 173, relative to the Disposition of Unsubscribed-for Shares of Certain Companies.

These four bills were actually drawn and filed by the Public Utilities Commission and certain modifications of them incorporated in later bills were approved by the Public Utilities Commission. Neither Senate 314 nor Senate 130 which was the form originally reported by the Power and Lighting Committee were ever approved by the Public Utilities Commission officially or unofficially. Neither the Public Utilities Commission nor any of its members ever appeared or were asked to appear before the Committee on Power and Lighting on either Senate Bill 314 or Senate Bill 130 and neither the Public Utilities Commission nor any of its members ever made any agreement, informal or otherwise, with representatives of gas and electric companies or ever took part in any discussion of either of these two bills before the Power and Lighting Committee.

Senator Parkhurst's statement in no way justifies the course followed by the Power and Lighting Committee as to this bill. Visits by individual members of a legislative committee to the office of a public commission and discussion by such individual members with individual members of that commission are not equivalent to the official appearance of that commission before the legislative committee as a whole. In a matter so important as a reversal of the policy of the Commonwealth toward stock issues which has prevailed without a break for over a generation, the public are entitled to a clear, deliberate and public expression of the judgment of the Public Utilities Commission. The existence of that Commission enables a legislative committee before reporting a law to obtain the judgment of a disinterested body of experts and to obtain it also in a manner which allows the freest and fullest public discussion with all its attendant advantages. For a committee charged, as was the Power and Lighting Committee, with the preparation of important legislation to take no steps to so obtain such judgment, is a gross disregard of its duty.

It should be also noted that Senator Parkhurst's statement does not contain any argument to justify the insertion of the emergency clause in the bill, the effect of which is to deprive its opponents of the right to have it passed on by a referendum before it goes into effect.

MAYOR'S OFFICE.

SAFE ROADS WEEK.

Mayor Andrew J. Peters today gave out the following statement relative to the observance of next week as Safe Roads Week in Massachusetts:

"It has been brought to my attention that the Safe Roads Federation of Massachusetts, which represents the twenty-five leading organizations of the state, has issued a request for the observance of next week as Safe Roads Week, in an intensive effort to prevent a recurrence of the 1,925 motor vehicle casualties that were recorded in the state in April of last year.

"Inasmuch as the motor traffic in Boston is equal to that of all the other large cities of the state combined, and our highway problems are greater here than elsewhere in Massachusetts, I earnestly urge that the operators of motor vehicles cooperate with pedestrians, and especially children, in a widespread effort not only to observe traffic rules to the letter, but to eliminate those contributory causes to accidents that come under the head of simple carelessness.

"Public and private schools should give their immediate attention to this problem since the death and injury of children on the highways during the past few months has gone beyond any previous total in our experience as a city.

"Spring beckons children to play in our busy streets. We must teach them to go instead to our recreation areas."

BOSTON SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

A regular meeting of the School Committee of the City of Boston will be held in the School Committee Building, Mason street, on Monday, April 4, 1921, at 6 o'clock P.M.

THORNTON D. APOLLONIO,
Secretary.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

CONTRACT FOR WATERING AND FLUSHING STREETS.

March 29, 1921.

To the Mayor of Boston:

On March 16, current, bids were received for furnishing combination motor street sprinkling and flushing trucks for watering and flushing the streets, and on March 22, you granted permission to award this contract to W. W. Somers, the lowest bidder, at $22 per day. Somers now writes that he made an error in his bid by writing $22 instead of $32 per day, and he declines to sign the contract. I therefore recommend that Somers' check for $1,000 be forfeited to the city and the contract awarded to B. E. Grant Company, the second lowest bidder, at $24.50 per day. As the third lowest bidder was $7.50 per day higher than the second, undoubtedly a readvertisement would only increase the price.

Last year's price for these machines was $32 per day.

Yours respectfully,
T. F. SULLIVAN,
Commissioner of Public Works.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

The Commissioner of Public Works states that it is his intention:

To construct a surface drain of 18-inch and 24-inch earthen pipe and 2 catch basins in Melton road between Wallingford road and Colonial road in the Brighton district at an estimated cost of $7,000.

To construct 4 manholes and 5 catch basins in various streets in the East Boston, West Roxbury and Brighton districts at an estimated cost of $2,448.

MARKET DEPARTMENT.

March 31, the Mayor approved the transfer of lease of Room 1, East Rotunda in Quincy Market of the Faneuil Hall Market, from Declan D. Corcoran to Daniel Cash. The rate of rental is $225 per year, and the lease expires October 1, 1929.

PARK DEPARTMENT.

REFRESHMENT PRIVILEGES.—REFECTORY BUILDING, FRANKLIN PARK.

March 28, 1921.

HON. ANDREW J. PETERS,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR SIR,—At a meeting of the Board held Tuesday, March 22, 1921, it was voted, subject to your approval, that the Women's Educational and Industrial Union be granted the concession to serve refreshments, etc., at the Refectory Building in Franklin Park, for a term of six months, from May 1 to November 1, 1921, without compensation, for the reason that the Board believes that the public will be better served than they would be under the former method of advertising and letting to the highest bidder.

Very respectfully yours,
JAMES B. SHEA,
Chairman.

HOSPITAL DEPARTMENT.

PERMISSION TO TRAVEL.

March 28, 1921.

HON. ANDREW J. PETERS,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR SIR,—In order to avoid mistakes in constructing the new clinical building and remodelling the out-patient building, the Trustees respectfully request permission to send Dr. Dowling, the Superintendent, to Buffalo and New York City, to be gone three or four days, that he may inspect some of the newer out-patient and laboratory buildings.

Yours respectfully,
THOMAS A. FORSYTH,
President pro tem., Board of Trustees.

REPORT OF RENT AND HOUSING COMMITTEE.

March 26, 1921.

HON. ANDREW J. PETERS,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR SIR,—I have the honor to report that the Rent and Housing Committee, appointed by you on March 26, 1920, has considered during the first year of its activities, a total of 8,222 cases. These cases are somewhat generally classified as follows:

Rent increases found to be unreasonable and adjusted	1,357
Complaints heard, agreement with parties to adjust.....	541
Disposed of by tenant.....	25
Found proposed rent to be not unreasonable.....	317
Extension obtained on vacate notice	895
Extension impossible to obtain on vacate notice	84
Vacate notice found to be illegal.....	126
Vacate notice cancelled.....	96
Court notice withdrawn.....	24
Complaints considered and held at request of tenant.....	304
Court action brought prior to receipt of complaint.....	107
Referred to Board of Health.....	161
Referred to Building Department.....	5
Referred to Other Communities	83
Referred to Fire Department.....	19
Referred to State Commission.....	3
Referred to Legal Aid Society.....	6
Referred to Police Department.....	15
Referred to Water Department.....	8
Referred to Overseers of the Poor.....	5
Referred to Boiler Inspector.....	1
Complaints of lack of heat.....	233
Miscellaneous.....	108
Information given to tenants and owners as to rights, etc.....	3,699

Total

8,222
The following analysis shows that on complaints related directly to the amount of the rent:

A. The Committee adjusted 60% of such complaints.

B. Prevailed on parties to adjust 25% of such complaints.

C. Found proposed rent to be not unreasonable in 14% of such complaints.

D. Tenant disposed of in 1% of such complaints.

The analysis also shows that of the requests for extension of time beyond that stipulated in vacate notice:

E. Extensions were obtained in 91% of such requests.

F. Extensions were impossible to obtain in 9% of such requests.

The amount expended by the Committee to date is $9,678.64.

Yours very truly,
MALCOLM E. NICHOLS,
Chairman.

FINAL REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON NEW SOURCES OF REVENUE

Boston, March 21, 1921.

HON. ANDREW J. PETERS,

Mayor of the City of Boston.

SIR,—The Committee appointed by your Honor in January, 1920, to "consider new sources of city revenue and possible methods of economy in the administration of the city" organized at once, quarters were assigned to it in the City Hall, and a secretary was provided.

Upon the basis of information derived from letters sent to public officials and civic organizations in all the larger cities in the country a study has been made of what these cities are doing in the way of securing additional revenue by means of license fees, excises, special taxes or otherwise. A large number of ordinances, municipal reports, etc., has been collected and special studies have been made of such matters as business and occupation taxes in American cities, the licensing systems of other cities, and income taxes as sources of local revenue. All of this material is available for future reference. Numerous requests from other cities for information in regard to the tax system of Boston have been answered from the office of the committee. Public hearings have been given, and special conferences have been held with many persons interested in the subject.

Partial reports have been made to your Honor from time to time as follows:

1. A report recommending that the water rate in Boston be increased, and that the water-waste survey be undertaken. These recommendations have been carried out by the city, and are expected to increase the net water revenue by about $350,000 per annum.

2. A report recommending the passage of an ordinance providing for the licensing and taxation of itinerant merchants. This ordinance was passed by the City Council October 18, 1920, and it was estimated by the Chamber of Commerce that if strictly enforced it should bring in about $50,000 in revenue. So far, however, as the committee can ascertain the ordinance has not been utilized.

3. A report favoring the taxation of special taxicab stands. See below, page 251.

4. A report on the fees charged by the Board of Examiners of the Building Department. Favorable action on this report was taken by the Mayor and City Council, and it is expected that the result will be an increase in the revenues of the Board of about $8,000.

5. A report urging that the method of apportioning the annual assessments required for the construction and maintenance of the Metropolitan water system be changed so as to base such assessments entirely upon consumption. This is a reform in the method of apportioning the Metropolitan water assessments which, in the opinion of the committee, is absolutely required if justice is to be done to the City of Boston in these apportionments, and if the consumption of water in the District as a whole is to be kept down to a reasonable amount. This change would have saved the city during the year 1920 about $27,500; but the legislature has been unwilling to make it.

6. A report recommending that an excise of ten per cent be imposed upon the gross sales of intoxicating liquors by druggists operating under sixth class licenses. Nothing has come of this suggestion.

The Committee herewith submits its Final Report.

Your Honor's invitation to serve on this committee contained the following statements.

"The City of Boston, as you are well aware, is in a financial condition of real peril as regards its revenue. The question of providing current revenue to meet the needs of the City is becoming more and more acute.

"The burden on real estate is already heavy and should be diminished rather than increased. The increased cost of all commodities and the requests for increased salaries make an insistent demand upon the Mayor for attention, and I am confronted at the same time with the loss of revenue from liquor licenses and a diminished appropriating power on the part of the city by reason of the provisions of the income tax law.

"It seems to me clear that active steps must be taken to secure additional sources of revenue for the city, and I therefore desire to appoint a committee of citizens to consider and recommend to me what additional sources of revenue in their opinion there may be."

Construed strictly, the functions of the committee were confined by this letter to the suggestion of additional sources of revenue; but your statement contained several assertions of opinions with which the committee, if it recommended the raising of new revenues or the imposition of new taxes, would be assumed to agree. If, on the other hand, the committee believed that no additional revenues or taxes were necessary, its members could not conscientiously make a report which should suggest specific additions of this kind to the income of the city. Understanding that your Honor agreed with this position, the committee, before taking up the question of new revenues or taxes, considered carefully the preliminary but fundamental question whether any addition to the income of the city under the present laws, ordinances and practices was necessary.

Having unanimously reached the conclusion that the necessity for additional revenue was far in excess of any possible economies in administration that could be made effective under existing conditions, and that an increase in the amount now available to the city for the annual current expenditures was an absolute necessity, the committee next proceeded to consider whether this increase should be obtained by raising the ordinary taxes upon real and tangible personal property. And having concluded, again with unanimity, that as stated in your letter "The burden on real estate is already heavy and should be diminished rather than increased", the committee then undertook a consideration of the various new taxes, excises and other revenues which were brought to its attention.

I. THE NECESSITY FOR ADDITIONAL TAXES

Real estate in Boston, taken as a whole, is seriously over-taxed. This class of property pays much more than its fair share of the total burden of taxation. It is now depended upon to furnish two-thirds of the entire income of the city. If the present system of taxation is maintained and increase in expenditures continues to outrun increase in valuations the share demanded of the owners and tenants of real estate will be greater than two-thirds, it may rise to three-fourths, or even more, of the entire municipal revenues. It is necessary to the continued growth of the city's business and to the maintenance of its attractiveness to the owners of homes within its limits, not only to prevent the further increase of the proportion of total revenue which real estate now yields but to decrease substantially that proportion.

How expenditures in normal times have increased in greater proportion than valuations can be seen by comparing the figures for the fifteen years, 1900 to 1914, inclusive. In 1900 the total city valuations were $1,129,175,832 and the tax warrant was $16,928,136; in 1914 the valuations were $1,541,222,300, and the warrant was $27,521,772; the valuations increased 36 per cent while the taxes increased 62 per cent. Comparison between 1914 and 1920 is not of much value because the intervening period was one of abnormally high costs of labor and materials and also because the tax system was changed by eliminating intangible personal property from the valuations as a result of the income tax law of 1916. The income tax law took about $167,000,000 out of the city's valuations, on which its appropriations were based. This diminished the appropriating power of the city, and, although the loss in city revenue from this source was expected to be, and was in fact, made good by the Commonwealth's payment to the city of its share of the income tax collections, the city took another method of maintaining the appropriating power, namely, by increasing the valuations of real estate and tangible personal property. In the three years, 1917 to 1920, the valuations were increased at an average of 35 millions a year, though this was a period of greatly reduced building operations, whereas in the fairly normal years 1911 to 1916 the average was only 36 millions a year. Meanwhile the tax limit was increased to $10.52 for the city and $8.15 for the schools. And with the increase in the valuations and in the tax limits came a tax rate of $24.10 on the thousand.

This is a higher rate than real estate, at such a high valuation as the present, should be asked to pay. Apart altogether from the necessity for increased revenue, the owner or tenant is made to bear too large a part of the public burden, and the committee shares your Honor's belief that a remedy must be provided.

The committee met no serious claim that real estate is not paying too much both absolutely and relatively. But some individuals and associations expressed the belief that economies in administration were possible which would reduce the burden of the taxpayers. The committee believes economies are possible, though it believes their effect would soon be overcome by legitimate demands for new forms of municipal service and by insistence upon a better quality of service than that which is now performed. In other words the relief, if granted, would be only temporary. But the committee does not think that economies on any important scale will, in fact, be accomplished. Such a belief, in view of the existence of the Finance Commission and its numerous investigations covering the entire field of municipal activity, seems only a triumph of hope over experience. The trend of government everywhere and of every kind is toward increase in expenditure for present service and also towards extension of its field of service. Boston alone of all large cities in the country cannot reasonably be expected to rise to the height of reform and self denial which the opponents of change in our taxing system say it can and should ascend. On the contrary, where $1.00 in taxes was levied on each $68 of property valuation in 1900, on each $58 of property valuation in 1914, and on each $41 of property valuation in 1920, as it has been in this city, it is only reasonable to expect further increases in taxation.

Further evidence of the tendency toward increase is found in a comparison of the regular department expenditures for the years 1900 and 1920 shown in the table below.

There is significance in this table for those who contend that reduction in taxes is easy of accomplishment. They would probably say offhand that "other city departments" presented the most inviting field for the practice of economy. Yet the rate of increase in these city departments was practically the same as the county's, was much less than the State's, and was not one-half as much as the schools. The tendency to provide a sufficient number of public employees to do the public work with a reasonable amount of effort, to pay them well, if not liberally, and to extend the field of administration over new activities in response to the demands of a progressive people, accounts for the increases in taxation, and there is no doubt that the same tendency will continue and will hereafter produce further increases in taxation.

	State & Metropolitan District.*	Suffolk County.	Schools.	Other City Depts.

The committee believes its task is a practical one, namely, to provide for a more equitable distribution of the burden of present and future taxation and not to recommend means of reducing taxes which have proved futile in the past. The limit for the schools is fixed for the year 1921 at $9.11 per $1,000 of valuation and for other city departments at $11 per thousand. There is no limit for the county and state tax and the city's debt requirements. These figures show the possibilities with respect to the total tax rate. The committee believes the rate this year will be lower than it was last year, but in the succeeding year the rate may easily become the highest in the city's history. This indicates what a burden real estate and, consequently, the occupants thereof, might have to sustain.

In concluding this part of its report, it should be pointed out that the surplus of $3,817,250.61 which existed on February 1, 1921 does not by any means indicate that the city can get along hereafter with a tax rate reduced by a figure corresponding to the surplus. The city began last year with $3,769,327.65 cash on hand. It finished with $3,817,250.61, an increase of $47,922.96. The surplus on February 1, 1921 was made up of unspent departmental appropriations amounting to $370,808.28 and state and city officials' underestimates of taxes and revenue which amounted to $3,446,442.33. It is apparent that $370,808 of the surplus may represent economies in administration. The rest plainly resulted from mistaken estimates of taxes and revenue which, however, might have resulted the other way and thereby left a deficit instead of a surplus.

II. THE BURDEN UPON REAL ESTATE.

Two-thirds of the total income available for meeting the regular departmental expenditures of the city is now raised by taxes upon real estate. Where real estate is occupied by the owner for what might be called his own consumption, as in the case of persons owning their own homes, this heavy burden falls on the owner alone; but where real estate is occupied commercially, some or all of the burden is surely passed on by the owner to the persons who ultimately make use of the property, either as increased rent or increased prices for goods made or distributed on the property; and a tax on other forms of property productively employed is equally passed on in the shape of interest rates and prices, and paid by the ultimate consumer. Taxing real estate is a convenient way of collecting a tax from the ultimate users of real property.

If more of the public burden could be raised in a direct manner from the consuming public, encouragement would be given to real estate owners to improve their property and to householders to build and own their homes. At the same time the public would be made more conscious of the fact that in the long run it foots the bills for public extravagance and that the consumer pays for the public expenses in proportion to what he consumes. No one can avoid paying out a considerable part of his income for house rent, but many other expenses are well within the individual's control. Some shifting of the tax burden from real estate to other more direct sources, as outlined below, would, therefore, encourage not only public but private economy, and surely in these days we stand in need of both.

The mere fact that the bulk of the city's revenue comes from taxes on real estate is, however, not the strongest reason why the present load is unduly heavy. A more convincing argument against increasing the already excessive burden upon real estate is to be found in the large share of the income from such property which is absorbed by local taxes.

A detailed study of the net earnings of twenty typical business buildings in Boston during the five year period from 1915 to 1920 shows that the average amount which is required each year to pay taxes levied by the city constitutes 39% of the total net income from such property before deducting taxes.* Considering the different properties individually, it has been found that the average proportion of net income absorbed annually by taxes varies from 27 to 52 per cent of the total net income. A further analysis shows, moreover, that the proportion of net income from real estate used to pay local taxes has been gradually increasing. In 1915 the average amount which went to pay taxes on the twenty properties under consideration was 35% of the total net income of said buildings, while in 1920 the average was 39%.

Although it has been impossible to collect similar data for all the larger cities, such information as is available indicates that in general the tax burden upon real estate is heavier in Boston than elsewhere. Real estate men report that in Detroit about 20% of the net earnings of downtown property goes into taxes; in St. Louis it is said that from 15 to 20% of the net income of such property is absorbed by local taxes; while in Chicago, partial returns indicate that, for apartments at least, local taxes require about 25% of the net earnings. In Pittsburgh where the local taxes require from 30 to 35% of the net income, the nearest approach is made to the situation in Boston.

These facts and comparisons indicate in a very striking manner the unfair burden of taxation that is borne by the owners and tenants of real estate in Boston and explain to some extent why the development of the city has been retarded. It is certain that a tax which takes from 27 to 52% of the income of any person, firm or corporation is unjust, uneconomical and a discouragement to those who desire to invest in real estate. Heavy taxes, although not the chief cause, are one of the reasons which stand in the way of the further ownership of homes in the City of Boston. A further increase in taxes upon real estate, which step will be necessary unless new sources are developed, would merely add one more weight—perhaps the last straw—to an already over-loaded real estate tax base. In the opinion of the committee the only solution of the problem lies in the creation of new sources of revenue which will broaden the incidence of local taxes and furnish the necessary relief to the owners of real estate, tenants and consumers, especially the latter two classes, because in the last analysis real estate taxes are passed on to the tenant and to the consuming public, thus affecting rents and the prices of commodities. What is needed is a system of taxes which will spread the burden of government more equitably over all persons having taxable ability.

In making the following recommendations, therefore, the committee has borne in mind two essential principles—first, that the present tax base should be widened so as to relieve real estate and spread the burden of taxation more evenly over the entire community; and second, that those classes of occupations and businesses which make use of public facilities and require special police and fire protection, improved highways or other special services should contribute their share of the expenses necessary for furnishing such services. In carrying out the latter principle, the committee has recommended an increase in a number of licenses and permit fees and the adoption of certain new licenses, the establishment of an excise upon amusements and a reapportionment of a part of the state motor vehicle fees; while a tax upon retail sales has been suggested as the most practicable method of broadening the incidence of taxation and affording relief to real estate.

III. ADDITIONAL REVENUES AND TAXES CONSIDERED.

A. TAXES OR EXCISES UPON PLACES OF AMUSEMENT.

A study of the business and license taxes of American cities shows that it is a general practice to license and regulate theatres, moving picture houses, concerts, operas, circuses, exhibitions and other forms of amusement, including also billiard and pool rooms, bowling alleys, dance halls, skating rinks, shooting galleries, scenic railways, etc.; and a comparison between the taxes or fees charged for these purposes in Boston and other cities indicates that in most cases the charges here are very small as compared with those in force elsewhere.

In Boston the license fee for theatres is a flat charge of $100 per year, as compared with $500 in New York; $150 in St. Louis; $200 to $1,500 in Chicago where the rate varies with the seating capacity and price of admission; $400 to $600 in San Francisco; $60 to $6,000 in Los Angeles; $100 to $300 in Cincinnati. Moving picture houses are licensed in Boston at the rate of $75 per year, as compared with $100 in New York; $100 to $400 in San Francisco; $200 to $1,500 in Chicago; $160 in St. Louis, and so on.

Theatres, moving picture houses, dance halls, etc., in Boston paid approximately $1,000,000 to the Federal Government in the year ending June 30, 1920, under the War Revenue Act of 1918 which imposed an excise of 10% upon admissions.*

*It is impossible to obtain definite figures for the amount of taxes on admission collected by the Federal Government in Boston alone because the city is considered merely as a part of the Massachusetts Internal Revenue District. The total amount of such taxes for the whole of Massachusetts for 1920 was $4,234,000. Assuming that only one-fourth of this amount was collected in Boston, which is believed to be conservative, it is estimated that the proceeds from Boston alone were at least $1,050,000.

These same places for the year 1920 paid only $36,351 to the City of Boston in the form of license fees, or but 3.4% of the amount paid to the Federal Government.

If new revenues are sought, no better field for their extraction can be found than the receipts from establishments of the character here under consideration. The burden of these excises on the ultimate individual citizen would be light and entirely within his control; and, like the retail sales tax recommended below, the collection of them would be easy. The returns made by the proprietors of the establishments to the Federal Government could be used by them in computing the tax due the city.

The Committee recommends that an excise of 5% be levied by the City of Boston upon the gross receipts of places of amusement, including theatres, moving picture houses, concerts, operas, circuses, exhibitions, dance halls, skating rinks, billiard and pool rooms, bowling alleys, shooting galleries, scenic railways, etc. The proposed excises would yield the city about $500,000 a year.

Proposed legislation for carrying this recommendation into effect is contained in Appendix A.

B. MISCELLANEOUS LICENSE FEES.

The fees intended to cover the cost of regulating various callings which require more or less public supervision are much lower in this city than they should be. These fees were fixed many years ago, when the cost of administration, including inspection and regulation, was much less than now. License fees could also be established for various occupations and callings which should be brought under public supervision, and charges could be made for important services or special privileges from which private parties derive a peculiar advantage at the expense of the city.

(a) Increase in Existing Fees.

For the purpose of determining the extent to which an increase in the existing license fees is advisable, a comparison between some of the fees charged in Boston has been made with those in force in other parts of the country. In making this study the following eight cities have been selected as fairly comparable with Boston: New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, St. Louis, Baltimore, San Francisco, Providence and Portland (Oregon). Southern cities have been omitted because the license charges in such places are in the nature of business taxes levied primarily for revenue rather than ordinary license fees imposed for the purpose of defraying inspection and other necessary costs of regulation.

The fees for licenses in Boston are almost without exception lower than in the other cities considered. Of the forty businesses and occupations licensed in Boston, in only two cases are the rates above the maximum charged in the other eight cities, namely, the license fees for circuses and sight-seeing automobiles; while the rates for billiard and pool tables, bowling alleys, elevator operators, common victuallers, storage and sale of explosives, hackney, carriages, peddlers and second-hand dealers, etc., are equal to, or only slightly larger than, the minimum in the other cities. In practically all other cases of important licenses, the fees charged in Boston are much less than those charged elsewhere.

(For comparison of license fees in Boston with those of other cities, see Appendix B.)

The aggregate proceeds from licenses of this sort in Boston are of course relatively small as contrasted with those enjoyed by other cities. In 1919-20, the amount derived in Boston from licenses, other than liquor, was $162,427.25 or only .3% (three tenths of one per cent) of the total receipts from taxes, interest, water income, and departmental revenue. In the other cities mentioned above the proportion varies from .4% to 1.4%.

In view of the above facts and comparisons it would seem that the City of Boston could, with justice, require the payment of larger license fees in a number of instances. The Committee recommends an upward revision of the following license and permit fees:

1. Auctioneers. License fee to be increased from $2 to $5; thus adding $2,700 in revenue.
2. Hackney carriages. License fee to be increased from $1 to $2; thus increasing the revenue by $1,600.
3. Junk collectors. License fee to be increased from $2 to $5; adding $1,900 to the revenue.
4. Manicurists. License fee to be increased from $1 per operator to $5; thus adding about $2,500.
5. Peddlers. License fee to be increased from $5 to $10; thus adding $4,500.
6. Used car dealers. License fee to be increased from $50 to $75; thus adding $3,000.
7. Wagons operated for hire. License fee for wagons operated for hire to be increased from $1 to $2; thus adding $5,000.
8. Common victuallers. License fee to be increased from a flat rate of $5 to rates varying from $5 to $25 as determined by the Licensing Board. This would produce about $8,000 in additional income.* In case an excise upon retail sales is adopted the license fee for common victuallers should not be increased, as the proprietors of such establishments would pay a tax based upon sales.
9. Innholders. License fee to be increased from a flat rate of $5 to charges varying from $25 to $100, as determined by the Licensing Board.* This would produce at least $2,500.
10. Explosives, combustibles and inflammable fluids. It is recommended that permits and licenses for the manufacture, storage, sale and transportation of explosives, combustibles and inflammables such as ammunition, blasting powder, petroleum, gasoline, naphtha, kerosene, fuel oil, paints, varnish and so on be increased from the present flat rate of $1 to a sliding scale of $1 to $300 according to amount; thus producing about $20,000.

Licenses and permits covering explosives and combustibles are issued by the local authorities in Boston subject to regulations prescribed by the State Fire Marshal. (St. 1914, ch. 795. See also Regulations Governing Explosives issued by Fire Prevention Commissioner, now State Fire Marshal.) The amount of the fee to be charged for such licenses and permits is, however, fixed by law at $1 (St. 1904, ch. 370),† and is the same in all cases, whether that of a tailor or watchmaker who keeps a quart of naphtha for industrial purposes, or that of the storage of 25,000,000 gallons of petroleum products in East Boston by a large oil company. The inequality and inadequacy of such a system are self-evident, especially when comparison is made between the meagre fees charged in Boston and the very complete system adopted in New York City. In that city the fees for licenses and permits for the sale and storage of explosives are graduated according to amount and kind and vary from $1 to $300.

The Committee is of the opinion that the issuing of permits or licenses for the storage, sale and transportation of explosives and inflammables in the city of Boston should be centralized under the Fire Commissioner, and that a graduated scale similar to that in force in New York should be adopted. As the existing fee is fixed by statute, it will be necessary to amend the present law in order to establish a graduated scale of charges as recommended herein.

*These recommendations follow those made by the Licensing Board in its report of December 20, 1920.

†See also act of 1908, ch. 502; General Acts of 1916, ch. 162; Special Acts of 1918, ch. 101.

Proposed legislation for this purpose is contained in Appendix C of this report.

11. Garages. It is recommended that the present annual fees for garage permits be revised so that the amount of such fees will be graduated according to the capacity of the garage and the fire risk. In the case of private garages where the number of cars is easily determined the fee should be $1 for each car housed therein, while in the case of public garages some more definite unit rule should be applied in order to facilitate enforcement and to make the charge correspond to the fire hazard that is presented. For this reason it is recommended that the license fee for public garages be fixed at $1 per year for each 250 square feet of floor space with a deduction of ten per cent of the floor space for passageways, areaways, runways, etc.

Such a revision in the existing fees for garages would make the charges commensurate with the fire protection demanded from the city and would produce new revenue estimated at about $25,000 per year.

At the present time any person or firm desiring to construct a garage in Boston must obtain a permit as to the location of the same from the Board of Street Commissioners. The hearing is held by the Street Commissioners before granting the same. No fee is charged, however, for such a permit. In addition to the permit obtained from the Street Commissioners as to location, the owner or operator of any garage must take out a permit for the keeping and storage of gasoline therein, the fee for which is fixed by law at $1 per year regardless of the size of the garage, or the number of cars that are kept therein.* Under the existing practice a private garage housing one or two cars, with no underground filling tank attached thereto is charged exactly the same as a public garage housing from twenty-five to three hundred cars with underground gasoline tanks having a capacity of from 500 to 5,000 gallons of gasoline. A fire in a private structure containing one or two cars would probably be stopped where it originated, while a fire in a garage containing over twenty-five cars might necessitate from two to five alarms of fire.

Legislation for carrying out this recommendation is proposed in Appendix C.

12. Permits for electric wiring. The committee recommends that the Fire Commissioner be authorized to make the following changes (suggested by him) in the schedule of fees hitherto charged by the Wire Division of the Boston Fire Department—

First: That the fees for work permits be increased from 25c to $1 or an increase of 75c. Of this additional amount, 25c would cover the proposed increase in the existing minimum fee, and 50c would cover the charges for turning on current formerly paid by the electrical companies but discontinued in 1918 because of the difficulties in enforcement and the delays involved in collecting the fees.

Second: That the fee for the alteration and relocation of electrical installations be made the same as for new work, instead of a half fee as at present.

Third: That a fee of 75c be established for the inspection of corrected defective work, for which no fee is charged at the present time.

It is estimated that these changes would produce about $10,000 in additional revenues as well as an increase in the efficiency of regulation and inspection by the Wire Division.

At the present time the Wire Division of the Fire Department is providing a number of important services of special benefit to private parties in the way of inspection and regulation, free of charge or at a loss to the city. For example, no charge is made in the case of the inspection of defective work after it has been corrected. Also, since 1918, the Division has found it impossible to collect from the electric companies the established fee of 50c for permits to turn on current upon the completion of a wiring job. Then in the case of permits for the alteration or relocation of electrical wiring, the existing fees are only one-half those for new work, although the expense involved in such inspection is practically just as great as in the case of new work. The Committee is likewise of the opinion that the present minimum of 25c for the installation of wiring for incandescent lamps, electric fixtures, etc., is clearly inadequate in view of the fact that it sometimes costs from 20c to 40c in carfare to perform the inspection called for by a single permit. No legislation is necessary in the matter, as the Fire Commissioner has the power to establish reasonable fees for electrical wiring subject to the approval of the Mayor under Chapter 571 of the Acts of 1910 and Chapter 262 of the Special Acts of 1915.

*The original permit covering the storage of gasoline in garages is obtained from the Street Commissioners; renewals are issued by the Fire Commissioner. For legislation, see Acts of 1904, ch. 370; Acts of 1908, ch. 502; General Acts of 1916, ch. 162; Special Acts of 1918, ch. 101. See also Regulations Concerning Garages issued by the Fire Prevention Commissions (now the Fire Marshal), 1919.

13. Removal of mercantile waste. The Committee recommends that the charge for removing mercantile refuse be increased from 11c to 15c per barrel, and that the public health and welfare may not be endangered, it is recommended that the city authorities take proper steps to secure the strict enforcement of the regulations requiring the removal of mercantile waste. This change in rate would yield about $25,000 per annum.

The present charge is 11c per barrel; but owing to the recent increase in wages and the advance in the price of hired teams the cost of removing each barrel is about 15c, which means that the city is losing 4c per barrel at the present rates. Such services as this, which are for the particular benefit of individual citizens, should be practically self-supporting.

14. Overhanging signs. The Committee recommends an increase in the existing fees for overhanging signs, clocks, awnings, and other devices, according to the following schedule:

Awnings.....	15c per lineal foot, minimum $2.
Clocks, attached to buildings.....	$2 each.
Clocks on sidewalk.....	$5 each.
Marquees.....	15c per square foot, minimum $5.
Illuminated signs.....	20c per square foot, minimum $1.
Non-illuminated signs.....	10c per square foot, minimum $1.

All permits except for signs less than 2 feet long to be renewed annually.

The additional revenue from the proposed schedule would amount to about $5,500.

At the present time permits must be obtained from the Street Commissioners for all overhanging signs, illuminated signs, advertising devices, clocks, marquees, awnings, or other structures projecting more than six inches from a building. In all cases except awnings and small signs under two feet in length, these permits must be renewed annually. The maximum fee for such permits is $1 for each sign as fixed by Chapter 344 of the General Acts of 1917.* Under this restriction it has been practically impossible to graduate the charges according to size, and the owner of a small three-foot sign pays as much as the owner of a huge illuminated sign which may extend the entire width of a large building.

The schedule of fees established by the Street Commissioners in Boston is as follows:—

Illuminated signs.....	$1.00
Two-foot projecting signs, not illuminated.....	.50
Lettering on awnings.....	.50
Other projecting signs, not illuminated.....	.25
Lamps, unlettered.....	.25
Marquees or awnings.....	1.00
Lettering on signs on marquees.....	1.00
Hoisting devices.....	1.00
Clocks.....	1.00
Lettering in sidewalks.....	1.00
Other structures.....	1.00
Signs, flat on building.....	no fee.....
Awnings above the first story, not used for advertising purposes.....	no fee.....

These fees are not only unsystematic, but they are too small as compared with other cities. In New York for example,

*See Part 5, section 9 of this act.

there is a license fee of 10c per square foot for illuminated signs. The city of Baltimore has also worked out a very complete system of fees for street signs. That city has been divided into zones or districts, and the charges vary according to the nature of the district and the size of the sign.

The following tables show the fees charged in Baltimore as compared with those in Boston:—

	BOSTON.
Awnings.....	$1 regardless of size.
Clocks attached to building.....	$1 regardless of size.
Clocks on sidewalk.....	$1 regardless of size.
Marquees.....	$1 regardless of size.
Signs, bracket.....	$0.50 regardless of size.
Signs, electric.....	$1 regardless of size.
	BALTIMORE
Awnings.....	25c per lineal ft., minimum $2.50.
Clocks attached to building.....	10c to $1 per sq. ft., minimum $5.
Clocks on sidewalk.....	$10 each.
Marquees.....	10c to 40c per sq. ft., minimum $10.
Signs, bracket.....	$2.50 each.
Signs, electric.....	10c to $1.50 per sq. ft., minimum $5.

As the present fees are fixed by statute, legislation will be necessary to make the necessary changes. A bill for this purpose is contained in Appendix C of this report.

(b) New License Fees

The Committee also recommends the establishment of the following new license fees:

15. Lodging houses. Buildings used for this purpose are now subject to license, but no fee is required. The Committee endorses the recommendation of the Licensing Board (in its report of December 20, 1920) that a moderate fee of $2 per annum be charged. This would produce about $7,000 per annum.*

16. Vending and weighing machines. The Committee recommends a license fee of $2 per year for each slot machine within the city operated by coins for the vending of candy, chewing gum, and other articles, or for weighing. Upon the payment of the fee for conducting the business of each machine, the Weights and Measures Department should provide a metal tag showing such payment which must be displayed on each machine.

It is believed that these fees would produce from $3,000 to $4,000 per year.

Slot machines are licensed in many of our larger cities, as shown in the following table:

Cincinnati.....	$1 each machine.
Grand Rapids.....	$3 each machine.
Indianapolis.....	$0.25 each machine.
Los Angeles.....	$50 for each person or firm.
Norfolk.....	$5 each machine.
Pittsburgh.....	$1 each machine.
Washington.....	$2 each machine.
	$50 unlimited number.

The legislation necessary to effect this change is indicated in Appendix C.

17. License fees for horse-drawn vehicles. The Committee recommends that the owners or operators of all horse-drawn vehicles not now subject to regulation, be required to take out a license and pay an annual fee of $2 per vehicle in the same manner as required for wagons and carriages operated for hire.

The revenue from these fees is not estimated, as no figures are available.

At the present time horse-drawn wagons, hackney carriages, and cabs, operated for hire, are licensed and subject to an annual fee of $1. Horse-drawn pleasure carriages, however, and wagons used solely in the conduct of a person's private business, such as grocery wagons, coal wagons, ice wagons, and so forth, pay no fee, although the wear and tear upon the highways is as great as it is from the use to which the streets are put in the conduct of the common carrier business by automobiles, taxicabs, trucks and other motor vehicles.†

*A statute has been enacted by the Legislature at its present session (1921) making possible the establishment of a fee of $2 for lodging house licenses. In order to charge such a fee in Boston, however, it will be necessary for the City Council to pass an ordinance on the subject.

†See report of Finance Commission for 1918-19, p. 262.

The Committee is of the opinion that all horse-drawn vehicles should be required to pay their share of the upkeep of the streets. It is also believed that the licensing of such vehicles would be a beneficial regulatory measure, since it would enable the police authorities to identify vehicles which had violated the traffic rules, or caused injury to persons or property. The reports of the Police Commissioner for 1920 show that in that year seven persons were killed and one hundred seventy-seven injured by horse-drawn vehicles.

Legislation for this purpose will be found in Appendix C as a part of the general measure for the revision of the present license fees.

18. Soft drink establishments. The Committee recommends that these establishments be subject to a license and to the payment of a fee of $5, provided a retail sales tax is not adopted, which, of course, would include places of this nature.

Such a requirement would produce at least $20,000 additional revenue.

The reasons for this proposal are set forth in the annual report of the Boston Licensing Board for 1920, as follows:—

"No license is required by the present law for the sale of non-intoxicating beverages unless food also is sold, and as a result numerous places are open for the sale of soft drinks without any license. These soft drinks are of many varieties, and are designed to resemble former ales and beers in appearance and taste.

"Many of the objections to places where liquor was formerly sold apply to these places. For example, the danger of men and women being allowed to mingle without control or regulation by licensing authorities, thus giving opportunity for immoral solicitation, unsanitary conditions, and temptation to sell intoxicating liquor secretly. The Board therefore recommends legislation requiring a license for all places selling soft drinks."

For the requisite legislation see Appendix C.

19. Special taxicab stands. The Committee recommends that an excise of 50 per cent be imposed upon the gross receipts derived from the rental of special hack and taxicab stands.

Because of the lack of information as to the amounts paid by operators of such stands to proprietors of hotels, restaurants and clubs, it is impossible to state definitely the amount of revenue which this excise would produce, but from such data as are available from $15,000 to $20,000 may fairly be expected.

At the present time the Police Commissioner is authorized to issue rules and regulations concerning hack stands, and under this power permission is given to private parties for the operation of special hack and taxicab stands in front of hotels, restaurants, clubs and other places. No fee is charged, however, for the licensing of such stands; neither are they subject to taxation.

It is a well known fact that hack and taxicab companies pay large sums annually to hotels, restaurants and clubs for the privilege of occupying the city's streets while furnishing hacks and taxicabs to the patrons of such places and to transient customers. The Committee is of the opinion that the city should receive its fair share of the revenue derived from the renting of these concessions. Such stands make use of the streets in much the same manner as do stands for the sale of merchandise, which are subject to license fees and regulation by the Street Commissioners. They are also obstructions to traffic, and require a considerable amount of police regulation. A mere license fee is inadequate in this case, because the end desired is not only regulation but also compensation for the privilege of using the city's streets or public property for profit. For this reason it would seem that an excise on gross receipts rather than a license fee would be the most practicable method of obtaining such compensation.

Proposed legislation for carrying this recommendation into effect is included in Appendix A, as a part of the general act for increased revenue of cities and towns.

(c) Summary

The additional revenue to be derived from the miscellaneous sources considered above, including the proposed increase in existing license fees, the establishment of new licenses and fees, and the taxation of special taxicab stands, is estimated at about $160,000 apportioned as follows:

1. Auctioneers.....	$2,700
2. Hackney Carriages.....	1,600
3. Junk Collectors.....	1,900
4. Manicurists.....	2,500
5. Peddlers.....	4,500
6. Used-car Dealers.....	3,000
7. Wagons.....	5,000
8. Common Victuallers.....	8,000
9. Innkeepers.....	2,500
10. Explosives.....	20,000
11. Garages.....	25,000
12. Wire Permits.....	10,000
13. Collection of Mercantile Waste.....	25,000
14. Signs.....	5,500
15. Lodging Houses.....	7,000
16. Vending Machines.....	3,000
17. Horse-drawn Vehicles.....
18. Soft Drink Establishments.....	20,000
19. Special Taxicab Stands.....	15,000

$162,200

In view of the fact that most of the fees for important licenses and permits, such as those for auctioneers, common victuallers, explosives, garages, innkeepers, signs, etc., are fixed by law, and also because the city can license and regulate such occupations and callings only under statutory authority, legislation will be necessary to bring about a revision of the present licensing system. The new legislation could take the form either of an act fixing the new fees, or of an act giving the power to the City of Boston to establish reasonable fees, or of an act giving such power to cities and towns generally. The committee prefers the last alternative, and Appendix C contains the draft of such an act.

C. MOTOR VEHICLE FEES.

The use of automobiles and heavy trucks is generally recognized as one of the principal factors in the wearing out of pavements, and it is largely for the benefit of this traffic that great expenditures are made by the state and by the city for the construction, repair and maintenance of their respective series of highways.

In accordance with the usual practice in other states, motor vehicles in Massachusetts are registered by the Commonwealth, and the net proceeds derived from fees are expended entirely on the state highways. In 1920 the receipts from the registration of motor vehicles of all classes in Massachusetts were $3,123,851.* This in the opinion of the Committee, is not enough.

To spend all the revenue from motor vehicles upon state highways outside Boston is moreover unjust to this city, because of the very intensive use that is made of its city streets by motor vehicles. Boston is required to serve as a vast switching yard and terminal for the motor traffic, and to maintain such facilities entirely at its own expense. The city profits largely from the network of state highways connecting the city with other parts of the Commonwealth and with other states so that the greater part of the revenue from motor vehicle fees may properly be expended on through routes. On the other hand it seems unjust to load Boston with the entire expense of maintaining an expensive terminal system, and at the same time apply all the fees collected from motor vehicles owned within the city to highways outside its limits.

Cities in other states such as Chicago,

*This includes the receipts from the registry of automobiles, motorcycles and from manufacturers' and dealers' licenses; but does not include receipts from operators' licenses, examinations, etc.

Indianapolis, Richmond, Virginia, and San Francisco, have solved the problem of making motor vehicles pay their share of the upkeep of the local streets by a city "wheel tax" or special license tax upon all vehicles owned and operated within the city. Chicago, for example, derives over $1,250,000 per year from this source. Such a system would not be practicable in Boston because of the close proximity of a large number of other cities and towns. To confine the license tax merely to vehicles owned in Boston would not meet the situation, because of the considerable number of trucks and other conveyances owned outside of Boston but operated regularly within the city; and to extend the local license to all vehicles operated within the city, and to allow each city and town to levy a local wheel tax, would result in confusion and double taxation within the Metropolitan district.

It would seem that part of the state fees should be apportioned to Boston and the other cities and towns. Such a plan is not without precedent. In Maryland 20% of the total motor vehicle fees collected by the state is assigned to the city of Baltimore. In Alabama 40% of the proceeds from the registration of motor vehicles collected within each city or town is returned by the state to said city or town. In West Virginia there is a special privilege tax levied by the state on trucks, commercial automobiles and motor vehicles operated for hire which is in addition to the ordinary registration fees, and the proceeds of this tax are distributed to the various municipalities on a definite basis worked out by the State Road Commission.

The argument in favor of distributing a portion of the motor vehicle fees to Boston is well set forth in the report of the Special Committee on New Sources of Revenue of the Boston Chamber of Commerce under date of July 1, 1920, as follows:

"Automobiles and heavy trucks cause a heavy expense for construction and maintenance of streets. They may fairly be called upon to contribute more heavily than they do to meeting this special expense. A municipal tax or excise levied upon such vehicles owned in the city would not produce the fairest result because the benefit of the streets is enjoyed to a large extent by those living outside the city. A city license for all automobiles and motor trucks using the streets would better accomplish the desired result. It is, however, open to question whether this difficulty is not a state-wide one, and therefore one which could best be met by an increase in State registration fees, with a distribution of the added fees back to the cities and towns, including Boston in its just proportion."*

The Boston Finance Commission, in its report of January 10, 1919, made a similar recommendation:

"The Finance Commission has considered the matter of the city's share of taxes on motor vehicles, and feels as stated to you in its letter of December 6, 1918, that the city authorities should appeal to the Legislature for a share of these fees. The Commission again recommends that the city continue to ask for a division of these fees, so as to pay in part for the maintenance of the roads of the park system."

Bills providing for a change in the apportionment of motor vehicle fees have been introduced at practically every session of the Legislature since 1912. There is, evidently, a considerable public sentiment in favor of legislation which would give the City of Boston a share in the state motor vehicle fees. At the present session of the Legislature the State Department of Public Works is promoting a bill which will increase for 1922 the aggregate taxes on motor vehicles from about $4,750,000, the estimate for the current year to $7,500,000 or $8,000,000.

The Committee favors the passage of this bill with a provision that at least 25% of the amount collected be distributed to the cities and towns in proportion to their respective share in the general state tax. In order to safeguard the fund, and to make sure that it is expended in street repairs and not diverted to other uses, the law should limit the use of this 25% to the construction and repair of streets and should make the expenditure of it subject to the direction of the State Department of Public Works.

Assuming that with the fees increased as proposed the state would secure a revenue from motor vehicles of $8,000,000, the minimum amount to be distributed to the cities and towns severally would be $2,000,000, and as Boston pays about 30% of the state tax this city would receive $600,000, for the upkeep of such of its streets as are principally affected by the motor traffic. All that the city now spends for the upkeep of its streets is about $1,000,000 per annum, a totally inadequate amount. The addition of the $600,000 to be secured from the proposed law increasing motor vehicle fees would enable the city to do 50% more work upon the surface of its streets, although the total would still be inadequate.

Legislation for carrying this into effect is contained in Appendix D. Since through streets in all cities and towns of the Commonwealth are in bad shape, the proposed law has been so drafted as to make possible its adoption by any community.

D. RETAIL SALES TAX.

The Committee suggests that careful consideration be given to the advisability of levying an excise of one per cent upon sales of all goods, wares and merchandise at retail as a just and practicable method of obtaining a large amount of new municipal revenue and thus affording an alternative to the placing of additional burdens upon real estate. Persons, firms and corporations whose sales at retail amount to less than $1,000 per annum, should, in the Committee's opinion, be exempted from this excise in order that the city may be saved the trouble and expense of collecting a large number of small assessments. From such computations as can be made from the estimates of the United States Department of the Treasury, the National Retail Dry Goods Association, and the Business Men's National Tax Association, together with such data as has been obtained by local inquiry, the Committee is of the opinion that an excise of one per cent upon all retail sales in Boston (allowing for the exemption above noted) would produce at least three million dollars per year and possibly as much as five million dollars, which would be the equivalent of from $1.90 to $3.18 in the present municipal tax rate.

The Precedents.

There are several precedents for an excise of this sort. The National Government, by the provisions of the War Revenue Act of 1918, has imposed excises upon retail sales of certain articles such as soft drinks, jewelry and wearing apparel in excess of a certain price.* The legislature of the Philippine Islands, four years ago, established a sales tax of one per cent which is said by competent authorities to be working satisfactorily.† Various cities of the United States, particularly in the South and West, impose business and license taxes upon retailers based roughly upon the amount of their sales. In Los Angeles, for example, the license tax upon retail merchants varies from $12 to $7,500 per year according to their gross annual volume of business. San Francisco imposes a somewhat similar license tax. In St. Louis there is an excise of $1 upon every $1,000 of sales by merchants and manufacturers. Many Southern cities impose a business tax which is graduated according to the amount of gross receipts, or the number of employees, or on some other basis. The feasibility of levying a sales tax has also been under consideration by Congress during the past year as a substitute for the excess profits tax and for the present surtaxes on incomes.

*War Revenue Act of 1918, sections 904a, 905, and 907a.

†Laws of the Fourth Philippine Legislature, 1916-1917, vol. 2, Chap. 401, pp. 365 ff.

A Tax on Retail Sales, Not on Turnovers.

It should be explained, however, that the excise upon retail sales now suggested by this Committee is a quite different thing from the gross sales tax or turnover tax which has been proposed as a new source of Federal revenue. A gross sales or turnover tax would fall upon all sales, whether made by producer, wholesaler, jobber or retailer. An excise on retail sales would be imposed only upon sales of goods, wares and merchandise for ultimate consumption and use. The gross sales or turnover tax is open to the palpable objection that it would lead to a three-fold or four-fold imposition upon merchandise before reaching the consumer; the excise upon retail sales is not open to this objection.

Advantages of a Retail Sales Tax.

The advantages of an excise of 1% upon retail sales may be briefly set forth as follows:

1. It would produce a substantial amount of revenue, estimated at from three to five million dollars per annum, thus enabling the city to relieve real estate from any increase in the present tax rate. As the Committee has already indicated, the owners of real estate in Boston now supply more than two-thirds of the city's entire revenue. The owners of real estate and tangible personal property together constitute three-fourths of the total. Yet these owners formed in 1919 less than 12% of the city's total population. It is true, no doubt, that these taxes, or a large portion of them, are shifted to the general public in the form of rents and prices, but the process is a roundabout one and there is reason to believe that it gives occasion for a considerable pyramiding of the burden on its way to the public.

2. It would effect a more widespread and equitable distribution of our present municipal tax levy. What a citizen spends in the course of the year is a measurably good indication of his ability to contribute to the cost of municipal government. By broadening the area of taxation, a large proportion of the citizens would be brought into contact with the administration of its affairs, and a direct interest in its efficient government would be stimulated among the whole electorate.

3. It would afford a much more elastic source of public income than the present tax upon real estate and tangible personal property. The value of property does not nowadays keep pace with the needs of a city for increased revenue. The volume of retail business is a more rapidly expanding factor. The essential expenditures of a city for schools, for public improvements and for the maintenance of the more important municipal departments, have no direct relation to the value of private property within the municipal limits, but depend upon the size, the needs and the activities of its population. All the physical activities of life are reflected to a certain degree in the volume of a country's business. The spending power of the people is the real test of what they can afford in the way of public service. For this reason it may fairly be argued that taxation should be related, in part at least, to spending-power rather than to property valuation, which is what the excise on retail sales aims to do. Municipal expenditures throughout the country have been outrunning the growth in taxable property valuations, but they have probably not increased more rapidly than the growth of retail business.

4. It would be easy and inexpensive to levy and to collect, requiring no complicated returns and no special system of mercantile accounting. The amount of gross sales for a given period is readily ascertainable from the books of any retail business and arrangements could be made for the payment of the excise quarterly or even oftener. No elaborate machinery would be needed by the city for the purpose of auditing these returns. The inconvenience and expense of such plan, both to the city and to the taxpayer, would be very much less than those now involved in the administration of the Federal and State income tax systems.

Objections to a Retail Sales Tax.

On the other hand the proposal to impose an excise of 1% upon all sales of goods, wares and merchandise at retail is open to some objections and the Committee believes that these should also be briefly stated:

1. An excise on retail sales, it is argued, could not always be shifted to the consumer. A portion of it would remain as a burden on the retailer. This has been shown by the experience of merchants with the luxury taxes, so-called, levied by the provisions of the Federal War Revenue Act of 1918. It is not doubted that a large portion of the excise would be transferred to the public, but how large the proportion would be is a matter upon which opinions differ.

2. It would be difficult to differentiate between sales at retail and other sales—in other words, difficult to determine whether in any given case the goods, wares and merchandise are for ultimate consumption or not. Practical difficulties of this sort arise, however, in connection with the administration of all tax laws as the workings of the Federal and State income tax laws have shown; but they are rarely insuperable.

3. If levied in Boston alone an excise on retail sales would tend to drive business to other nearby communities. Recognizing the force of this objection the Committee suggests that any such excise should be made optional for state-wide use. As there is an urgent need for new sources of revenue not merely in Boston, but in the other municipalities of the Commonwealth, it is likely that the latter would avail themselves of the opportunity of levying an excise if it were given them.

4. It has been suggested that the additional revenues derived from an excise on sales if freely placed at the disposal of municipal authorities, might be spent for unnecessary purposes or in wasteful ways, thus failing to afford real estate any substantial relief from present or future burdens. This possibility, the Committee believes, could be obviated by limiting the uses to which the additional revenues could be applied, for example, by requiring that the net proceeds of the excise shall be devoted to the payment of interest on the city debt and to the re-payment of principal with the further proviso that any excess above these requirements shall be used only for such purposes as are now authorized to be paid for from loans within the debt limit.

The foregoing are the chief merits and defects of the suggested excise on retail sales as the Committee sees them. The advantages are considerable and while the objections are also important they do not seem to be insurmountable. It is significant that the National Government should now be giving serious attention to a proposal which, if carried through, would impose an excise on all sales of goods, wares and merchandise, whether at retail or otherwise. This would represent a new and drastic invasion of that field of taxation which hitherto has been left open to the states and cities in case they should see fit to utilize it. The municipalities are at the expense of providing all the facilities which retail business requires, the police and fire protection, the improved streets, the system of rapid transportation and so forth. The National Government provides none of these things. If an excise upon retail sales is to be levied it seems only fair that the municipalities and not the National Government should have whatever revenue this form of tax produces. From the present outlook it seems not improbable that our municipalities, if they restrict themselves to taxes on real and tangible personal property, will in time find other practicable source of public revenue exploited for the benefit of the national treasury. For this reason if for no other, the matter of utilizing some form of excise on business is worth the attention of the municipal authorities.

A bill providing for the proposed sales tax is included in Appendix A.

IV. THE TAXATION OF SITE VALUES.

Representatives of the Massachusetts Single Tax League have suggested as a just and practicable method of obtaining additional revenue for the City of Boston the levying of an excise tax upon site values or upon the privilege of owning land. It is also claimed by the proponents of this excise that "a site-value tax is in reality not a tax at all but merely the payment for an exclusive privilege conferred by the state, namely the privilege of owning land".*

The arguments that have been advanced in favor of an excise upon site values are (1) that it would not discourage business nor increase the cost of living; (2) that it would check the practice of holding valuable land unused or inadequately utilized; and (3) that it would enable the city to impose lower taxes on buildings and improvements. It is furthermore claimed that such an excise could not be permanently shifted to the tenant or consumer in the form of higher rents or prices, and it is estimated that an excise of 1% upon site values in Boston would produce additional revenue of from $5,000,000 to $7,000,000 per year.

The committee is of the opinion that an excise upon site values under conditions as they now exist in Boston would in fact be shifted to the tenant and to the consumer in the form of higher rents and prices, all theories to the contrary notwithstanding. As pointed out in an earlier portion of this report, real estate is already carrying more than its full share of the burden of taxation, and the addition of a super-tax upon site values would merely add to realty one more load.

*Brief presented to the Committee on New Sources of Revenue by Mr. John S. Codman, January 31, 1921.

It would increase rents, unsettle realty values and retard the normal development of the city. It may be true that an excise upon vacant sites cannot be shifted to the tenant, because there is no tenant. But so far as developed real property is concerned the Committee can see no essential difference, as a practical matter, between an excise on site value and the taxes on land which the city is already levying. Information from such cities as Vancouver, Edmonton and Saskatoon in Western Canada and from officials in the provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan indicate that their experience with taxes on site values has not been satisfactory and that they are gradually returning to the policy of taxing buildings and improvements as in former years.* The Report of the Assessment and Taxation Commission for the Province of Manitoba in 1919 makes the following statement with regard to the single tax in Western Canada: "The result of the single tax in the west has plainly been most disastrous, and most regrettable is it that the injuries done will take some years to restore to normal the financial conditions of those places having been induced to try the experiment."†

The committee on new sources of revenue is of the opinion that the proposal to levy a special tax upon the privilege of holding land in Boston is but an entering wedge in the direction of the single tax, which tax is unsound in theory and impossible in practice. In our opinion the doctrine of the single tax as applied in practice to urban communities is too narrow and unreliable as a basis of municipal revenue and therefore cannot be recommended as an equitable and just element in any system of raising the funds necessary to meet municipal requirements.

CONCLUSION.

If the recommendations of the Committee as outlined in this report are carried into effect, it is estimated that approximately $5,250,000 will be added to the annual income of the city, as follows:

A. Excises on places of amusement	$500,000
B. Miscellaneous license fees.....	162,200
C. Motor vehicle fees.....	600,000
D. Retail sales tax.....	4,000,000

$5,262,200

This amount, together with the $350,000 additional water income already provided for upon the recommendation of the Committee, would make a total increase in revenue estimated at about $5,600,000 or a sum equivalent to $3.60 in the present tax rate. The results would be a reduction of the tax burden upon real estate and consequently upon tenants, a more equitable distribution of taxes, and the assurance of sufficient revenue to meet future increases in necessary expenditures.

In case Your Honor is of the opinion the time is not opportune for the immediate adoption of a sales tax, it is suggested that steps be taken to procure the enactment of an optional law which would make such a tax available when such a time is reached and would also give publicity to the fact that this is a source of revenue which belongs rightfully to the state and localities and not to the Federal Government. Whatever policy is adopted in regard to a sales tax, the committee urgently recommends that action be taken at once to bring about the adoption of such laws and ordinances as may be necessary to authorize the levying of an excise upon amusements, an increase in miscellaneous license fees and a distribution of a part of the state motor vehicle fees. The acceptance of these recommendations alone would add over a million dollars to the city's revenues.

APPENDIX A.

AN ACT TO AUTHORIZE CITIES AND TOWNS TO RAISE ADDITIONAL REVENUES BY THE IMPOSITION OF CERTAIN EXCISE TAXES.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives in General Court assembled, and by authority of the same, as follows:

Section 1. Cities and towns are hereby authorized to impose and collect excises upon the sales at retail of goods, wares, or merchandise within such cities or towns respectively, and upon the exercise therein of certain callings and occupations hereinafter enumerated, to make reasonable rules and regulations for the filing of returns with respect to such excises and for the collection thereof, and to appropriate money to defray the expenses of making and enforcing such rules and regulations and collecting such excises.

EXCISE UPON GROSS SALES.

Section 2. An excise upon the sales at retail of goods, wares, and merchandise shall be imposed at the rate of 1% of the gross amount thereof. Every individual, partnership, association, or corporation, foreign or domestic, by whom or upon whose behalf such sales are made, shall be liable for such excise to the city or town wherein such sales are made and shall file returns of such sales and make payments to the collector of taxes of such city or town in the manner required by the rules and regulations made as provided in the preceding section. The store, shop, or other place of business of the vendor where the order for goods, wares, or merchandise to be sold at retail is accepted, shall be held to be the place of sale within the meaning of this section regardless of the place of delivery. Any agreement in the form of lease or conditional sale in which it is provided that the title to the goods, wares, or merchandise in a retail transaction shall not pass until full payment therefor is made, shall be deemed to be a sale subject to excise within the meaning of this section.

EXCISE UPON AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Section 3. An excise upon the occupations enumerated in this section shall be

*Mr. Matthews was unable to pass upon this report in its final form, but he concurs in all of the recommendations and authorizes his signature thereto.

Mr. Ratschky approves all the recommendations of the report with the exception of that relating to the sales tax, inasmuch as he believes that a sales tax should be levied by the National government rather than by the states or municipalities.

imposed at the rate of 5% of the gross receipts derived therefrom by every individual, partnership, association, or corporation, foreign or domestic, engaged in any such occupation, within any city or town:

Amusement Enterprises. This shall apply to lectures, concerts, exhibitions, performances, shows, circuses, or other forms of entertainment or amusement for which an admission fee is required; provided however, that whenever within the opinion of the licensing authority of the city or town there is reasonable cause to believe that the person, firm, association, or corporation, or the agents or officers representing them may neglect to pay the excise or attempt to evade payment thereof, such licensing authority may require the payment in advance of a sum estimated by him on the basis of the capacity of the hall or place in question and the price of admission to be equal to the amount of the excise, and if it shall subsequently appear to his satisfaction that the amount so paid is in excess of five per cent of the gross receipts, the excess shall be returned to the party entitled thereto after written demand therefor.

Billiard and Pool Room.

Bowling Alley.

Dance Hall. Including clubs or academies or other places where a charge or fee is required for the privilege of dancing or receiving instruction therein.

Merry-go-round.

Roller Coaster.

EXCISE UPON SPECIAL HACK STANDS.

Section 4. An excise shall be imposed at the rate of fifty per cent upon the gross receipts derived by any individual, partnership, association, or corporation, from the letting of special hack or taxicab stands in or on any public place or way. Any place in or upon any public street, alley, or other public place or way at which one or more vehicles may be permitted to stand while waiting for or soliciting employment, shall be deemed to be a hack or taxicab stand within the meaning of this act.

Section 5. Every individual, partnership, association, or corporation, foreign or domestic, by whom or upon whose behalf such sales are made, and every individual not exclusively an employee, and every partnership, association, or corporation, foreign or domestic, engaged in any of such occupations or callings, shall annually file returns of such sales or such gross receipts and make payment of such excises to the collector of taxes of such city or town in the manner required by rules and regulations made as provided in Section 1. The returns shall be under oath and shall be made on or before the first day of _____ in each year, and shall apply to sales of goods, wares, or merchandise or to gross receipts derived from occupations or callings during the calendar year ending on the preceding thirty-first day of December.

Section 6. An excise imposed under any provision of this act upon the gross receipts of any occupation or calling shall, when the profits thereof are derived from fees or commissions, be based only upon such fees or commissions; and no excise imposed under any provision of this act upon gross receipts shall be held to apply to receipts from sales at retail of goods, wares, or merchandise upon which an excise is imposed under this act.

Section 7. Sales of goods, wares, or merchandise, and gross receipts from occupations or callings enumerated in this act shall, respectively, be exempt from excises authorized herein if the amount derived from such sales or gross receipts by an individual, partnership, association, or corporation, foreign or domestic, does not exceed $1,000 per annum.

Section 8. It is the purpose of this act to authorize the imposition of excises upon such occupations or callings enumerated herein with the same effect as if each such occupation or calling were made subject to such excise by a separate act, and if any excise herein authorized shall be judicially declared to be void on the ground that it is illegal or unconstitutional, such decision shall not be held to affect the excise upon any other occupation or calling which is not the subject of such decision.

Section 9. In the city of Boston the revenue derived from excises authorized by section two of this act shall be applied to the payment of the annual principal, interest, and sinking fund requirements of the public debt issued outside the debt limit, and if there is an excess above such requirements then to the requirements of the debt issued within the debt limit, and the excess, if any, may be appropriated only for objects for which loans are authorized by law within the debt limit.

Section 10. Every individual, partnership, association, or corporation who fails to make a return required by this act or the regulations prescribed under the authority thereof or who makes any false or fraudulent return, and every individual, partnership, association, or corporation who evades or attempts to evade any excise imposed or levied under this act or who fails to collect or truly to account for and pay over any such excise shall be subject to a penalty of double the amount of the excise evaded or not collected or accounted for and paid over, to be recovered by a suit in the name of the collector of the city or town to whom such excises should have been paid.

Section 11. This act shall become effective in a city when accepted by vote of its mayor and council, or by vote of its commission if such city has adopted the commission form of government, and it shall become effective in a town when accepted by the voters of such town at an annual meeting or special meeting called for that purpose.

APPENDIX C.

AN ACT TO AUTHORIZE CITIES AND TOWNS TO ISSUE CERTAIN LICENSES AND TO IMPOSE AND COLLECT REASONABLE LICENSE AND PERMIT FEES.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives in General Court assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:

Section 1. Cities and towns shall have power to fix by ordinance or by-law annual fees as hereinafter provided for the following licenses or permits already authorized by law:

(a) Auctioneers. A license fee of five dollars ($5.00) per year.

(b) Manicurists and Masseurs. A license fee of five dollars ($5.00) per year.

(c) Peddlers. A license fee of ten dollars ($10.00) per year.

(d) Dealers of used automobiles. A license fee of seventy-five dollars ($75.00) per year.

(e) Wagons operated for hire. A license fee of two dollars ($2.00) per year.

(f) Explosives, combustibles and inflammable fluids. License and permit fees for the manufacture, storage, sale or transportation of explosives, combustibles and inflammable fluids shall be fixed according to the amount or volume of such articles at rates of not less than one dollar ($1.00) nor exceeding three hundred dollars ($300.00) per year.

(g) Garages. Permit fees for a private garage shall be fixed at one dollar ($1.00) per year for each car housed therein. For a public garage the fee shall be one dollar per year ($1.00) for each two hundred and fifty (250) square feet of floor space of said garage. Before determining the amount of the fee for any public garage, ten per cent of the square floor space of said garage shall be deducted from the total floor space as allowance for passageways, areaways, and other space not used for the storage of automobiles.

(h) Overhanging signs. Annual permit fees for all overhanging signs, advertising devices, clocks, marquees, awnings or other structures projecting more than six inches from a building to be fixed according to the following schedule:—

APPENDIX D.

AN ACT PROVIDING FOR AN INCREASE IN MOTOR VEHICLE FEES.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives in General Court assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:

Section 1. On and after the first day of July, 1921, the fees for the registration of motorcycles, commercial motor vehicles, automobiles and all other motor vehicles as fixed by section 29 of chapter 534 of the Acts of 1909 as amended by chapter 695 of the Acts of 1914, by chapter 140 of the General Acts of 1916, by chapter 294 of the General Acts of 1919, by chapter 19 of the Acts of 1920 and by chapter 262 of the Acts of 1920, shall be increased by an amount equivalent to of the present fees.

Section 2. The additional proceeds from fees under the provisions of this act shall be paid by the Secretary of the Highway Division of the State Public Works Department or by the person collecting the same into the Treasury of the Commonwealth. The Treasurer and Receiver-General of the Commonwealth shall then pay the said funds into the treasuries of the several cities and towns of the Commonwealth in proportion to their respective portions of the state tax. The additional proceeds and fees received under the provisions of this Act by the several cities and towns shall be expended in the construction, repair or improvement of highways within the limits of the said city or town, respectively. No work shall be done under the provisions of this Act by said cities or towns until the work is first approved by the Highway Division of the Public Works Department of the Commonwealth.

Section 3. This act shall become effective upon its passage.

The Commissioner of Public Works of the City of Boston, office 508 City Hall Annex invites proposals for laying and relaying about 3,650 linear feet of 6, 8, 10 and 12-inch water pipe in Doone avenue and Morton street, Dorchester, Cowing street, Mendelssohn street and Rockland street, West Roxbury, Brackett street and Mechanic Street, Brighton. A bond will be required for doing the work of a surety company approved by the Commissioner in the sum of fifteen hundred (1500) dollars, to secure the due performance of the contract and the full protection of the city. Plans and proposals may be obtained at Room 508, City Hall Annex. Each proposal should be inclosed in an envelope, sealed, marked "Proposals for Laying and Relaying Water Pipes, Doone avenue, etc." and left at Room 508, fifth floor, City Hall Annex, before 12 m., on Monday, April 11, 1921, with a certified check for five hundred (500) dollars, payable to and to become the property of the city if the proposal after acceptance is not carried out. The proposals will then and there be publicly opened and read. Proposals must be made in duplicate, the sealed duplicate without check, to be deposited by the bidder with the City Auditor previous to the time named for opening the proposals. If the price of any item appears to the Commissioner to be abnormally high or low or the bidder neglects to bid on each and every item, it may lead to the rejection of the proposal containing such price. The undersigned reserves the right to reject any or all proposals or to award the contract as he deems best.

THOMAS F. SULLIVAN,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Steering Engines.

On April 6 to Kearfott Engineering Company, Inc. as per following communication:

Boston 9, April 4, 1921.

HON. ANDREW J. PETERS,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—Under date of the 30th ultimo this office opened bids for two steering engines for ferryboats "Noddle Island," and the only bid received was from the Maine Electric Company, Portland, Me., $4,000, total. This bid has been rejected in view of the fact that the Kearfott Engineering Company, Inc., 95 Liberty street, New York City, have quoted us $3,500 for two steering engines, f.o.b. Portland, Me.

I respectfully request authority be granted me to place the order and enter into a contract with the Kearfott Engineering Company, Inc., 95 Liberty street, New York City, for two steering engines for ferryboat "Noddle Island," $3,500, total; delivered Portland, Me., freight charges to be added to the bill and paid for by the city.

Respectfully yours,

G. J. CRONIN,
Superintendent of Supplies.

OFFICIAL COMMUNICATIONS.CONTRACTS EXTENDED.

Boston 9, March 31, 1921.

HON. ANDREW J. PETERS,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—In accordance with the recommendation of the Commissioner of Public Works, I respectfully ask that the date of the completion of the contract of the Davis & Farnum Manufacturing Company dated August 30, 1920, for furnishing special castings to the High Pressure Fire Service, be extended to April 1, 1921.

Completion of this contract has been greatly delayed through a succession of strikes at this plant, and as the contract is completed at this time, I respectfully request that the extension be granted.

Respectfully yours,

G. J. CRONIN,
Superintendent of Supplies.

Boston 9, April 2, 1921.

HON. ANDREW J. PETERS,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—In accordance with the recommendation of the Commissioner of Public Works, I respectfully request that the contract of the Davis & Farnum Manufacturing Company for furnishing special castings for the High Pressure Fire Service, which was approved under date of July 3, 1919, be extended to June 1, 1921.

In explanation of this request would state that the price of $120 per ton is a very low one and as the cost of labor and materials increased considerably in 1919 and 1920 it resulted in an increasing loss to the foundry, which no doubt was a further cause for delay. These castings are needed to complete a pipe laying contract now in progress, and I request that this extension be granted.

Respectfully yours,

G. J. CRONIN,
Superintendent of Supplies.

Boston 9, April 2, 1921.

HON. ANDREW J. PETERS,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—In accordance with the recommendation of the Commissioner of Public Works, I respectfully ask that the Davis & Farnum Manufacturing Company's contract for furnishing iron castings for the Water Service, which was approved under date of November 18, 1919, be extended until June 1, 1921.

In explanation of this request would state that I have received information from the Public Works Department that the completion of this contract has been delayed by serious labor trouble at the factory, and as the castings under this contract are needed in the completion of the pipe laying contract now in progress, I request that this extension be granted.

Respectfully yours,

G. J. CRONIN,
Superintendent of Supplies.

ANDREW J. PETERS, Mayor.

Placed on file.

VETO, COURT INTERPRETER.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, April 1, 1921.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I am herewith returning without my signature the order passed by the City Council to accept chapter 109 of the General Acts of 1916, authorizing the appointment of paid interpreters for the civil session of the Municipal Court of the City of Boston.

Upon the receipt of this order of the City Council I referred the whole matter to the Finance Commission for its investigation and report. This report was received today, and you will note from the attached copy, that it in effect advises against the acceptance of the act. For this reason I am vetoing your order.

Respectfully yours,

ANDREW J. PETERS, Mayor.

April 1, 1921.

Hon. Andrew J. Peters, Mayor:

Sir,—In answer to your communication of March 24, asking the advice of the Finance Commission on your approval to chapter 109 of the General Acts of 1916, which authorized the appointment of paid interpreters for the civil session of the Municipal Court of the City of Boston, the Finance Commission reports as follows:

The act was passed five years ago and in that interval no demand has been shown for the appointment of paid interpreters in this court. At the present time if interpreters are needed they are paid by the litigant who employs them.

The Finance Commission understands that a short time ago a group of attorneys called upon Chief Justice Bolster to urge the appointment of an Italian interpreter, claiming that the litigants were too poor to pay the expense of interpreters and that these attaches were necessary for the proper conduct of civil cases. On the advice of the chief probation officer of the court, Judge Bolster authorized the employment of an Italian clerk in the probation office who, in addition to his clerical duties, was used by the courts in civil cases where Italians who could not speak English were involved. This clerk was appointed five months ago, and during that period he has been called into court only nine times and has spent approximately four hours in interpretation cases.

There have been no other demands, as far as the Finance Commission has learned, for interpreters and nothing will be lost by refusing to accept the act at the present time.

Respectfully submitted,

THE FINANCE COMMISSION,

by MICHAEL H. SULLIVAN,

Chairman.

Placed on file.

REGULATIONS AT ZOO AND AQUARIUM.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, April 1, 1921.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I am herewith transmitting a communication from the Park Department requesting approval of certain special regulations concerning the Zoological Gardens in Franklin Park and the Aquarium in South Boston, and I recommend the passage of the accompanying order.

Respectfully yours,

ANDREW J. PETERS, Mayor.

City of Boston,

Park Department, March 31, 1921.

Hon. Andrew J. Peters,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—You are respectfully requested to ask the approval of the City Council for the following special regulations concerning the Zoological Gardens in Franklin Park and the Aquarium, which were approved at a meeting of the Board of Park Commissioners held on March 22, 1921, in accordance with chapter 185 of the Acts of 1875.

John J. O'Brien as temporary sanitary inspector in the Health Department.

Placed on file.

NOTICE OF INTEREST.

Notice was received from James J. Maher, Schoolhouse Commissioner, of his interest in contract for plans, etc., for South End Municipal Building.

Placed on file.

JOHN F. CLANCY SQUARE.

Coun. MORIARTY offered an order—That the space at the junction of Dorchester, National and Fourth streets, South Boston, be named and known as John F. Clancy square, in honor of said Clancy of the Eleventh Company, 55th Coast Artillery Corps, who was killed in action at Arcis-le-Ponsart, and that said place be suitably marked with signs.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

WILLIAM J. MCKAY SQUARE.

Coun. MORIARTY offered an order—That the space at the junction of Emerson and Fourth streets, South Boston, be named and known as William J. McKay square, in honor of said McKay, who was killed in action at the Chemin des Dames, March 8, 1918, during the World War while serving with the 102d Machine Gun Battalion, Company A, 25th Division, and that said space be suitably marked with signs.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

THOMAS ARTHUR AUSTIN SQUARE.

Coun. MORIARTY offered an order—That the Board of Park Commissioners be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to name the junction of East Broadway and Farragut road Thomas Arthur Austin square, in honor of said Austin, who fell at St. Mihiel on October 4, 1918, while in arms for the cause of liberty during the World War, and that said space be suitably marked with signs.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

CHARLES O'LEARY SQUARE.

Coun. MORIARTY offered an order—That the space at the junction of K street and Marine road, South Boston, be named and known as Charles O'Leary square in honor of said O'Leary, who died while in the naval service of the United States during the World War, and that said space be suitably marked with signs.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

EMPLOYMENT OF SHERMAN L. WHIPPLE.

Coun. MORIARTY offered an order—That his Honor the Mayor be requested to send to the City Council an order appropriating the sum of ten thousand dollars for the employment of Sherman L. Whipple, Esq., to conduct on behalf of the citizens of Boston the investigation of the Boston Elevated Railway Company as now projected at the State House.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

A QUESTION OF PRIVILEGE.

Coun. WATSON. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

Pres. HAGAN. What is the question, Coun. Watson?

Coun. WATSON. An editorial in a daily newspaper reflecting upon the members of this body, of which I am one.

Pres. HAGAN. The gentleman may proceed.

Coun. WATSON. Mr. President, I had hoped that some other member than myself might be the instrument through which a reply might be directed at an editorial in a paper of a few days ago, but, not knowing for certain that the matter would be handled by any other member of this body, and for fear the attack might pass without a word from any member of this body, without a defence of the body or the individual members, I felt that I must be the one to bare myself to the attack that will follow my attack upon the individual responsible for this editorial. Mr. President, I realize fully and appreciate the great power the Press of the United States has for good as well as evil. I have felt the lash of the unfriendly critics on the local newspapers on several occasions. The lash has been one of ridicule sometimes, and at other times the lash of vilification and abuse. I do not address my words today as a reflection on the subordinates of those in high places on any newspaper in Boston. My thought is far from that, because I hope I now enjoy at least the personal friendship of those who cover City Hall for the several newspapers. If I do not, I regret it. My remarks today will be directed specifically at a gentleman holding a high position with a paper I read every day and enjoy, because of its narrowness. In order that we may not misunderstand one another, permit me to have placed on the records of this body the editorial in the Boston Herald of recent date headed "Our Council on Display." It is as follows:

OUR COUNCIL ON DISPLAY.

The municipal Council of Boston may well attract the attention of students of our institutions. If the commission which has gone out to investigate the Philippine Islands to see whether they are fitted for self-government can find any municipality in that archipelago which tolerates such a governing body as this we shall be ready to agree that the archipelago ought to remain under perpetual tutelage.

Look at the decision of the day before yesterday in favor of the City Hospital chauffeur who had been discharged by the trustees last September! He was reinstated by the Council and paid for the time he was out, upon the ingenious legalistic theory that his condition and conduct when not on duty were not relevant to the case.

Look at the arrest of Coun. Watson for running his car without lights; for refusing to show his license, and for telling the policemen who arrested him—according to their story—that it would cost them their jobs! And right on the heels of an overwhelming majority for Warren G. Harding last November, Boston elected James A. Moriarty to the Council, thus perpetuating the control of that body which makes it notorious.

Any member of this body who would remain silent under that vile, contemptible editorial would not be fit to remain a member of this body one minute longer; and I assume, when I attack the gentleman who is responsible for that editorial, the members will agree to some degree with my remarks. They must, in all honesty to themselves, having in mind their reputation, their honor and their standing in this community as gentlemen. I know the instigator of that editorial. He and I are as far apart as the two poles, personally, politically and otherwise. He is a bigot in religion, politics and his newspaper work. His name is Robert Lincoln O'Brien, editor of the Boston Herald, a newspaper that all the time is within two breaths of being insolvent. The Boston Herald can attack any person in public life, vilify him to their heart's content, and no man can get redress in the matter of securing judgment on a verdict, if he received a verdict for libel. The only hope would be indictment through the District Attorney's office or the Grand Jury, and then they sit behind their privilege, because in indicting a newspaper no one can go to jail for contempt or criminal libel. A fine prevails, and the Boston Herald has paid time and again fines for criminal libel, and I will cite the instances of it if Mr. O'Brien desires to give me space in his paper. I tried to find out today who the stockholders of the Boston Herald were, and I was informed, much to my surprise, that in 1903 the newspapers of Boston, in order to hide the so-called responsible individuals behind the publications, who were benefiting thereby or whose character might be investigated, both morally and otherwise, secured through the Legislature an amendment to the act, so that they don't have to file a return showing who the stockholders of the newspaper are; but once in a year, in some corner hidden away, the Herald, the representatives of the United Shoe Machinery or the Edison Electric Illuminating Company, the Consolidated Gas Company, and the financial interests, hide who the stockholders are in some remote part of a paper where I cannot find it. I know this, that at the head of the editorial page of March 31 there appeared the name of R. L. O'Brien, of Abington, as editor, O'Brien! O'Brien! God save the mark! Robert Lincoln O'Brien! Oh, it is a wonder that Abraham Lincoln doesn't turn in his grave! Robert Lincoln O'Brien, the narrow bigot, the religiously narrow bigot, the narrow bigot in politics, the narrow bigot in newspaper work, and the narrow bigot in family affairs. Oh, I know what is coming to me. I will be vilified by him. But it is nothing new. I know the man and he knows me. Physically he doesn't dare to tell me to my face what he dares write here. He is a coward as well as a bigot. He is an editor, but he doesn't handle any money. The interests know him well enough to pay him a salary in an envelope, and that is all. They have a man named James H. Higgins, from Lynn. James H. Higgins represents the United Shoe Machinery's interests in the Boston Herald, and perhaps Enwright of the new paper, which I hope will remain true to the people a little while, at least, will kindly tell us in the news columns or otherwise, how Mr. Higgins tried to interfere with his progress in the city of Lynn, James H. Higgins,—I don't know the man, but I am going to take a chance and say, God save the name of Higgins! Robert Lincoln O'Brien and James Harrison Higgins—what a beautiful pair of birds! Oh, the old fashioned Globe is harmless. It will never take sides editorially. We like it. We love real journalists, who know what a journal is and who are fair. Who doesn't idolize and look up to General Taylor of the Boston Globe? I won't say a word about the Post, because the editor is sick, and what I might say wouldn't be fit to put on the records. And, by the way, I am rather a unique individual in public life in Boston. You have to go back some time to find another such man, who has been a wild petrel, a stormy petrel in politics in Boston, who has dared to go through with a libel suit against a powerful paper. I did it. They went back forty-five years in my life, fellow members, and they didn't pin a thing on me. They didn't find a single thing in my family, political or business life, that warranted what they said of me through their defence of a member of this body. Is it possible that after that vitriolic and vile editorial you, Mr. President, are going to remain silent? Is it possible that other members are going to remain silent? Or are you going to see me through in what I say? Of course, you will have to, as men,—not as far as my reference to O'Brien is concerned, because you don't know him as well as I do. I know him. They know him in Abington, too, where he was born. I served in the Legislature with his brother, John H. O'Brien—God save the mark!—also. Now, gentlemen, that editorial in all probability written by Robert Lincoln O'Brien, or approved by him, is a direct indictment of the thirty-odd thousand voters who saw fit to return to this body my colleague and yours, Coun. Moriarty. If the interests represented by Lincoln O'Brien cannot pick men fit enough, able and clean enough to defeat Moriarty, Watson, Ford or Donoghue, or anybody here, it is no fault of the public that they pick the lesser of evils. I am willing to admit that in electing me to this body several times they have not picked the ablest man, but they couldn't pick a more honest man, if I do say it. They have not picked the ablest man, but they have picked the lesser of evils, and that is what they do all the time. The people can be trusted, and that editorial is an indictment of the 32,000 or 33,000 people who re-elected to this body James T. Moriarty, despite the vilification of the Good Government Association, the Boston Herald and every newspaper in town. They returned him because they believed he was the better of those who went to defeat. Crooked! Oh, dear! Why, Lincoln O'Brien is so crooked in his political views, his religious views, his business views and his social views, that if he went down an alley way he couldn't turn around without meeting himself coming back, positively. Who is Robert Lincoln O'Brien? Why, years ago, in the old Common Council days I remember Robert Lincoln O'Brien getting his start. To use the vernacular of the street, he was wet nurse to Grover Cleveland, one of our past presidents. He was society secretary to Mrs. Frances Folsom Cleveland. Our clerk probably remembers the occasion—society secretary to Mrs. Frances Folsom Cleveland, Grover Cleveland's wife—in other words, a wet nurse. Robert Lincoln O'Brien,—oh, Robert! Robert! Robert! Did you see the Boston Herald saying anything editorially concerning the defeat or the attempt of ours to defeat the corrupt legislation known as Senate 314, 131, 132 and 133, in regard to which today City Clerk Donovan received this communication:

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

House of Representatives,

Office of the Speaker, State House,
Boston, March 31, 1921.

James Donovan,
City Clerk, Boston.

Dear Sir,—I beg to acknowledge receipt from you of a copy of an order adopted by the City Council protesting against the passage of several bills relating to gas and electric companies.

Senate No. 130, a bill to equalize the cash and share capital of certain gas and electric companies, having passed the Senate was amended in the House by the substitution of a Resolve for the complete investigation of this entire subject by the Department of Public Utilities, to report next year.

Senate No. 131 has been referred to the next annual session in both branches.

Senate No. 132, having passed the Senate, has been referred to the next annual session by vote of the House.

Senate No. 133 is still in the Committee on Power and Light.

Very truly yours,

B. L. YOUNG.

Has the Herald said a word concerning that legislation? No. The lighting interests wanted it and the Herald wanted it. But thanks to the Boston American and other papers, the Globe and other papers, the Herald, as far as our genial City Hall man could write it, but the belly was cut out of it, of course, and very little was said, very little,—it was defeated. Of course, the interests wanted it. Now, Mr. President, I think I have got a little bile out of me, and I will say this, and I can say it without feeling. I try to say it conservatively and quietly, and tempering it somewhat; but when I think of that nonentity and bigot, the wet nurse, a low-down, cruel man, who takes advantage of his right to write what he pleases about a man who has no chance to reply, I get a little warm. But remember this, he sometimes errs, this wonderful prophet, this brilliant man, who dances when Lee, Higginson pull the strings, and if he lost his job tomorrow he would have to leave town. I don't think he would be able to get a job that would keep him alive an hour in Boston. He criticises the City Council and the City Hospital action of ours. He ought to know, if he doesn't know, that Mr. Arthur D. Hill, the Corporation Counsel, made the ruling for us. He ought to know that we voted intelligently when we voted not to inquire into the young man's conduct outside of business hours. If the man who investigates for the Herald would investigate Lincoln O'Brien's conduct outside of business hours, there might be another Solley trial in Boston. If a man conducts himself improperly outside of business hours, it is no one's business but the man's, provided the police don't get him. Yes, they caught me, but they are going to pay the price. I want to tell you, Mr. President, for the benefit of the members here, that both the officers who maliciously and without reason persecuted, attacked and humiliated me, will be discharged by Police Commissioner Curtis, not on charges preferred by me but by orders of the Civil Service Commissioners, because they both committed perjury on their application blanks. That is why I withdrew my charges. They are gone, and I will have more to say about the Police Department, not today but later, and it won't be the little coppers that I will go after. I will pick out the big, shining marks. I don't know what will happen to me, but I am going to it. Now, Mr. President, Robert Lincoln O'Brien not only does not like what we do, but in this morning's Herald he has two thirds of a column in which he attacks the New York World, the New York Times, the New York Herald, the Boston Transcript, the Springfield Republican and the New York Tribune, and that is about all; but each one of the papers mentioned is as good as the Herald. I love to read the Herald, it is so ridiculous. I get it for nothing, but I always read it, because it is on file out here. I love to read what my friend the City Hall man says about me, now that we are friendly. Mr. President, I think I have said about enough. I think I have made myself plain about the Boston Herald, which represents the financial and corrupt interests in Boston. I think I have made myself clear about Mr. Robert Lincoln O'Brien. If I haven't, I will repeat it. In order that there may be no mistake or misunderstanding about it in the minds of the members here, I want to say that I reiterate what I have said, plus. Of course, no paper will use this—mutual agreement, honor among—gentlemen! You thought it was something else. There was a custom that prevailed for years by which the Boston Post, for instance, would say to the Herald, "Don't hit us, and we won't hit you," and the Transcript would say, "Leave us alone," and the American, "and we won't touch you," and if once in awhile after the agreement they slipped over, they would apologize. But I suppose it might be well to have extra copies of the minutes of the meeting of the Council printed, so that I may sell them out in front of the hall. I think there would be a premium, if only those who love Lincoln O'Brien would know that I had said something about him. I have said all I want to say, but would simply say in conclusion, it is high time for Robert Lincoln O'Brien to remember that, in order to be a good American citizen—which he does not know how to be—one must not hit below the belt.

Coun. MORIARTY—Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege. I am not going to take much time, but will simply say that the views of the councilor opposite are practically my views in regard to Robert Lincoln O'Brien and the Boston Herald. I want to say that I was the only member of this body that got free advertising in the Boston newspapers, thanks to the Boston Herald-Traveler, during the last campaign, both in news items and in editorials, daily and nightly. The Boston Herald-Traveler said everything about me before election that it was possible to say and they have continued since election every time that they have got a chance. But I feel the way that Spargo feels—I take it from the source from which it comes, that "every knock is a boost," coming from the source of the Boston Herald, known as the narrowest paper in Boston, even as bad as the Menace. Only a few years ago it was practically put out of business on account of its narrowness and the editorials. I refrain from reading the Boston Herald, and it is going to be my effort from this time out in every place that I see it to ask the people in Boston not to read the Boston Herald-Traveler. That will make them at least respect the majority of citizens of this city. The Herald did not put me here. The Herald tried in every way prior to election to vilify me. They have not yet found anything against my character as a man, against my living as a man, that they can say against me. But the way they play the game is in anything but man fashion, and, if I may use one of the councilor's remarks, the councilor who last spoke, we shouldn't hit below the belt and we should use all men as man to man. I wouldn't know Lincoln O'Brien if he walked into the place, and if I did know Lincoln O'Brien and he did walk into the place, from what I know about him, I would walk out. I want to say in conclusion that I hope that the Boston Herald will continue giving me the space on its editorial page that it has for the last six months. Maybe if I decide to be a candidate for any further political honors they may help me, because everything that they say editorially, I feel, is a boost for any individual who may get it.

BALLOT FOR PRESIDENT.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, I move that we now proceed to the election of a president for the year 1921.

The motion was carried, and the Clerk called the roll, with the following result:

For David J. Brickley—Coun. Brickley and Moriarty—2.

For Daniel W. Lane—Coun. Collins, Hagan and Lane—3.

For James A. Watson—Coun. Donoghue, Ford, Watson—3.

And there was no choice.

HARRY B. DOLAN SQUARE.

Coun. WATSON offered an order—That the open space at the junction of Neponset avenue, South Munroe terrace and North Munroe terrace, Dorchester, be named and known as Harry B. Dolan square, in honor of said Dolan, who died while in the service of the United States during the World War, and that said space be suitably marked with signs.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

BAND CONCERTS, MCCONNELL PARK.

Coun. BRICKLEY offered an order—That the Park Commissioners be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to provide band concerts on Sundays during the coming summer at McConnell Park.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

PENSIONING OF WILLIAM S. FOSTER.

Coun. FORD offered an order—That chapter 192 of the Acts of 1921, entitled "An Act Authorizing the County of Suffolk to Retire and Pension William S. Foster"—be and the same hereby is accepted.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

Coun. FORD offered an order—That, under the provisions of chapter 192 of the Acts of 1921, William S. Foster, employed by the County of Suffolk as a janitor in the courthouse, be and hereby is retired at an annual pension equal to one half his present annual salary.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

SYMPATHY WITH TENANTS' ASSOCIATION.

Coun. HAGAN offered an order—That the Back Bay Tenants' Association be informed that the Boston City Council are in sympathy with their work, and will co-operate in every way possible.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

CONFIRMATION OF APPOINTMENTS.

Coun. HAGAN called up unfinished business, Nos. 1 to 4, inclusive, viz.:

1. Action on appointment submitted by the Mayor, March 21, 1921, of Thomas Francis Croshy, to be a Constable.

Action on appointments submitted by the Mayor, March 28, 1921, viz.:

2. Forrest R. Roulstone, to be a Weigher of Coal.

3. Arthur W. Piper, to be a Weigher of Beef.

4. Joseph Connors, Alvah W. Ennis and George Keefe, to be Weighers of Goods.

The question came on confirmation. Committee—Coun. Moriarty and Brickley. Whole number of ballots cast 7, yeas 7, and the appointments were confirmed.

LAND FOR COURT HOUSE, FOREST HILLS.

Coun. HAGAN called up unfinished business, No. 5, viz.:

5. Ordered, That the sum of thirty thousand dollars ($30,000) be and the same is hereby appropriated to be expended in acquiring land for a new site, and preparing plans for the Forest Hills Court House, to be erected thereon within a reasonable distance of Forest Hills square, and to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, upon the request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

On March 21, 1921, the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas six, nays three.

The order was given its final reading and passed, yeas 6, nays 2, Coun. Moriarty and Watson voting nay.

Before voting, Coun. WATSON said:

Mr. President, is this a vote on the site? President HAGAN—Yes.

Coun. WATSON—Then, I want to be recorded as voting "no."

After the vote was announced, Coun. MORIARTY said:

Mr. President, I want to make a statement explaining why I have voted "no" on this Forest Hills matter. I want to say that the city has owned for some time a piece of land at Forest Hills which was bought for a courthouse. The city still owns that piece of land. We are now appropriating $30,000 to buy another site, where some land grab is in existence. I have voted against the land grab for $30,000, and I am further consistent in voting against the building that is going to be put on that land. When they propose to spend $30,000 to take a piece of land when within 200 feet of that land there is a site now owned and controlled by the city. That is the reason why I have voted "no" on both orders.

COURT HOUSE, FOREST HILLS.

Coun. HAGAN called up unfinished business, No. 6, viz.:

6. Ordered, That the sum of $110,000 additional be and the same is hereby appropriated to be expended by the Superintendent of Public Buildings for the construction of a Court House, Forest Hills, and that to meet said expenditure the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, on the request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

On March 21, 1921, the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 8, nays 1.

The order was given its final reading and passed, yeas 7, nays 1, Coun. Moriarty voting nay.

VARIOUS LOAN ORDERS.

There being no objection the Council proceeded to consider Nos. 7 to 12, inclusive, together, viz.:

7. Ordered, That the sum of $55,000 be appropriated to be expended by the Superintendent of Public Buildings for the erection of a building for the West Roxbury Branch of the Public Library, and that to meet said expenditure the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, on the request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

On March 21, 1921, the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas nine.

8. Ordered, That the sum of $7,500 additional be appropriated to be expended by the Park Commissioners for the rebuilding of the Head House, bath houses, etc., and for building of a convenience station at Marine Park, South Boston, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be hereby authorized to issue, from time to time, on the request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the City of Boston to said amount.

On March 21, 1921, the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas nine.

9. Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 426 of the Acts of 1897, as amended by chapter 204 of the Acts of 1908, the sum of $1,000,000 be and hereby is appropriated to be expended under the direction of the Commissioner of Public Works for sewerage work, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, on the request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

On March 21, 1921, the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas nine.

10. Ordered, That the sum of $800,000 be and hereby is appropriated for Highways, Making of, under the provisions of chapter 393 of the Acts of 1906, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be and hereby is authorized to issue, from time to time, upon the request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

On March 21, 1921, the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas nine.

11. Ordered, That the sum of $600,000 be and hereby is appropriated to be expended under the direction of the Commissioner of Public Works for the construction of Chelsea Bridge South, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be and hereby is authorized to issue, from time to time, upon the request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

On March 21, 1921, the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas nine.

12. Ordered, That in addition to the amount heretofore appropriated, the sum of $75,000 be appropriated to be expended by the Superintendent of Public Buildings for the construction of a municipal building in old Ward 12, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be hereby authorized to issue, from time to time, on the request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

On March 21, 1921, the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas nine.

The several orders were given their final readings and passed, yeas eight, nays none.

JAMES M. KENNEDY SQUARE.

Coun. COLLINS offered an order—That the space at the junction of Columbia road and Washington street, Dorchester, be named and known as James M. Kennedy square in honor of Private Kennedy of Company I, 101st United States Infantry, who fell in action during the drive in the Meuse salient toward Sedan, October 24, 1918, and that said space be suitably marked with signs.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

SIDEWALK, ASHMON STREET.

Coun. COLLINS offered an order—That the Commissioner of Public Works make a sidewalk along the northerly side of Ashmont street, Dorchester, from Adams street to Train street, Ward 20, in front of the estates bordering thereon, said sidewalk to be from 3 to 10 inches above the gutter adjoining, to be from 5 to 12 feet in width, and to be built of artificial stone with granite edgestone, under the provisions of chapter 196 of the Special Acts of 1917.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

RECESS TAKEN.

The Council voted at 3.13 o'clock, p. m., on motion of Coun. MORIARTY, to take a recess subject to the call of the President.

The members of the Council reassembled in the chamber and were called to order by the President at 5.13 o'clock, p. m.

SALE, ETC., OF FIREARMS.

Coun. WATSON, for the Executive Committee, offered an order—That a committee of three members of the Council be appointed by the President, pro tem., to study and report on the system of issuing permits to various petitioners for the sale, renting and leasing of firearms, and to report their findings and recommendations to the City Council at their earliest convenience.

Passed under a suspension of the rule, and the President appointed as said committee Coun. Ford, Lane and Moriarty.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE REPORTS.

Coun. WATSON, for the Executive Committee, submitted the following, viz.:

1. Reports on petitions (referred today) for permits for children under fifteen years of age to appear at various places of amusement—that permits be granted, viz.:

The report was accepted and the order was given its first reading and passed, yeas eight, nays none.

The order will be given its final reading not less than fourteen days from date.

3. Report on message of Mayor, communication and order (referred March 21) for loan of $45,000 for Wayfarers' Lodge—that the order ought not to pass.

Coun. COLLINS—Mr. President, I am going to vote for the acceptance of the committee's report because I believe that the money for these improvements, which are in the nature of repairs and remodeling, should come from taxes. I think the improvement itself is very commendable, and if the Mayor should send in an order contemplating the taking of the money from taxes I shall vote for it. I shall not vote for a loan for this purpose, because I don't think we should vote to borrow money for something that is in the nature of a recurrent expenditure. I believe that such an amount should come from taxes.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, I desire to say that the sentiment expressed by the councilor appeals to me, that I take the same view that he does in regard to the matter.

Coun. DONOGHUE—Mr. President, I want to say, as chairman of the committee, that the Mayor, being the administrative head of this government of ours, ought to be in a position to know what is the best policy to pursue in regard to much needed improvements in the Wayfarers' Lodge. While I have at various times differed with the Mayor, this is one of the times I am going to be with him, and I intend to vote for this improvement and for the passage of this order.

Coun. COLLINS—Mr. President, I beg leave to differ from the member who has just spoken. There is one duty we do have, and that is to appropriate money in what we think is a proper way. First, it is our duty to vote on questions of appropriating money raised from taxation, and, secondly, it is our duty to consider and to vote upon loans coming before the body. It seems to me to be our fundamental duty not to vote to raise money by loan for an expenditure that we think should be met from taxes. That is the reason for my position upon this matter.

The report was accepted, and the order was rejected, yeas three, nays five.

Yeas—Coun. Brickley, Donoghue, Ford—3.
Nays—Coun. Collins, Hagan, Lane, Moriarty, Watson—5.

PARKMAN FUND.

Coun. LANE, for the Committee on Parkman Fund, submitted a report on message of Mayor, communication and order (referred March 23) appropriating $42,400 for greenhouses at Franklin Park and improvements at Zoo—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; order passed, yeas eight, nays none.

GENERAL RECONSIDERATION.

Coun. MORIARTY moved a general reconsideration on all business transacted at the meeting, hoping that the same would not prevail. Lost.

Adjourned at 5.24 o'clock, p. m., to meet on Monday, April 11, at two o'clock, p. m.

CONTRACTS AWARDED.

The following contracts for work, materials and supplies have been awarded with the approval of the Mayor. Those awarded without public advertisement are especially indicated. Week ending April 14, 1921.

PARK DEPARTMENT.

Wire Fences, Boston Common.

On April 8 to W. A. Snow Iron Works, Inc., as per following communication:

April 6, 1921.

HON. ANDREW J. PETERS,

Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—You are respectfully notified that proposals were opened at this office on March 24, 1921, for the construction of wire fences on Boston Common as follows:

P. J. Dinn & Co., $5,584; Hub Steel & Iron Works, $5,009; Security Fence Erecting Company, $4,484; Gates & Wadleigh, $4,254.50; W. A. Snow Iron Works, $4,005; B. Krivitsky & Co., $3,875.

By vote of this Board, subject to your approval, the contract was awarded to the second lowest bidder, the W. A. Snow Iron Works, Inc., 32 Portland street, Boston, for the approximate sum of $4,005.70, same to be charged to the special appropriation for Boston Common and Public Garden Improvements.

The reason for making this award to the second lowest bidder is that it is the opinion of the Board through past experience, that the lowest bidder cannot complete the work in the specified time and to the satisfaction of the Board.

Yours respectfully,

DANIEL J. BYRNE,
Secretary.

Refreshment Privilege at Strandway and L Street.

On April 13 to Thomas A. Barry, as per following communication:

Boston, April 6, 1921.

HON. ANDREW J. PETERS,

Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—You are respectfully notified that proposals were opened at this office on March 29, 1921, for leasing for a term of three years, the refreshment privileges in the booth located at the corner of L street and the Strandway, South Boston, as follows:

James P. Kelleher, $680; Edward N. Avofo, $625; Alexander Ayoub, $605; Thomas A. Barry, $605; Edward L. Baker, $501; Cornelius T. Curran, $490; James Kelly, $475; Angelo A. Aicardi, $404; Elizabeth Curtis, $301; Nicholas D. Titus, $300; Thomas J. Burke, $261; Eva E. Brown, $200.

By vote of this Board, subject to your approval, the lease was awarded to Mr. Thomas A. Barry, 219 M street, South Boston, for the sum of $605 per annum.

Mr. Barry was awarded this concession three years ago and since then has conducted it in an unusually satisfactory manner, and for that reason the Board believes the concession should be awarded to him.

Yours very truly,

DANIEL J. BYRNE,
Secretary.

SCHOOLHOUSE DEPARTMENT.

On March 30 to Charm Electric Company for furnishing and installing electric lighting in the Moon Street School. Bids opened March 25:

Charm Electric Company, $2,715; C. E. Gallagher, $2,890; T. E. McCarthy, $3,195; Stanton Electric Company, $3,275; Connor Electric Company, $3,439.

Erecting School, Roger Wolcott District.

On April 13 to A. Piotti Company, as per following communication:

BOSTON 9, April 12, 1921.

HON. ANDREW J. PETERS, Mayor:

DEAR SIR,—The bids for erecting and completing intermediate school in the Roger Wolcott district (with the exception of plumbing, heating and ventilating and electrical work, which will be done under separate contract), submitted to the Schoolhouse Commissioners and opened on March 8, 1921, were as follows:

A. Piotti Company, Item 1, $329,383; Leighton-Mitchell Company, Item 1, $332,484; Item 2, $327,984; Thomas O'Connor Company, Item 1, $342; Item 2, $338,300; Langan & Shaw Construction Company, Item 1, $366,980; George A. Fuller Company, Item 1, $369,347; Coleman Brothers, Inc., Item 1, $376,000; Evatt Construction Company, Item 1, $399,900; George Howard & Sons Company, (no check deposited), Item 1, $424,000, and the Board has voted, subject to the approval of your Honor, to award the contract to A. Piotti Company, the lowest bidder under Item 1, in the sum of $329,383.

Respectfully yours,

J. P. LOMASNEY,
Chairman.

SUPPLY DEPARTMENT.

Hay, Grain and Straw.

On April 1 to bidders indicated in following communication and bids for supplying hay, grain and straw during April:

BOSTON 9, March 31, 1921.

HON. ANDREW J. PETERS,

Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—Inclosed find list of bids on proposals for furnishing hay, grain and straw for the various city departments for the month of April, 1921, which were publicly opened and read at this office under date of March 30, 1921. I respectfully request that the contracts be awarded to the lowest bidders as indicated on the attached sheet.

Regarding the bid of John J. White Company of $25.50 on straw for the city proper district and the bid of Landy Brothers of $25 on straw in the Roxbury district and $26 in the West Roxbury district, as the amount of the contract in each of the above cases would not amount to $1,000 it will not be necessary to make formal contract for same.

Regarding the bid of Landy Brothers of $32 on hay in the Roxbury district, would state that in the proposal submitted at the auditor's office, the price appeared at $33 per ton and therefore as this bid is irregular, I have awarded the contract for hay in this district to the next lowest bidder, the Whittemore Company, at $32.25 per ton.

Respectfully yours,

G. J. CRONIN,
Superintendent of Supplies.

Rubber Coats for Fire Department.

On April 6 to Leopold Morse Company as per following communication and bids:

Boston 9, March 31, 1921.

HON. ANDREW J. PETERS,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—Attached please find list of bids on proposals for furnishing 348 rubber coats to the Fire Department, which were publicly opened and read at this office under date of March 23, 1921.

The bids were referred to the Fire Department, and, after examination by the Committee on Uniforms, they made the recommendation that the coat submitted by Leopold Morse Company at $6.35 each was the one best suited for their use. In view of this recommendation I respectfully request that permission be granted me to award this contract to Leopold Morse Company at the price indicated on the attached sheet.

Yours respectfully,
G. J. CRONIN,
Superintendent of Supplies.

Bids on 349 rubber coats for the Fire Department, opened March 23, 1921:

Cambridge Rubber Company, $5.75, No. 7; $6.50, No. 134, each, discount, 10 days, 1 per cent, no check, two samples.

Whitney Fire Appliance & Recharging Service, $6.50 each, 2 per cent discount. Leopold Morse Company, $6.35* each.

*Bids referred to Fire Department and award is recommended to this concern by Committee on Uniforms.

Iron Castings.

On April 6 to Clark's Iron Foundry for supplying 146,000 pounds iron castings (300 3-part cast-iron screw boxes) for the Water Service. Bids opened March 31:

City Iron Foundry Company, Inc., 6.4 cents per pound; Clark's Iron Foundry, 5.6 cents per pound; The Central Foundry Company, 6.44 cents per pound; Mechanics Iron Foundry, 8½ cents per pound; Davis Foundry Company, 6 cents per pound.

On April 7 to Mechanics Iron Foundry Company for 43,000 pounds iron castings (9 by 9 frames) for the Water Service. Bids opened March 31:

Davis Foundry Company, 5½ cents per pound; Mechanics Iron Foundry Company, 4.2 cents per pound; * City Iron Foundry Company, Inc., 5.8 cents per pound; C. M. White Iron Works, 4.7 cents per pound; The Central Foundry Company, 6.95 cents per pound; Clark's Iron Foundry, 5.6 cents per pound; Coffin Valve Company, 5¼ cents per pound.

* Awarded contract.

Composition Castings.

On April 6 to Gibby Foundry Company as per following communication and bids:

Boston 9, April 5, 1921.

HON. ANDREW J. PETERS,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—Attached please find list of bids on proposals for furnishing 17,000 pounds of composition castings to the Water Service, Public Works Department, which were publicly opened and read at this office under date of March 31, 1921.

I respectfully request that permission be granted me to award this contract to the Gibby Foundry Company who submitted the lowest aggregate bid.

Yours respectfully,
G. J. CRONIN,
Superintendent of Supplies.

Bids on 17,000 pounds composition castings for the Water Service. Bids opened March 31:

6,000 Pounds No. 1.—American Manganese Bronze Company, 31 cents per pound; Gibby Foundry Company, 26½ cents per pound; Essex Brass Foundry Company, 26½ cents per pound; Powow Manufacturing Company, 30 cents per pound; J. H. McCafferty, 26 cents per pound.

9,000 Pounds No. 2.—American Manganese Bronze Company, 29 cents per pound; Gibby Foundry Company, 19 cents per pound; Essex Brass Foundry Company, 26 cents per pound; Powow Manufacturing Company, 28 cents per pound; J. H. McCafferty, 25 cents per pound.

2,000 Pounds No. 3.—American Manganese Bronze Company, 26 cents per pound; Gibby Foundry Company, 17 cents per pound; Essex Brass Foundry Company, 23 cents per pound; Powow Manufacturing Company, 27 cents per pound; J. H. McCafferty, 23 cents per pound.

Total.—American Manganese Bronze Company, $4,990; Gibby Foundry Company, $3,640*; Essex Brass Foundry Company, $4,390; Powow Manufacturing Company, $4,860; J. H. McCafferty, $4,270.

* Awarded contract.

On April 6 to Joseph A. Singarella for supplying 1,000 concrete meter boxes for the Water Service. Bids opened March 31:

Joseph A. Singarella, $7.77 each; Standard Contracting Company, $8 each; Charles M. Callahan, $8.90 each.

Iron Castings.

On April 7 to Mechanics Iron Foundry Company, as per following communication and bids:

Boston 9, April 5, 1921.

HON. ANDREW J. PETERS,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—Attached please find list of bids on proposals for furnishing 30,000 pounds of iron castings, service stock, for the Water Service, Public Works Department, which were publicly opened and read at this office under date of March 31, 1921.

I respectfully request that permission be granted me to award this contract to the Mechanics Iron Foundry Company, the second lowest bidder at 7 cents per pound. In explanation of this award would state that the lowest bidder, the Central Foundry Company, is but $30, under the second lowest bidder, and in view of the fact that the foundry of the Central Foundry Company is located outside of Massachusetts, the freight and inspection charges would be very much in excess of $30, the difference between the two low prices.

Respectfully yours,

G. J. CRONIN,
Superintendent of Supplies.

Bids on 30,000 pounds iron castings (service stock) for the Water Service, opened March 31, 1921:

Mechanics Iron Foundry Company,* 7 cents per pound; The Central Foundry Company, 6.9 cents per pound; City Iron Foundry, 7½ cents per pound; Clark's Iron Foundry, 7¼ cents per pound.

* Awarded contract.

No. 1 Castings.

On April 8 to City Iron Foundry as per following communication and bids.

BOSTON 9, April 5, 1921.

HON. ANDREW J. PETERS,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—Attached please find list of bids on proposals for furnishing 470,000 pounds of No. 1 castings to the Water Service, Public Works Department, which were publicly opened and read at this office under date of March 28, 1921.

I respectfully request that permission be granted me to award this contract to the City Iron Foundry, the second lowest bidder, at 5½ cents per pound for the reason that the lowest bidder, Davis & Farnum Manufacturing Company, has at present contracts awarded to them in 1920 for castings which they have not as yet completed, and it has been necessary to ask your Honor's permission to extend the completion date of these contracts within the last week. The plant of the City Iron Foundry has been inspected, and I find that they are in a position to handle this contract in a satisfactory manner, and in view of the unsatisfactory way that the Davis & Farnum Manufacturing Company has handled our contracts in the past, I feel that it will be a saving to the city to award this contract to the second lowest bidder.

Respectfully yours,

G. J. CRONIN,
Superintendent of Supplies.

Bids opened March 28, 1921, were as follows:

Davis Foundry Company, 6½ cents per pound, 2 per cent, 10 days; The Central Foundry Company, 7.375 cents per pound, 1 per cent, 10 days; Clark's Iron Foundry, 6.35 cents per pound, 1 per cent, 10 days; The Kennedy Valve Manufacturing Company, 8½ cents per pound, 1 per cent, 10 days; Davis & Farnum Manufacturing Company, 5½ cents per pound, A and B castings; City Iron Foundry,* 5.9 cents per pound; Mechanics Iron Foundry Company, 5 cents per pound, 1 per cent, 10 days.

* Awarded contract.

Ford Chassis and Runabouts.

On April 11 to C. W. Muldoon, Inc., Lalime & Partridge, Inc., and Snow, Coombs & McBeath, Inc., as per following communication and bids:

BOSTON 9, April 5, 1921.

HON. ANDREW J. PETERS,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—Attached please find list of bids on proposals for furnishing Ford chassis and runabouts to the Park Department, which were publicly opened and read at this office under date of April 4, 1921.

In the original requisition received from the Park Department, it was stated that there were three old Ford runabouts offered in exchange, but later the number of old cars to be exchanged was increased to five.

As the three lowest bidders have submitted identical prices for all these cars, I respectfully request that permission be granted me to award the contract for furnishing the three Ford runabouts equipped with Cotton box bodies and self starters and the five old Fords offered in exchange to C. W. Muldoon, Inc. Regarding the two Ford chassis with self starters shown on the attached sheet, I would respectfully request that permission be granted me to award the Ford chassis with Wilhall side springs and starter to Lalime & Partridge, Inc., and the Ford chassis complete with starter to Snow, Coombs & McBeath, Inc., without entering into formal contract, as the amount involved in each case is under $1,000.

Respectfully yours,

G. J. CRONIN,
Superintendent of Supplies.

Bids opened April 4, 1921, were as follows:

1 Ford Chassis with Wilhall Side Springs.—Cairns Brothers (30 by 3½ wheels), $483.35 each; Lalime & Partridge, Inc.,* $554 each with starter, $482 each without; C. W. Muldoon, Inc., $554 each with starter $482 each without; Snow, Coombs & McBeath, Inc., $554 each with starter, $482 each without.

1 Ford Chassis, Complete.—Cairns Brothers (30 by 3½ wheels), $438.35 each; Lalime & Partridge, Inc., $509 each with starter, $437 each without; C. W. Muldoon, Inc., $509 each with starter, $437 each without; Snow, Coombs & McBeath, Inc., †$509 each with starter.

3 Ford Runabouts Equipped with Cotton Tail Box Bodies.—Cairns Brothers (30 by 3½ wheels), $505.35 each; Lalime & Partridge, Inc., $578 each with starter, $505 each without; C. W. Muldoon, Inc., $578 each with starter, $505 each without; Snow, Coombs & McBeath, Inc., $505 each without.

Allowance on Three Old Ford Runabouts Equipped with Tail Box Bodies.—Cairns Brothers, $440 per lot; Lalime & Partridge, Inc., $100, No. 4; $115, No. 14; $120, No. 10; $140, No. 7; $110, No. 15; C. W. Muldoon, Inc.,* $100, No. 8; $120, No. 10; $140, No. 7; $110, No. 15; $115, No. 14; Snow, Coombs & McBeath, Inc., $140, No. 7; $100, No. 8; $120, No. 10; $115, No. 14; $110, No. 15.

* Awarded chassis with Wilhall side springs.

† Awarded chassis complete.

‡ Awarded three runabouts.

Crushed Stone.

On April 11 to bidders as per following communication and bids:

BOSTON 9, April 7, 1921.

HON. ANDREW J. PETERS,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—Attached please find list of bids on proposals for furnishing crushed stone to the various city departments, which were publicly opened and read at this office under date of April 4, 1921.

I respectfully request permission to award the contracts to the lowest bidder in each district as shown on the attached sheet.

Respectfully yours,

G. J. CRONIN,
Superintendent of Supplies.

Bids, opened April 4, 1921, were as follows:

District No. 1. South Boston.—B. E. Grant, $2.60 per ton; Standard Contracting Company, $2.30 per ton; New England Crushed Stone Company, $2.35 per ton; William J. WITHOUT ADVERTISING.

The Mayor has approved the following contracts awarded without advertising; requests of heads of departments to do work with the department forces without advertising; additions to and deductions from contracts.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

Boston, March 31, 1921.

To the Mayor of Boston:

Permission to award a contract for the construction of artificial stone sidewalks in the public streets, without advertising, to Joseph A. Singarella and Charles Struzziery, Boston, Mass., is hereby requested on the ground that these contractors are not selected by the city in the first instance, but by the abutters, and secondly, the expense of construction being divided by the city and abutters; also because such contracts vary greatly in amounts and seldom involve one thousand (1,000) dollars.

Respectfully yours,

T. F. SULLIVAN,
Commissioner of Public Works.

April 1, 1921.

The authority requested is hereby given.

ANDREW J. PETERS, Mayor.

ADDITIONS TO AND DEDUCTIONS FROM CONTRACTS.

The following additions to and deductions from contracts have been approved:

PARK DEPARTMENT

Boston, March 15, 1921.

A. PIOTTI COMPANY,
708 Dudley Street, Boston 25, Mass.:

GENTLEMEN.—You are hereby ordered to make the following changes in your contract:

Size of lockers to be 15 inches as detailed instead of 12 inches as originally drawn—credit on account of this change, fifty-five (55) dollars.

Original amount of contract.....$36,784.00
Credit of July 22, 1920..... 95.28

$36,688.72

COOLIDGE & CARLSON, Architects.

Assented to.

A. PIOTTI Co., Contractor.

Approved.

JAMES B. SHEA, Chairman.

Approved April 4, 1921.

ANDREW J. PETERS, Mayor.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

Boston, April 5, 1921.

To the Honorable the Mayor:

I respectfully request your approval of the attached extra work order to the West Roxbury Trap Rock Company under their contract for building sewerage works in Section 10 of Stony brook conduit, West Roxbury.

During the excavation we encountered a soft stratum of silt and peat which did not provide a foundation strong enough to support the regular structure. It was therefore necessary to either drive piles or to design and install a new cross section with increased steel reinforcement. The latter method was decided upon. This required changing the sheeting, rebracing the trench, changing concrete forms, furnishing and placing additional steel reinforcements and furnishing and placing crushed stone below grade.

Yours respectfully,

T. F. SULLIVAN,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Boston, January 17, 1921.

WEST ROXBURY TRAP ROCK COMPANY,
WEST ROXBURY, MASS.

DEAR SIR.—You are hereby directed to perform the following extra work under your contract for building sewerage works, Stony brook conduit, Section 10, between end of Section 9 and Toll Gate road, West Roxbury, dated, March 12, 1920.

Items ordered: Change sheeting and rebrace trench, remove, replace and change concrete forms due to change of cross section. Furnish and place additional steel reinforcement; furnish and place crushed stone below grade.

I recommend that the above order be issued.

Respectfully,

T. F. SULLIVAN,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Approved April 6, 1921.

ANDREW J. PETERS,
Mayor of Boston, Mass.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT (Paving Service).

An addition, amounting to $293, on contract with DeStefano Brothers for granite block pavement in Public Alley No. 909, from Massachusetts avenue to Hemenway street, on account of omitting the setting of edgestone in mortar and the concrete backing for same and substituting the furnishing and building of concrete wall to finished edgestone grade where directed. Original contract, $3,836.65; total addition, $293; contract as standing, $4,129.65.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT (Sewer Service).

An addition, amounting to $229.62, on contract with the West Roxbury Trap Rock Company for building Stony brook conduit, Section 10, West Roxbury, on account of leaving in place for the city's use in building flume from Station 24+83 to Station 25+0.990 feet B. M. of 2-inch sheeting and 2,092 feet B. M. 6-inch by 8-inch and 8-inch by 8-inch rangers and braces; furnishing cable machine and labor and moving material used by city in building screen and appurtenances by day labor with city force. Original contract, $109,052; total addition, $229.62; contract as standing, $109,281.62.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT (Sea Wall, etc., Roxbury Canal).

Additions, amounting to $1,925, on contract with W. S. Rendle for sea wall, platform and dredging at Roxbury canal, Albany street, on account of dredging area in Roxbury canal, between City Hospital property and Massachusetts avenue, in accordance with blueprint; and taking up and relaying coping stone on wall in Water yard. Original contract, $200,823; total additions, $2,825; contract as standing, $203,648.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT (Water Service).

An addition, amounting to $130.65 on contract with T. D. Russo for laying high-pressure fire pipes in Atlantic avenue, Edison Electric Company alley, Battery street and the adjoining property of the Boston Elevated Railway Company, on account of furnishing labor for removing and relocating 75 linear feet of 6-inch service pipes at Edison alley; and hauling inspector's shanty and material for Transit Commission, etc. Original contract, $13,745.75; total additions, $899.17; contract as standing, $14,644.92.

PERMISSION TO DO WORK WITH DEPARTMENT FORCE.

The Mayor has granted to the Commissioner of Public Works authority to do the following work with the department force without advertising for competitive bids:

To resurface with asphalt macadam Francis street, from Huntington avenue to Pilgrim road, Roxbury, the estimated cost for labor and material being $8,500.

To resurface with asphalt macadam Fenwood road, from Huntington avenue to Brookline avenue, Roxbury, the estimated cost for labor and material being $4,500.

To place ferryboat "General Sumner" on marine railway, take out tail shafts, replace with new ones if necessary, rewood stern bearings, etc., and have the work done by the Atlantic Works, without inviting proposals therefor by advertisement, the estimated cost for labor and material being $5,000.

The tail shaft of the "General Sumner" has been broken off, due to corrosion, and is in such condition that it cannot be welded. The other shaft is probably in nearly as bad condition and should be examined. The Atlantic Works Railway is the nearest one to the ferries and at present is the only marine railway unengaged. The Atlantic Works are well equipped to do the work in a good manner and expeditiously.

To regulate and resurface with asphalt macadam Crescent avenue, from Dorchester avenue across Carson street, South Boston, the estimated cost for labor and material being $2,500.

To resurface with tar macadam and regulate King street, from Adams street to Neponset avenue, the estimated cost for labor and material being $7,000.

To resurface with tar macadam and regulate Train street, from Victory road to Ashmont street, the estimated cost for labor and material being $6,500.

THE COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS.

In the Year One Thousand Nine Hundred and Twenty-One.

AN ACT PROVIDING RETIREMENT ALLOWANCES BASED ON ANNUITY AND PENSION CONTRIBUTIONS FOR EMPLOYEES OF THE CITY OF BOSTON AND COUNTY OF SUFFOLK.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives in General Court assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:

SECTION 1. This act shall be known as the Boston retirement act and its purpose is to improve the efficiency of the public service by the retirement of superannuated employees.

SECT. 2. The following words and phrases as used in this act, unless a different meaning is plainly required by the context, shall have the following meanings:

(a.) "Retirement system" shall mean the arrangement provided in this act for the retirement of and payment of retirement allowances to employees of the city of Boston and county of Suffolk.

(b.) "Employee" shall mean a regular and permanent employee of the city of Boston and county of Suffolk, except school teachers, whose only or principal employment is in the service of the city of Boston or county of Suffolk and whose compensation is wholly paid for by the city of Boston.

(c.) "Prior service" shall mean service as an employee prior to February 1, 1922.

(d.) "Member" shall mean any person included in the retirement system as provided in section five of this act.

(e.) "New entrant" shall mean an employee entering the service of the city of Boston or county of Suffolk on and after February 1, 1922.

(f.) "Accumulated deductions" shall mean the sum of all the amounts deducted from the compensation of a member or contributed by him, as provided in section six of this act and credited to his individual account in the annuity savings fund together with all the interest thereon.

(g.) "Superannuation" shall mean the attainment of sixty or more years of age.

(h.) "Pension" shall mean payments made from funds provided by the city.

(i.) "Regular interest" shall mean interest at four per centum per annum, compounded annually.

(j.) "Benefits" shall mean a pension or annuity allowance or any monetary payment made by the city of Boston.

(k.) "Fiscal year" shall mean the fiscal year of the city of Boston.

SECT. 3. The retirement system shall be established on the first day of February, 1922, and the system shall be known as the Boston retirement system.

SECT. 4. There shall be a retirement board for the retirement of employees of the city of Boston and county of Suffolk created within sixty days after the passage of this act, consisting of five members two of whom shall be the auditor and treasurer of the city of Boston. The mayor of the city of Boston, subject to the provisions of section nine of chapter four hundred eighty-six of the acts of nineteen hundred and nine, shall appoint the other three members of this board, one of whom shall be a member of or eligible to membership in this retirement system.

The mayor shall designate one of the appointed members as chairman. The term of office of the appointed members of this board shall be three years, except that when first constituted one member shall be appointed for one year, one for two years and one for three years. Each member of the retirement board shall be paid ten dollars per meeting, but not more than one thousand dollars in any one year. The retirement board shall employ an executive officer and such actuarial, clerical and other assistants as are necessary for the proper operation of the system established by this act.

SECT. 5. All employees of the city of Boston and county of Suffolk, except the school teachers of the city of Boston, on the date when this retirement system is established may become members of the system. On the expiration of sixty days from the date when this retirement system is established every employee except the employees covered by any pension or retirement law of the commonwealth of Massachusetts on the date when the retirement system is established shall be considered to have become a member of the retirement system unless within that period he shall have sent notice in writing to the retirement board that he does not wish to join the system. Employee selecting not to join within sixty days from the establishment of the system may thereafter be admitted to membership but no employee shall receive credit for prior service unless he applies for membership within one year from the establishment of the system. An employee who is eligible to a pension under any existing law of the commonwealth on the date when this retirement system is established shall not be considered to have become a member of this retirement system unless said employee shall then or thereafter make written application to join the system and shall waive and renounce in writing all benefits of any other pension system supported wholly by the city of Boston or county of Suffolk but no such employee shall receive credit for prior service unless he makes such application for membership within one year from the establishment of the system. All persons who become employees after the establishment of the system, except the school teachers of the city of Boston, shall as a part of their employment become members of this retirement system.

SECT. 6. The funds hereby created are the annuity savings fund, pension accumulation fund and the retirement reserve fund.

The annuity savings fund shall be the fund to which shall be paid the deductions from the compensation of members. The treasurer of the city of Boston is authorized to withhold four per cent of the regular compensation due on each pay day to all employees who are members of the retirement system. The amounts so withheld shall be transferred immediately thereafter to the retirement board and credited to the account of each member so contributing and shall be paid into and become a part of said annuity saving fund.

The pension accumulation fund shall be the fund in which shall be accumulated the annual normal and accumulated liability contributions which shall be made by the city. Such annual contributions as are sufficient to provide all pension payments on account of members of the retirement system as determined by actuarial computations on the basis of mortality and service tables approved by the retirement board, shall be paid by the treasurer of the city of Boston to the retirement board in such installments and at such times as the retirement board shall require.

The normal contributions shall be equal to such percentum of the salaries of all members as is computed to be sufficient to provide during the active service of the average new entrant for all pensions for which the city may be liable on his account.

The accumulated liability contribution shall be computed as a constant percentage of the total payroll of all members and shall be sufficient to provide during the thirty-year period immediately following the establishment of the system for all pensions to be paid on account of members who are entitled to credit for prior service when this system is established which are not provided by the normal contributions made on their account.

The accumulated liability contributions shall be at least equal to regular interest on the amount of the accumulated liability and shall be at least three per cent greater in amount each year than the amount for the preceding year. The accumulated liability contributions shall be discontinued as soon as the accumulated liability has been liquidated.

The retirement reserve fund shall be the fund to which at the death or retirement of any member shall be transferred:

(a.) from the annuity savings fund the accumulated deductions of the member, and

(b.) from the pension accumulation fund an amount equal to his accumulated deductions, and

(c.) from the pension accumulation fund in the case of a new entrant an amount necessary to cover the balance of the pension payments on this account not covered by paragraph (b).

SECT. 7. From the annuity savings fund shall be paid the accumulated deductions of all members leaving the service except by retirement.

From the retirement reserve fund shall be paid all pensions equal to the annuity and in the case of new entrants also the balance of the pensions payable on their account.

From the pension accumulation fund shall be paid in case of members who are entitled to credit for prior service that part of their pensions which is not payable from the retirement reserve fund.

SECT. 8. The retirement board is authorized to invest the funds of the retirement system in such securities as are allowed for investment by the sinking fund commissioners of the city of Boston.

The retirement board shall annually allow regular interest on the average balance for the preceding year to the credit of the various funds from the interest and dividends earned from investments. Any excess earnings over the amount so credited shall be used in reducing the amount of contributions required of the city of Boston during the ensuing year. Any deficiency shall be paid by the city of Boston during the ensuing year.

SECT. 9. Members of this retirement system who have reached sixty years of age shall upon their application, or upon the application of the head of their department, be retired for superannuation by the retirement board. Members of this retirement system who have attained the age of seventy shall be retired on the first day of the calendar month next succeeding that at which any member shall have attained the age of seventy.

SECT. 10. Upon retirement for superannuation a member of the retirement system shall receive a retirement allowance consisting of:

(a.) An annuity which shall be the actuarial equivalent of his accumulated deductions at the time of his retirement,

(b.) a pension equal to the annuity,

(c.) in addition if a member was in the service at the time the system was established and became a member within one year thereafter an additional pension having an actuarial value equivalent to twice the contributions which he would have made during his prior service had the system then been in operation, together with regular interest thereon upon retirement, but such pension shall not exceed one half of the annual compensation received by him during the year preceding his retirement.

SECT. 11. Retirement for ordinary disability shall be made by the retirement board upon the application of the head of the department in which the member is employed or upon the application of the member or person acting in his behalf stating that said member is physically or mentally incapacitated for the performance of duty and ought to be retired; provided, however, that said member has had fifteen or more years of city or county service next preceding his application, and the medical board after examination reports that said member is physically or mentally incapacitated for the performance of duty and that he should be retired.

SECT. 12. Upon retirement for ordinary disability the member shall receive a retirement allowance consisting of:

(a.) an annuity which shall be the actuarial equivalent of his accumulated deductions at the time of his retirement,

(b.) a pension equal to the annuity,

(c.) and an additional pension of such an amount as would together with the pension make up a total pension of ninety per cent of the pension that would have been provided by the city for the member had he remained without further change of salary in the service of the city or county until he reached the age of sixty and retired.

SECT. 13. Retirement for accidental disability shall be made by the retirement board upon the application of the head of the department in which the member is employed or of the member or of a person in his behalf stating that said member is physically or mentally incapacitated for the performance of duty as the result of an accident occurring during the performance and within the scope of his duty and certifying the time, place and conditions of such service performed by said member resulting in such alleged disability and that such alleged disability was not the result of contributory negligence on the part of said member and that he ought to be retired; provided, however, that the medical board after examination reports that said member is physically or mentally incapacitated for the performance of duty as a natural and proximate result of an accident occurring in the performance and within the scope of his duty and that such disability is not the result of contributory negligence on the part of said member and that said member should be retired.

SECT. 14. Upon retirement for accidental disability a member shall receive a retirement allowance consisting of:

(a.) an annuity which shall be the actuarial equivalent of his accumulated deductions at the time of his retirement,

(b.) a pension equal to the annuity,

(c.) an additional pension of such an amount as will together with the annuity and pension be equal to three fourths of his annual compensation at time of retirement.

SECT. 15. Accidental death benefits shall be granted by the retirement board upon application by the head of the department in which the member was employed or of a person in his behalf upon proof that he was killed or died as the result of an accident while in the performance and within the scope of his duty. Such accidental benefits shall be:

(a.) his accumulated deductions which shall be paid to his legal representatives,

(b.) a pension equal to one half of his annual salary received by him at the time of his death and shall be paid:

(1.) to his widow during her widowhood,

(2.) if there be no widow or if the widow dies or remarries before any child of such deceased member shall have attained the age of eighteen years, then to his child or children under said age divided in such manner as the board of retirement in its discretion shall determine, to continue as a joint and survivor pension until every such child dies or attains the age of eighteen years.

(3.) If there be no widow or child or children under the age of eighteen years surviving such deceased member then to his dependent father and mother and the survivor of them for life.

SECT. 16. Should a member cease to be an employee by resignation or discharge or for any reason other than death or retirement he shall be paid the amount of his accumulated deductions and his membership in the retirement system shall thereupon cease. Should a member while an employee die from any cause other than an accident on account of which a benefit is payable under section 14 of this act, his accumulated deductions shall be paid to his legal representatives.

SECT. 17. Until the first payment on account of any retirement benefit is made the beneficiary or if he be an incompetent then his wife or if he have no wife a conservator may elect to receive in lieu of the pension and annuity provided for in this system a lesser pension payable throughout life with the provision that:

Option 1.—If he die before he has received in payments the present value of his retirement allowance as it was at the time of his retirement, the balance shall be paid to his legal representatives or to such person having an insurable interest in his life as he, his wife or conservator shall nominate by written designation duly acknowledged and filed with the retirement board; or

Option 2.—Upon his death his pension shall be continued throughout the life of and paid to such person having an insurable interest in his life as he, his wife or conservator shall nominate by written designation duly acknowledged and filed with the retirement board at the time of his retirement; or

Option 3.—Upon his death one half his pension shall be continued throughout the life of and paid to such person having an insurable interest in his life as he, his wife or conservator shall nominate by written designation duly acknowledged and filed with the retirement board at the time of his retirement.

SECT. 18. There shall be a medical board of three physicians appointed by the trustees of the Boston city hospital on nominations made by the senior medical staff of said hospital, one of whom shall be a surgeon, one a medical practitioner and one a neurologist. The members of this medical board shall be appointed for a term of three years. The compensation of the members of the medical board shall be fixed by the retirement board with the approval of the mayor. The medical board shall arrange for and shall pass upon all medical examinations required under the provisions of this act and shall report in writing to the retirement board its conclusions and recommendations thereon.

SECT. 19. Once each year the retirement board shall require every person under the minimum age for service retirement who was retired for ordinary or accident disability to submit to a medical examination to be made at a place designated by the medical board. Upon the completion of such examination the medical board shall report and certify to the retirement board whether said beneficiary is still incapacitated physically or mentally for service in the department of the city or county where he was employed and of the rank or rating held by him when retired for disability. If the medical board shall find that the disability for which the member was retired has ceased, or if the member fails to submit to the said examination his pension shall cease. Should the retirement allowance of any disability beneficiary be cancelled the reserve on such retirement allowance in the retirement reserve fund shall be transferred to the pension accumulation fund after first returning to the person whose disability benefits have been cancelled or withdrawn under the provisions of this section that balance of the reserve which was transferred to the retirement reserve fund from the annuity savings fund when the member was retired for disability.

SECT. 20. The retirement board shall prepare and publish an annual report which shall also be printed in the City Record, showing the valuation of the assets and liabilities of the funds created by this act and a statement as to the accumulated cash and securities of the funds as certified by the city auditor and city treasurer and shall set forth in such reports such other facts, recommendations and data as may be of value to the members of the retirement system and the city of Boston.

The retirement board shall collect and keep in convenient form such data as shall be necessary for the preparation of the mortality and service tables and for the compilation of such other information as shall be necessary for the actuarial valuation of the assets and liabilities of the system.

In the five year period beginning with the year 1922 and in every five year period thereafter the actuary shall make an actuarial investigation into the mortality, service and compensation experience of the members and beneficiaries of the system and shall make a valuation of the assets and liabilities of the funds and taking into account the result of such investigation shall:

(a.) Adopt for the system such mortality, service and other tables as shall be deemed necessary, and

(b.) Certify the rates of contribution payable by the city of Boston under the provisions of this act.

On or before the establishment of the retirement system the actuary shall recommend to the board of retirement appropriate tables for use as a basis for making actuarial calculations preliminary to the preparation of tables based on the experience of members after the establishment of the system.

By the use of the mortality and service tables which shall be adopted from time to time, the actuary shall prepare annually a valuation of the assets and liabilities of the retirement system for publication in the annual report.

SECT. 21. The retirement board may make such rules and regulations as it may deem necessary to carry out the provisions of this act.

SECT. 22. Pensions and annuities under the provisions of this chapter shall be payable in equal monthly instalments.

SECT. 23. The right of a person to a pension, annuity or retirement allowance and the deductions from his salary and their accumulations and the right to the return of his deductions as created under this act are hereby exempted from any state or municipal tax and shall not be subject to executions, attachments by trustee process or otherwise in law or in equity or any other process whatsoever, and shall be non-assignable except as specifically provided in this act.

SECT. 24. The retirement board shall ascertain the aggregate amount to be paid by the city of Boston and county of Suffolk under the provisions of this act for each fiscal year and shall submit said amount to the mayor of the city of Boston not later than July first in each year.

SECT. 25. The funds necessary to pay the contributions of the city under this retirement system shall be obtained from funds raised by taxation and shall not be subject to the statutory tax limit of the city for municipal purposes as defined in section 1, chapter 401, of the Acts of 1920.

SECT. 26. Any amounts paid or payable under the provisions of the workmen's compensation law to a member or to the dependents of a member on account of death or disability shall be offset against and payable in lieu of any benefits payable out of funds provided by the city of Boston under the provisions of this act on account of the death or disability of the member. If the value of the total commuted benefits under the workmen's compensation law is less than the pension reserve on the benefits otherwise payable from funds provided by the city of Boston under this act, the value of the commuted payments shall be deducted from the pension reserve and such benefits as may be provided by the pension reserve so reduced shall be payable under the provisions of this act.

SECT. 27. No person who was a member of the retirement system and who receives a retirement allowance under the retirement system shall be paid for any service, except service as juror, rendered by him to the city of Boston or county of Suffolk after the date of the first payment of such retirement allowance.

SECT. 28. The Supreme Judicial Court shall have jurisdiction in equity upon the petition of the retirement board or any interested party to compel the observance and restrain violation of this act and the rules and regulations established hereunder.

SECT. 29. If it is impracticable for the retirement board to determine the length of service or salary, pay or compensation of any member the same shall be estimated by the retirement board.

SECT. 30. Nothing contained in this act shall affect the right or power of the city of Boston or county of Suffolk in regard to demotion, transfer, suspension or discharge of any employee.

SECT. 31. All acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed.

PUBLIC STREETS IN BOSTON, 1920.

Total length of the 2,443 paved streets, February 1, 1920, 603.71 miles; total area, 11,391,742 square yards, or 8.45 per cent of the City's total land area. This is exclusive of the private streets (not accepted), numbering about 2,840. 369.90 miles, or 62.93 per cent, are paved with macadam (including 113.22 miles bituminous macadam); 104.69 miles with granite blocks; 41.40 miles with asphalt; 32.13 miles with gravel; 23.65 miles with bitulithic; 10.66 miles with wood block; 5.46 miles with brick. Old macadam pavement is gradually being replaced with more satisfactory and durable kinds, such as bitulithic, concrete, granite block, etc. Granolithic sidewalks laid in 1919, 117,311 square yards or 22 miles, averaging about 8 feet wide, 50 per cent of cost assessed on estates benefited.

The 18 principal thoroughfares and traffic routes selected by the Mayor's committee of citizens in 1918 as in urgent need of repair have mostly been resurfaced with granite block, original estimate of cost being $1,506,200.

New highway construction ordered for 1917-19 and mostly completed includes 29 streets in Dorchester; 25 in West Roxbury; 12 in Roxbury; 14 in Brighton; 6 in East Boston; 2 in Hyde Park and 2 in South Boston, roadway pavement bitulithic or asphalt surface on concrete, and bituminous macadam. Gross debt outstanding February 1, 1920, for all street construction, including damages, $21,608,521 or $369,990 less than in 1919.

BOSTON PUBLIC LIBRARY.

HANDLING PASSENGER STEAMERS DIVERTED TO BOSTON.

April 12, 1921.

HON. ANDREW J. PETERS,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR MR. MAYOR,—Now that the emergency which necessitated the diversion to this port of passenger steamers is over, we feel we cannot let the occasion go by without expressing our very sincere appreciation of the consistent support and co-operation we have received from you and Mr. O'Brien, the Penal Commissioner, during this emergency.

It would have been quite impossible to have handled the ships that were diverted to this port unless we had received your support and it has been very gratifying to our company and we feel the other steamship lines realize the very keen interest you have displayed in regard to the Port of Boston, which has served to conclusively show that this port is able to handle passengers easily and expeditiously, and such results cannot but have a beneficial effect in the future on the port in general.

As a small memento of this emergency, might we ask you to accept, without compliments, a copy of "A Merchant Fleet at War," which is a history of the services of the Cunard line during the war.

Respectfully,

For the
CUNARD STEAMSHIP COMPANY, LTD.,
C. STEWART.

The salary is $1,800 per year. The examination is open to both men and women. The present vacancy, however, is to be filled by a man. Applicants must have had practical training in a public or private bacteriological or public health laboratory for at least two years, or have had equivalent training or experience. Applicants must be graduates of a recognized medical school in good standing. The subjects of examination with their respective weights will be as follows: Training and experience (4); written examination, including bacteriology, protozoology, helminthology, serology, hematology (4); practical laboratory examination in bacteriology technique (2); total (10).

GENERAL INFORMATION.

In certifying from the eligible lists established as a result of the examinations named above, preference will be given to veterans as provided for in chapter 150 of the General Acts of 1919.

Only citizens of the United States who have been residents of Massachusetts for the past year have a right to apply. Preference in certification will be given to applicants who, at the time of filing application, are residents of the city or town from which requisition is received. Application blanks may be obtained by applying in person or by letter at the office of the Department of Civil Service and Registration, Division of Civil Service, Rooms 148-152, State House, Boston.

CIVIL ENGINEERING SERVICE, CLASS 27, MAY 2, 1921.—CIVIL ENGINEERS.

These examinations are for the service of the state, all cities, and such towns as are classified under civil service.

Grade A.—Engineering assistants, drafting assistants, and rodmen, who perform under instruction and supervision elementary or apprentice work in the field or office.

It is prima facie evidence that a position in Class 27 is not in Grade A if the salary is less than $720 a year or more than $1,200 a year.

Qualifications.—The successful completion of not less than one year of training in an engineering course at an institution or college of recognized standing, or not less than one year of practical experience in field engineering or office work.

Grade B.—Senior engineering assistants, instrumentmen, and draftsmen (a) who assume responsibility for the execution of definite instructions in a minor division or section of engineering activity; or (b) who direct, under supervision, the operation of minor engineering projects.

It is prima facie evidence that a position in Class 27 is not in Grade B if the salary is more than $1,800 a year.

Qualifications.—If appointed by promotion, not less than one year of service in Grade A. If appointed otherwise than by promotion from Grade A, at least two years of practical experience in engineering work of Grade A character and standard; or such training in civil engineering as is evidenced by a professional degree granted on the completion of a standard course of instruction at an institution or college of recognized standing; or the successful completion of not less than two years' study in such institution, plus one year's practical experience in engineering work.

Grade C.—Assistant engineers, assistant civil engineers, and designing engineers: (a) who assume responsibility for the directions of surveys, the preparation and examination of, or advice upon, plans, designs and specifications for a minor section of a large engineering or a major section of a small engineering project; or (b) who supervise or inspect the construction or the operation of work on such a project; or (c) who operate a completed section of such a project; or (d) who make investigations of, and reports upon, such engineering projects as a basis for a report by an engineering superior.

It is prima facie evidence that a position in Class 27 is not in Grade C if the salary is more than $2,340 a year.

Qualifications.—If appointed by promotion within a department or major division thereof, not less than two years of service in Grade B, or, if appointed otherwise than by promotion from Grade B, within a department or major division thereof, at least five years of practical experience in engineering work, at least one-half of which shall have been appropriate to the particular branch of engineering work covered by the position, provided that a degree granted on the completion of a standard course of instruction by an engineering school of recognized standing shall be accepted as the equivalent of three years of practical experience.

Grade D.—Senior assistant engineers, senior assistant civil engineers, and senior designing engineers: (a) who supervise and assume complete responsibility for the work of a main division of an engineering organization, involving the direction of surveys and design and construction; or (b) who maintain and operate the major section of a large engineering project; or (c) who make independent investigations of and reports upon engineering projects as a basis for executive, administrative, or judicial action; or (d) who take charge of a large engineering department in the absence of the chief engineer; or (e) who give advice on large or complicated engineering projects, which may involve the preparations of plans.

It is prima facie evidence that a position in Class 27 is not in Grade D if the salary is more than $3,600 a year.

Qualifications.—If appointed by promotion, within a department or major division thereof, not less than three years of service in Grade C. If appointed otherwise than by promotion, within a department or major division thereof, at least eight years of practical experience in engineering work, at least one-half of which shall have been appropriate to the particular branch covered by the position, and two years of which shall have been in an executive capacity; provided, that a degree granted on the completion of a standard course of instruction by an engineering school of recognized standing shall be accepted as the equivalent of four years of practical experience.

Grade E.—Engineers and chief engineers (a) who perform duties which require the highest order of executive or advisory ability and specialized engineering knowledge and ability and which involve the making of decisions in administrative and engineering matters subject to statutory limitation only; or (b) who supervise and have complete responsibility for the work of a department or a large independent bureau of a department; or (c) who supervise the design and construction of engineering projects or works of great magnitude and complexity; or (d) who give independent expert or critical engineering advice of the highest order as a basis for executive, administrative, judicial or legislative action; or (e) who investigate independently and report upon large engineering projects.

It is prima facie evidence that a position in Class 27 is not in Grade E if the salary is less than $3,600 a year.

Qualifications.—If appointed by promotion, not less than four years of service in Grade D. If appointed otherwise than by promotion, at least twelve years of practical experience in engineering work, at least one-half of which shall have been appropriate to the particular branch of engineering covered by the position, and four years of which shall have been in a major executive capacity; provided, that a degree granted on the completion of a standard course of instruction by an engineering school or recognized standing shall be accepted as the equivalent of four years of practical experience.

No examination will be held for Grade E at this time. Whenever a vacancy occurs in this grade it will be duly advertised and all information regarding salary, duties, subjects and weights of examination, etc., will be stated.

SANITARY ENGINEERS, MAY 2, 1921.

These examinations are for the service of the state, all cities and such towns as are classified under civil service.

Grade A.—Engineering assistants who perform under instruction and supervision elementary or apprentice work in the field or office.

The salary and qualifications are the same as given above for civil engineers, Grade A.

Grade B.—Senior sanitary assistants (a) who assume responsibility for the execution of definite instructions in a minor division or section of engineering activity; or (b) who direct, under supervision, the operation of minor engineering projects.

The salary and qualifications are the same as for civil engineers, Grade B.

Subjects and Weights.—Experience (5); mathematics (3); elementary sanitary and hydraulic engineering (including water supply, water purification, sewerage, sewage disposal, and sanitation) (4); elementary engineering and theory (3); total (15). The mathematics is the same as for Grade B, civil engineering service embracing algebra and geometry along the lines under Grade A, and also trigonometry.

No examination will be held for Grades C, D and E at this time. Whenever a vacancy occurs in these grades it will be duly advertised and all information regarding salary, duties, subjects and weights of examination, etc., will be stated.

Reconstruction Aide in Physiotherapy (Female), Boston City Hospital, April 27, 1921.—There are two vacancies at $28 per week for full time service, and two at $14 per week for part time service. The duties of the position will consist of administering physiotherapeutic treatment, in its several branches, such as massage, electrotherapy, hydrotherapy, mechanotherapy, active, passive and assistive exercises and muscle re-education. Special stress will be laid on electrotherapy. Applicants must have had training and experience in physiotherapeutic work.

Janitors, May 27, 1921.—This examination will be held for the service of the state and all cities and such towns in the state as are classified under civil service. The subjects of examination with their respective weights will be as follows: Experience (5); special questions on the duties of the position (5); total (10). Applicants are required to obtain a mark of at least 50 per cent in practical questions. Successful applicants will also be given a physical examination.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

PROPOSALS FOR SEWERAGE WORKS IN WOOD AVENUE, BETWEEN OAKLAND AND NOAH STREETS, DORCHESTER AND HYDE PARK.

The Commissioner of Public Works of the City of Boston, office 508 City Hall Annex, invites proposals for sewerage works in Wood avenue, between Oakland street and Noah street, Dorchester and Hyde Park. A bond will be required for doing the work of a surety company approved by the Commissioner in the sum of two thousand (2,000) dollars to secure the due performance of the contract and the full protection of the city. Plans and proposals may be obtained at Room 508, City Hall Annex. Each proposal should be inclosed in an envelope, sealed, marked "Proposal for Sewerage Works in Wood avenue," and left at Room 508, fifth floor, City Hall Annex, before 12 m. on Monday, April 25, 1921, with a certified check for six hundred (600) dollars, payable to and to become the property of the city if the proposal after acceptance is not carried out. The proposals will then and there be publicly opened and read. Proposals must be made in duplicate, the sealed duplicate, without check, to be deposited by the bidder with the City Auditor previous to the time named for opening the proposals. If the price of any item appears to the Commissioner to be abnormally high or low, or the bidder neglects to bid on each and every item, it may lead to the rejection of the proposal containing such price. The undersigned reserves the right to reject any or all proposals or to award the contract as he deems best.

MUNICIPAL SERVICE.

Complaints, inquiries or suggestions regarding the work of municipal departments should be made in writing to the officials directly in charge. The failure of such officials to make reply within a reasonable length of time should be brought to the attention of the Mayor. Communications should be directed as follows:

TO THE BOARD OF STREET COMMISSIONERS, Room 401, City Hall Annex, for information relative to the laying out, relocation, widening and the discontinuance of highways; the taking of real property for municipal purposes; the assessments of betterments for streets and sewers; the plotting of undeveloped areas for streets and the opening of private ways; the granting of licenses for the storage or sale of merchandise in public streets; the regulation of street traffic; the making of specific repairs in public streets, the naming of public streets, the planting and removal of trees in public ways, the issuing of licenses for the storage of gasoline, oil and other inflammable substances or explosive compounds, the use of the public ways for any permanent or temporary obstruction or projection in, under or over the same, including the location of conduits, poles and posts for telephone, telegraph, street railway or illuminating purposes, signs, marqueses, bay windows, coal holes and vaults.

TO THE COMMISSIONER OF PUBLIC WORKS, Room 511, City Hall Annex, for information as to the watering, cleaning, lighting and repairing of streets, the construction and care of sewers and catch-basins, the operation of the ferries, the maintenance of bridges and drawbridges and the removal of ashes and offal.

TO ROOM 604, CITY HALL ANNEX, for information relative to the supplying or metering of water and the water charges of the city.

TO THE HEALTH DEPARTMENT, Room 1107, City Hall Annex, for information relative to the inspection of milk, vinegar, meat, fish and vegetables, the issuance of permits for stables, slaughter houses, etc., smoke nuisances, the existence of contagious diseases or public health nuisances.

TO THE BOARD OF PARK COMMISSIONERS, 33 Beacon street, for information as to the care of the Common, Public Garden, Franklin Park, Franklin Field, Commonwealth avenue, Back Bay Fens, Marine Park and the small parks and playgrounds in general throughout the city, and as to the extermination of gypsy moths and the charges made for such service. Application may be made to this department for information regarding the public baths and gymnasiums maintained by the city, and with regard to municipal indoor concerts and band concerts; also information relative to Mount Hope, Evergreen, Fairview and other public cemeteries owned by the City of Boston.

TO THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE, 26 Mason street, for information relative to the operation of the schools of the city.

TO THE SCHOOLHOUSE COMMISSIONERS, Room 1007, City Hall Annex, for information as to the construction and repair of school buildings.

TO THE BOARD OF EXAMINERS, Room 1001, City Hall Annex, for information regarding the licensing of persons having charge or control of the work of construction, alteration, removal or tearing down of buildings.

TO THE WIRE DIVISION OF THE FIRE DEPARTMENT, Room 905, City Hall Annex, for all information relative to the erection of poles, the building of conduits, the installation of wires and electrical apparatus. Also to the same office for permits for the installing of wires and electrical apparatus within buildings in the City of Boston, and for the payment of fees incident to the granting of the privileges above named, and which must invariably be paid in advance.

INSTITUTIONS DEPARTMENT.

Pump.

On April 14 to Walworth English-Flett Company as per following communication.

BOSTON 9, April 14, 1921.

HON. ANDREW J. PETERS,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—On January 28 your Honor approved my awarding a contract to the Walworth English-Flett Company for the installation of a fire protection system, including automatic sprinkler equipment with electric and gasoline pump and two pressure tanks for the Boston Almshouse and Hospital. Advertisements and proposals for the above described work, and also for additional work included in Item 2, which I shall refer to below, were duly made in the City Record of January 8 and January 15.

No action was taken on Item 2, of the specifications, which formed the basis of proposals received, and which provided for the installation of a fire pump for the steamer "George A. Hibbard" because it was felt that a new pump might be installed at less cost. Proposals received for work under Item 2 were as follows:

Automatic Sprinkler Company.....	$5,700
Globe Automatic Sprinkler Company....	9,000
Grinnell Company.....	8,216
Independent Aetna Sprinkler Company..	10,385
Rhode Island Sprinkler Company.....	5,438
Rockwood Sprinkler Company.....	5,900
Walworth English-Flett Company.....	4,868
Massachusetts Sprinkler Company.....	4,360

Mr Wilson and Mr. Clayton of the Building Department advised rejecting the proposals received, and further proposals were invited for the furnishing of a new pump from Goulds Manufacturing Company, Cameron Steam Pump Works, Worthington Pump and Machinery, Inc., and the Walworth English-Flett Company. Their proposals are as follows:

Goulds Manufacturing Company.....	$3,483
Cameron Steam Pump Works.....	3,366
Worthington Pump and Machinery Company.....	3,239
Walworth English-Flett Company.....	3,094

None of these proposals included the cost of installing and connecting up with the salt water system, Walworth English-Flett's price bid the lowest, and the fact that they are doing the rest of the work caused me to inquire of them their charge of installing and connecting the pump to the salt water system, which will amount to $1,000, making a total cost of $4,094 for furnishing and installing a centrifugal pump with a capacity of 750 gallons per minute.

I respectfully ask that your Honor permit me to award the contract for furnishing and installing said pump to the Walworth English-Flett Company. I transmit herewith a copy of their proposal.

Yours respectfully,

THOMAS C. O'BRIEN,
Commissioner.

WITHOUT ADVERTISING.

The Mayor has approved the following contracts awarded without advertising; requests of heads of departments to do work with the department forces without advertising; additions to and deductions from contracts.

PUBLIC BUILDINGS DEPARTMENT.

BOSTON, April 18, 1921.

HON. ANDREW J. PETERS,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—In connection with the recent fire at the Old State House, I wish to say that if the roofing and windows are not fixed immediately they are liable to cause further damage to the building, a condition which I do not wish to obtain.

Having this thought in mind, I respectfully request permission to do such carpentry and roofing work as is necessary to restore the building to normal conditions, without the usual form of advertising, as I feel that this work will exceed $1,000, the limit allowed by law.

Respectfully yours,

FRED J. KNEELAND,
Superintendent of Public Buildings.

Approved April 20, 1921.

ANDREW J. PETERS, Mayor.

SUPPLY DEPARTMENT.

ARTIFICIAL STONE SIDEWALKS.

Boston, April 18, 1921.

To the Mayor of Boston:

Permission to award a contract for the construction of artificial stone sidewalks in the public streets, without advertising, to Sylvester Connolly, 47 Draper street, Dorchester; Joseph Todesca, 105 Walworth street, West Roxbury, and Bernard F. Hanrahan, 190 Paris street, East Boston, are hereby requested on the ground that these contractors are not selected by the city in the first instance, but by the abutters, and secondly, the expense of construction being divided by the city and abutters; also because such contracts vary greatly in amounts and seldom involve one thousand (1,000) dollars.

Respectfully yours,

T. F. SULLIVAN,
Commissioner of Public Works.

April 20, 1921.

The authority requested is hereby given.

ANDREW J. PETERS, Mayor.

RE SOLDIERS' RELIEF.—STATE- MENT BY MAYOR PETERS.

I have been much distressed by the accounts which have recently appeared in the newspapers claiming that certain veterans had not been given as prompt treatment as they felt they should have in the Soldiers' Relief Department. As a matter of fact, everything that is humanly possible to do is being done as rapidly as possible to care for the cases which require aid. It has been found that many of these applicants who stated to the officials of the department that they were in utter destitution were found by the visitor to be far from that condition. It can truthfully be said that so far as any of the members of the department know, there has been no case of actual suffering caused by any delay in handling applications.

No men who were manifestly disabled have been compelled to stand in line for hours. All men who were hospital cases, or in a weak condition, have been taken in advance of men physically able. It is obvious that if only so many men can be taken each day, a certain number will have to wait until the next day. If there is a long line of men waiting to have their applications taken, naturally some will have to wait. If a young man is living at home, and has food and shelter, his case is not considered to be an urgent one. In the case of men with families, and men who are living out and who are obliged to pay room rent and board, their claims are naturally the first considered.

Many of the men who form in line here each morning are on the pay roll, and asking an advance in their aid. A large number of them apply for advances very frequently, and judgment is exercised in granting these demands, as the impression is that many of these advances are not needed. It does not seem that a single man, living at home and being cared for by his relatives, can be in such need as to require four or five advances a month.

It may be said that all the members of the Soldiers' Relief Department are making every effort to satisfy the demands of the applicants, and as stated in the beginning, it can truthfully be said that up to the present time no case has been found where there has been any actual suffering caused by any delay in the department.

Regarding the questions asked of soldiers seeking aid, none are asked which are not absolutely essential. The aid allowed by this department is dependent upon legal restrictions, and before the man's eligibility can be determined, it is necessary to have the information asked for.

RE GARBAGE CONTRACT.

Boston, March 30, 1921.

HON. ANDREW J. PETERS,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—It is my understanding that the city of New Bedford has purchased the New Bedford Extractor Company's garbage plant at an appraised valuation, owing to the inability of the company to continue operations on account of existing conditions as to the sale of by-products and excessive costs of operation.

Toledo, Ohio, has advanced the price of treating the garbage of that city from twenty-five cents per ton to $1.30 per ton.

Detroit, Mich., has canceled the contract that had three years longer to run and made a new one for an extended period at an increased price.

The city of Pittsburgh, Pa., is paying several hundred thousand dollars more for the work in 1921 than it paid in 1920.

You have received through the examination of our books the knowledge that this company lost money for the past three years in operation. Conditions since the examination of the books have steadily grown worse. The best offer that I could obtain last week for our grease was two cents per pound. The cost of manufacturing is seven and one half cents per pound, exclusive of overhead, insurance, depreciation and maintenance.

Tankage can no longer be manufactured as there is absolutely no market, all fertilizer manufacturers' storehouses being filled.

Evidence has been given you beyond a doubt of our desire to carry on and go through with our contract, but without any revenue from sales, you are asking more than human flesh can stand to expect business men to dig for fifty to sixty thousand dollars monthly when offset with only a $12,000 check from the city.

Action should be taken promptly to afford relief to this company. Relief can be given, either through the purchase of the company's plants by the city or by a substantial increase in payment for the service rendered. Some relief could also be afforded by cancellation of the one thousand dollar charge per month against us for the closing down of Ward Street Station, together with a rebate of water charges, as well as taxes on our plants.

Our business in distinctly a specialized operation and the loss to the city in the carrying on of our contract should we be compelled to discontinue, through failure of the city to give us relief, will cost the city double that which we are asking.

It must be borne in mind that the city is not altogether blameless for the conditions that confront this company, and we must, of necessity look to the courts for justice, if we cannot receive that measure of immediate relief which will aid us to continue through to the expiration of our contract.

Yours very truly,

BOSTON DEVELOPMENT AND SANITARY COMPANY.

CHARLES CRANFORD, President.

The Mayor's reply is as follows:

Boston 9, April 15, 1921.

Mr. CHARLES CRANFORD,
President Boston Development and Sanitary Company, Old South Building, Boston:

DEAR SIR,—Your letter of March 30 urging that the city take immediate action to give relief to your company in connection with the garbage disposal contract was laid before my Committee on Garbage Disposal. The committee has thoroughly considered the situation and summed up as briefly as possible. It is as follows:

The committee can see no way in which the relief you request could be afforded. In order to convey to you in an accurate manner the sense of the committee, I will quote from the report which I have just received:

"Reduced to its simplest terms the proposal submitted to you by the Boston Development and Sanitary Company is this: That because changes in economic conditions during and subsequent to the war, and arising out of the war, have made operations under the contract between the company and the City of Boston unprofitable, the city shall assume the burden of such loss as may occur during the remainder of the life of the contract, or assume the burden of a very substantial part of such loss. The company make no claim to such a relief as a matter of right under any clause written in the contract, but bases its request for relief solely upon the equities of the situation. Your committee could find, however, no sufficiently definite distinction between the outstanding garbage contract and other contracts into which the city has entered in the past and into which it may enter in the future that would enable your committee to advise your Honor to recast the outstanding garbage contract on the equities of the case, at a considerably increased cost to the city, that would not justify demands from other contractors, large and small, for the rewriting of their respective contracts, for their benefit and to the detriment of the city, whenever by reason of changes in economic conditions that they did not and possibly could not foresee they were threatened with loss. Furthermore, the establishment of the principle of readjusting municipal contracts from time to time on the basis of the supposed equities of the case, for the relief of contractors, would pave the way for the gravest of abuses, among such abuses being probably the manipulation of bids in the first instance with the expectation of supposedly equitable adjustments later, and unless the general principle were established, that whenever the profits of a contractor increased unduly by changed economic conditions the city should receive a rebate on the contract price, the whole situation would be ludicrous.

"For the reasons stated above, your committee can recommend no action by you for the relief of the Boston Development and Sanitary Company."

The attitude of the committee has my complete indorsement.

Very truly yours,

ANDREW J. PETERS, Mayor.

EXCAVATING IN HYDE PARK AVENUE.

BOSTON 9, April 9, 1921.

To the Honorable the Mayor:

On September 7, 1920, you authorized the awarding of a contract amounting to $6,000, to the Eastern Massachusetts Railway Company, for excavating the track area on Hyde Park avenue, between Metropolitan avenue and River street. The usual form of contract was sent to the Eastern Massachusetts Railway Company, and held there until after the work had been completed, when their Law Department decided they were without authority to sign such contract. In the meantime the work was done by their contractor.

I therefore request your approval of the bill of Gore, Inc., for $4,428, in substitution for your authorization of September 7, 1920.

Yours respectfully,

T. F. SULLIVAN,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Approved April 20, 1921.

PROCEEDINGS OF CITY COUNCIL.

Monday, April 11, 1921.

Regular meeting of the City Council, held in the Council Chamber, City Hall, at two o'clock p. m. Coun. HAGAN, senior member, presiding and all members present.

VETO—DISAPPROVAL OF GASOLENE LICENSE, SOUTH BOSTON.

The following was received:

City of Boston.

Office of the Mayor, April 8, 1921.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I am herewith returning without my signature the order passed by the City Council on April 4 disapproving "the granting of a license for the keeping, storage and sale of gasoline by the Michigan Tanning and Extract Company on premises at the corner of East First and P streets, South Boston."

The order is without effect, inasmuch as the petitioners had, prior to the passage of the order, requested permission from the Board of Street Commissioners for leave to withdraw their application and such permission had been granted. It is for this reason that I am vetoing the order.

Respectfully yours,

ANDREW J. PETERS, Mayor.

Placed on file.

VETO—WILLIAM J. MCKAY SQUARE.

The following was received:

City of Boston.

Office of the Mayor, April 6, 1921.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I am herewith returning without my signature the order passed by the City Council on April 4, giving the name of William J. McKay square to the junction of Emerson and Fourth streets, South Boston, as by an order of the City Council on March 28 this space was given the name of E. K. Littlefield square.

Respectfully yours,

ANDREW J. PETERS, Mayor.

Placed on file.

REBUILDING OF CAMBRIDGE STREET BRIDGE.

The following was received:

City of Boston.

Office of the Mayor, April 8, 1921.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—Under date of April 5, 1921, I received a letter from the Commissioner of Public Works, a copy of which I herewith inclose, stating that it was necessary to have the Cambridge Street Bridge over the Boston & Albany Railroad in the Allston district rebuilt, as it had been closed to car traffic for some time and partially closed to teaming traffic. Before these repairs are made it is necessary that the City Council should pass the accompanying order so that application can be made to the Department of Public Utilities and that thereafter an application be made to the Superior Court for the appointment of a commission to determine who should carry the order of the Department of Public Utilities into effect, and by whom the expenses of the alterations should be borne.

I therefore recommend the passage of the accompanying order.

Respectfully yours,

ANDREW J. PETERS, Mayor.

Public Works Department,

Boston 9, April 5, 1921.

To the Honorable the Mayor:

The Cambridge Street Bridge over the Boston & Albany Railroad, Allston, should be rebuilt during this year, it having been closed to car traffic for some time and partially closed to teaming traffic.

I therefore respectfully suggest that the usual procedure be followed, that is, have the Law Department prepare a petition for presentation by the Mayor and City Council to the Public Utilities Commission for a decision as to the necessity of rebuilding. If the Public Utilities Commission decides that it is necessary to rebuild, a petition is then presented to the Superior Court for a commission to decide who shall rebuild the bridge and apportion the cost.

In this particular case the City of Boston will undoubtedly be the party to rebuild the superstructure, as it was originally built by the city.

The estimated cost of this work is $175,000.

Very respectfully,

T. F. SULLIVAN,

Commissioner of Public Works.

Whereas, Cambridge street in the Allston district, a public way in the City of Boston, crosses the tracks of the Boston & Albany Railroad by an overhead bridge; and

Whereas, We are of the opinion that it is necessary for the security and convenience of the public that an alteration which does not involve the abolition of the crossing at grade should be made in said overhead bridge and its approaches;

Ordered, That the Corporation Counsel, in the name of the City Council of Boston, apply to the Department of Public Utilities for its decision upon the necessity of such alteration, and for prescribing the manner and limits within which it shall be made; and if the decision of the Department of Public Utilities is that an alteration is necessary, that the Corporation Counsel take such legal proceedings as are necessary to have such decision carried into effect in compliance with sections 59 to 64, both inclusive, of chapter 159 of the General Laws of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

PLUMBING SYSTEM, CHARLES STREET JAIL.

The following was received:

City of Boston.

Office of the Mayor, April 6, 1921.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I am herewith transmitting a copy of a communication received from the Sheriff of the County of Suffolk relative to the installation of a modern plumbing system in the Charles Street Jail. I agree with the Sheriff that the installation of such a system is an immediate necessity, and as such an installation will be something entirely new I recommend that its cost be met by the proceeds of a loan. I recommend the passage of the accompanying order.

Respectfully yours,

ANDREW J. PETERS, Mayor.

Office of Sheriff,

Courthouse, Boston, April 6, 1921.

Hon. Andrew J. Peters,

Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—I beg to call your attention to the unsanitary condition prevailing in the cells of the Suffolk County Jail, due to the lack of flush toilets and running water. The unhealthy, obsolete bucket system still obtains. Embraced within the general scheme of renovating this old structure is the installation of flush toilets and running water, thereby eliminating the present disgusting method.

There has never been a modern plumbing system in this institution, and as its introduction would be a new and permanent improvement I respectfully request that provision be made for an appropriation of fifty thousand dollars ($50,000), which, according to estimates received, will meet the cost.

Very respectfully yours,

JOHN A. KELIHER,

Sheriff of County of Suffolk.

Ordered, That the sum of $50,000 be and hereby is appropriated, to be expended by the Sheriff of Suffolk County, for the installation of a modern plumbing system in the Charles Street Jail, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be authorized, from time to time, on the request of the Mayor, to issue bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the City of Boston to said amount.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

RESOLUTIONS CONCERNING CITY TREASURER MURRAY.

Coun. BRICKLEY offered the following:

Whereas, City Treasurer Thomas W. Murray has announced that he is to sever his official connection with the City of Boston as its treasurer; and

Whereas, During his term as City Treasurer he has shown his remarkable financial capacity and ability by conserving the funds of the city during a series of bank troubles; and

Whereas, He has measured up in every way as a faithful public official and splendid executive; therefore be it

Resolved, That he retires from his office with the best wishes of the City Council for his future career and its appreciation of his service to the City of Boston.

Ordered, That the City Clerk be requested to send a copy of these preambles and order to City Treasurer Thomas W. Murray.

Passed by a unanimous vote.

RALPH LACARBONARA SQUARE.

Coun. COLLINS offered an order—That the space at the junction of Hanover, Washington and Friend streets be named and known as Ralph LaCarbonara square in honor of Seaman LaCarbonara, who was killed by a torpedo from a German submarine while serving aboard the U. S. S. "Ticonderoga," and that said space be suitably marked with signs.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

ALFRED WISNISKI SQUARE.

Coun. COLLINS offered an order—That the space at the junction of North Margin and Endicott streets be named and known as Alfred Wisniski square, in honor of said Wisniski, who was killed in action during the World War while serving as a private in the Eight Machine Gun Battalion, Third Division, and that said space be suitably marked with signs.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

SIDEWALK ORDERS.

Coun. COLLINS offered an order—That the Commissioner of Public Works make a sidewalk along Westville street, on south side between Nos. 61 and 89, and on north side between Nos. 60 and 74, Ward 18, in front of the estates bordering thereon, said sidewalk to be from 3 to 10 inches above the gutter adjoining, to be from 5 to 12 feet in width, and to be built of artificial stone with granite edgestone, under the provisions of chapter 196 of the Special Acts of 1917.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

Coun. COLLINS offered an order—That the Commissioner of Public Works make a sidewalk along Park street, both sides, from Washington street to Greenbrier street, Ward 19, in front of the estates bordering thereon, said sidewalk to be from 3 to 10 inches above the gutter adjoining, to be from 5 to 12 feet in width, and to be built of artificial stone with granite edgestone, under the provisions of chapter 196 of the Special Acts of 1917.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

Coun. WATSON offered an order—That the Commissioner of Public Works make a sidewalk along Moore street, East Boston, from Bennington street to Cowper street, and on Cowper street from Moore street across Short street, in front of the estate bordering thereon, said sidewalk to be from 3 to 10 inches above the gutter adjoining, to be from 5 to 12 feet in width, and to be built of artificial stone with granite edgestone, under the provisions of chapter 196 of the Special Acts of 1917.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

POLICE PROTECTION FOR SCHOOL CHILDREN.

Coun. WATSON offered an order—That the Police Commissioner be requested to order a policeman to be stationed on the crosswalks crossing Tremont street at and near Cabot, Hammond and Davenport streets, for the protection of school children immediately before and after each school session.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

CITY REVENUE FROM PARKING SPACE.

Coun. WATSON offered an order—That his Honor the Mayor be requested to send to the City Council an ordinance or an order that will permit of the securing of revenue to the city from the parking space now used as a public free parking space on Charles street, between Beacon and Boylston streets.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

Later in the session the order was recalled from the committee, on motion of Coun. WATSON, and was passed, under a suspension of the rule.

REFUND OF MONEY BY ELECTRIC COMPANY.

Coun. WATSON offered an order—That his Honor the Mayor inform the City Council what action, if any, he has taken relative to the orders introduced and passed by the Council on Monday, February 21, 1921, and Monday, March 7, 1921, calling upon the Mayor to instruct the Law Department to compel the Edison Company to refund money to the city for charges made under the so-called "fuel clause," and asking the Mayor to instruct the City Auditor to withhold approval of all bills rendered by the Edison Company for fuel charges under the so-called "fuel clause" on and after the date of the order, and that his Honor the Mayor instruct the Law Department to proceed at once to secure a reduction in the price of gas and electricity for the consumers of the City of Boston.

The order was declared referred to the Executive Committee.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, I move reconsideration of the reference. This body has accomplished some good in the matter of securing justice for the people of Boston and the state in the matter of treatment accorded by the lighting interests. Of five measures containing the emergency preamble that were introduced into the Legislature upon the petition of the attorney for the lighting companies of Massachusetts, all with the exception of one have been defeated. That one measure is, in all probability, the most vicious of the entire five, but I am informed by Representative Shattuck, whom I have known but a short time, and Representative Silbert, who led the fight against the premium bill, that the Committee on Light and Power will not recommend the passage of the measure, but at best will recommend that it be referred to the next General Court. I again repeat that the City Council, with limited powers, plus public sentiment, has done wonderful work in the interest of the public. But the all-essential proposition, the thing that we all desire most—that is, the reduction in the price of gas and electricity—has not been accomplished. Nothing will be accomplished unless the fight is continued, and from the indications as I see them this body, with limited influence, must be the instrument by which good may result in the way of reduction of price of gas and electricity to the consuming public. Therefore I have introduced the order just read, Mr. President, which has been referred by you to the Executive Committee for the purpose of keeping the matter alive, with the assistance of my eight colleagues and, while I am on my feet, in order that they may be spread upon the records of this body, in order that these matters may be made matters of public record, so that later they may be referred to in the process of checking up or proving their worth or unworthiness. I intend to read some communications and make reference to other matters that are very germane to the proposition. This body passed an order two weeks ago calling for an investigation with a view to bringing about a reduction in the price of gas and electricity to the City of Boston, not to the consuming public, because we have no power to act for the consuming public. But we have a right to act for the city so far as it uses gas and electricity. If, however, we can take action which will result in the reduction of the price of gas and electricity to the City of Boston, the amount paid for lighting the public buildings of the city, a reduction in price to the consuming public will naturally follow a reduction in price to the municipality. The order I introduced two weeks ago asked the Mayor to send to this body an order appropriating $5,000 in order that we might possibly prosecute this matter and attempt to reduce the price of gas and electricity used in the public buildings to the City of Boston. That order will meet with one or two fates. Either his Honor the Mayor will let it lie on his desk, or he will send back an order recommending the appropriation of $5,000 to prosecute our contest. I don't know what action he will take concerning it, but I do know that I had an interview with the Corporation Counsel at his suggestion. For the present, at the request of Mr. Hill, I am not going to make public what took place at the interview. I am not going to say anything concerning the $5,000 appropriation that has been proposed until his Honor the Mayor has had a chance to look further into the matter. But if he follows the recommendation of the Law Department there will be no investigation and attempt to reduce the price of gas and electricity to the municipality, because Mr. Hill is opposed to it in the way we suggest. However, I shall make no comment or suggestion with reference to what took place between his Honor the Mayor and myself at our interview, or the interview that I had with Mr. Arthur D. Hill, Mr. Wiswall, Mr. Hill's partner, or Mr. Joseph D. Lyons, the assistant Corporation Counsel, until the Mayor has taken a definite stand concerning the order I have referred to. But there are three orders that have been sent to the Mayor, some of them many weeks ago, to which there has been no response, or in regard to which we have received no information as to what has happened concerning them, and I simply have the feeling that, as we have here started something for the benefit of the public, we should continue it to its ultimate conclusion, either failure or success. I will, therefore, say no more now concerning the last order, asking that $5,000 be appropriated for purposes of investigation, having in view the lowering of the rate for gas and electricity; but I will say something today concerning the order I have just introduced, the object of which is to have placed upon our minutes all possible facts which will throw light upon the situation. There has been quite a contest throughout the country on the part of consumers of gas and electricity to obtain a reduction in the price of those commodities, and in many cases the contest has ended successfully. The last contest was in Elmira, N. Y., and I have letters here which it would take a long time for me to read, but which I will submit to the stenographer, so that they may be a part of the record and the members may read them later. I shall only refer to them at the present time in a general way. The letters are from a firm of leading engineers in public utility, gas and electric lighting matters, letters of recent date. I shall ask the stenographer to omit the headings of the letters and the signature, because I am pledged to confidence with reference to the individual. But any member may see the names and know the man who signs them and check them up if he desires, later. It is sufficient for me to say that I believe, on my word of honor, that the writer is a member of an engineering concern that has to do with public utilities, gas and electric lighting and street railway matters, a concern that is well known in New England and throughout the United States. He has written me several letters and has interviewed me, and he sent to me this letter on March 23, 1921. There is the usual salutation, "Dear Mr. Watson," and then it says:

"I note from the papers that your agitation is having its effect, and that Mr. Shattuck is doing his part in the Legislature, all of which is encouraging.

"I wrote Mr. Ballard regarding this matter, and inclose herewith copy of his letter to me and the letter from the Corporation Counsel of Elmira, to whom he refers. Bear in mind, however, that they procure coal at much lower prices than obtained in New England, and as the fuel cost is the major part of the cost per kilowatt hour (for power house), their rates could naturally be lower than ours in New England.

"I trust this information will help a little, and shall continue sending you any data bearing on the subject until you say, 'Hold—enough.'"

It is signed by the gentleman to whom I referred in my opening. I will now refer in a general way to and merely skim the surface of a communication sent to this gentleman by F. W. Ballard of F. W. Ballard & Co., engineers, Swetland Building, Cleveland, Ohio, written to my friend who gave me this information, and I will first refer to the postscript:

"At Cleveland the man who put the plan across was Frederick W. Ballard, Swetland Building, Cleveland, and in Philadelphia, Mr. Morris L. Cooke, 401 West Walnut lane, Germantown, Pennsylvania."

Mr. Morris L. Cooke is the former Commissioner of Public Works in the city of Philadelphia and an editor of the "Utilities Magazine," and associated with him in the Utilities Bureau are Frederick A. Cleveland, director of the New York Bureau of Municipal Research; Leo S. Rowe, educator, of Philadelphia, professor of political science, University of Pennsylvania, president of the American Academy of Political and Social Science; Samuel S. Fels, manufacturer, of Philadelphia; Felix Frankfurter, administrator and lawyer, Cambridge, Mass., professor of law in Harvard University; Chester H. Rowell, publisher, of Fresno, Calif.; Charles F. Jenkins, of Philadelphia, publisher of the "Farm Journal," and Charles R. Van Hise, educator, of Madison, Wis., president of the University of Wisconsin. They are the trustees. Morris Llewellyn Cooke is the acting director of the Utilities Bureau and the editor of the "Utilities Magazine." The officers of the Board of Trustees are Charles R. Van Hise, president; Samuel S. Fels, treasurer, and Clyde Lyndon King, secretary. I simply desire to call to your attention the importance, at least on paper, of the gentlemen associated with Mr. Morris Llewellyn Cooke, formerly Commissioner of Public Works in Philadelphia, who compelled the United Lighting Companies of Philadelphia to reduce the cost of electricity and gas to the consuming public of Philadelphia. Finally, because of their tremendous influence, the companies were able to get his head, to use the vernacular of the day. But he is prosecuting his work through other channels and remains true to his conscience and true to his desire to serve the public. I will now read the letter of the F. W. Ballard Company, engineers, Swetland Building, Cleveland, Ohio, signed by F. W. Ballard. I will omit the name of the gentleman to whom he is writing, the gentleman to whom I have referred heretofore, and merely quote the contents of the letter:

"I wish to acknowledge receipt of your favor of the 21st and was very glad indeed to hear from you.

"I note what you have to say in regard to your rate case coming up again in Boston. I certainly would be glad to help you out and will hold myself in readiness to serve you in any way possible when the opportunity presents itself."

May I digress for a moment? I am willing to admit frankly that my remarks today are of a dry nature and may not be of interest to the Council, but I am perfectly willing to rest content with having them spread on the records, believing that my associates will acquaint themselves with the contents of these letters and my remarks pertaining to this very important proposition, looking to a reduction in the price of very necessary commodities, gas and electricity. I will continue reading the letter:

"My experience in this kind of work is growing every day and I feel that I am getting more and more in line for handling these propositions. I am sending you inclosed herewith a copy of a letter recently received from the Corporation Counsel of the city of Elmira, N. Y., which will be self-explanatory and will show you what we did for them. We have been doing work for the city of Elmira for the past four years, having had a gas case, a street railway fare case and finally this electric rate case. Before we started the electric rate case the maximum rate was 15 cents per kilowatt hour, voluntarily reduced by the company to 10 cents per kilowatt hour after the case was started. The decision in this case has just been handed down by the Public Service Commission at Albany, the advance information being given to me in this letter from M. Danaher, all of which is very gratifying to me. With kindest personal regards, I am,

Very sincerely yours,
F. W. BALLARD & Co.,
F. W. BALLARD."

The date of this letter, by the way, is March 22, 1921. Then there is this letter of March 5, 1921:

"Department of Law, Elmira, N. Y.

Michael Danaher, Corporation Counsel.

"Mr. F. W. Ballard, Consulting Engineer,
Swetland Building, Cleveland, Ohio:

"My dear Sir,—I have mailed you under separate cover a typewritten copy of Judge Kellogg's opinion in the Elmira electric rate case. While in Albany Thursday I obtained a copy of the opinion, and upon my return to Elmira had a copy made for you. The printed copy can be obtained later from the commission. I requested the secretary to mail you a copy of the printed opinion in the street car rate case, which he assured me he would do.

"The rates for commercial and metered users have been reduced to 8 cents for the first 20 kilowatt hours and 6 cents for all in excess of 20 kilowatt hours, with a minimum charge of $1. No service charge is made. The average rate for commercial and metered users will be about 7 cents per kilowatt hour. The decision, therefore, is all that we could reasonably expect, and will, I am sure, satisfy the people of Elmira. While the total expense to the city for street lighting will exceed the amount heretofore paid, the city under the new plan will have much better street lights and a modern, up-to-date system. In 1920 the city paid $13,000 for street lights, while under the new plan the cost will be about $60,000.

"Please accept my congratulations upon the successful termination of this case. Your contention as to the proper allowances and deductions to be made in arriving at the value of the property for rate-making purposes, and in estimating the operating expenses for the purposes of fixing the rate, have been quite generally followed by the commission in its decision. This is high proof of the value of your services to the city of Elmira and I am sure the people of this city will feel grateful for the services rendered.

"I wish to add my personal acknowledgments for the courtesies extended to me at our conference at Cleveland and Albany.

"Your work in the Elmira electric rate case has been a success fully accomplished, and I sincerely wish you equal success in all your future undertakings.

Sincerely yours,
MICHAEL DANAHER, Corporation Counsel."

What has been done in Elmira, N. Y., can be done in Boston or any city in this state, if properly prosecuted. It can be done by this Council, if our hands are not tied. With proper engineering advice, such as that from Mr. Ballard, uninfluenced by consideration of anybody's social standing, social prominence, or other considerations, we can secure for the people of Boston a reduction in the cost of gas and electricity. But will it be done? That is the question. It may be or it may not be, but if this body has its way it will be. I hope there will be no change of front in this body in this agitation that we have started. I do not believe that sinister influences, whether of individuals or corporations, will have any more effect here than they had in the House of Representatives when Mr. Shattuck of Ward 8, representing the aristocratic element of the state, the so-called blue blood district, people whom we ordinary fellows sometimes think have nothing in common with the average man, could not be stopped in his honest desire and purpose to protect the people from the ravaging, robbing lighting interests. Certainly, if his efforts could not be stopped there, those interests can make no inroads here. If we mark time or have lost motion, our efforts of the past will die of their own weight, but I have confidence in you, Mr. President, and in my colleagues, believing that we are all going to keep this matter alive. I may be the mouthpiece, and I may be doing what Mr. Burdett and others say I am doing, talking my head off. Yes, I am, and I intend to continue so as long as I can. I intend to be the instrument in this body whereby justice and fair treatment will be accorded to the gas and electric light consuming public of Boston, as long as I am a member here, even though I am persecuted from every quarter, as I am being persecuted. The influence of these interests is tremendous. They have their fingers where you would least expect. They can corrupt your friends and use your friends to injure you socially, politically and otherwise. They will stop at nothing to lay low the one who dares to have the effrontery to question their right to dominate and to press down upon you and me the burdens that we should not bear. Thank God, I am honest. I hate to say this so much, Mr. President, but it has been said that I am off color. However, I defy any man in this world to point to one single act of mine of a corrupt nature, where I was ever bribed or where I ever sought a bribe, where one cent of tainted money has ever touched my palm. I have known at times where it has been and where it has been going. My dear friends have had it and I could have had it for the asking. But I have defended them. I have been asked to tell things about them, but no friend of mine, even though he falls down and misunderstands me, will suffer through any statement of mine, unless my own self-protection demands it. I am true to my friends, but many of them misunderstand me. I repeat that I am honest, and I don't say that my colleagues are not. But I do know this, that I am being persecuted. My telephone rings when I am there and when I am away my wife answers it, and you would not believe the suggestions and threats that are made to me, if I repeated them. No man would believe a word that I uttered along that line, and I would not blame him for not doing so. Therefore I shall not make public what they are. But I will say this, that I have the moral support of a troop of the highest men in public and social life and in the business world existing today, and I defy the sinister interests that do not like me, I defy the interests that are attempting to stop me from blowing my head off at every meeting. I have made progress in this matter. I have established a reputation in Boston for sincerity at last, after twenty-six years off and on in public life. The average man who knows me knows that I am honest, knows that I cannot be reached. The average man who does not know me now believes that I am sincere, and I am adding to that reputation, thank God, every hour that I exist; and no act of mine, political, social or in business life, will be such in the future as to take from me the reputation that I have been seeking to establish among the public for twenty-six years. I am through with politics when my term in this body ends. No more for me. I am disgusted with politics; I am disgusted with the methods used by those outside and in. I am disgusted with the lack of loyalty of those with whom I have communed politically. I am disgusted with the methods used. They are not square, they are not on the level. As long as you dance when a man plays the fiddle, as long as you serve him, you are a great fellow, but when you don't obey the order "John, get up," and "John, sit down," it is another matter. I don't know whether the newspapers will use this. The Herald may use it, but I have had my say about the Herald and its editor. I pass him up, because his reputation is doubtful—not with me but with those who know him best. The other papers can do as they please. I know that as long as I am here doing as I am now, trying to do what is right and fair, calling a spade a spade, that there will not be enough copies of the minutes of the Council printed to supply the people who would otherwise read it in the newspapers, if it was printed there. There will not be enough copies of the minutes printed surely to supply the public that want them. There have been demands made on me for the minutes of last Monday, when I had my say about Mr. O'Brien, to such an extent that I would have to take a truck in order to supply them. The best of it is that what I say is all true. I would like to read one more letter:

"Mr. James Watson, City Councilman, Boston, Mass.:

"Dear Sir,—You are on the right track in the matter of the lighting situation in Boston and deserve the support of every citizen in this matter. I think you have their support, but the majority of them do not know how to express it or are too diffident about it.

"There are many general reasons why the rates for both gas and electricity are too high, but you are familiar with most of them. The particular point I want to make is about the moot question of capitalizing the so-called premiums by the Edison Company.

"The great reason for the existence of those premiums is because the people, that is, the consumers, through their government have given this company a monopoly and otherwise built up, or have allowed to be built up, such a well protected and gilt-edged investment that the investors are willing to pay that premium. That is to say, the benefits, financial or otherwise, that accrue from this company's operation go to the company and the investor instead of to the consumer through reduced rates. Of course, if the company had cut rates as low as possible the investment might not have been quite so attractive from the high interest standpoint but it would be through its safety.

"Of course, if every penny of the premiums has been put into new productive equipment, and it should have been if it is to be capitalized, it means that the company has that much more earning capacity; or if it has bought new money-saving equipment the consumer ought logically and naturally to be entitled to lower rates, but he had not been so benefited, so that is ample question as to what may have been done with money so easily obtained. Perhaps if it were a little more difficult to get there might not be so many recreation houses, tennis courts and baseball diamonds, etc., etc., at the disposal of the employees. Incidentally, since this is a public service outfit, by what right do they spend the money they get from the people for such extravagances that of course under other circumstances might be commendable enterprises?

"Also why is it necessary for such a well protected investment to command and exact rates high enough to pay 12 per cent even if that only figures about 7 per cent for $100? Savings banks only pay five or less. It is certain that even if those who buy with a premium paid get but 7 per cent, the original holders who bought at par or less get the 12 per cent, and there was quite a bit of that stock out. Yours very truly."

I am going to burden the Council but a moment longer. I have some information here that is interesting concerning the Boston Consolidated Gas Company. The Massachusetts Gas Companies of Everett, being the holding company, 1,300 feet of coal gas from the ton of soft coal, which costs something like $2.58 per ton. The gas abstracted from this coal is put into the holders of the Massachusetts Gas Companies and that company gets the by-products—the tarria, which is the tar that is spread on the streets, acids, the ammonia and the coke. The coke is then sent to the Consolidated Gas Company's plant at Everett nearby, a subsidiary company, and treated with a steam process. The by-product from this is sulpho-naphthol. This is called water gas. This water gas is put into the holders of the Consolidated Gas Company, together with the coal gas bought from the Massachusetts Company, and to it is added the illuminating oil that the Consolidated Gas Company contracts to buy from the Beacon Oil Company, a subsidiary company of the Massachusetts Gas Companies. Mr. Wrightington, the vice president and treasurer of the Consolidated Gas Company, is also treasurer of the Beacon Oil Company. The directors of the Beacon Oil Company and the directors of the Consolidated Gas Company are practically one and the same. The illuminating oil is added to give the gas at the burner the yellow light. If the illuminating oil was not added the flame at the burner would be blue or green and would be valueless for illuminating purposes. Further, the City of Boston has a contract with the Welshbach Lighting Company for lighting the city streets by gas, a contract made in 1914 and running for ten years, expiring in 1924. The contract price is $21 per light. Ten thousand gas lights are used on the city streets. Of that $21 per light, $9.60 is paid by the Welshbach Company to the Consolidated Gas Company, as per contract for gas for the year for each light. If the schedule that the Welshbach is supposed to operate under was closely followed, the cost per 1,000 feet of gas to the Welshbach Company would be 80 cents. But the schedule is not followed. As a matter of fact, there is additional gas used by the Welshbach company, because the schedule is not followed, and the amount of gas used and over what should be used is such that the price of gas to the Welshbach Company is nearer to 60 cents per 1,000 cubic feet than 80 cents. That is, because of the methods now used and the laxity of the employees of the Welshbach Company, the lights are lit from two to five hours longer than as per schedule. Therefore, instead of using $9.60 worth of gas per year per light, as per schedule, they are using nearer to $15 worth of gas per year per light, and paying only $9.60 per year per light, bringing the price of gas per thousand cubic feet actually used by the Welshbach people down nearer to 60 cents, or 55 cents, than 80 cents. In order to continue on with their losing contract, they go and show that their concern is not making money, or is losing money, and they produce their data and the city produces the Arthur D. Little volume. Each page in Little's report, which cost $24,000, is, in my opinion, of just as much use as so much blank paper, absolutely and positively. The Arthur D. Little Company didn't find out anything about what I have just been referring to. No reference has been made to these important things in their report. But, Mr. President, the gas company went and secured from the Public Utilities Commission an order to permit them to charge $1.40 a thousand cubic feet, and somebody is sending me marked copies of the "Boston News Bureau" weekly. I don't know why, because I don't see any information that does the gas company any good or that does me any good, either. But there is an interesting item here headed "Massachusetts Gas Companies earned $7.75 a share on common stock against $7.60 in 1919." That is, they earned 15 cents more a share on the common stock in 1920 than they did in 1919. Then there are a lot of figures, that I will not refer to, and the article is continued on page 4. One of the paragraphs there is interesting, very interesting. It refers to the Massachusetts Gas Companies and the subsidiary companies, such as the New England Manufacturing Company and the New England Fuel and Transportation Company. Lord, they have got a line of boats! It says:

"Operating costs of the Boston Consolidated Gas Company reached a figure during the year which had never before been approached in the company's history. Labor, fuel and oil, the three major elements of operating costs, all advanced very materially. During the calendar year two increases in the standard price of gas under the Sliding Scale Act have been determined by the Department of Public Utilities, permitting the company to advance its price to $1.10 per thousand cubic feet on March 5 and to $1.35 on July 23. An increase of 30 cents per thousand cubic feet in the price of gas sold to other gas companies was approved by the Department of Public Utilities, and put into effect on July 22. Department of Public Utilities fixed the standard price temporarily at $1.40, effective January 4, 1921, at the same time stating that the remedies heretofore afforded have been 'tardy and inadequate.'"

That is what the Department of Public Utilities says.

"The year 1920 as regards production, shipments and distribution of coal, like the year 1919, has been one full of changing conditions and anxieties. In the early part of the year there was a severe shortage in the stocks of bituminous coal and in current shipments, due to the after-effects of the miners' strike in November, 1919, and to the railroad outlaw strike, so called, which began in the spring of 1920. The demand for bituminous coal (domestic and foreign) was very great and could only be met by large production. During the first half of the year production of coal was considerably retarded by strikes and shortage of cars. Special service orders issued by the Interstate Commerce Commission to relieve certain sections, railroads and public utilities affected the distribution of coal. Production of coal, however, increased toward the last half of the year,—follow me, gentlemen, this is their own report, the report instigated by the Boston Consolidated Gas Company and the Massachusetts Gas Companies,—"production of coal, however, increased toward the last half of the year and was at its maximum when general business began to recede, with the result that before the close of the year the supply greatly exceeded the demand. Notwithstanding all the conditions referred to, the coal department made a satisfactory showing for the year. Since the end of the fiscal year,"—that is, since June, 1920, Mr. Stenographer,—"since the end of the fiscal year prices have dropped even more rapidly and, in fact, in many instances, good grade bituminous coal is now being sold below cost of production and handling. There is very little, if any, demand for steam coal at the present time. Buyers are deferring making contracts, influenced by the existing business depression or in hope of obtaining lower prices. Production of coal is steadily decreasing and many mines are being shut down."

There is their own article, inspired by the Massachusetts Gas Companies, the holding company, and also for the benefit of the Consolidated Company, the subsidiary company. They state that at the end of the fiscal year, June, 1920, the price of bituminous coal used to manufacture gas from has decreased rapidly. Nevertheless, on January 4, 1921, the price of gas is placed at $1.40 per thousand cubic feet, or 60 cents more than it was seven or eight years ago, and 40 per cent more than was charged 18 months ago, notwithstanding the fact that the most important element in the making of gas has been reduced perhaps 200 per cent. You can buy Pocahontas and New River coal today at the bins, the highest grade, from the Bachelier Company, or the City Fuel Company, at $9.75 a ton. They are getting their coal 200 per cent less today than they got it a year ago last June, before they were permitted to increase the price. I had one or two other matters here that I would like to refer to, but I will not attempt to burden you with them. I do have here, however, an article by Morris Llewellyn Cooke which I will hand to the stenographer and ask that he put it in the record.

(The article referred to is published in "The Utilities Magazine" of September, 1916, and is as follows:)

"The Cleveland News of September 19, 1916, states that there is a report in Cleveland credited at the City Hall that the Cleveland Illuminating Company will make public this fall a reduction in the charge for current to small consumers, home owners mainly, as one means of fighting the proposed $1,750,000 bond issue for enlarging the municipal light system."

"The new rate, it is said, will practically wipe out the charge of 10 cents per kilowatt hour for the first units, varying with the size of the residence and the number of connections. The basic charge of 5 cents per unit will not be changed. This newspaper also states that the company will explain its offer of new rates on the ground that the installation of two new large generating units will generate current for them at the switch at the cost of but little over 2 mills per kilowatt."

"Two cuts in electric rates have already been made fairly recently by the Illuminating company for big power users but no reduction to home owners since the 5-cent rate has been put in effect."

One of my colleagues and a supporter (Coun. Donoghue) suggests to me that I do not overlook a certain proposition. We asked the expert of the A. D. Little Company, in executive session—I asked him first, and others later—"Is it true, with the combination of coal gas, water gas and illuminating oil, that a consumer would use more gas at the burner than he would straight coal gas?" I said, "I am told that, in the way that the companies pump gas through the meters, by means of the pressure pumps in the substations, and so forth, that those people who use gas pay for twice the quantity of gas that they use. That is, the meters run faster—in some cases 400 per cent, in others 200 per cent, in my own case 300 per cent. Now, is that so?" He said, "No." But I have been informed that that is the case, upon scientific authority; that the result of the combination that is used is to make the gas meter register more rapidly. I simply tried as chairman of the committee to clear the matter up so that there would be no mistake, and I was not at all satisfied, and others tried to clear it up without getting any satisfaction. I repeat that it has been very evident to myself and to many others that there has been a larger amount of gas going through the meters. In my own case, as I say, it has amounted at times to 300 per cent. There is a general feeling among the gas consumers of Boston that that is being done, and the bills show it. So the consumers are not suffering alone from the increased cost of production, but from the ingenuity of the Consolidated Gas Company in compelling the meters to move faster, milking the public in that way. Mr. President, I am through. I don't think this measure ought to be referred to the Executive Committee. It simply calls upon his Honor the Mayor to furnish us with information which will become a matter of record, and upon which our action can be based. It is entirely legitimate and proper. You cannot refer my speech to the Executive Committee, but only the order. Consequently I am going to ask my colleagues to not place this today upon the shoulders of the Executive Committee, of which I am chairman, on the ground that it is unnecessary to do it. I will now, in conclusion, hand to the stenographer the "Utilities Magazine" of September, 1916, four years ago, and ask that the article at the bottom of page 16, concerning the conduct of the Cleveland Illuminating Company, be printed in our minutes. That states what happened in the city of Cleveland. I trust that reconsideration will prevail and that we will put the order upon its passage at this time.

Reference of the order to the Executive Committee was reconsidered, and the order was passed under a suspension of the rules.

FRANCIS J. DOCKS SQUARE.

Coun. FORD offered an order—That the space at the junction of Mercer and Eighth streets, South Boston, be named and known as Francis J. Docks square, in honor of the memory of said Francis J. Docks, who lost his life in the World War, and that said space be suitably marked with signs.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

JOHN JOSEPH MORONEY SQUARE.

Coun. FORD offered an order—That the space at the junction of F street and Broadway, South Boston, be named and known as John Joseph Moroney square, in honor of the memory of said John Joseph Moroney, who lost his life in the World War, and that said space be suitably marked with signs.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

ARTHUR W. BURNS SQUARE.

Coun. FORD offered an order—That the space at the junction of Fourth and L streets, South Boston, be named and known as Arthur W. Burns square, in honor of the memory of said Arthur W. Burns, who lost his life in the World War, and that said space be suitably marked with signs.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

RICHARD J. DOYLE SQUARE.

Coun. FORD offered an order—That the space at the junction of Sixth street, Columbia road and Farragut road, South Boston, be named and known as Richard J. Doyle square, in honor of the memory of said Richard J. Doyle, who lost his life in the World War, and that said space be suitably marked with signs.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

WILLIAM J. LYNCH SQUARE.

Coun. FORD offered an order—That the space at the junction of Dorchester avenue, Old Colony avenue and B street, South Boston, be named and known as William J. Lynch square, in honor of the memory of said William J. Lynch, who lost his life in the World War, and that said space be suitably marked with signs.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

ROLAND J. WINTERTON SQUARE.

Coun. FORD offered an order—That the space at the junction of Columbia road and P street, South Boston, be named and known as Roland J. Winterton square, in honor of the memory of said Roland J. Winterton, who lost his life in the World War, and that said space be suitably marked with signs.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

JAMES L. CRONIN PLAYGROUNDS.

Coun. MORIARTY offered an order—That the Board of Park Commissioners be requested to change the name of the Ashmont Playground, Dorchester, to the James L. Cronin Playground, in honor of said Cronin, who while a member of Company B, 307th Infantry, fell in action during the World War at Chateau-Thierry, July 1, 1918, and that said space be suitably marked with signs.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

JITNEY LICENSES.

Coun. LANE offered an order—That a special committee, to consist of five members of the City Council, be appointed to consider and report on all applications for licenses to operate jitneys, so called.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

Later in the session Coun. HAGAN appointed as said committee, Coun. Ford, Brickley, Lane, McLaughlin and Moriarty.

MESSENGER'S SALARY, DISTRICT ATTORNEY'S OFFICE.

Coun. FORD offered an order—That chapter 235 of the Acts of 1921, entitled "An Act Establishing the Salary of the Messenger of the Office of the District Attorney for the Suffolk District," be and the same is hereby accepted.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

Later in the session the order was recalled from the committee, on motion of Coun. FORD, and was passed, under a suspension of the rule.

SALARY OF BUDGET COMMISSIONER.

Coun. DONOGHUE offered an order—That section 5 of chapter 3 of the Revised Ordinances of 1914 is hereby amended by inserting after the clause fixing the salaries of the assessors the following words: "The Budget Commissioner, six thousand dollars."

Referred to the Committee on Ordinances.

CONFIRMATION OF APPOINTMENTS.

Coun. HAGAN called up unfinished business, Nos. 1 and 2, viz.:

Action on appointments submitted by the Mayor, April 4, 1921, viz.:

1. Arthur George Grant, to be a Constable.
2. J. E. Shaughnessy, to be a Weigher of Goods.

The question came on confirmation. Committee, Coun. Ford and Lane. Whole number of ballots cast, 9, yeas 9, nays 0, and the appointments were declared confirmed.

Later in the session Coun. BRICKLEY said: Mr. President, I want to refer back to No. 1. I do not see why that was not referred to the Executive Committee. I believe we had trouble about that matter before, and I don't know who is trying to slip it over here at this time.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, at the last meeting, I think it was, we got into a mix-up. I know that I intended, personally, as I believe others did, to vote against a lady and gentleman who were detectives, and who had been appointed constables. We then voted to confirm an appointment we did not intend to confirm, and refused to confirm the appointment of a lady and of this man Grant, whose name is now before us. I at least was satisfied that he was all right, and the Mayor sent his name back again. I now move reconsideration of our vote.

The action of the Council confirming the appointment under No. 1 was reconsidered, and the matter was assigned to the next meeting.

TEMPORARY LOAN.

Coun. HAGAN called up unfinished business, No. 3, viz.:

3. Ordered, That to provide temporarily money to meet the appropriations for the financial year 1921-22, the City Treasurer issue and sell, at such times and in such amounts as he may deem best, notes or certificates of indebtedness to the City of Boston not exceeding fourteen million dollars in the total, in anticipation of the revenue of the current municipal year; that all such notes or certificates of indebtedness be dated the day the money for the same is received, be made payable with the interest thereon within one year of their date from the revenue of the year 1921, and bear interest from their date until the same are made payable at such rate as the City Auditor, the City Treasurer and the Mayor may determine.

On March 28, 1921, the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 8, nays 0.

The order was given its final reading and passed, yeas 9.

APPROPRIATIONS.

Coun. McLAUGHLIN submitted the following:

APPROPRIATION BILL FOR THE CITY AND COUNTY FOR 1921-1922.

In City Council, April 11, 1921.

The Committee on Appropriations, to which was referred February 28 the appropriations and tax orders, having considered the subject, respectfully recommends the passage of the accompanying orders.

For the committee,
EDWARD F. McLAUGHLIN,
Chairman.

APPROPRIATIONS AND TAX ORDERS FOR THE FINANCIAL YEAR 1921-22.

Ordered, That to meet the current expenses payable during the financial year beginning with the first day of February, 1921, of performing the duties and exercising the powers devolved by statute or ordinance, or by vote of the City Council during the year, upon the City of Boston or the County of Suffolk, or the departments or officers thereof, and to meet their respective obligations for interest on debt, sinking fund requirements and maturing debt not provided for by sinking fund, the respective sums of money specified in the tables and schedules hereinafter set out be and the same are hereby appropriated for the several departments and for the objects and purposes hereinafter stated.

Ordered, That the appropriations for Water Service, current expenses, and the payment to the state under the provisions of chapter 488 of the Acts of 1895, and acts in addition or amendment thereto, and for the interest and debt requirements for loans issued for water purposes, be met by the income of said works and any excess over income from taxes; that the appropriation for City Record be met by the income from the publication and any excess over income from taxes; that the other appropriations hereinafter specified be met out of the money remaining in the treasury at the close of business on January 31, 1921, exclusive of the money raised by loan or needed to carry out the requirements of any statute, gift, trust or special appropriation, and by the income of the financial year, beginning February 1, 1921, and taxes to the amount of $22,622,722.13, and that said amount be raised by taxation on the polls and estates in the City of Boston.

Ordered, That all sums of money which form no part of the income of the city, but shall be paid for services rendered or work done by any department or division for any other department or division, or for any person or corporation other than the City or Boston, be paid into the general treasury, and that all contributions made to any appropriation be expended for the objects and purposes directed by the several contributors thereof.

Ordered, That all taxes raised to meet the appropriations of the city and all taxes assessed for meetings the city's proportion of the state tax of the year 1921, or of any other taxes or assessments payable to the Commonwealth, be due and payable on the fifteenth day of October, 1921; that interest shall be charged on all taxes remaining unpaid after the first day of November, 1921, in accordance with the provision of chapter 460 of the Acts of 1920, until paid, except the taxes assessed upon shares of national banks, which shall bear interest at the rate of twelve per cent per annum from the fifteenth day of October, 1921, until paid; and that all interest which shall have become due on taxes shall be added to and be part of such taxes.

Ordered, That except as the appropriation for any purpose or item shall be increased by additional appropriations or by transfers lawfully made, no money shall be expended by any department for any of the purposes or items designated in the tables and schedules hereinafter set out in excess of the amount set down as appropriated for such specific purpose or item; and except as aforesaid, no salaries or wages shall be paid in excess of the rates specified in said tables and schedules. (Annexed was table of appropriations.)

The report was accepted and the question came on the adoption of the appropriation bill.

Coun. MORIARTY—Mr. President, I move you that in the Health Department budget the salary on page 66, the first item, that of the Health Commissioner, $7,500 per year, be stricken from the budget.

Pres. HAGAN—You have heard the amendment proposed by Coun. Moriarty, and the question comes on the acceptance or rejection of the amendment in question.

Coun. MORIARTY—Mr. President, I want to say that I have changed my mind since the budget hearing. I have made a statement that I was going to vote against the whole Health Department appropriation, but I realize that if that should prevail it would mean a hardship on some of the employees working in the Health Department. So I have tried to get at the root of the evil, and the root of that evil is that the Health Commissioner of Boston, receiving $7,500 a year as Health Commissioner, has to go to St. John, N. B., to get a woman to fill a position here at $2,500 a year. I want to say that it is in the minutes of the Appropriation Committee that the commissioner has said that he is unable to get a woman to fill that position in the United States, and so he has had to go to Canada to get her. I realize that I am not going to get enough votes for the adoption of my motion; I realize that there are not four other men going to vote with me. I am sorry for that, but I personally am going to vote to cut out the Health Commissioner's salary. I shall be glad to vote to restore it when he gets rid of the alien that he has at the Blossom Street Unit. I was told over the telephone on Saturday morning, before I left my house, that a young woman born in Boston, No. 1 on the civil service list, a graduate nurse from the Carney Hospital, made application for this position and the Health Commissioner said to this young lady, "Young lady, you are wasting your time; you did not take a course in Simmons College on physics, and therefore you are not in a position to get the job." If we are going to have a commissioner who is going to give the citizens of Boston that kind of a square deal, I think it is sufficient reason for making my motion, and I think it is about time that we not only got rid of the alien now working at Blossom street but that we got rid of the man who is willing to hire aliens in preference to United States citizens. I have not gone even so far as to say that a resident of Boston should have it; I have not got down so keen as that on this job. But I do think that a resident of the United States should have it, and I think we have gone pretty far when we have a Commissioner of Public Health in Boston who will come before this Council and in his own words, in reply to questions by members of the Council, tell us that he is unable to find a woman in the United States who is capable of filling that position. I feel that every member of the Council agrees with my position in so far as being against the employment of alien labor by the City of Boston is concerned. Of course, I am not going to criticize them for not voting for my motion. They say that they agree with me on general principles, but they cannot see any way out of it. After three years in the Council, putting up with the same things that my colleagues are putting up with now, I feel that there has got to be some drastic action taken so that the heads of departments employed by the City of Boston and paid by money of the City of Boston will at least give to the citizens some consideration in return, and in this matter there has not been one ounce of consideration given to any man or any woman within the confines of our city, within the confines of our state, or within the confines of the United States, when it comes to filling this position. Let me say, as though it were not bad enough to put this woman into that position, that every employee, every person who goes to the Blossom Street Unit, if he or she wants a bandage or anything else, if the nurse in that district, who is an outside nurse, goes to the Blossom Street Unit and is short of a bandage, for instance, has to go to an alien to get that bandage. This may be a drastic measure that I propose, but I believe it is the only way to deal with the thing. I want to say that I talked with the Mayor on Friday of last week in regard to this matter. He agreed that he would get in touch with the Health Commissioner. He agreed that I was right. Now, if he agreed that I was right, he is the man who is over the Health Commissioner, the man who has appointed him, and I say that either the Mayor of Boston should get rid of both of these employees and put Americans in both jobs, or I am going to continue meeting after meeting to introduce an order here for the remainder of the year, criticizing you, Mr. Mayor, on the floor of this Council, for having within the confines of our city and having charge of city employees an alien, and also a commissioner who is in favor of hiring aliens in preference to American citizens.

Coun. COLLINS—Mr. President, as my colleagues know my position full well, from what was said in the budget hearings, in which we had much debate, I am not going to amplify it at this time, except to state for purposes of the record that the selection of the administrative heads of the City of Boston and the appointees under them are executive acts. The Mayor has the duty under the charter of appointing heads of departments and the sole responsibility is that of the Mayor. The duty of appointing proper subordinates and supervising them rests upon the administrative heads of the department, subject to the approval of the Mayor. That being the fact, our position and our province, duty and function, are very narrow. The question is, simply, shall we appropriate a sufficient sum of money for the payment of employees in given positions? We haven't any right to say who the occupants of those positions shall be. Consequently, I do not believe we ought to attempt to do indirectly that which we have no right to do directly. That brings me to the motion before the Council at this time, that the salary of $7,500 for the Health Commissioner of the City of Boston be stricken from the budget. If that motion prevails, this Council will stand in the anomalous position of saying that the Health Department should have no head, because all we do is to vote for the appropriation for that head. Of course, no one can truthfully and reasonably argue that there is no need of a Health Department of the City of Boston; and if there is need of a Health Department of the City of Boston there should be an administrative head, and the salary of $7,500 was established by the government a few years ago as an adequate one. Therefore, the question which we are voting on is this, whether or not $7,500 is a fair salary for the head of the health service in this city? In passing upon that question we are not passing upon the desirability of retaining the present occupant, or passing upon the qualifications of his predecessor, but are simply acting upon the narrow question of whether or not a sum sufficient for the salary of the head of that department should be paid by the City of Boston. Consequently, I shall vote against the motion.

Coun. LANE in the chair.

Coun. MORIARTY—Mr. President, on the question raised by the councilor opposite as to whether the salary is too large, I say that it is too large for a man who will go outside the confines of this state or of the United States to hire an alien. Yes, $7,500 of Boston's money is too much for that man, and that is the reason why I am voting against it. If you are conscientious you will agree with me. When the gentleman says that unless we adopt this item we will have no head of the department, I would simply say that one of the most essential departments we have in the City of Boston, the Soldiers' Relief Department, has been without a regular head since last September, and the Council across the way knows it. That is the most essential department that we have in Boston today, the department handing out money to the unfortunate soldiers who were maimed in France, and yet the Mayor of Boston has not seen fit to fill that position since September. There has been only a temporary head. The Treasurer of the City of Boston has been acting as temporary head of the Soldiers' Relief Department. The man who was head of the Soldiers' Relief Department was given two months' leave of absence on November 29, and that department until this time has been without a permanent head. The conditions in that department have not only been a disgrace to the department, but a disgrace to the Mayor of Boston and a disgrace to every member of this Council, having in mind the way that veterans who served in the last war have been neglected. There has been a fight going on up there every morning. They have to have a policeman at the door to keep out the crowds, only allowing so many men or so many women in the department each morning, letting soldiers guess as to where they are going to get their next meal. I was called outside here, when a man was turned down on Friday, a man with a wife and two children, driven out of that office, with only 11 cents in his pocket, and with money in that office that he was rightly entitled to, that belonged to him. When the councilor says that the Health Department would be without a head if this motion prevailed, I say it is time that it should be, when we have there the kind of head we see at present. That is why I am introducing the order. I believe in meeting a person with the same kind of weapons that he uses when he meets me. If he uses a gun, I want the same weapon; if he uses a knife, I want the same implement. The Commissioner of Public Health of Boston is a very slick gentleman, the slickest head of a department, being both a doctor and a lawyer, who has ever appeared before this Council. Therefore, when he appears here in an evasive way, I believe the only way we can meet the commissioner and the Mayor, is to strike out his salary, and then some understanding will be arrived at in the throne room between the Commissioner of Health and the Mayor of Boston, so as to get rid of that woman. I will then be glad to put back into the budget the $7,500 for him or for his successor.

Coun. COLLINS—Mr. President, in answer to the gentleman who has just spoken I will say that it is because I am conscientious in the matter, it is because I believe we haven't any right to try to dictate by a process of indirection who shall be the head of an administrative department of the City of Boston, that I take the stand I do. The gentleman insists that there is no head of the Soldiers' Relief Department. I deplore that fact. I wish there were. But it is not our fault that there is no head of the Soldiers' Relief Department. An appropriation is available for it. But if, on the other hand, I wanted to strike out the position of head of the Soldiers' Relief Department, I would do what the gentleman is just trying to do with the Health Department, make a motion to that effect. So far as we are concerned, we say that there ought to be a head of the Soldiers' Relief Department, and we have provided money for that purpose. Money is available for that position. It is the Mayor's duty to see that it is filled, not ours. It is the duty of the Mayor to pick out the type of Soldiers' Relief Commissioner that he may wish. But our duty in the matter is plain, and that is to vote the salary for the position of head of the Health Department of the City of Boston, because the position is an absolutely essential one.

Coun. Moriarty's amendment was declared rejected. Coun. Moriarty doubted the vote and asked for the yeas and nays. The amendment was rejected, yeas 2, nays 7.

Yeas—Coun. Brickley, Moriarty—2.
Nays—Coun. Collins, Donoghue, Ford, Hagan, Lane, McLaughlin, Watson—7.

Coun. MORIARTY—Mr. President, on page 68, I move to strike out the fourth item under Institutions Department: Central Office—"secretary, one at $2,300 per year, $2,293.72." I want to say that this is an item that stands in about the same position, except that the person involved is not an alien. This is a new job that has been created by Thomas C. O'Brien, the Commissioner of Institutions, appointed by the Mayor of Boston, who was an employee of the state of Massachusetts prior to being so appointed. After the amalgamation of these three departments Mr. O'Brien went to the State House and found an old pal there who worked in the office with him, a young lady who was a resident of Medford up to last January, and who then became a mattress voter by moving into Boston some time about last January and has come down here to City Hall, where she has been given the second highest salary for female service within the employ of the City of Boston. We have women within our departments who have worked here for the best part of their lives and who are receiving only $1,100, $1,200 and $1,300, and here this young woman is brought in and is given a $2,300 job. I realize again that I am not going to get enough votes to carry this motion. I realize that I am going to vote for the motion, and I don't know how many other members of the Council are going to vote with me; but I am going to vote this way realizing that it is a protest against the way these things are being done. Some of the old and middle-aged women, I think all widows, who are acting as matrons in the Park Department, some of them with one, two, three, four, five and six children, are receiving the wonderful salary of $16 a week, and on Friday I requested the Mayor to put into the budget an amount that would afford to those poor women a decent living. This morning I got the Mayor's answer and it was "No." But he allows the Commissioner of Institutions to go to Medford and pick out a woman and pay her $2,300, on the recommendation of one man. I don't like to single out this young lady. I don't know her. I would not know her if she came into the room. But I think the method is wrong, and again I say, instead of making an amendment to cut one salary out, I ought to have proposed an amendment to cut out two salaries: that of the head of the department and of the secretary. I realize that it is not going to prevail, in all probability, but I am going to get this on the record, and I am also going to request that not only my remarks of today but those that were taken down at the budget hearing when both Commissioners Woodward and O'Brien appeared here, be made a part of the minutes of the City Council of today. I don't want to take up the time of the members, but I have expressed my feeling in this matter, and the sooner we let the heads of departments know that we are a body with some rights, that we have a right to appropriate money in whatever way we see fit, the sooner these things will be remedied. We certainly have a right to say whether heads of departments shall have certain amounts to spend, or whether certain amounts shall be spent for their salary.—Therefore, I am making this motion, realizing that it is not going to prevail, but feeling that if we should do something to show how we regard this sort of thing. If the only way in which we can protect the men, women and children of Boston is to take some such drastic step as this, then I say let us take the drastic action, and if I do not get it through today there may be another day coming. I will be here next year, if the Almighty does not remove me and if that wonderful body on Beacon Hill does not wipe out the Council. I will be here next year and the year after to continue this fight with heads of departments who will not give preference to citizens of this city or even citizens of the country. I say that if the Commissioner of Public Health cannot find a woman within the confines of the United States to fill that position, he ought to lock the door of the Blossom Street Unit and throw the key overboard.

Coun. COLLINS—Mr. President, my position on the motion is this. I believe that the position referred to is not only desirable but necessary. Like the member who has just taken his seat I do not know the young lady who occupies it, but the duty of selecting her is an administrative one, subject to the approval of the Mayor, and if there is anyone with whom the gentleman should take this up it is with the Mayor himself, and not with us. Our duty is simply to pass on the question of whether there should be an appropriation for this position, which admittedly is a necessary one. Consequently, I shall vote against the motion.

Coun. MORIARTY—I would like to say that if I did the bidding of the Mayor, like my colleague who has just taken his seat, I might get some favors from the Mayor's office, and if I was in the position he is, of doing the bidding of the Mayor's office, I might get the thing straightened out. But, not being handled by the Mayor's office, I have not been able to straighten it out.

Coun. COLLINS—Mr. President, I have been a member of this body twice as long as the member who has just taken his seat, and I will simply say that during my entire membership in the body my attitude towards the present Mayor and other mayors under whom I have served has always been to favor any proposition that I believed was right and vote against any that I believed was wrong. That has been my position, not only with the present Mayor but with previous mayors, as I think is well known by members of the body who have served here with me. I think if the member who has just spoken will do me the courtesy of scanning the records of the Council for the past few years he will apologize for his remarks.

Coun. MORIARTY—Mr. President, I have no idea of making any apology. I have scanned the records. Today there is a Good Government Mayor in office, and the so-called Good Government wing of this body, during the administration of the preceding mayor, the mayor prior to him, were the ones who were using the monkey wrench, throwing it into the machinery if things did not go their way. In this administration some of us have been the "wilful four," so-called by the Boston Herald and the Good Government gang, a gang which has gone along with everything that the Mayor has asked. Not one thing has the Good Government gang in here tried to upset or been willing to try to upset, but they have gone along with it. I have no reason to apologize because I believe my remarks to be absolutely true.

Coun. COLLINS—Mr. President, the member who has just taken his seat has an unusually short memory. Only last Monday the Mayor had an order in here which contemplated spending $15,000 for improving the Wayfarers' Lodge down on Hawkins street. He sent that order in and suggested that it ought to come from a loan. I believed that it ought to come from taxes, and I voted against the Mayor's order. Will the gentleman look up the records of last week and see if that is not correct? The Mayor wanted it to go through as a loan, and I believed that the money ought to come from taxes, so I voted against the order, sir.

Coun. FORD—Mr. President, this is not such a serious matter that my colleagues should argue in one way from one side of the chamber and in the other way from the other side.

Coun. WATSON—Blessed are the peace-makers!

Coun. FORD—I think the councilor on the other side (Coun. Moriarty) will agree that there are not votes enough to strike out the particular item he refers to in the budget, and I think he has said so. But I believe it is very good of him, very laudable on his part, to say that the other members of the Council believe that alien labor should not be employed in the departments of the city. I think we all do feel that way, Mr. President, but aliens do creep in. Sometimes they get into departments here through substitutes and sometimes through a well laid scheme and plan. I agree with the councilor opposite in a number of things that he has said. In looking over the Health Department budget for several years I have wondered whether there were aliens in that particular department. I am not referring to this young lady employed at the Health Unit. I don't know her. I think she is paid by the Metropolitan Chapter of the Red Cross. Certainly she seems to be an alien. But I have always wondered what that rat catcher was doing in the Health Department, Mr. President. I suspect that that must be some sort of a feline, a cat, perhaps an alien wital. I feel that I should move that that item be stricken from the budget; and, pausing one moment, Mr. President, with all the seriousness I can command, I find that there has crept within this sanctum a man who, while he is usually fair, may have got in here through some artifice. Turning to page 61 of this budget I would move that there be stricken from the appropriation for the City Council one councilor at $1,500 a year, because I don't think the City of Boston should have in its employ and in our presence a full-blooded Mohawk Indian. (Laughter.)

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, I plead guilty. (Laughter.) The gentleman on my left (Coun. Ford) has referred to a possible alien who may be a cat. I don't know the nationality of a cat, and I don't know whether there is a cat on the pay roll, whether it may be Tom or Jerry or Mary or Minnie, Mike or Pete. But, whether the cat is or is not an alien, it undoubtedly deals with alien rats that come over here in ships from Europe. I want to say, too, that I am opposed to aliens being on the pay roll and if any member here will tell me that this lady who works for Mr. O'Brien is an alien, my individual vote will go to striking her name and salary out of the budget. But if she is a resident of Boston, even from last January, if she is a resident as of April 1 or thereabouts, she is a legal voter of the City of Boston. Consequently she is not an alien. Furthermore, hard as it is for me at times to agree with the leader of the reform forces in the Council, my honored friend the Councilor on the extreme left (Coun. Collins), and much as I dislike to follow him, because sometimes he is led away by the reformers outside of the Council, nevertheless, I am willing to sit at his feet at this time and drink in the wisdom that he sometimes utters. The Mayor asked me why I voted against the $45,000 loan order for the extension or improvement of the Wayfarers Lodge, and I told him this in substance. I said that in my opinion reconstruction work of a permanent nature, notwithstanding the fact that sages of finance and reformers in Boston believe it should come out of loans, I think, where it is substantial and permanent in its nature and will have a life of twenty years or more, it should not be paid for entirely by the present generation, when it does not get all the benefits of it. What is good for the goose is good for the gander, and I said, "Mr. Mayor, if your argument for a loan for the permanent reconstruction proposition on the Wayfarers Lodge is a good argument and represents good, sound, financial policy, I believe you ought to follow it to the ultimate conclusion, and when you are dealing with an old, worn-out street of water-bound macadam, passe a long time ago, with gravel sidewalks on the side, all gone to pieces and the roadbed gone, why should that be dealt with in any other way? Why not go in there and build a new permanent highway, with a concrete base of six to eight inches, with granite blocks upon it, or bitulithic, asphalt or concrete, and put in new granolithic sidewalks? When you are building what is practically a new highway along those lines, if you say that this $45,000 for the repair, extension and reconstruction of the Wayfarers Lodge should properly come out of a loan, then, why shouldn't the other proposition, having to do with the rebuilding and construction of highways, come out of a loan?" I said, "I shall vote against the extension, repair and reconstruction of the Wayfarers' Lodge out of loan, because I think if you are correct concerning the reconstruction of highways being paid for out of taxes, then the reconstruction of the Wayfarers Lodge also should come out of taxes. I am going to vote today against striking from the budget the money for the rat catcher, and will overlook and forget the insinuating remarks of my colleague concerning the Mohawk Indian being within the wigwam. I have said time and time again that I am descended from a Mohawk Indian. My mother's great great grandmother was a full blooded Mohawk Indian, and I am very proud of it. To my mind it is a great deal finer grade of blood than that of some of the reformers who originally sent you to the Council. (Laughter.) I shall vote against striking from the appropriation bill the item for salary of Mr. O'Brien's secretary. I do not agree with Mr. O'Brien once in fifty times, but I think this is dealing with an administrative function, and I must, therefore, agree with the learned gentleman on my left (Coun. Collins) and vote accordingly.

Coun. MORIARTY—Mr. President, I want to say this much, and get it on the record. That woman may have become a resident some time about January. Of course, it is now about April 1 and she is a full-fledged Boston voter. But she was appointed prior to the first of April, and when the commissioner did appoint her she was not a legal resident of the City of Boston.

Coun. McLAUGHLIN—Mr. President, I don't think we are making much progress here, and it seems to be the tendency of the debate to get away from the subject matter in hand. I want to say just this, that when the budget is passed, I intend to offer an order calling upon the temporary chairman to appoint a committee of five members of the Council—and that is subject to amendment, and if desired the committee can include the entire membership of the Council. I care not for that,—to make a complete study and to make a report and recommendations as to the agents employed by the City of Boston and noncitizens in the employ of the City of Boston. There is not going to be much headway here today through the offering of amendments of this kind, because we have heard the opinions expressed by Coun. Collins, Ford and Watson, and I myself do not quite approve of the picking out of one or two isolated cases and making them the object of attack on the floor. I have been given to understand by stories brought to me directly or indirectly that there are now employed in the City of Boston on its pay roll 100 to 200 non-residents of the City of Boston. I cannot substantiate that at the moment; I don't know whether it is true. But I do feel that it is worthy of consideration, and I do feel that Coun. Moriarty is absolutely sincere in the position he is taking here, that he desires to accomplish something. I believe the only sensible and sane way to accomplish anything in the matter of aliens or nonresidents is through an investigation, a complete and thorough study of the matter, and a report embodying recommendations. If we will have such actions taken, perhaps we can come to a conclusion as to the proper thing to do in a matter that has been harassing the public and the Council for many years. After the Council passes the budget, I will offer that order.

Coun. DONOGHUE—Mr. President, I merely want to say that I also am opposed to alien labor being paid for by the City of Boston, and I also deprecate the policy of some heads of departments of bringing into the city employ those who are not residents of the city. While I would have liked, from one point of view, to strike out from the appropriation for the Health Department the item for salary of the head of that department, viewing it in somewhat the same light that Coun. Moriarty does, I could not quite bring myself to the point of voting for the amendment as it was offered, because I feel that we should have a head to a great big department such as the Health Department, which, I believe, concerns every citizen of Boston. I disagree absolutely, however, with the policy of the head of that department, and I feel that every other member of this Council disagrees with that policy. In fact, that has been stated by the leaders of both factions in this Council. They have criticised the Mayor because of his appointments of various heads of departments, but say that the appointment of the various people in these positions is entirely an administrative duty of the office, something which it is the duty of those officials to perform, that it comes within the functions of their office, to appoint these various people to these positions, and that it is a question how far we should proceed in taking action that might result in interference with the conduct of the work of the departments. But here we have a situation where a secretary has been appointed in the Institutions Department. All that Coun. Collins has said pertaining to the head of a department might be true, but surely that does not apply equally to the secretary of a department brought in here from outside and put into an absolutely brand new position. I say that this position is not a necessary one, and it is particularly not a necessary one when the policy has been followed of taking from the state pay roll a state employee and bringing her in here and placing her over all the other employees in that department. I say that that is a false position for any head of a department to take, and I claim that it abrogates the Veterans' Preference Act, which has been placed on the statute books presumably to give the veterans preference when any new positions are to be filled or created. If by subterfuge or indirection that policy is not to be pursued by heads of departments, then I say that we, as members of the Council, must meet subterfuge and indirection in the only practical way in which it can be met, by striking out the salaries for a position that has been so filled at this time of the year when the matter is before us and when we can act upon it.

A general investigation might be all very well, but an investigation, in my opinion, should have taken place before this budget goes into effect. Such an investigation may have some effect in the future, but here we have this budget, and if we pass it today the thing is going to stand for one year, and we are going to be in the same position a year from today that we are today, unless we show to heads of departments that we believe in what we say, that we believe there is no necessity of hiring aliens or other than citizens in this city of ours, that we believe in section 12 of chapter 3 of the Revised Ordinances, despite the interpretation placed upon it by the Corporation Counsel. We believe when it says that heads of departments shall employ none but citizens that that is the intent of the ordinance. We feel that we should not only live up to the letter but to the spirit of that ordinance, and I am prepared to vote to strike out the salary of the secretary of the Institutions Department, because I feel that if we do take some drastic action against such a flagrant violation of the city ordinances and the charter, at least in spirit, we are going to put the fear of God into the hearts of the heads of those departments, and probably prevent this sort of thing. But if they are to be allowed to come into this Council year after year, after having done what they wish, and we are supposed simply to give our approval to their action, if they are going to have the feeling that we have not the moral courage to vote against their say-so, we are going to see the same thing continued in the future. Let them realize that in the future when they take such steps there is an awkward day coming for them, and that that day is when the budget is before us. I feel that we have a chance here today to make the start, and we certainly must start somewhere or else we are going to be floundering along as we have in the past, from year to year. I feel that the only practical thing to do today, despite the theories that have been announced to the contrary, is to strike out this secretary from the pay roll, and to see that in the future department heads will not come in and submit to use for our approval and sanction aliens and noncitizens in department positions.

Coun. Moriarty's amendment was rejected, Coun. Moriarty calling for the yeas and nays, yeas 3, nays 6:

Yeas—Coun. Brickley, Donoghue, Moriarty—3.

Nays—Coun. Collins, Ford, Hagan, Lane, McLaughlin, Watson—6.

The question came on the acceptance of the report and the adoption of the budget.

Coun. DONOGHUE—Mr. President, on page 82, under Soldiers' Relief Department, "Visitor, one at $1,200-$1,400 per year, $1,350,"—I move that that increase of $200 be stricken from the budget. We have here in the Soldiers' Relief Department a most peculiar situation. It has been stated on the floor of this Council today that since last November the Soldiers' Relief Department has been without a permanent head, and that is true. We have had a temporary head appointed, the present City Treasurer, whom I am informed, is shortly to resign, and then possibly we will have another temporary head. When the temporary head of the Soldiers' Relief department came before the Council this year he stated that this one particular person had come to him and laid claim to an increase in salary, and that, the claim having been made, he had allowed it. But I feel that if this visitor—and I don't know who she is—is entitled to an increase for her work in that much overworked department, surely all the other employees of that department are entitled to an increase. In answer to my criticism along that line, the temporary head of the department said that in his judgment the matter should go over until such time as a new head of the department was appointed. He felt that the new head of the department should have the right to increase salaries of the employees working in that department. I say, if that is true of all the other employees, surely it is true of this particular employee who last year received $200 or $300 increase, and who is in this year for another $200 increase, while the other employees of the department are practically standing still. I feel that we should be fair to all the employees of that department. I feel that if this Council wishes to see the other employees treated fairly and squarely by the incoming head of the department, we should be consistent and should not give any one visitor, any one single employee of the department an increase, unless we give them all an increase, a thing to which I feel that they are justly entitled. I move that that individual increase be stricken from the budget, and hope that the motion will prevail.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, I dislike very much to take the opposite side from my colleague who has just spoken, but I have been very much interested in the ladies up in the Soldiers' Relief Department who have failed to receive proper recognition financially for the duties they have performed. I have been working in their behalf for five or six months, and other members are doing what they can to right what is a rank injustice. But the Mayor has said that he would prefer to have the matter of regulating the salaries and removing the injustice placed in the hands of the new commissioner when appointed, rather than have it done under the acting commissioner. We have made considerable effort with the Mayor and the Budget Commissioner with the assistance of Dr. Watkeys, the assistant, and really the Soldiers' Relief Commissioner, to bring about a remedy of this unfairness, and I think we have made some progress. I think that the Mayor intends to be fair in this matter and that the new commissioner when appointed will be fair; and, in order to continue the high degree of efficiency in that department, he will be obliged to raise the salaries of the visitors, who have been lost sight of in the budget up to the present time. I do feel that this lady referred to should get her increase from $1,200 to $1,400, and I think I can say with authority that the ladies who have been apparently ignored or lost sight of do not desire the salary of this lady who has been advanced to $1,400 from $1,200 reduced to $1,200. They feel that she is entitled to the $1,400, and that they are entitled to it, also. They are not at all sore, to use the vernacular of the day, at the lady who has received the $200 increase; and I feel very confident that before sixty days have elapsed, we will be able by interceding with the Mayor and holding him up to what I consider a very near promise to give to the ladies who have been ignored a $200 increase, bringing their pay up to the pay of the lady who is to receive the $200 under the budget. I know that the gentleman opposite (Coun. Donoghue) wants to do constructive work and to help the ladies who have been unfairly dealt with, but I believe it can be done without cutting down the other lady to $1,200, because then they will all simply be placed on the basis of $1,200, whereas if the thing is carried out as I have reason to believe it will be carried out, they will all soon receive $1,400. While I am not in particularly close affiliation with his Honor, I do feel satisfied in this case that something along that line I have stated will be done, because I feel that there is no other way out of it. I think that he must in justice to himself and to the ladies who are being unjustly used right this unfairness. So I shall vote against cutting down this individual lady's salary. I hope the member who has made the motion will be able to see the thing my way, and that he will also vote against doing it.

Coun. DONOGHUE—Mr. President, I have listened rather attentively to the remarks of the councillor who has just taken his seat. I realize that he has had a great deal more experience politically than I have, but I cannot see wherein he or any other member of the Council can justify a single, lone salary increase for one employee of the department to the neglect of other employees of the department who are similarly situated. I feel that there is only one practical thing to do. If the Mayor has given any tentative promise to increase the salaries of the other employees of the department, then I say, after we have acted as I suggest in this matter, it will be only a question of increasing all the salaries to the proper amount, after this individual one has been decreased. I feel that if this particular person has been influential enough to receive a larger increase last year than any other member of the office force, and also to receive an increase again this year, instead of hurting the cause of the other employees by the action I suggest we will certainly be helping their cause, because if there was influence enough to pick her out, one lone employee of the department, for an increase, then the wheels are going to be set in motion again just as soon as this increase is stricken from the budget. I feel that we ought to be consistent and ought to say that every member of the Soldiers' Relief Department who is entitled to an increase should be granted the increase at the same time that this party is given an increase. I hope that my motion will prevail, to strike out that increase for that visitor. I am not opposed to her receiving $1,400. I would be glad to vote for it if it came in with similar increases for all the other employees of the department. I have never yet voted against any increase of salary for any employee, and I will not vote against an increase in salary for her if it comes in at the same time as increases for the other employees of the department, all being considered together in the matter of increases. I am glad to vote for an increase for her or for anybody else at any time, when I feel that all the employees of the department are to be treated fairly and alike.

Coun. Donoghue's proposed amendment was rejected, Coun. Donoghue calling for the yeas and nays, yeas 1, nays 7:

Yeas—Coun. Donoghue—1.

Nays—Coun. Brickley, Collins, Ford, Lane, McLaughlin, Moriarty, Watson—7.

The question came on the acceptance of the report and the adoption of the budget, and Coun. McLaughlin called for the yeas and nays. Before the result was announced Coun. COLLINS said:

Mr. President, I would like with unanimous consent to make a statement. Coun. Hagan had to leave to go to New York. He had to leave a few minutes ago, thinking that the debate was going to be more protracted.

When Coun. Moriarty's name was called, he said:

Mr. President, I desire to be recorded as voting yes, but with reservations.

The report was accepted and the budget was adopted, yeas 8, nays 0.

STATEMENTS MADE IN HEALTH AND INSTITUTIONS DEPARTMENTS BUDGET HEARINGS.

Following are excerpts from statements made before the Committee on Appropriations when the budget was being considered, in connection with the Health Department and the Institutions Department, for which Commissioners William C. Woodward and Thomas C. O'Brien, respectively, appeared. The quotations are included in the minutes at the request of Coun. Moriarty:

HEALTH DEPARTMENT.

Coun. MORIARTY—I will say that, on account of being out of town when the doctor was here before, I requested his presence here today.

Chairman WATSON—Does any member of the committee desire to ask questions of Dr. Woodward?

Q. (By Coun. MORIARTY.) I have some questions that I would like to ask you, doctor. I have a card here that I would like to ask you about. I would ask if you know who that party is. (Handing card to Mrs. Clara Belle Bligh to commissioner.) A. I do.

Chairman WATSON—Do you mind telling us what the card is, and whom it refers to?

Coun. MORIARTY—The card is that of Mrs. Clara Belle Bligh, director, Health Unit, Boston Health Department, 17 Blossom street, telephone Haymarket 52992, with the seal of the City of Boston on it in the corner of the card.

Q. (By Coun. MORIARTY.) Will you tell me something about whether she has a right to get out a card of this kind? She is not on the pay roll books, I understand, and not in the employ of the city. Will you tell the rest of the Council and myself something about it? A. Very glad to. I don't know how thoroughly the Council is informed in regard to the Blossom Street Health Unit, at 17 Blossom street.

Q. All I am interested in is in this question of people who are not representatives of the city holding themselves out as representatives of the city. A. Yes.

Q. And I suspect that this card is printed in the city printing plant. A. I think you are correct with respect to that.

Q. What I want to know is by what right you or any other head of a department give power to somebody who is not a city employee to represent themselves as being a city employee or a representative of the city. A. Well, Mrs. Bligh does represent the Health Commissioner at the Blossom Street Health Unit.

Q. (By Chairman WATSON.) Doctor, you started to explain something. A. I believe the Council would better understand the situation with a brief statement in regard to the organization of the unit. The unit is a city building, and when I undertook to direct the affairs of the Health Department I found there a nurse in the service of the Health Department, a certain clinic that was operated by the Baby Hygiene Association headquarters, so to speak, for certain consumptive hospital nurses, a call station for the Boston Dispensary, and a vaccination station for the Boston Health Department. The purpose of the health unit was to promote health activities in that particular neighborhood, and since that time the Instructive District Nursing Association has also established headquarters in the building. So, while the health unit building itself is a city building and certain city departments function from there, there are private agencies that also function from the same place and have been so functioning, so far as I know, for an indefinite number of years past. To be perfectly frank, a question arose in my mind as to whether the city was deriving from that unit the benefit that it was entitled to derive, and I have been endeavoring to find out whether the unit is worth what it costs the city to keep up, whether there are methods of improving the service, and with that end in view the Health Department sought to find some one who might discover those facts for the information of the Health Commissioner. On the request of the Health Commissioner the Boston Metropolitan Chapter of the American Red Cross made a grant of $2,500 a year to pay for the services of such a person, and we found after a considerable search that person is Mrs. Bligh. It was for that reason that she was appointed as the representative of the Health Commissioner, assigned to duty there, in order that we might know whether we are getting our money's worth out of the health unit; if not, how we can improve the health unit, and, if we cannot improve the health unit, how we can get rid of it. That is the whole story.

Q. (By Coun. MORIARTY.) I would like to ask the doctor when he first met Mrs. Bligh, or who she was represented by, so that he concluded to appoint her as his personal representative. A. She came, as I recall it, Mr. Councilor, through the, I believe, the Women's Educational Industrial Union. I would not be sure.

Q. Do you know whether she is a citizen of Boston or not? A. I know that she is not.

Q. Do you know whether she is a citizen of the country or not? A. I know that she is not.

Q. Do you know where she comes from? A. From Halifax, Nova Scotia, where she has been working under the Massachusetts Relief Association.

Q. But she has been appointed by you as a representative of the city, and anybody who goes to the Blossom Street Home meets her as your representative. Is that so? A. That is so.

Q. Is this a letter that you gave or an order you issued? If so, I would like to make it a part of the record (handing copy of order of February 24, 1921, to Dr. Woodward). A. That has every appearance of being an officially correct copy of an order that I issued.

Chairman WATSON—Can the Chair see that, please?

Coun. MORIARTY—It is on the City of Boston, Health Department, paper, and is as follows:

"City of Boston, Health Department,
February 24, 1921.

"Ordered, That Mrs. Clara Belle Bligh, recently appointed director of the Health Unit on Blossom street under a grant from the Metropolitan Chapter, American Red Cross, be, and is hereby, designated as the personal representative of the Health Commissioner at the Health Unit. Requisition for supplies, and complaints and recommendations regarding the Health Unit, will be submitted through her. Officers and employees of the Health Department on duty at the Health Unit will report to Mrs. Bligh and receive their orders and instructions from her.

WM. C. WOODWARD,
Health Commissioner."

I would like to have that made a part of the record.

Q. (By Coun. MORIARTY.) I would like to ask you, as Health Commissioner of the City of Boston, if you have a right under the charter to appoint some one not a citizen of this country and compel citizens of this country who have been appointed in your department through civil service examination to take orders from her. A. That right is granted by the statutes of the state of Massachusetts to any officer of the City of Boston.

Q. What statute, if I may ask. A. If you will refer to the General Laws you will find a distinct provision that when a person not a citizen of the United States has been appointed under a provisional appointment, that person shall be dismissed from the service when a list of eligibles is provided by the Civil Service Board. The civil service agency of the state of Massachusetts has no right to put upon an eligible list a person who is not a citizen, but there is that definite recognition in the statutes of the right to appoint a noncitizen provisionally. I shall be very glad to furnish the councilor with a reference to the particular chapter and section.

Q. And I shall be glad to get it. A. If you have the General Laws here I can give it to you in a very few minutes. I might say, further, that there was a noncitizen on the pay rolls of the City of Boston in the Health Department when I took charge of the office, who remained there for some time during the war, a Belgian. When the eligible list was established, he was dropped.

Q. (By Chairman WATSON.) Do I understand that this party Coun. Moriarty is referring to is on the pay roll now? You talk about appointing her provisionally. Is she on the pay roll of the city? A. She is not on the city pay roll in any way, shape or form.

Q. What reference does the statute have to her, then? A. Well, the question was asked of me as a general question.

Coun. MORIARTY—Well, I want to find out if she is a city employee or not, or if she has all the powers of the commissioner, and according to that letter I would say that she had all the powers of the commissioner in so far as the employees who have to go to her are concerned. Your letter would certainly give me that inference. What I want to know is if any head of a department—I don't mean only you, but any head of a department—has any such right. I didn't know that there was a Belgian there, or anybody not a citizen. If I did, you would have heard from me long before this. This has been brought to my notice, however, and that is the reason why I am bringing it to your attention. If heads of departments are to be allowed to put people who come here from other countries over the heads of those who belong in our departments, who are citizens here and who are faithful employees of the city, and if we haven't got citizens enough, both men and women, to take charge of our activities, it is about time that we found it out. If there are any laws that we need to change, we will have those laws changed.

Doctor WOODWARD—I would say for the councilor's information that the place was open for weeks and for months, that a canvass was conducted most carefully both among men and women, not only in the City of Boston but in the state of Massachusetts and in this country to find a person who, for the available salary, would undertake the work, and it was not until prolonged and careful efforts were made along those lines to fill the place that this woman, Mrs. Bligh, was appointed.

Q. (By Coun. MORIARTY.) Is this one of the positions that I voted against two years ago, in the budget? A. This position has never been submitted as a permit or budget position. It is purely a temporary matter, for determining the expediency of continuing the Blossom Street Unit in its present form, or modifying it or abandoning it. The fact that she is not a citizen of the United States and for that reason could not, under the laws of the state acquire a civil service position, is the best possible indication that she was not selected as a permanent appointee or with any view of putting her on the pay rolls of the city.

Q. The only difference, then, between non-citizens of the country and citizens of the country is that the citizens have to take a civil service examination and noncitizens do not. Is that the situation? A. When the qualified citizens of a country do not want a job, it is probably good enough to turn over to a foreigner.

Q. You say you looked for a person for some time before appointing her? Did you have an understanding that you were going to get the salary prior to looking for some one to fill this position, that the Red Cross would furnish you with the salary? A. I certainly did.

Q. So, before taking up anything about furnishing money, as the Health Commissioner of Boston you went to some outside organization to try to find the money, instead of coming to the city to find it? A. The organization, as I have already stated, is an organization in which private agencies have always been largely represented, and with respect to which they function as an integral part.

Q. Well, this is about the situation, isn't it, as far as the city is concerned, when an outside organization comes in to some city place, that it assumes the responsibility and grasps everything that there is in there? A. I am unable to speak with respect to that.

Q. That is so down at Blossom street now? A. No, that is not the case with respect to Blossom street, because the director at Blossom street is responsible to the Health Commissioner and not to the private agencies.

Q. I should think she would be responsible to those who were paying her. A. She is being paid under the grant that was made to the Health Commissioner for that purpose.

Q. I know, but, still, if she didn't satisfy them they would stop the salary, wouldn't they? A. Not if she satisfied the Health Commissioner.

Q. Well, have you got that assurance from the Red Cross? A. So far as anything humanly possible, yes. The grant has been made to the Health Commissioner for a specific purpose.

Q. Have there been any communications between your department and the Red Cross in regard to the appointment of this lady? A. I don't recall that there was any written communication. Her qualifications have been discussed and she was interviewed by representatives of the Red Cross, as well as the Health Commissioner.

Q. But no written communications? A. I don't recall any written communication, as I have stated. The Red Cross was notified at the time of her appointment by the Health Commissioner as his representative at Blossom street.

Q. Must have been a very thorough examination? A. It certainly was.

Q. Do you mind telling the Council what it was? A. I shall be very glad to submit to the Council the correspondence that preceded Mrs. Bligh's appointment and memoranda of the conferences with her to determine her qualifications.

Q. I just asked you if there were any communications, and I understood you to say there were not. A. I understood you to ask whether there were any communications with the Red Cross. I am not referring to communications with the Red Cross, but with Mrs. Bligh and with persons with whom Mrs. Bligh had been associated prior to her coming to Boston for work of this character.

Q. (By Coun. BRICKLEY.) How is it that she went into the Red Cross? A. That would be a relatively long story. The Red Cross, as a peace-time program, has embarked largely on the work of stimulating health centers throughout the United States. It was in that connection that application was made.

Q. Don't you believe that a lot of that was propaganda? I myself have been in as many hospitals as most people, and I never have seen Red Cross representatives in my life. I have seen a lot of posters around, like those of the Salvation Army, telling what work they do, the most wonderful lot of them all over the world, but I haven't seen the Red Cross. I have seen their posters with wonderful pictures and things. But I was wondering if it was propaganda. A. In one sense propaganda, perhaps, in another sense, no. The whole thing was organized to enable the American Red Cross to maintain a proper place in the community and a proper organization in ordinary times, especially to be prepared for disaster, its primary function, and for war. It was on that basis that the Red Cross has undertaken to keep up an efficient organization in the general field of health work in peace time.

Q. Well, the only thing is this, Mr. Commissioner. I have had a few run-ins with them. I had an experience the other day. I was called upon to go to the City Hospital in regard to a veteran up there, and a doctor told me that he was going to die, and it was a matter of getting him to the Consumptives' Hospital and from there to the United States Health Service, and having him removed to Corey Hill, with the idea of going to Rutland. So in that connection I met with a worker of the Red Cross. But I never saw one before except one at Parker Hill. I believe that they take a lot of women and give them good jobs, running this thing from Washington. This woman came to me, and asked about the wife of the husband that I had been looking after, wanted to know how I knew her, and one thing and another. I went up to her and said, "Is that what you are investigating? Why aren't you investigating that fellow's health?" I said a few words to her, what I thought of her. I am outspoken, and I wouldn't want to have what I told her published. I believe they are all the same. They have got all mixed up in the United States health service, the Red Cross. I am not kidding you about this. I have been around for years in many hospitals and have been operated on as many times as the ordinary fellow, and I agree with what Coun. Moriarty has said. I can't see where she comes in, either. A. You understand that Mrs. Bligh was appointed from the Red Cross list?

Q. Yes, but some one is paying her. I suppose she is being paid through the United States Government, the Red Cross or something. A. By the funds of the Boston Metropolitan Chapter of the American Red Cross.

Q. Well, what good are they? What do they do? My God, I have seen a lot of these young doctors going around in my time, and I tell you it is pretty tough. They go through the public schools and then go four years to college, and then they go to the medical school a few years, and then if they get anything to do they are lucky, if they get a chance at all. Why don't you hire one of those fellows instead of going out and getting an outsider? I can't see the idea of that. I think the profession should be elevated. A young fellow gets an education and tries to get a chance as a doctor, and certainly his education ought to fit him for something, and he ought to have a chance. But, no, these women come in and get the jobs. My God, I don't know how it happens, especially in the case of this woman who, to my mind, is a foreigner. My God, I don't believe she should have a job in this country, unless she becomes a citizen.

Q. (By Chairman WATSON.) Dr. Woodward, how long has this Mrs. Bligh been employed by the Metropolitan Chapter of the Red Cross as supervisor of your health unit at Blossom street? A. Probably seven or eight weeks.

Q. She hasn't had time enough to make a report to you yet as to the value of that institution or as to the improvement that should be made? A. Not at all.

Q. How long do you think it would take her to do that? A. I should suppose a year or two.

Q. How long, if you know, has Mrs. Bligh been a resident of the United States? A. For a comparatively short time, measured in months rather than years.

Q. Long enough to take out her papers and become a permanent citizen? A. She has not done so.

Q. I am sorry I asked you that. What do you know about the services rendered by this woman at the time of the Halifax disaster? A. The reports that we get from there are very creditable both with respect to her ordinary efficiency and her efficiency in this particular line of work.

Q. Do I understand that she is not on the city pay roll? A. She is not on the city pay roll.

Q. And how is she paid? This money is provided by the Metropolitan Chapter of the Red Cross. How is the money provided? Is it paid by you? A. Once each month we draw a voucher.

Q. How often? A. Draw a voucher for her services as director once each month. I approve it and send it to the Boston Society of the Red Cross, the Boston Metropolitan Chapter of the Red Cross, and she is paid.

Q. (By Coun. MORIARTY.) I would like to ask you, doctor, if you think it is fair to compel citizens when they want supplies in a city institution, to go to an alien to get those supplies, to have a citizen who should have those supplies, obliged to go to an alien for them? A. I cannot see that any of the supplies that any of the officers or employees at the Health Department get belong to those officers or employees.

Q. To the citizens. A. They belong to the City of Boston.

Q. Well, in part. A. Well, in a very small part, of course. But Mrs. Bligh makes out no requisitions on the purchasing agent or otherwise. The most she does is to see that the requisition is made into a form, and if it appears to be a reasonable requisition she submits it through proper channels to the Health Commissioner, and if the Health Commissioner deems it a proper requisition he approves it and the goods are then supplied. I don't believe that that lowers the dignity of an American citizen in any way, shape or form.

Q. Well, it doesn't strike me as right that those people have to do that. I don't know whether the things are theirs or not, but it does strike me as an American citizen that we are taking away from the powers of the City of Boston in a way in doing that sort of thing, that we are taking away from the rights of citizens. I don't think that any member of this Council feels that that is a proper matter, that those who are compelled to get such supplies should be compelled to go to any alien, no matter where he or she comes from, to have them handed out to citizens, people in the employ of the city and citizens of Boston. A. You understand, of course, that Mrs. Bligh handles no money.

Q. Well as your personal representative, as this order and this card say, if there is any money coming that way she would have power to accept it, wouldn't she? A. There is no money coming that way.

Q. Well, does anybody who goes into that unit have to pay for anything that they get there? A. Not so far as I know. Those who receive service from the Instructive District Nursing Society in their homes, when they are able, are expected to make some payment. That payment, as I understand it, goes directly to the nurse in the field, but I know that it does not go to any representative or employee of the Health Department under any conditions.

Q. Is there anybody who visits the Blossom street building for anything who has to pay for it in any way? A. Not that I know of.

Q. Well, you would know if it was so, wouldn't you? A. There may be with respect to the district nursing, as I have stated, certain —

Q. I am talking about the treatment that they get in the Blossom Street Home, or the Blossom Street Unit. A. No, there is no charge for any service rendered in the Blossom Street Unit.

Q. Is there any charge made for bandages or medicines that may be supplied there? A. Neither bandages or medicine are supplied there.

Q. How does anybody have to get bandages, if they don't go to this woman and get them? I understand, if she is employed down there, that any employee who wants anything has to get it from her, anything in the way of supplies, that "requisitions for supplies and complaints and recommendations regarding the health unit will be submitted through her." That is the language in your letter, you see. A. Well, supplies at the health unit don't mean bandages or medicines. They mean such things as mops and soap, coal, ash cans and articles of that kind, and those are dealt with through printed blanks. One of the medical inspectors spends three hours a day there as a vaccinator, vaccinating all comers.

Q. And if that doctor wants to make a recommendation, he has to make it to Mrs. Bligh? A. He is supposed to, if it is through the health unit. He, however, is a medical inspector, serving outside his vaccination work as a field inspector, and can operate in that way also.

Q. An employee of the Health Department? A. Yes.

Q. Receiving pay from the City of Boston? A. He does.

Q. And if there is anything he sees down there that he thinks ought to be changed, or any recommendation he has to make, that recommendation must be made through an alien? A. If it relates to the management of the health unit, yes.

Q. And you still think you have the power to keep her there and can keep her there as the representative of the City of Boston? A. I do.

Q. Have you been to the Law Department in regard to it? A. I have not.

Q. Haven't got anything from the Law Department? A. No.

Q. Does the Mayor know that this is going on? A. That I don't know.

Q. You didn't take it up with the Mayor? A. Not a matter of that kind, no.

Q. Don't you think that is a matter of serious consequence that should be taken up with the Mayor? A. No, I don't believe a matter of detail of that kind is a matter that ought to consume the time and attention of the Mayor of a city like Boston.

Q. Why don't you think so? A. Well, it is a matter of detail. When the work has been done and the conclusions have been reached, it will be very properly, or may be very properly, a matter to submit for his consideration and action.

Q. You said earlier in the meeting that you had tried for some time to get somebody for this place? A. Yes.

Q. Did you ask the civil service to put on an examination for it? A. I did not.

Q. You are a member of the Metropolitan Chapter of the American Red Cross? A. I am one of the directors of that chapter, yes.

Q. It looks to me as though the Metropolitan Chapter of the American Red Cross had a pretty good insight into the Health Department. I have nothing against the Red Cross, but because she is an alien. I don't know her. I haven't been in the Blossom Street Unit. I don't know her and I don't know anybody else down there, but I believe we have a lot of citizens, both men and women, who are capable of giving you all the information that you would want in one or two years, all the information that you would need down there, and I don't think we have got to go to Nova Scotia, to Italy, to Ireland or to any other country, to find anybody. I believe we can find them right here. You say she hasn't been here long enough to become a citizen. I don't think it takes any length of time for any alien coming in here to signify his or her intention to become an American citizen, and I think you could go to every country in the old world and promise them a position at $2,500 a year and you could get shipload after shipload of them to come over here and be willing to declare their intention to become American citizens. I am not blaming Mrs. Bligh for taking this position, if she can get it, but I don't believe in this idea of getting aliens in here in this way. If you want to get somebody from Nova Scotia, you can go down there and offer them $2,500 a year, and a lot of them would walk up here to get it. A. She was in Boston when she was appointed and had taken up her residence in the City of Boston.

Q. (By Coun. DONOGHUE.) What special qualifications has this Mrs. Bligh, doctor, that you have found it impossible to find in any American citizen? A. She has had a training as a nurse, is a regular graduate nurse, and has had private and institutional nurse training in New York City; she has had a great deal of medical social work in Halifax, and has done work under the direction of the Massachusetts Relief Commission, having charge of a similar unit in Halifax. She came to Boston because her husband's business brought her here to Boston, and she had to give up her medico-social work in Halifax. She was in Boston when we located her, and had taken up a residence in Boston.

Q. Well, doctor, what different qualifications have you found in her different from what any graduate nurse has? A. People of this kind are extremely difficult to get, and that is why although we were offering $2,500 a year, we found it so difficult to find anybody for the place. People occupying such a position would in many cases expect much larger amounts. She has had a broad experience. She has been a nurse in a hospital, has taken temperatures of patients, has looked after them, applied bandages, administered medicine, made beds, looked after the general care of the patients individually, and she has also done medical social work, and work of that type involves working not merely with the individual, working not merely for the relief of illness and injury, but working with the mass of the community and working for the prevention of disease. That is work for which the ordinary graduate trained nurse, even women with a great deal of experience in bedside nursing, are not particularly fitted.

Q. Don't you think any graduate nurse who has had the education and has spent the time to become a graduate nurse would easily fit into this medico-social work? A. The best answer to that is the fact that we have had at the unit, I don't know for how long a time but it antedated my arrival in Boston, a trained nurse whom I believe is a good trained nurse when it comes to nursing work, and who certainly has not filled the bill as a director of the health unit. I think that answers the question.

Q. No, you haven't answered the question for me, doctor. You said you had a trained nurse down here? A. Yes.

Q. We are talking about a graduate nurse, not a trained nurse? A. This Mrs. Coyle, I believe, is a graduate nurse. I have always so regarded her. I know, as a matter of fact, that few of the nurses that are employed by the city as visiting nurses are as a matter of fact, graduate nurses. Mrs. Coyle, I believe, is. She is a very estimable woman and I have no fault to find with Mrs. Coyle in her own position.

Q. But you feel that it takes rather a nappy combination to become a medico-social worker? A. It clearly does.

Q. Don't you know a great many women engaged in medico-social work that didn't know anything about nursing or anything in connection with it previous to their getting into that work? A. I don't know of any women who are engaged in medico-social work, with a single exception, who didn't know anything about nursing before they went in. There are a large number of social workers, some of whom are working along the line of health activities, but you will find that practically all of those are women who had a full nursing training. There may be some who have not, I expect there are; but a nursing training is looked on as practically essential to a medico-social worker. Of course, you must draw the distinction between a medico-social worker and an ordinary social worker.

Q. I draw the distinction, but I fail to see where any position can be filled by any alien that cannot be filled by an American citizen. I think we have as high a class in any line right here in America as anywhere in the world. A. I agree with you, thoroughly.

Q. And I believe that an American citizen should get that job. A. I agree with you entirely. She is a woman who has been trained in American schools, has had a training in New York City, has had a training under American direction.

Q. (By Coun. MORIARTY.) Was she a resident of New York? A. I don't know.

Q. How long was she there? A. I don't recall.

Q. I heard you say that she hadn't been in America very long. A. She has not been in Boston long enough to become a citizen.

Q. Well, New York City is a part of the United States. A. Her residence in New York City antedated her taking up her residence in Halifax, I understand.

Q. Was that before she was married? A. I believe it was.

Q. So she had no intention here before she was married to become an American citizen? A. That I don't know.

Q. Your statement earlier was that she hadn't had time. She evidently has had time, if she put in some time in New York. A. That I am not prepared to say, with respect to her New York experience. We were not discussing her New York experience at that time; we were discussing her Boston residence.

Q. We didn't know about that experience in New York, until you told us about it. Now, I don't know the lady. I only know that I have got this card and communication. I haven't talked with any one. But I have got those. I thought that was the best communication I had got since I have been in the Council.

Q. (By Coun. DONOGHUE.) I would like to ask Doctor Woodward, in view of the fact that he said he didn't think it was a matter of much moment, in other words, was merely a trifle, and therefore he didn't take the matter up with the Mayor, if he considers the fact that there is an alien in this city of ours receiving $2,500 a year for medico-social work a small matter, when there are a lot of citizens, in my opinion, who would be only too anxious and too glad to get that job, in view of the great unemployment situation? I would like to ask him if he does not think, when it comes to giving a position paying a $2,500 salary to an alien, that matter ought to be taken up by the Mayor of Boston and receive his sanction, as to whether or not it is in accordance with his policy or not? A. My conceit is that the Mayor desires results.

Q. Irrespective of who is employed? A. When a study has been made and action is called for, it may be, dependent upon the action recommended, something that ought to be submitted to the Mayor for consideration; but it hardly appears to me that the Mayor of a city like this, with many obligations and duties, should be expected to be consulted upon each and every detail of administration of the departments of the city. I will say, further, that the functions of the Health Department of the City of Boston are largely defined by the statutes of the state, the department itself paralleling the boards of health of the state, and to that extent the matters dealt with are, you may say, governed by statute law to a large extent. With respect to the ordinances of the city, I have been unable to find anything in the ordinances of the city laying down any rule with respect to a matter of this kind or even requiring that a woman be a resident of the City of Boston. Now, if the City of Boston lays down any rule, I assure you that no one will be more willing than I to comply with its letter and spirit. But there is nothing certainly, either in statute or in ordinance, that in any way tends to interfere with this service or that would tend to interfere with it even if the woman were on the city pay roll.

Q. I would like to ask a couple of more questions. You say, doctor, that there isn't any ordinance or statute to prevent employment of this woman, that there isn't any statute or ordinance preventing you from hiring her. Possibly that may be so. I have maintained right along that the civil service is a farce, and I think you are proving my contention; and here we have a condition now that, in my opinion, is a fundamental one. It is not a trifle. When an alien is hired in preference to an American citizen, that is a fundamental thing, in my opinion. In your opinion it might be a trifle. A. I will agree with you that when an alien is hired in preference to an American citizen and paid for from American funds, it is not a trifle. But there was not before the Health Commissioner at any time any American citizen who came within this group. Therefore, one was not hired in preference to the other.

Q. You say, no American citizen within this group,—do you say that there was no American citizen that possessed the necessary qualification to take this job? A. I beg your pardon. I was unable to find any American citizen who would take the job for the price offered.

Coun. DONOGHUE—Take my advice and hang a shingle on the outer door, and you will have a raft of them around in the morning. That is all I have to say.

Coun. BRICKLEY—Mr. Chairman, I cannot understand the commissioner's attitude, and I take exceptions. He says he coincides with the Mayor and the City Council. Now, I don't want to be discourteous, but I don't think he does. We provided $15,000 for a committee of the City of Boston on the matter of Americanization, and then to have the present commissioner go outside in this way and employ alien labor I think is all out of the question. Not only that, but you say the city doesn't pay for it. You acknowledge yourself that you made out a voucher for the city.

Doctor WOODWARD—For the Red Cross.

Q. (By Coun. BRICKLEY.) Yes, but the city is charged for it, not in the sum and substance, but it is put against the city's name. You vouch for the City of Boston when you sign your name to that voucher. I think something should be done in this case. My God, I think America has been deprived of enough. I am not going after anything for myself, but I think the time has come when we should look after our citizens. I don't think the young blood of the country is forcible enough. They have been putting things over on us. When we were defending the country they put through the suffrage amendment and other things, and if the war had gone on a little longer we would have been deprived of our American citizenship by not being given the power to vote. Now things like this come along. Now, if this sort of thing is going to continue, I would like to know it. I certainly am going to vote against anything of the sort when I have a chance. I think that woman should be done away with immediately and that power given to yourself or somebody else. The City Council isn't accountable for that woman. She could tell you to chase yourselves. Now, this $2,500 is a charge against the city, although it does not come out of the city funds here, it is credited against the Red Cross to the City of Boston. I think that job should be done away with, Mr. Commissioner. I don't think that woman should have it. That is my honest opinion. My God, there are enough Americans that need jobs. That is all, Mr. Chairman.

Coun. MORIARTY—I have here the Revised Ordinances of 1914, Chapter 3, section 12, "Every officer in charge of a department shall employ, fix the compensation of, and make a discharge for such cause as he shall deem sufficient and cause to be recorded in the records of the department, all subordinates in his department, but shall employ none but citizens and, if male subordinates, legal voters of Boston, in any capacity." Haven't you found that in your three years? A. I found the legal voters, in the case of the male citizens. The male residents must be legal voters. I am frank to say that I had not found the citizen end of it, because I found a foreigner in the office when I came in.

Q. (By Coun. MORIARTY.) After you found him he continued to work there for some time? A. He certainly did.

Q. You didn't remove him on account of that ordinance? A. No, because we were unable to fill his place. It is exactly the same as in the present situation.

Q. I would ask the doctor how many applications he did investigate for this position? A. Probably eighteen to twenty-five.

Q. Where were their residences? A. Their residence was in various parts of the United States, all over the country, you may say.

Q. Did you investigate any from any other country? A. No. They were living within the United States. I don't know as the question of citizenship came up in their cases.

Q. So you were unable to find anybody in the whole United States? You didn't do any advertising, did you, doctor? A. We communicated with the various agencies that register persons of this kind.

Q. What agencies? A. We asked, for instance, the Women's Educational Union. There is a New York organization where most of those social workers register and we applied to them for aid. I don't recall any advertising in this case.

Q. How many Boston agencies, if any, did you communicate with? A. Well, the Women's Industrial and Educational Union we communicated with, and it was through them that we got Mrs. Bligh.

Q. Is that the only help that they supply? A. No, oh, no.

Coun. MORIARTY—Well, I will say that I am prepared to go as far as to cut out the appropriation, to get rid of her, closing up that unit on Blossom street. That is how far I am prepared to go, if you people are going to take the methods you do to get these employees. I realize that I am doing something that may be resulting in a wrong, but if you heads of departments are going to give preference to aliens and noncitizen labor, I am going to take the alternative of closing the place up. If we cannot get able-bodied men and women to fill our positions, without going to foreign countries, I am willing to cut that particular budget out, for that place. I am sick and tired of having heads of departments come in here and use their judgment on the appropriation of money that is appropriated by this appropriating body, doing as they themselves see fit. I believe you can get an American citizen, born in this country, to do that work, a graduate nurse. You say that this lady down there is a graduate nurse. But still we have to take a foreigner and put her in there, and if those under her have to ask for bandages, or if any recommendations are to be made, they have to take them from an alien, can't go to the commissioner, but have to go to an alien. It is about time that we closed up not only that department but any other department of the city that adopts that method. I will say this, that I have communications by the armful calling us un-American, and I am going to show to the public that I am a true American, that I am trying to make places for Americans, and to see that the money of the citizens will not be spent for supervision over citizens by aliens. I want to say, further, that practically every cent of money that is paid to her as wages is American money donated by people who pleaded and pleaded to us during the war as Americans to donate it, to the American Red Cross, and I believe when the money has been donated in that way, when work is going to be done here it should be done by Americans. This woman has been in New York and has been here, and I believe she has had ample opportunity in her stay in New York and her stay in Boston to at least signify her intention to become an American citizen, and when she is not doing so, I have no use for her or the likes of her, who don't want to become citizens of this country. I will go a little farther and say that I have no use for any head of a department who will go along in this way and who will use every effort to hinder me in carrying out my duty, a man who does not look for American citizens first and all the time. I have concluded, Mr. Chairman.

Q. (By Coun. DONOGHUE.) I would like to ask you what your interpretation is, doctor, of that section of the Revised Ordinances which says that you shall employ none but citizens. A. I think with respect to any place on the pay roll we would have to have citizens. I will be perfectly frank with respect to that.

Q. That is, any place paid direct — A. By the city.

Q. You would have to employ a citizen? A. Yes.

Q. But, in view of the fact that this money is indirectly paid — A. I don't think that applies in a case of this sort.

Q. That is, owing to the indirect method by which this woman gets her salary, you don't think that the ordinance applies to her? A. No.

Q. Well, I just merely want to say that I am fearful of this avoidance of the civil service regulations that have been laid down. We saw here yesterday an instance where a woman not a resident of Boston was pulled in here and given a salary of $2,300, a job of that kind, without any examination, being placed in a supervisory capacity in the Institutions Department. It would seem that the law that the veterans had placed on the statutes up there in the State House is not going to amount to anything, because they are supposed now to receive preference. In connection with civil service examinations and lists, they are supposed to go to the top of the list. But if this practice is going to be followed, that they are going to take some one from a state list and put her in a job, and are going to avoid giving preference to soldiers and sailors of the late war or any other war of this country, something is wrong. I am absolutely opposed to such a policy being followed out or attempted by any head of a department, and I am absolutely in accord with Coun. Moriarty in this entire proposition.

Chairman WATSON—Any further questions of Doctor Woodward? (No response.) You are excused, doctor, with the thanks of the committee.

Doctor WOODWARD—Thank you, gentlemen.

At a later hearing Doctor Woodward was recalled and continued his statement.

Chairman McLAUGHLIN—Doctor Woodward, some of the members of the Council yesterday questioned some things in your budget, and I presume that the members who passed those particular items will now proceed to ask questions in regard to them.

Q. (By Coun. MORIARTY.) I said yesterday that I was prepared to vote against the whole budget of the Health Department unless some provision was made to stop the present method in some way, if possible, of having an alien give instructions to the help now employed by the City of Boston. I would like to know, where power has been given to an alien to have charge of our city employees and to be the personal representative of the Health Commissioner representing the City of Boston, if that cannot be stopped in some way. A. Is the question addressed to me?

Q. Yes. A. I should say that that is a matter that the City Council should consider and determine the policy with respect to. If it is in the power of the City Council under the charter to adopt a resolution expressing its wishes and desires in a matter of that kind, and the City Council so expresses its wishes and desires, I shall give the matter very serious consideration and take it up with those furnishing the city with services worth $2,500 a year. I imagine that they would be able to find other use for their $2,500, but I would like to know very definitely the opinion of the City Council on the subject first.

Chairman McLAUGHLIN—I think the sense of the committee is this, that they feel that the men and women employed by you should not be supervised, governed or controlled by people not responsible to the City of Boston, no matter how paid. I think that Coun. Moriarty's request meets with the moral support of the entire membership of the Council, and it is only a question of how we can most effectively proceed to accomplish the ends he desires. That probably is an administrative function on your part, sir, over which we have no control. You are an officer responsible only to the Mayor and not to the City Council. It would be too bad to have to acknowledge that we have not in the entire City of Boston or even in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, for that matter, a person capable of doing this work. It is bad enough to have to go outside of the City of Boston, to say nothing of having to go outside of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and the United States, for some one qualified to do the work that this particular lady is doing. It does not seem as though that could be so; that it is rather a commentary on the ability of hundreds and perhaps thousands of our women.

Doctor WOODWARD—I think the conclusion is not justified by the facts, for the simple reason that a six months' search was made for the competent man or woman in Boston, or anywhere else, if one could be found, who was fitted for the place and who would take it for this salary.

Q. (By Chairman McLAUGHLIN.) Of course, you are going to pass on the fitness of any one who may be suggested? A. I should have to do so.

Q. And, of course, the Council will have to leave this to you in the final analysis, and you will put on the K.O. if you have to. I suppose it is the consensus of the Council that there must be some one, a citizen of Boston, who is capable of doing that particular work that this lady is doing. I cannot really make myself believe that there is not some one woman in this city who is as eminently fitted as that lady we are talking about. If that is not true, it is a terrible condition of affairs. I never knew of any such condition to prevail in our city of culture and learning. A. I would suggest that the City Council before action produce such a woman.

Chairman McLAUGHLIN—We may be able to do that and call your bluff, if you will accept her; but, no matter how well she might be qualified, if you said "No," that would settle it. You would have to be the one who decided, and would not be obliged to take our suggestion.

Coun. COLLINS—Doctor Woodward has asked a question here. I thought I had made myself perfectly clear to my colleagues yesterday, in answer to your question. I think, all things being equal, a citizen of Boston and of our country should have the preference.

Doctor WOODWARD—I agree with you.

Coun. COLLINS—But I think service is the important thing, and under the charter I think it is your duty to select such a person; that it rests upon you as the administrative officer, subject to the Mayor. I think the one thing we have to pass on is the desirability of the position itself, and that we have nothing to say about the particular person, except, as the chairman has suggested, that we might express our feelings by resolutions as favoring a citizen of Boston. Naturally we favor a citizen of Boston, if one can be had.

Doctor WOODWARD—And so do I, Mr. Councilor, absolutely.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. Chairman, I think I have a constructive proposition to submit here. I have no lady in mind and don't know where one can be found that will satisfy the standards set for that particular position. But I agree with the other members that we should find a woman, or it need not be a woman; that we should find a citizen who can do this work under your direction. In order that there may be none but a citizen employed there, I ask you this question. If the Mayor will send to us a $2,500 item in the budget for the position which this lady now fills, and we should agree and the Council would pass it, would you then be compelled to hire none but a citizen? It is true that you would be, isn't it?

Doctor WOODWARD—That is true.

Coun. WATSON—Well, you have people in your office, in my opinion, who are fully competent to make a survey of the Blossom street unit, of which this lady is now in charge, representing you unofficially but representing the Red Cross organization in fact. I believe you have her there. I believe if you search your department you will find among your employees a competent and fit man or woman who can go down there and faithfully get the information desired concerning the unit, and who can as well look into the matter of making recommendations for improving the service as the lady you have got here; and if the Council will provide the money, will vote for the $2,500 if the Mayor will send in a recommendation to that effect, will you make another effort to find somebody who can fill the position—because, pardon me, I don't say you tell an untruth —

Doctor WOODWARD—No.

Coun. WATSON—Pardon me. This is serious, but I will say that you are mistaken when you say that you have made a thorough search for someone for that particular position.

Doctor WOODWARD—I have brought here today, as physical evidence of the search, a batch of correspondence, practically all of which represents the result of my search through persons I corresponded with in hope of finding someone.

Coun. WATSON—Don't turn the subject; don't be hostile. I am going to vote for your appropriation, anyway, because I cannot afford to hold up an important department like yours to right a minor injustice. I feel that I would be doing a greater injustice in voting against your budget. That is my point of view. But you have men in your department, faithful employees,—I know it if you don't,—who are competent to do the very work that this lady is doing. You have not made that effort. Have you talked with anyone in your department, any subordinate, concerning this survey?

Doctor WOODWARD—I had those persons in mind. May I be permitted to make one statement in relation to the proposition that Coun. Watson advances?

Coun. WATSON—Surely.

Doctor WOODWARD—That is this, that if a person comes through the budget, whether the appointment be made from within the Health Department or without the Health Department, it must be made under civil service rules and from a list certified by the Civil Service Commission, except as we may have authority, of course, to make a provisional appointment pending the result of the examination.

Coun. WATSON—Or a promotion in your department.

Doctor WOODWARD—An appointment to a new position carrying such duties would, I believe, carry with it an examination.

Coun. WATSON—You would simply have to change the rating to put them at this work.

Doctor WOODWARD—I will simply say in reply to that that in an analogous situation, when I had under consideration the possibility of assigning certain of our sanitary inspectors to supervisory duties, breaking up the larger group into several small groups, I was informed that the men assigned to supervisory work would have to be selected as the result of an examination held under civil service direction; so I presume, even though an appointment might be made from within the Health Department, that rule would be applied. I want to say, with respect to a position of this sort, that the civil service examination is, in my judgment, absolutely not calculated to determine the qualifications of the person. The qualifications of a man or woman who is to make a study of a unit of that kind, co-ordinating public and private agencies, call for an ability that you cannot express in black and white or by word of mouth. You have to judge a man or a woman on his or her record. Mr. Watson speaks of the possibility of having a man rather than a woman. I would have preferred a man for the place. There are problems connected with the administration in connection with which a man, I think, would have been a distinct advantage. I could not get a man. I will say frankly at the present time that I do not believe the city is getting its money's worth out of the unit. I will say that the defects of the unit, the shortcomings of the unit, if I may so call them, were made a matter of record May 19, 1916, as the result of a meeting in the interest of the Blossom Street Unit, at which were present my predecessor, Doctor Mahoney, and the late Doctor Shea. Those same defects still exist. They will exist until some provision is made for a proper administrative head. I am willing to work to that end with the City Council or with anyone in any practicable way, but unless we can improve the unit quite clearly I think the unit had better be abandoned.

Coun. MORIARTY—Of course, that is up to the doctor, whether the unit will be discontinued or not. He is the administrative head of that department, and he has the right to recommend that it be abandoned. My only contention here is—and it is not a trifle, as some members of the Council seem to think it is, but a very important matter—that there should be a citizen there. I realize that technically this woman is not an employee of the city, but I claim again that she is really an employee of the city when she has the control over those who are paid by the city. She can go broadcast, as the card I presented here the other day indicates, as the personal representative of the Health Commissioner, with a card that has the seal of the City of Boston on it. She may go to any place and present that card and be met as a representative of the Health Department of the City of Boston, even though technically she may not be on the pay roll.

Doctor WOODWARD—If the City Council will provide $2,500 or more for the director of the Blossom Street Health Unit, I shall be very glad to take up with the donors of the money with which Mrs. Bligh is paid the matter of recalling the money or assigning Mrs. Bligh to other work under their supervision. If we are simply going to get rid of Mrs. Bligh, with no substitute in her place, then I shall certainly have to decline to be responsible for the welfare of the health unit and for the wise expenditure of the money that is spent there.

Coun. MORIARTY—The Council has no right to appropriate money in that way, as the head of the Health Department realizes. We have no power to give you $2,500 or 25 cents, in so far as the health unit on Blossom street is concerned. But I don't think we ought to get away from the issue. The issue is this, that we have got an alien there now who has control of citizens of our country, who is being paid by citizens' money, furnished by the Red Cross, and I have no fight with the Red Cross. I feel that the Red Cross are all right, or that the work that they have done is all right, and I have sympathy with the work that they are doing. But I don't believe that the Red Cross has a right to have somebody in their employ or in their organization who has control over our employees, and who is an alien.

Doctor WOODWARD—She does not control the employees. I control the employees, and I am a citizen.

Coun. MORIARTY—Mr. Commissioner, in the order which you issued which I read and showed to you the other day, that you had posted, didn't you say that all people in your department having business to do with the health unit were to report to her for anything; that any recommendations they had to make were to be reported to her?

Doctor WOODWARD—I did.

Coun. MORIARTY—That any orders to be given to our employees there were to be given by her; that any supplies that were to be given out were to be given out by her?

Doctor WOODWARD—Yes, sir.

Coun. MORIARTY—So anybody who is an employee of the Health Department and who comes in touch with the Blossom Street Unit, who wants to make recommendations or who wants to take up anything concerning that unit, has to take orders from an alien. Is that not true?

Doctor WOODWARD—It is not true.

Coun. MORIARTY—Well, the communication does not mean what it says, then?

Doctor WOODWARD—It means what it says, yes.

Coun. MORIARTY—Then, explain to me what it means.

Doctor WOODWARD—I meant that the orders that are given out for the health unit are given out from the Health Department, through the Health Commissioner commonly, and that the persons who go there have a right to come to the Health Commissioner for advice and instruction, if they have any grievance.

Q. (By Coun. MORIARTY.) Why did you put that notice in your office, then? Wasn't that to keep them away from you and make them take orders from this woman who was appointed there? A. No. It was to co-ordinate the health unit. You understand that the health unit is made up more largely of private agencies than of public agencies, probably.

Q. I realize that when the health unit was established some of the organizations now taking part down there were not in existence. I figure that when that unit was organized and prepared by the City of Boston it was the thought that it was going to be in control of Boston and of the City of Boston, and I am not going at this late date to allow it to slip out from under our fingers if I can help it. This is one case; next year there may be another; the next year there may be another. By the time we wake up we may find that they have an immigration station down there instead of a health unit, and that, instead of being controlled by citizens of our country—and I am not getting this down even to citizens of our city, but to citizens of our country—it will be in the hands of aliens entirely. I am not now trying to confine it even to citizens of Boston. I am giving you a wider latitude than that. My contention now is simply that there should at least be there a citizen of the country, and if we cannot find a man or a woman who is a citizen and who is capable of filling that position, I think you ought to lock the place down there up and throw the key overboard, down the harbor. I am prepared to take that position. I realize that it is taking drastic measures to vote against the whole budget. I know that I cannot get enough other members of the Council to vote with me to put that through. Nevertheless, I am convinced, if I am the only member of the Council who votes that way, that it is my duty to vote against the whole budget for your department, unless I get an agreement from you that you will put a citizen in that position.

Q. (By Coun. DONOGHUE.) Doctor, I am rather interested in the statement you have made relative to the Council providing $2,500 for the employment of somebody down in that health unit as a director. I would like to ask you this question: If the City Council did have the power to appropriate $2,500 in order that you might appoint a director down in that health unit, how would it be possible to find anybody to take that job, if today you cannot find anyone to take the job? A. That is a matter that the City Council would have to determine. The procedure, Mr. Councilor, would be this. If $2,500 were provided under the city budget, I should make a requisition on the Civil Service Department of the state for a list of eligibles. If they had such a list of eligibles they would send me down from that list, and I should make an appointment from the three at the top of the list. If they had no list of eligibles, it would then be a matter of making a provisional appointment and arranging for an examination. I should then be where I am now, looking around for some competent person pending the examination. In looking around I would be limited to persons who are citizens of this country and persons who are residents of the City of Boston, except possibly in the case of a woman, where the ordinance does not call for residence. It is only a question of policy, I understand, in respect to women. They must be citizens.

But, at any rate, I should have to practically limit myself to citizens of Boston in making the appointment.

Q. Doctor, don't you think it is rather illogical reasoning for you to come in here and make a blank statement that it is impossible to get anyone else but this one woman capable of filling that job, no matter what provision may be made or what conditions may be provided either by the Mayor or the City Council? If you, in your judgment, say that there is only one woman in these United States that is qualified to fill that job, we cannot by appropriating money make it two women. A. I don't think I said that. I said I had been unable to find anyone after six months of diligent search.

Q. Do you think by six months more of diligent search you might find somebody else? A. Why, that is possible, yes.

Q. Possible, but not probable—is that it, doctor? A. I don't know at the present time. There is a very serious shortage of competent nurses. A large number of nurses have been absorbed for public health nursing all over the country, in institutional work, and I don't know of any class of service more difficult to provide than that of public health nurses of a high grade. They are very scarce. If the money is available I shall do my best, and with the utmost good faith, I assure you, and with the utmost good will to find the proper person. Meanwhile, I shall ask that we be permitted to do what is clearly for the interest of the city—endeavor to improve the organization and service of that institution. There is, of course, one very distinct advantage in this transition stage in having someone who is not on the pay roll, and in having this a temporary matter. In other words, at the expiration of the grant her service terminates, in any event. It would be a little more difficult if she were on the city pay roll.

Q. Yes, but as far as the circumstances of her employment are concerned, it wouldn't make any difference whether she were a citizen or a noncitizen, as far as that is concerned? A. No.

Q. So that doesn't enter into it, whether you can find anybody else for the job or not. A. It only enters into the expediency of making it a matter of public pay roll at the time. But if you can find an item of $2,500 for the position of public health unit, I shall do my best to find that person and to co-operate with the Council and the individual members of the Council in getting the money's worth out of that person and the health service.

Q. Well, what hope is there, doctor, of finding any such person and establishing any such position as a city position? A. Well, that suggestion originated with the Council. I say, if it is done I will do my best to find the person.

Q. In your opinion, is there any hope of finding any such person? A. Little, I should say. With respect to a position that has appeared on the budget for two years—director of the child hygiene division—we have never been able to find any one who would take that position. We have held an examination, with no eligible list as the result of the examination. They are holding another examination, and I think two or three are going into that at the present time. That shows the scarcity of these workers.

Q. (By Coun. MORIARTY.) If a larger amount were paid, it might be easier? A. It might be easier, of course.

Q. Then it is a question of dollars and cents, that Boston isn't paying enough money to get the right people or the people they want? Is that the right idea? A. I think that is the idea to a very large extent with all the city service, so far as it is confined to the Health Department. I should say that was the case. But the positions are not attractive.

Q. Would that be so in so far as this job down there is concerned, that all that could have been obtained was $2,500? A. No, I think we would have been willing to pay more.

Q. Oh, you were willing to pay more. A. But we were unable with the larger sum to find some one who was worth the larger sum.

Q. You mean to say, doctor, with all the graduate nurses who have been graduated from the City Hospital, from the Brigham Hospital, from the Massachusetts General Hospital, from the Homeopathic Hospital, from the Carney Hospital, from the Long Island Hospital, that we are unable to find a graduate nurse out of that number of women who is capable of filling that position? A. I will say that I was unable to find a graduate nurse out of those graduates from those schools that remained in Boston or were available in the United States, so far as I could get into communication with them, or among the graduates of any and all other nursing schools in the United States. I will say, further, that I didn't limit my inquiry to graduate nurses. I looked for a competent person.

Q. The job doesn't even call for a nurse, does it? A. Not if you can get one with the proper experience in medico-social work, no. A nurse or a physician, preferably a nurse, I should say, was to be preferred.

Q. A graduate nurse was to be preferred? A. I should say so, some with some social work back of her nursing training.

Q. I would like to ask one more question. I would ask whether the Health Commissioner is going to continue as the Health Commissioner of Boston to keep that lady down there, who is an alien, in the same capacity that she is at the present time, with supervision over city employees and with the right to go out and represent Boston, the Boston Health Department? A. Until some better arrangement can be made, yes.

Coun. MORIARTY—That is satisfactory to me. I am prepared to vote against the whole budget of the Health Department.

Chairman McLAUGHLIN—Any other questions of Doctor Woodward? (No response.) You are excused, doctor, with the thanks of the committee.

INSTITUTIONS DEPARTMENT.

Q. (By Coun. MORIARTY.) Did the new stenographer get an increase this year? Is she in the central office—the secretary? A. No, I think she does not get any increase.

Q. You thought you gave her enough? A. No.

Q. Well, she didn't get any? A. I don't think so.

Q. Is that young lady a resident of Boston? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Bona fide? A. Yes, sir; a resident of Boston.

Q. Not a mattress resident? I understand that she has a room on Blue Hill avenue and is living with her mother out of town. A. She hasn't a room on Blue Hill avenue. She has moved from there. She is living in Dorchester.

Q. I understand that she is living in Medford, with her mother. A. That isn't so. Her home is in Boston.

Q. Isn't her mother's home in Medford? A. Yes.

Q. She is a single woman, isn't she? A. Yes, sir.

Q. I understand that she puts in most of her time in her mother's home in Medford. I am going to have detectives put on her track to see if it is true or not. A. All right.

Q. Isn't there anybody else in that department in any way capable of holding the same kind of job? A. Not in my judgment.

Q. Do you think the wages should vary as they do between the other women in that department and her wages? A. If I didn't think so I would not recommend the wages which I have given her.

Q. It must be an awfully tough bunch of employees you have over there if that difference of wages is a proof of it. A. There is a difference of $300 between her and the next one.

Q. She is the second highest paid woman in the city employ, isn't she? A. The press so state.

Q. We have women working for the city who have given the best part of their lives to it, who have had just as much schooling and education as this lady has had, but, in so far as salary is concerned, we give an outsider, who comes in here and hires a room in Boston, the second highest paid job in Boston, in so far as women are concerned. I am not kicking about her salary,—good luck to her, as far as the salary is concerned,—but I think you ought to be just as favorable to the other women working in your department and the men working in your department, to bring them up to where she is. I don't think she is getting too much money. I don't think any woman working for the city gets too much money. A. I think if you look the salary list over you will find that the employees under me get pretty good wages, that they get more under me than they did before, and that they are a pretty contented lot.

Q. I don't understand so. I don't understand that they are a very contented lot. I haven't been in your office since you put on the new secretary, but I have heard from certain sources that the people in your office are anything but a contented lot. A. Well, that is news to me.

Q. I understand that they resent it very much, a woman who has come in as an entire stranger receiving more compensation than they receive, without even giving them the consideration of an opportunity to take an examination for the job? A. No.

Q. Any other office in your place would have to be filled by competition. If one of the girls there got through you would have to get permission from the civil service to fill her place. A. In this instance I had to get permission from the civil service. This is the highest grade in the civil service, in the clerks' service, the highest rating.

Q. She was transferred from the state list to the Boston list? A. She was.

Q. You have to have a pretty good standing to do that, don't you? A. She had one of the highest ratings in civil service, was considered by the civil service the most efficient woman in the Commonwealth, and I feel that the city, and my department particularly, is benefited by the transfer. She is a woman skilled in dealing with institutional matters, and I feel that even to date her transfer has been more than warranted and more than justified.

Q. Then you and I must disagree. You claim a great many things for your department that I would not agree with. A. Well unfortunately, I am charged with the administration of the department, and not you, and being charged with it, I shall conduct it.

Q. And, in so far as appropriating the money is concerned, I am one of those who is appropriating it, and you are not. A. Exactly.

Q. And that is why you are here today. A. Exactly.

Q. And I have a right to question you in so far as your judgment is concerned on the salaries you are paying in the department. A. And I have not questioned your right.

Q. (By Coun. WATSON.) Mr. O'Brien, what was this lady's position at the State House? A. Chief clerk of the Department of Correction.

Q. And you think the state is the loser and the city the gainer by her employment? A. I know it.

Q. Was it to her advantage to leave the state employ and come into the city employ? A. By $200.

Q. You think that is why she came? A. Yes.

Q. Well, if you had your way she would be back in the state employ pretty quick? A. If I were there, yes.

Q. That is not what I mean. You are in favor of turning your department over to the Commonwealth? A. No, I am not.

Q. Haven't you appeared at the Legislature in favor of putting the Penal Department of the City of Boston under state control? A. That is the smallest part of my department at the present time.

Q. I understood, Mr. O'Brien, that she was an expert on matters having to do with correctional institutions. A. Institutions generally.

Q. What was her employment before the consolidation, on Beacon Hill? A. She was with the —

Q. Mind you, I have no objection to her employment. I am trying to arrive at something, lead up to something. A. Chief clerk of the Bureau of Prisons.

Q. Then her knowledge of her particular work was her knowledge of penal institution matters prior to the consolidation? A. Hospital.

Q. Before the consolidation, what hospital? A. Tuberculosis hospital at Rutland and insane hospital at State Farm.

Q. Those are prisons? A. No.

Q. That is, my statement that she was employed at the State House prior to the consolidation in matters that had to do with the criminal, was correct? A. That is substantially right.

Q. . . . If you had your way this lady would be back on her pay roll of the Commonwealth, shortly. A. No. As I said before, the Penal Department alone would be affected by the state control bill.

Q. Then you would retain her for the Long Island Hospital matter and other matters that pertain to your department, minus the correctional end of it. She would still be very valuable to you? A. She would.

Q. Don't you think that might be the same with your new secretary that you have put in there, that we might save that $2,300 with advantage to the city, paying it out in some other way, rather than adding a new clerk to your department. A. I would say that there were two clerks that went out and I didn't fill their positions.

Q. And you brought one in and gave her two salaries? A. Not quite.

Q. How much difference between the salaries of the two that went out and her salary? A. $400 or $500, I should say.

Q. I suppose she will need an errand boy before long and that that will eat up the $400 or $500. Coming from the state, she won't be used to getting along for herself.

Q. (By Coun. WATSON.) Mr. O'Brien, this is entirely impersonal. You understand that? A. Perfectly.

Q. As far as we are concerned—as far as I am concerned, any way. How long has Miss — what is the name of the lady who is getting $2,300? A. Miss Fife.

Q. I would like to ask you in regard to Miss Fife,—someone said "Miss Drum,"—what is her position with you, secretary? A. Yes.

Q. Stenographer? A. She is not a shorthand writer.

Q. Oh, she is a typewriter? If she is so valuable, why not get her to handle all this valuable data? A. Because I have a fiscal agent who handles all that.

Q. What does Miss Nelson get? A. $2,000 a year.

Q. Well, we get only $1,500. So, therefore, we compliment you on your salaries.

Q. (By Coun. MORIARTY.) I would like to ask how long Miss Nelson has been working in the department, how long she has been connected with your department? A. I think Miss Nelson will have to answer that herself. She tells me since 1903.

Q. And it has taken her from 1903 until 1921 to receive $2,000, and we find someone who has not been working in the city employ who comes fresh into the city employ and becomes the second highest paid woman in the city departments. Now, if you say that she received this wonderful education in the State House, because she has been in touch with institutions of the state, that also must be true of Miss Nelson, having been in touch with the institutions here, in connection with her department. Isn't that so? A. Yes, and the only regrettable thing is that I did not come with the city three or four years ago, in which case probably some more of our efficient city employees would have been recognized, because I think Miss Nelson has been recognized since I came into the city service,—and it has been to her disadvantage that I did not come earlier.

Q. Has that not been in accordance with a general plan, Commissioner, the increases that they have received? A. No, it hasn't. I think she was appointed chief clerk last year and got her increase since I have been in charge of the department.

Q. In most reorganizations there are increases in the salaries, aren't there? A. I am not familiar with reorganizations of the city departments.

Q. Under amalgamation your salary was increased, was it not? A. Yes.

Q. So it was a general rule in the matter of those departments, a general thing, wasn't it? A. No. I think there were but three salary increases throughout the consolidation.

Q. And how many new jobs? A. One.

Q. And that job was the second highest paid woman in the city departments? A. Yes.

Q. (By Coun. WATSON.) In view of the fact that we are giving you a little mite of a grilling, I want to pay you a compliment. A. Thank you.

Q. You haven't got it, yet. A. Maybe I shall not want to thank you!

Q. I want to say that you are one of the few department heads that has shown that the ladies are entitled to pay pretty nearly equal to that of men. I would like to refer to that, because they have a vote now. Is that the reason? A. No. It may be because I have three ladies in my family, three daughters. That may have something to do with it.

Q. Very good. A very clever answer. A. Thank you.

Coun. WATSON—So I do get the thanks, after all.

Q. (By Coun. MORIARTY.) Under personal service I see that they have one stenographer in here, $1,200. A. That is Miss Bosworth.

Q. I don't know, any of them by name. I am not taking their increases of wages on account of my knowing them. I want to say that I am not criticising your department alone for this, altogether. But women who come into the department as new employees seem to get better treatment than those who have worked here for a number of years. We have had another case in the Soldiers' Relief Department, a new employee recommended in the budget last year for $300, and the only woman in that department that is recommended for a $200 increase this year. Last year they gave us the answer that it was because they wanted to put her on a level with the other women in that department. This year they have given no reason why she is increased. Whether they wanted to create a higher level for that woman or not, I don't know. We were unable to get an answer. What I am trying to get at is this, that conditions now seem better for those who come in as new city employees than for those who have given the best part of their lives to work for the city. A. Do you think that length of service should be the determining factor in salary increases?

Q. I will say this to you in answer to that question. I think if there was going to be a secretaryship established in your department that each woman in that department had a right to compete, to try to get that job. A. They had the right to get on the list at the State House for the highest grade of clerical service.

Q. Do I understand you to answer me that they should be on the state list? A. The civil service list is the same for the state and city. It makes no difference at all.

Q. It is the same? A. They take the same type of examination, interchangeably. They take the regular examination, that is all.

Q. But if they are drawing from the state they take from the state list, and don't take from the city list? A. Yes, I think so, Mr. Councillor.

Q. I don't think they do. Nobody but you knew that you were going to create a secretaryship for your department. A. I don't recall it.

Q. In so far as her salary is concerned, you had no permission from the Council to pay her her salary, did you? A. No.

Q. Had to have the money transferred, didn't you? A. I did.

Q. You did it during the month of the year when the Council had no control over transfers? A. I did it just as soon as I could act in the matter. The Council delayed in passing its bill until late in October.

Q. That wasn't my question. A. I just wanted you to know that I didn't do it purposely at that time.

Q. That wasn't my question. You had that money transferred in a month of the year when the Council had no control over transfers? A. That is a fact.

Q. (By Coun. DONOGHUE.) Another question, relative to the employment of that Miss Fife. You say that she was taken from the state list as a secretary? A. No, you misunderstand me. They have a classification in the state, and the highest classification in the clerical service is Grade 5, which includes chief clerks and secretaries to heads of departments, and she was taken as a part of that Grade 5.

Q. She was already working on a job for the state, was she? A. Receiving $2,100 a year.

Q. She wasn't on that list. A. No.

Q. But the civil service still allows them to maintain that rating that they originally passed as secretary and chief clerk? A. Yes.

Q. Then she could be transferred to the city? A. Yes.

Q. And appointed to practically a similar position in the service of the city? A. Yes.

Q. Now, if that policy was continued by the various department heads there would be seldom an opportunity for any one working in a department to reach any of the high jobs in the particular department, would there, Mr. Commissioner? A. I can't say that that is true. There are very few in that grade, if you are speaking of that grade. But I suppose we could go on indefinitely. Any number of transfers might be made in a year. There are now any number of transfers being made. Some of my former employees are now in the city service in other departments.

Q. The state service? A. No, the city service.

Q. That is a general policy going on all the time? A. Yes. It is nothing new.

Q. I am only interested in the workings of the civil service rules and regulations, that is all. I feel that it is nothing but a camouflage all the way through, that, in my opinion, the civil service rules don't amount to anything. That is all I have to say.

Mr. O'Brien was recalled at a later hearing, when the statements made were as follows:

Chairman McLAUGHLIN—We will now take up the Institutions Department, Commissioner O'Brien.

Chairman McLAUGHLIN—Several of the councilors here yesterday passed certain items in your budget, Mr. O'Brien. I don't recall exactly who the councilors were. But the item was the fourth item under Central Office of the Institutions Department, on page 68, "secretary, at $2,300 per year."

Q. (By Coun. DONOGHUE.) I would like to ask you, Commissioner, what evidence you have that this woman in question is a citizen of Boston—or did you have any? A. I have none. I know that she is a citizen of the United States, because she was born here. I know that she was a resident of Medford until the 1st of January, 1921. I know that since that time she has been a resident of Boston.

Q. When was she a resident of Medford? A. Until the 1st of January, 1921.

Q. When did she get this job? A. The last of January, 1921.

Q. There is no other evidence that she is a resident than her own say-so in the matter? A. That is all.

Q. As far as you know, she just merely rooms in Boston? A. Presumably all that any of us do is room and live in Boston, and she rooms and lives here, like the rest of us.

Q. Oh, no. Some of us are what I term bona fide residents of Boston. A. My information from her is that she is a bona fide resident of Boston, that she has moved to Boston and intends to remain here, and my knowledge of law leads me to believe that that is all that is necessary to constitute a domicile.

Q. Your knowledge of law, of course, is superior to mine. I am not a lawyer. I was merely dragged up in the South End. But, so far as common sense goes, I am not taking my hat off to you. I merely want to say in connection with this matter that I personally feel that it is going to establish a very bad precedent. Here we have an instance of an employee taken by the head of a department from the state list, and under the Revised Ordinances I believe it is not necessary for her to be a citizen of Boston. But the head of the department takes from a state list or a state job an employee of the state and brings her in here and places her in a responsible position in the city employ, which is allowable under civil service rules and regulations. But I feel that it is going to establish a rather dangerous precedent. In the first place, we know that there has been legislation passed recently which has given the veterans preference on appointments to different city positions. Now, if this policy is going to be followed out and employees in state jobs are going to be transferred to city jobs without any examination and without any reference to ratings on civil service lists, I feel that, as far as the veterans' act is concerned, it is going to amount to practically nothing, that the veteran is not going to receive that which the Legislature had led him to believe he was to receive, a preference in employment in city positions. Now, it does not seem to me when a woman who has lived in Medford comes in here, changing her residence January 1, and is appointed January 30, it does not seem to me that it is very likely that she has severed all her home ties and has separated herself from her own people, to go to live in Roxbury or Dorchester. Personally, I am absolutely opposed to any such policy as that being carried on by any head of a department in this city of ours, because I think it is going to discriminate against residents of the City of Boston, who, in my opinion, are entitled to preference when there are any city jobs available. That is all I have to say, Mr. Chairman.

Chairman McLAUGHLIN—Are there any other questions to be asked of Commissioner O'Brien?

Q. (By Coun. MORIARTY.) Mr. Chairman, I want to say that I questioned Commissioner O'Brien the other day. I don't want to go over the same thing, now. But I will say that it was I yesterday who wanted to have you come here today. I don't want anybody to think that I don't wish to say this while you are here. I was the one who made the motion yesterday, that the equivalent of this money from May 1 be stricken from the budget, and I am still in that same frame of mind. If I can get three others to vote with me, I am going to try to have that money taken from the budget, so that there will be no money to pay to a secretary in that department. A. Of course, I appreciate the fact that in doing that you are really acting in the administrative affairs of the city, when in fact you are a legislative body. I presume you know the law as it is construed by the Corporation Counsel with reference to the employment of residents and nonresidents of the city, and I assume that, as a law-abiding body, you will conform to the ruling of the Corporation Counsel. If you by subterfuge evade the law, of course, I am helpless. You know that you cannot abolish the position. Therefore, you adopt the next step, which is to deprive me of the means to maintain it, which you have a right to vote to do.

Coun. WATSON—I object. Are you speaking literally when you say it is depriving you? Mr. O'Brien—Actually.

Q. (By Coun. WATSON.) I don't see how there is a deprivation unless the Council acts in that way. A. Well, I am addressing the Council. It is all hypothetical, of course,—I mean, provided you gentlemen are in accord with Coun. Watson or Coun. Moriarty.

Q. It does not follow that I will vote that way. I will go my own way. A. I assume that you will, and I just wished to have the situation understood.

Q. Well, to banish any doubt from your mind, I would simply say that I am not in accord with the striking out.

Coun. MORIARTY—I will say this, that I believe in meeting situations here just as the heads of departments meet them, and if there has not been subterfuge in this case I don't want to see any subterfuge. The young lady moves into the city the first day of January, or thereabouts, and is appointed to a position in the Penal Institutions Department on the thirtieth day of January. If that isn't subterfuge, I would like to know what is.

Mr. O'BRIEN—I have evaded nothing, because the law gives me the right to appoint anybody who is a citizen of the United States as a subordinate in my department, notwithstanding the city ordinance.

Q. (By Coun. MORIARTY.) As long as we have opened the thing up again, this was not in the budget last year. A. It was created as a result of the consolidation of departments.

Q. That is not an answer to the question. This was not in the budget of last year, the secretary? A. That is true.

Q. So it is a new position established since February, 1920? A. As were three others, the deputy commissioners and the chief clerk of the department, all under the consolidation.

Q. I would like to ask another question. Didn't the ordinance sent in here by the Mayor create the two deputies? A. It did.

Q. Did it create the secretary? A. It did not.

Q. So, as far as the ordinance sent in by the Mayor is concerned, there was nothing in it upon which the members of this Council voted concerning the appointment of a secretary at the highest salary, or the second highest salary, of the female sex of our city? That is so, isn't it, Commissioner? A. There was nothing in the ordinance which provided for it.

Q. But as far as the two others are concerned, that isn't so, is it? A. There was no provision for the appointment of a chief clerk, nor was there provision for the appointment of a fiscal agent; nor was there provision for adjustment of my department or the Institutions Department.

Q. You said it did provide for two deputies. So it is not true that the two deputies were created without knowledge of this Council? A. Well, you spoke of the budget of last year, to begin with.

Q. And you answered the question by saying that there were three others, two deputies and a chief clerk, besides the secretary. A. And I might include others. But, as far as the two deputies are concerned, they were covered by a part of the ordinance that brought about the amalgamation of your departments? A. That is true.

Q. The Council knew that there were going to be two deputies? A. That is true.

Q. Up to the present time those two have not been appointed, or both appointed and one didn't receive the approval of the Civil Service Commission? A. That is right.

Q. So that neither you nor the Mayor of the city has even seen fit to carry out the ordinance submitted here for the Council to act upon, by providing two deputies? A. I don't understand that the ordinance was mandatory, so far as the appointment of the deputies is concerned.

Q. It wasn't mandatory that they have a head of the department, either? A. That is true.

Q. But the sense was that there would be a head of the department and two deputies? A. Yes.

Q. That is the belief of both of us, isn't it? A. Yes.

Q. And I was against the ordinance. I was simply referring to, bringing out, this subterfuge. You said to me the other day here, if I remember your remarks right, that you were running your department. A. I trust that I am.

Q. And I answered you that I was one of the appropriating powers? A. Yes.

Q. You run your department, doing your duty as you see it? A. Yes.

Q. And I do my duty as I see it, and I feel that the charter gives me the right to vote to strike out any item in this budget, as far as money is concerned, dollars and cents, and if you have not the money to pay anybody in that position it will be very hard for you to keep them in the position. That is true, isn't it? A. That is true.

Q. It was also brought out here at the last hearing that when this appointment was made, it was made at a time of the year when this Council had no authority over transfers in your department? A. As were others.

Q. In all departments? A. Yes, and as were other appointments.

Q. Well, I say that this one was so done. I am not talking about others. If I want to talk about others I will do so. But I am talking about this one, now, that it was done in a month of the year when the Mayor had whole and sole control of the transfers without even referring them to the Council. A. True.

Q. From the first day of December? A. That is true.

Q. Do you think that if there was an appropriation brought in from February until December to hire some one who is not a bona fide resident of the city, notwithstanding the fact that she has been living here since January 1, that that appropriation should be favorably acted upon here? I claim that at least in order to get a bona fide residence you have to live here at least six months, and I believe that is your interpretation, too, as a lawyer. If she was taken sick at the present time and was taken into the City Hospital, if she would not pay the bill I believe that a bill would be sent to the city of Medford by the City Hospital. A. That would be true until a residence of five years was established.

Q. That is true—showing that she is not a resident of Boston. A. Doesn't have a settlement in Boston. There is a distinction between residence, settlement and domicile.

Q. Well, you agree that under the civil service laws, in order to take a civil service examination for some positions, she would have to be a resident of Boston for six months? That is so, isn't it? A. I don't know as to that. I do know this, that no subterfuge was practiced in her appointment. It had been determined to appoint a secretary before the period of which you speak, and a request would have been made to the Council to provide money, and I don't imagine that any member of the Council would have first tried to find out who was to fill the position for whom the money was to be supplied. The law permits me to do this thing, and why should I resort to subterfuge? I believe, as you believe, that those getting money from Boston should have a residence here. She is living in Boston, has a residence here, but has not yet been here six months.

Q. Don't you think you could go all over the state and get a lot of people to come here to get jobs, if heads of departments would go scouting through the outlying districts? A. I think it might be a good thing for the city if we did it more than we do now.

Q. Yes. It might give the state more control than they have now. I say that I don't agree with the commissioner. I say that we have just as capable men and women in Boston as in the rest of the state. But, of course, when you sit around the State House a few years you get that state atmosphere that you can never blow away from yourself.

Q. (By Coun. DONOGHUE.) Mr. Commissioner, did you mean to say that you think if more heads of departments went searching for city employees throughout the state it would improve the civil service here? A. Why, I merely made that as a retort courteous, if you want to so designate it. I don't know that I could substantiate it in that respect, but I know that I have drawn a number of people from the state service already, and trust that I may continue to do so. They are all residents of Boston except this particular person, and no trouble has resulted from it.

Q. And you don't consider that subterfuge? A. Absolutely not. I shall continue to draw from the state service. I only today appointed a head farmer who is from the state service, a resident of Boston, it is true.

Q. (By Coun. WATSON.) And appointed a butcher, too? A. No, not today.

Q. (By Coun. DONOGHUE.) Of course, I agree that under an interpretation of the ordinance, and under chapter 600 of the Acts of 1914, you have a right to do as you have done in this case. A. Exactly.

Q. But do you realize that the interpretation that is now placed upon that ordinance was given as an opinion of a corporation counsel of this city of ours in 1899? A. Perfectly, and reiterated in 1920, and reiterated again in 1921 as the opinion of the present Corporation Counsel. Within three weeks it was reiterated by him.

Q. To whom? A. To the Superintendent of the Printing Plant.

Q. And when in 1920 was it? A. On March 20, 1920, in a communication to your Honorable body.

Q. I disagree with you that that was his interpretation. He merely cited it in his letter to the Council on March 20, 1920—that that was an opinion of the Corporation Counsel of 1899. A. Well, I have a copy of both opinions in my possession, now.

Q. And I had one in my possession yesterday, and my interpretation of that letter might differ from yours. In my opinion he doesn't state his opinion. He merely cites the opinion of a previous Corporation Counsel. Now, I feel that there have been many reversals of opinions by different corporation counsels of the City of Boston. A. Mr. Hill writes, and it is very clear:

"In my opinion, the requirements for the employment of 'none but citizens and, if male subordinates, legal voters of Boston in any capacity,' is in contravention of the terms of Statutes 1914, chapter 600."

What you refer to is this:

"I may add that the legality of the amendment to the original ordinance by the insertion of the provision in question was a subject of grave doubt at the time of its passage over the veto of the mayor of the city in 1899."

He merely puts that in as an addendum. Q. Well, he doesn't state that that is his opinion relative to the ordinance. He cites it as his opinion relative to the statute, but not relative to the ordinance. A. Well, the ordinance is the requirements. The ordinance and the requirement in this case are synonymous. There is no requirement in this city other than the ordinance. Therefore, he might have said that the ordinance requiring such employment was illegal.

Q. I agree with you that he might have said so, but, if we are going to be technical about it, he didn't say so. A. Well, if there are some other requirements, I am ignorant of them.

Q. (By Coun. MORIARTY.) I would like to ask one question. I would ask what chance any female or male resident of Boston has got to go out into the city of Medford, in his opinion, if he desires to give it, and get a position out there, even if capable of filling the position? A. I am afraid you will have to consult Ben Haines, who is the mayor of Medford.

GENERAL RECONSIDERATION.

Coun. COLLINS moved a general reconsideration on all business transacted at the meeting, hoping that the same would not prevail. Lost.

Adjourned at 4.28 p. m., on motion of Coun. COLLINS, to meet on Monday, April 18, at two o'clock p. m.

Theodore Lyman Evening School, in the Theodore Lyman and the Samuel Adams Schoolhouses.

Placed on file.

EMPLOYMENT OF EXAMINERS OF OUTSIDE MUSIC.

On motion of the Superintendent, it was ORDERED, That the employment during the month of May, 1921, of Alfred DeVoto, Laura Kelsey, Ida McCarthy and Benjamin Whelpley in connection with the examination of day high school and intermediate school pupils applying for credit for outside study in applied music, is hereby authorized, and that each such person be paid the sum of fifty dollars ($50) for said employment.

On motion of the Superintendent, it was ORDERED, That in addition to the employment of the above-named four examiners of day high school and intermediate school pupils applying for credit for outside study in applied music, the Superintendent is hereby authorized to employ during the month of May, 1921, such extra examiners as he may deem expedient, the expense for same not to exceed one hundred and fifty dollars ($150).

USE OF WAY STREET SCHOOLHOUSE FOR SCHOOL PURPOSES.

On motion of the Superintendent, it was ORDERED, That the use of the Way Street Schoolhouse now being required for school purposes, that part of the order passed by this Board at the meeting of March 15, 1920, which provides for the sale of certain designated school property as not required for school purposes, is hereby rescinded in so far as the Way Street Schoolhouse land and building is concerned.

APPOINTMENT OF MESSENGER, SECRETARY'S OFFICE.

A communication was received from the Secretary, under date of Mar. 28, 1921, reporting that, subject to the approval of the Board, he has appointed Albert M. Collins messenger in his office, to take effect Mar. 25, 1921.

Placed on file, and the appointment approved, to take effect on the date stated.

On motion, it was ORDERED, That the salary of Albert M. Collins, messenger, Secretary's office, is hereby established at the rate of fifteen dollars ($15) per week, to take effect Mar. 25, 1921, and to continue until otherwise ordered.

DEATH OF A JANITOR.

A communication was received from the Schoolhouse Custodian, under date of Apr. 4, 1921, reporting the death on Mar. 25, 1921, of Jeremiah J. O'Connor, janitor of the Winchell School-house.

Placed on file.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE TO JANITORS.

A communication was received from the Schoolhouse Custodian, under date of Apr. 4, 1921, recommending that James H. Brodie, janitor of the Walnut Street School-house, be granted one year's leave of absence, without pay, to take effect Apr. 3, 1921.

Placed on file, and leave of absence granted for the period specified.

A communication was received from the Schoolhouse Custodian, under date of Apr. 4, 1921, recommending that Edward J. Harold, janitor of the Hancock and Cushman School-houses, be granted leave of absence, without pay, for one year, to take effect Apr. 3, 1921.

Placed on file, and leave of absence granted for the period specified.

PERMANENT APPOINTMENT OF PROVISIONAL JANITRESS.

A communication was received from the Schoolhouse Custodian, under date of Apr. 4, 1921, recommending that Mary C. Deignan, provisional janitress, be appointed permanent janitress of the Quincy Street School-house, to take effect May 1, 1921.

Placed on file, and the appointment approved, to take effect on the date stated.

ADDITIONAL COMPENSATION TO JANITOR, WEST ROXBURY HIGH SCHOOL.

A communication was received from the Schoolhouse Custodian, under date of Apr. 4, 1921, recommending that the additional compensation granted the janitor of the West Roxbury High School by order passed at the meeting of Mar. 21, 1921, shall take effect Mar. 4, 1921.

Placed on file, and the recommendation adopted.

REPORTS OF THE TRIAL BOARD.

A report was received from the Trial Board, under date of March 26, 1921, to whom was referred at the meeting of March 21, 1921 (see p. 27) a communication from the Schoolhouse Custodian preferring charges against Joseph J. Sheehan, janitor of the Longfellow school-house, for failure properly to perform his work and for insolence.

The Trial Board held a hearing in the matter and it appears from the evidence presented that the janitor has failed properly to respond to the criticisms of the Schoolhouse Custodian on several occasions, and on one occasion was guilty of insolence, for which insolence he apologized to the Schoolhouse Custodian at the hearing.

FINDING—That the janitor is guilty as charged.

RECOMMENDATION — That the janitor be fined the sum of $5, and that he be declared ineligible for promotion for a period of one year.

Placed on file, and the recommendation adopted.

A communication was received from the Trial Board, under date of March 26, 1921, to whom was referred at the meeting of March 7, 1921 (see p. 21) a report from the Schoolhouse Custodian that the morning session of the Margaret Fuller School was suspended on Monday, February 28, 1921, because of lack of heat.

The Trial Board held a hearing in the matter which was attended by the janitor concerned, Francis L. McDonough, by the Schoolhouse Custodian, and by the master of the district.

The Trial Board reports that this is a case very simple and free from complexity, with which it is not unfamiliar, and briefly stated is as follows:

A Monday morning; insufficient heat; school dismissed; janitor unable to throw any particular light on the matter, claiming to have done everything that he should have done; second offence. This is the kind of case in which the Trial Board is not inclined to take a sympathetic attitude. It regards the closing of a school for any reason a serious matter, involving, as it does, great loss to the pupils concerned. It believes that when accidents occur to heating and ventilating apparatus, or such apparatus fails to function properly, the burden of proof rests upon the janitor to present sufficient reason for such failure, and to show that he is not responsible therefor, rather than for the Trial Board to endeavor to discover some excuse for the janitor. In other words, the Trial Board is not inclined to accept as satisfactory statements that heating and ventilating apparatus has failed to produce adequate results for reasons which cannot be clearly and definitely established by the janitor in charge.

FINDING—That the janitor failed to operate the heating apparatus of this school on the morning of the day in question in a satisfactory manner.

RECOMMENDATION — That the janitor be fined five days' pay, amounting to $18.29, to be deducted from his weekly compensation at the discretion of the Business Agent at a rate not exceeding $3 per week.

Placed on file, and the recommendation adopted.

ENDORSEMENT OF PETITION OF CLERICAL ASSISTANTS FOR INCREASE IN SALARY.

A communication was received from the High School Women's Club, under date of Mar. 29, 1921, reporting that the Club, at its annual meeting on Mar. 22, 1921, unanimously voted to endorse the petition of the clerical assistants for an increase in salary and a change of title.

Placed on file.

REQUEST FOR PENSION TO CERTAIN ANNUITANTS

A communication was received from the Boston Elementary Teachers' Club, under date of Apr. 4, 1921, stating that the members of the Club are very anxious to relieve the hardships of the teachers who retired before the present pension law went into effect and reporting that at a meeting of the Executive Board of the Club it was voted to petition the School Committee to take action placing all the applicants eligible for pension on the pension roll, and increasing the pension granted under the provisions of Section 4 of Chapter 617 of the Acts of 1910 from $180 to $300 per annum.

Laid over.

PROTEST AGAINST PROPOSED CHANGE BY LEGISLATURE IN PRESENT PENSION SYSTEM.

A communication was received from Julia M. Fitzpatrick, President, Boston Elementary Teachers' Club, under date of Apr. 4, 1921, requesting, on behalf of the Club, that the members of the School Committee attend a hearing to be given before the Social Welfare Committee of the Legislature on Tuesday, Apr. 5, to protest against any change in the pension system affecting Boston school teachers.

Laid over.

ELECTION OF AN ASSISTANT SUPERINTENDENT.

The Board proceeded to the election of an Assistant Superintendent for the term of six years beginning Sept. 1, 1921.

The members, as their names were called, respectively stated that they voted as follows:

FOR JEREMIAH E. BURKE—Dr. Bogan, Miss Curtis, Messrs. Lane, O'Connor and Scannell—5.

The Chairman declared Jeremiah E. Burke duly elected Assistant Superintendent for the term specified.

ADJOURNMENT.

The Board adjourned at 7.11 P. M.

Attest:

THORNTON D. APOLLONIO,
Secretary.

MASSACHUSETTS CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATIONS.

CIVIL ENGINEERING SERVICE, CLASS 27, MAY 2, 1921.—CIVIL ENGINEERS.

These examinations are for the service of the state, all cities, and such towns as are classified under civil service.

Grade A.—Engineering assistants, drafting assistants, and rodmen, who perform under instruction and supervision elementary or apprentice work in the field or office.

It is prima facie evidence that a position in Class 27 is not in Grade A if the salary is less than $720 a year or more than $1,200 a year.

Qualifications.—The successful completion of not less than one year of training in an engineering course at an institution or college of recognized standing, or not less than one year of practical experience in field engineering or office work.

Grade B.—Senior engineering assistants, instrumentmen, and draftsmen (a) who assume responsibility for the execution of definite instructions in a minor division or section of engineering activity; or (b) who direct, under supervision, the operation of minor engineering projects.

It is prima facie evidence that a position in Class 27 is not in Grade B if the salary is more than $1,800 a year.

Qualifications.—If appointed by promotion, not less than one year of service in Grade A. If appointed otherwise than by promotion from Grade A, at least two years of practical experience in engineering work of Grade A character and standard; or such training in civil engineering as is evidenced by a professional degree granted on the completion of a standard course of instruction at an institution or college of recognized standing; or the successful completion of not less than two years' study in such institution, plus one year's practical experience in engineering work.

Grade C.—Assistant engineers, assistant civil engineers, and designing engineers: (a) who assume responsibility for the directions of surveys, the preparation and examination of, or advice upon, plans, designs and specifications for a minor section of a large engineering or a major section of a small engineering project; or (b) who supervise or inspect the construction or the operation of work on such a project; or (c) who operate a completed section of such a project; or (d) who make investigations of, and reports upon, such engineering projects as a basis for a report by an engineering superior.

It is prima facie evidence that a position in Class 27 is not in Grade C if the salary is more than $2,340 a year.

Qualifications.—If appointed by promotion within a department or major division thereof, not less than two years of service in Grade B, or, if appointed otherwise than by promotion from Grade B, within a department or major division thereof, at least five years of practical experience in engineering work, at least one-half of which shall have been appropriate to the particular branch of engineering work covered by the position, provided that a degree granted on the completion of a standard course of instruction by an engineering school of recognized standing shall be accepted as the equivalent of three years of practical experience.

Grade D.—Senior assistant engineers, senior assistant civil engineers, and senior designing engineers: (a) who supervise and assume complete responsibility for the work of a main division of an engineering organization, involving the direction of surveys and design and construction; or (b) who maintain and operate the major section of a large engineering project; or (c) who make independent investigations of and reports upon engineering projects as a basis for executive, administrative, or judicial action; or (d) who take charge of a large engineering department in the absence of the chief engineer; or (e) who give advice on large or complicated engineering projects, which may involve the preparations of plans.

It is prima facie evidence that a position in Class 27 is not in Grade D if the salary is more than $3,600 a year.

Qualifications.—If appointed by promotion, within a department or major division thereof, not less than three years of service in Grade C. If appointed otherwise than by promotion, within a department or major division thereof, at least eight years of practical experience in engineering work, at least one-half of which shall have been appropriate to the particular branch covered by the position, and two years of which shall have been in an executive capacity; provided, that a degree granted on the completion of a standard course of instruction by an engineering school of recognized standing shall be accepted as the equivalent of four years of practical experience.

Grade E.—Engineers and chief engineers (a) who perform duties which require the highest order of executive or advisory ability and specialized engineering knowledge and ability and which involve the making of decisions in administrative and engineering matters subject to statutory limitation only; or (b) who supervise and have complete responsibility for the work of a department or a large independent bureau of a department; or (c) who supervise the design and construction of engineering projects or works of great magnitude and complexity; or (d) who give independent expert or critical engineering advice of the highest order as a basis for executive, administrative, judicial or legislative action; or (e) who investigate independently and report upon large engineering projects.

It is prima facie evidence that a position in Class 27 is not in Grade E if the salary is less than $3,600 a year.

Qualifications.—If appointed by promotion, not less than four years of service in Grade D. If appointed otherwise than by promotion, at least twelve years of practical experience in engineering work, at least one-half of which shall have been appropriate to the particular branch of engineering covered by the position, and four years of which shall have been in a major executive capacity; provided, that a degree granted on the completion of a standard course of instruction by an engineering school or recognized standing shall be accepted as the equivalent of four years of practical experience.

No examination will be held for Grade E at this time. Whenever a vacancy occurs in this grade it will be duly advertised and all information regarding salary, duties, subjects and weights of examination, etc., will be stated.

SANITARY ENGINEERS, MAY 2, 1921.

These examinations are for the service of the state, all cities and such towns as are classified under civil service.

Grade A.—Engineering assistants who perform under instruction and supervision elementary or apprentice work in the field or office.

The salary and qualifications are the same as given above for civil engineers, Grade A.

Grade B.—Senior sanitary assistants (a) who assume responsibility for the execution of definite instructions in a minor division or section of engineering activity; or (b) who direct, under supervision, the operation of minor engineering projects.

The salary and qualifications are the same as for civil engineers, Grade B.

Subjects and Weights.—Experience (5); mathematics (3); elementary sanitary and hydraulic engineering (including water supply, water purification, sewerage, sewage disposal, and sanitation) (4); elementary engineering and theory (3); total (15). The mathematics is the same as for Grade B, civil engineering service embracing algebra and geometry along the lines under Grade A, and also trigonometry.

No examination will be held for Grades C, D and E at this time. Whenever a vacancy occurs in these grades it will be duly advertised and all information regarding salary, duties, subjects and weights of examination, etc., will be stated.

JANITORS, MAY 27, 1921.

This examination will be held for the service of the state and all cities and such towns in the state as are classified under civil service. The subjects of examination with their respective weights will be as follows: Experience (5); special questions on the duties of the position (5); total (10). Applicants are required to obtain a mark of at least 50 per cent in practical questions. Successful applicants will also be given a physical examination.

BOSTON NOTES.

UNDERGROUND RAPID TRANSIT IN BOSTON.

The Boston Transit Commission, consisting of five members, two appointed by the Governor and three by the Mayor, began its official existence July 1, 1894, and ended it July 1, 1918, after seven extensions of the original term. It has constructed, under the authority of Acts of the Legislature, the following subways and tunnels, the ownership of which is vested in the City of Boston, and all costs to be covered by revenue from same, not by taxation: Tremont Street Subway, opened September 1, 1897, costing with subsequent alterations, \$4,416,000, the first municipal subway in the United States; East Boston Tunnel, under Boston Harbor and State street, opened December 30, 1904, costing \$3,336,000; Washington Street Tunnel, opened November 30, 1908, costing \$8,496,700 (including \$2,850,000 land damages); Cambridge Connection Subway, opened March 23, 1912, costing \$1,465,000; Boylston Street Subway, opened October 3, 1914, costing \$5,327,000; East Boston Tunnel Extension, opened March 18, 1916, approximate cost, \$2,450,000; Dorchester Tunnel, opened December 4, 1916, as far as South Station, on December 15, 1917, to Broadway, South Boston, and on June 29, 1918, to the Andrew Square terminal; amount borrowed to 1920 for the Dorchester tunnel, \$10,750,000. Total cost, approximately, for all subways and tunnels, \$36,000,000 (against which a sinking fund of about \$5,600,000 has been accumulated from the revenue), payable mostly in 49 years from date of each loan (loans since 1911 payable in 45 years), annual interest averaging 3.8 per cent. These underground ways (about 8.9 miles in all) were leased to the Boston Elevated Railway Company (which furnished the equipment) for term of 25 years (except Tremont street 20 years) at annual rental of $4\frac{1}{2}$ to $4\frac{3}{4}$ per cent of net cost (except East Boston Tunnel which was at $\frac{3}{4}$ of one per cent of all annual gross receipts of said company). In accordance with Chapter 741, Acts of 1911, the various leases were extended to July 1, 1936, the rental to be $4\frac{1}{2}$ per cent of net cost after expiration of the first-term leases.

By Chap. 185, Special Acts of 1918, the powers of the Transit Commission, whose term expired that year, were transferred to the Mayor, Commissioner of Public Works and City Treasurer, or such person or persons, not exceeding three, as the Mayor might appoint. By Chap. 3, Ordinances of 1918, the Transit Dept. was established as a regular City department, to be in charge of three commissioners

In reserve are 13 steamers (6 motor) and 4 chemical engines; 10 hose wagons (3 motor); 10 ladder trucks (5 motor); 1 water tower (motor) and 8 officials' cars. Total alarms in calendar year 1919, 5,423, or 361 more than in 1918, of which total 575 were needless and 382 were false alarms. Total fires, 4,353 (i. e., 180 more than in 1918), of which 2,763 were in buildings, 1,555 outside buildings and 35 out of city limits.

Cost of maintenance for 1919, $2,864,040 (including pensions), or $642,659 more than in 1918. Value of land and buildings, $2,218,600; of equipment, $1,200,000.

The Boston Protective Department (not a City department) reported the total fire losses in 1919 on buildings as $1,033,314 and on contents as $1,401,970 or total of $2,435,284, which is $386,825 less than in 1918 and $1,545,944 less than in 1917. Of total loss, the amount not covered by insurance was $204,664.

Annual salaries: Commissioner, $7,500; Chief, $5,000; deputy chiefs, $4,000; district chiefs, $3,500; captains, $2,500; lieutenants, $2,300; engineers, $1,900; assistant engineers, $1,800; 1st-year privates, $1,400, with $100 yearly increase until maximum of $1,800 is reached.

By Chap. 4, City Ordinances of 1917, the firemen have one day off in three, dating from Feb. 1, 1918, instead of one in five, as before, which called for an addition of about 170 men to the force.

By Ordinances of 1919, Chap. 2, the Wire Dept. became the Wire Division of the Fire Dept.

New motor apparatus added in 1919, costing $189,000, makes the department 61 per cent motorized. Appropriation of $150,000 for more of same in 1920.

BOSTON'S TRUST FUNDS AND BEQUESTS.

Number of permanent funds and bequests held by the City, Feb. 1, 1920, for various purposes, 127, representing a total value of $9,686,171. The earliest dates back to 1674, viz., Gibson School Fund. The largest fund is the bequest of the late George F. Parkman, consisting of various parcels of real estate (now mostly sold) valued at $5,000,000 to $6,000,000 the income from which (about $197,500 annually) is used for the upkeep and improvement of the older parks. Total amount of Parkman Fund in custody of City Treasurer, $5,214,277; next in amount, $898,502, made up of 17 funds in charge of the Overseers of the Poor; (3) the Franklin and Franklin Union, amounting to $758,917; (4) Public Schools Teachers' Retirement $617,135; (5) 41 Public Library Funds, $673,749; (6) 8 Cemetery funds, $536,381; (7) Permanent School Pension, $355,898; (8) Police Charitable, $207,550; (9) 19 School funds, $170,860; (10) 19 Hospital funds, $92,750; 17 others, $160,152. Average annual income from all invested funds, nearly 4 per cent.

Another fund, viz., Firemen's Relief Fund, amounting in 1919 to $248,238, is not held by the City but by an incorporated body of 13 members of the Fire Dept.

The Thorndike Memorial Building Fund, viz., $200,000 (bequest of George L. Thorndike) received by City Treasurer in 1919, is to be used for a ward building for clinical research purposes by the City Hospital Trustees as soon as a sufficient addition thereto can be raised.

NEW INCOME TAX (STATE) ON INTANGIBLE PROPERTY.

In accordance with Chap. 269, ss. 2 and 11, General Acts of 1916, intangible personal property (except bank stock) ceased to be subject to assessment and taxation in 1917 and thereafter. In place of that tax an income tax was established, amounting to six per cent per year on income derived from such tangibles, subject to various specified exemptions.

Owing to the exemption from tax of intangible personal property, the total valuation of personality in Boston decreased from $328,929,679 in 1916 to $162,545,343 in 1917, a loss representing $2,945,000 in taxes. By sec. 23 of said Chapter 269, it was provided that the State Treasurer should pay to each city or town an amount equal to the difference between the personal property levy in 1915 and that of 1917 computed at the 1915 tax rate. If the income tax collections exceeded the amount required for such distribution, the excess was also to be distributed, this in proportion to the State tax imposed on each city or town in 1917. The amount of income taxes paid by the State to the City of Boston under said statute in 1918 was $4,180,710 or $475,855 more than in 1917.

HOW BOSTON'S CITY DOLLAR WAS SPENT IN YEAR 1919-20.

For State Tax and assessments, 19.7 cents; Public Schools, 18.9; Public Works, 16.2; Debt Requirements, 14.3; Police Department, 7.8; Fire Department, 6.9; County Courts, etc., 3.5; Hospitals and Health, 3.4; Institutions and Poor Relief, 3.0; General Government, 2.7; Public Recreation, 2.4; Public Library, 1.2, making total of 100 cents. This excludes all expenditures from loans, etc., but includes Special Appropriations from Tax Levy and other General Income.

The revenue of the departments amounted to 23.84 per cent of their expenditures. The revenue of Public Service Enterprises alone (including Water, Transit Subways, Ferries, Markets, etc.) amounted to $5,639,513 or $6.977 more than their total expenditures.

MUNICIPAL SERVICE.

Complaints, inquiries or suggestions regarding the work of municipal departments should be made in writing to the officials directly in charge. The failure of such officials to make reply within a reasonable length of time should be brought to the attention of the Mayor. Communications should be directed as follows:

TO THE BOARD OF STREET COMMISSIONERS, Room 401, City Hall Annex, for information relative to the laying out, relocation, widening and the discontinuance of highways; the taking of real property for municipal purposes; the assessments of betterments for streets and sewers; the plotting of undeveloped areas for streets and the opening of private ways; the granting of licenses for the storage or sale of merchandise in public streets; the regulation of street traffic; the making of specific repairs in public streets, the naming of public streets, the planting and removal of trees in public ways, the issuing of licenses for the storage of gasoline, oil and other inflammable substances or explosive compounds, the use of the public ways for any permanent or temporary obstruction or projection in, under or over the same, including the location of conduits, poles and posts for telephone, telegraph, street railway or illuminating purposes, signs, marquis, bay windows, coal holes and vaults.

TO THE COMMISSIONER OF PUBLIC WORKS, Room 511, City Hall Annex, for information as to the watering, cleaning, lighting and repairing of streets, the construction and care of sewers and catch-basins, the operation of the ferries, the maintenance of bridges and drawbridges and the removal of ashes and offal.

To Room 604, City Hall Annex, for information relative to the supplying or metering of water and the water charges of the city.

TO THE HEALTH DEPARTMENT, Room 1107, City Hall Annex, for information relative to the inspection of milk, vinegar, meat, fish and vegetables, the issuance of permits for stables, slaughter houses, etc., smoke nuisances, the existence of contagious diseases or public health nuisances.

TO THE BOARD OF PARK COMMISSIONERS, 33 Beacon street, for information as to the care of the Common, Public Garden, Franklin Park, Franklin Field, Commonwealth avenue, Back Bay Fens, Marine Park and the small parks and playgrounds in general throughout the city, and as to the extermination of gypsy moths and the charges made for such service. Application may be made to this department for information regarding the public baths and gymnasiums maintained by the city, and with regard to municipal indoor concerts and band concerts; also information relative to Mount Hope, Evergreen, Fairview and other public cemeteries owned by the City of Boston.

TO THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE, 26 Mason street, for information relative to the operation of the schools of the city.

TO THE SCHOOLHOUSE COMMISSIONERS, Room 1007, City Hall Annex, for information as to the construction and repair of school buildings.

TO THE BOARD OF EXAMINERS, Room 1001, City Hall Annex, for information regarding the licensing of persons having charge or control of the work of construction, alteration, removal or tearing down of buildings.

TO THE WIRE DIVISION OF THE FIRE DEPARTMENT, Room 905, City Hall Annex, for all information relative to the erection of poles, the building of conduits, the installation of wires and electrical apparatus. Also to the same office for permits for the installing of wires and electrical apparatus within buildings in the City of Boston, and for the payment of fees incident to the granting of the privileges above named, and which must invariably be paid in advance.

WITHOUT ADVERTISING.

The Mayor has approved the following contracts awarded without advertising; requests of heads of departments to do work with the department forces without advertising; additions to and deductions from contracts.

ASSESSING' DEPARTMENT

Poll Tax Lists.

On April 25 to the Library Bureau as per following communication:

Boston, April 23, 1921.

DEAR SIR,—We desire your permission to make a contract with the Library Bureau in the preparation of a list of persons liable to assessment of a poll tax for the year 1921, the list to be prepared from the copy now being written by that company for the Police Department, and to be done while that work is in progress.

This method of performing the work will permit of part of the work being done at a date earlier than May 25, a result impossible if the contract was awarded to any one else.

We respectfully request your permission to make a contract with the Library Bureau, as the figure submitted by them is as low as any figure I am able to obtain, and includes the advantage of the completion of a part of the work at a date earlier than any one else would be able to start it.

For these reasons permission is requested to make the contract, without advertising, for $7,100, as indicated in the contract herewith.

Respectfully,

EDWARD T. KELLEY, Chairman.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

Sprinkling and Flushing Streets.

On April 22 to the American Car Sprinkler Company as per following communication:

Boston, April 20, 1921.

To the Mayor of Boston:

Authority is respectfully requested to award a contract to the American Car Sprinkler Company of Worcester, Mass., for sprinkling and flushing certain streets within the city, from May 1, 1921 to October 31, 1921, without inviting proposals therefor by advertisement, the estimated cost for labor and material, being $800. My reason for awarding this contract without advertising is that the American Car Sprinkler Company is the only company in the eastern states that can do this work. The city is to pay $1,800 per month.

Respectfully,

T. F. SULLIVAN,
Commissioner of Public Works.

April 22, 1921.

The authority requested is hereby given.
ANDREW J. PETERS, Mayor.

Boston, April 20, 1921.

To the Mayor of Boston:

In requesting the attached authority to award a contract, without advertising, to the American Car Sprinkler Company of Worcester, Mass., for sprinkling and flushing certain streets within the city from May 1, 1921, to October 31, 1921, at a monthly rental of eighteen hundred (1,800) dollars, said company to furnish electric trolley flushers and sprinklers, working forty-eight hours per week for flushing and fifty-six hours per week for sprinkling. I figure that these electric trolley flushers and sprinklers will do the work of at least two of the largest motor-driven flushers at present employed under contract by the City of Boston.

As this company is the only company in the Eastern states that can do the work, and the amount of work which I feel sure they will do is so much in excess of the present method of flushing and sprinkling, I feel that the city is well protected in making this contract until October 31, 1921.

Respectfully yours,

T. F. SULLIVAN,
Commissioner of Public Works.

PERMISSION TO DO WORK WITH DEPARTMENT FORCE.

The Mayor has granted to the Commissioner of Public Works authority to do the following work with the department force without advertising for competitive bids:

To construct a sanitary sewer of 12-inch earthen pipe in Roanoke road, between Blake street and Weybosset street, in the Hyde Park district, at an estimated cost of $9,000.

To construct a sanitary sewer of 12-inch earthen pipe in Seminole street, between Oakland street and Wood avenue, in the Dorchester and Hyde Park districts, at an estimated cost of $10,000.

To construct a sanitary sewer of 10-inch earthen pipe in Train street, between Boutwell street and a point 256 feet north, in the Dorchester district, at an estimated cost of $2,786.

To construct a sanitary sewer of 10-inch earthen pipe in Boutwell street, between 75 feet west of Queen street, and a point 282 feet westerly, in the Dorchester district, at an estimated cost of $1,974.

To construct a sanitary sewer of 12-inch earthen pipe in Wood avenue, between Oakland street and Noah street, in the Dorchester and Hyde Park districts, at an estimated cost of $10,000.

CONTRACTS AWARDED.

STREET COMMISSIONERS.

Voted, That in the matter of John Timon et al., petitioners for damages on account of the laying out of Kenton road, West Roxbury district, after consultation with the Law Department, and on its advice, the Board assesses the petitioners' damages in the sum of $1,150, and consents that the Corporation Counsel agree to judgment in said case on the terms herein stated.

Attest:

JOSEPH F. SULLIVAN,
Secretary.

Approved April 28, 1921.

ANDREW J. PETERS, Mayor.

April 28, 1921
 Ordered, That due notice be given that this Board is of the opinion that public necessity requires the taking of land on East Cottage, Pleasant and Pond streets, Dorchester district, for park purposes, substantially as shown on a plan on file in the office of this Board, that it intends to pass an order to make said taking, and that it appoints 12 o'clock m. of May 18, 1921, and the office of this Board as the time and place for a public hearing in the matter.

A true copy of an order passed by said Board on said day.

Attest:

CONTRACTS AWARDED WITHOUT ADVERTISING.

SUPPLY DEPARTMENT.

Horses.

On April 26 as per following communication for the purchase of eighty horses for Public Works Department:

BOSTON 9, April 25, 1921.

HON. ANDREW J. PETERS,

Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—I am in receipt of a letter dated April 21, 1921, from the Commissioner of Public Works requesting that I obtain the approval of your Honor to purchase, without advertising, and make a contract for about eighty horses for the Sanitary, Street Cleaning and Paving Services of the Public Works Department.

It is practically impossible to make a contract in advance for the purchase of horses, because they must be picked up from time to time as they come in at the various sales stables in this city.

The system which has been followed in the past and which, I believe, is the only practical one, is for the horse dealers to notify veterinarians of the Public Works Department when a car load of horses has arrived. The Public Works Department veterinarians then have first choice of these horses and are sometimes able to select two or three horses out of a car load. Last year horses for the Public Works Department were purchased on this system very satisfactorily.

I accordingly respectfully request that I be given permission to purchase without publicly advertising the eighty horses mentioned above.

Yours respectfully,

G. J. CRONIN,
Superintendent of Supplies.

ADDITIONS TO AND DEDUCTIONS FROM CONTRACTS.

The following additions to and deductions from contracts have been approved:

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT (Sewer Service).

An addition, amounting to $385.93, on contract with the C. & R. Construction Company for cleaning catch-basins in Districts 1, 2, 3, 4 and 7, on account of furnishing extra labor, as directed by the engineer in charge, where water has to be bailed or pumped, or for the purpose of freeing basins of water where they fail to function properly in times of storm or emergency. Original contract, $46,133; total addition, $385.93; contract as standing, $46,518.93.

ARTIFICIAL STONE SIDEWALKS.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

BOSTON, April 20, 1921.

To the Mayor of Boston:

Permission to award a contract for the construction of artificial stone sidewalks in the public streets, without advertising, to Joseph Lambiase, 71 Frankfort street, East Boston, is hereby requested on the ground that this contractor is not selected by the city in the first instance, but by the abutters, and secondly, the expense of construction being divided by the city and abutters; also because such contracts vary greatly in amounts and seldom involve one thousand (1,000) dollars.

Respectfully yours,

T. F. SULLIVAN,
Commissioner of Public Works.

April 23, 1921.

The authority requested is hereby given.
 ANDREW J. PETERS, Mayor.

SUPPLY DEPARTMENT.

Coal.

On April 25 to bidders indicated in following communication for supplying coal to certain public buildings and departments:

Boston 9, April 21, 1921.

HON. ANDREW J. PETERS,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—Attached please find list of bids on proposals for furnishing anthracite and semibituminous coal to certain public buildings and departments of the City of Boston, which were publicly opened and read at this office under date of April 13, 1921.

Authority is respectfully requested to award the contracts for anthracite coal to the lowest bidder in each district, as follows:

East Boston Coal Company, Districts 1—City Proper, 6—Charlestown, 3—East Boston, 2—South Boston; Roxbury Coal Company, District 5—Dorchester; Standard Coal Company, Districts 4—Roxbury, 8—West Roxbury, 7—Brighton, 9—Hyde Park.

The prices bid by districts and the prices bid for the entire city have been carefully checked and this office finds that it is more economical for the city to award the contracts by districts rather than to one concern for the entire city.

Authority is respectfully requested to award the contract for furnishing semi-bituminous coal to the Metropolitan Coal Company, the lowest bidder for the entire city.

No award will be made at this time for screenings.

Yours respectfully,

G. J. CRONIN,
Superintendent of Supplies.

SOLDIERS' RELIEF DEPARTMENT.

BOSTON, April 26, 1921.

HON. ANDREW J. PETERS, Mayor:

SIR,—Inasmuch as Frederick W. Watkeys "settlement collector and visitor" in the Soldiers' Relief Department has really been doing the work of the commissioner in said department since my appointment, January 1, 1921, I should like to recommend to your Honor that Doctor Watkeys be paid the salary allowed for the position of commissioner in said department, namely at the rate of $5,000 per annum, said payment to Doctor Watkeys to date from January 1, 1921.

Very truly yours,

T. W. MURRAY,

Acting Soldiers' Relief Commissioner.

PUBLIC ACCOUNTANT IN TREASURY DEPARTMENT.

FINANCE COMMISSION,

BOSTON, April 20, 1921.

HON. ANDREW J. PETERS, Mayor:

SIR,—It appears by the public press that a firm of public accountants are now employed to determine what the irregularities are in the Treasury Department leading to the recently uncovered defalcation and when they occurred.

The records of this office show that a member of that firm has been employed by the City Auditor as a certified public accountant for the past four years to make an audit of the treasurer's accounts and cash. The last audit of this certified public accountant was on August 18, 1920. He stated—to quote from his report—"During the past year the accounting affairs of the department have been handled in a most commendable manner."

It appears to the Finance Commission most inadvisable to have the present examination of the Treasury Department made by a man who has audited this department as a certified public accountant for the past four years and has each year reported that the department was being conducted in a commendable way and that the accounts and cash were correct.

Respectfully submitted,

MICHAEL H. SULLIVAN,

Chairman,

COURTENAY GUILD,

JOHN F. MOORS,

JAMES M. MORRISON,

J. WALDO POND,

The Finance Commission.

"MAIL AS YOU WRITE" CAMPAIGN.

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,

BOSTON 9, April 22, 1921.

To the Department Heads:

GENTLEMEN,—Your attention is called to the "Mail as You Write" campaign that is being conducted by the committee on post office and postal facilities of the Boston Chamber of Commerce in co-operation with the post office. This is in line with the policy of Postmaster-General Hays of encouraging business men to deposit as much mail as possible in the post office before 4 p. m., in order to be sure of catching the best mail trains, and, by spreading the load over a longer period, to increase the efficiency of the post office, and thereby insure better service to the business man.

You are requested to co-operate in this campaign, and to direct members of your department to do likewise to the fullest extent possible by writing letters early in the day, signing them when written, mailing frequently during the day, and depositing as much of your mail as possible before four o'clock.

Very truly yours,

ANDREW J. PETERS, Mayor.

ANSWER TO FINANCE COMMISSION COMMUNICATION.

In commenting on the Finance Commission's report alleging over expenditures on the part of certain city departments, Mayor Peters said:

"There is no basis for the Finance Commission's allegations. Under the budget appropriations are made for a period of twelve months; the bills incurred during the period of twelve months are paid from the appropriations which are made for the same period of time. The Finance Commission has taken as a working basis the total bills incurred over a period of thirteen months.

"Anybody who is at all familiar with the system of bookkeeping in the City of Boston, which is the same used by the United States Government, knows that we can only pay the bills incurred during January on the February or March draft. As a matter of fact, the Finance Commission itself did exactly what it objects to other departments doing, for the Finance Commission incurred liabilities for salaries for the month of January amounting to $1,619 and for bills totaling $482.27, all of which were paid from their appropriation for 1921-22. The plan which we followed this year is exactly the same as has been followed since the incorporation of the city. As a matter of fact, the City Auditor recently made the statement to me that never before since his connection with the city had there been a year when bills were so thoroughly cleaned up as they were this winter at the close of our fiscal year on January 31. The surplus is exactly what I announced it was and there is no instance of any department having expended more money than was appropriated for it.

"The Finance Commission is trying to make the heads of departments pay bills for thirteen months or fourteen months from appropriations made for twelve months, a procedure which cannot be followed and which the commission itself did not follow. The Finance Commission's report creates a false impression."

RE OUTSTANDING OBLIGATIONS OF CITY DEPARTMENTS.

FINANCE COMMISSION,
BOSTON, April 26, 1921.

HON. ANDREW J. PETERS, Mayor:

SIR,—Late in January, 1921, the Finance Commission upon inquiry was informed by the City Auditor that he did not know of any outstanding obligations of the city incurred by the department heads in excess of the appropriations for the fiscal year ending January 31, 1921, and if there were any such obligations he would not know of them until they were ready for payment.

The Finance Commission upon inquiry was informed by the City Treasurer also that he knew of no obligations then outstanding against the city, because the system under which his department was and had been operating called for no knowledge on his part of city obligations entered into by the different departments until the actual time for payment.

It became necessary, therefore, to inquire directly of the department heads whether they had obligated the city beyond the appropriations allowed them for the fiscal year ending January 31, 1921. Accordingly, on February 1, the Finance Commission requested the heads of city departments for the following information:

1. The amount of the department's pay roll for services rendered in the fiscal year then just closed, which was to be paid out of funds in the fiscal year just beginning.

2. The amount represented by bills for goods received or service rendered in the fiscal year just closed, to be paid out of funds appropriated in the new fiscal year.

3. The amount represented by contracts, orders or obligations entered into in behalf of the city by the departments prior to February 1, 1921, which were to be paid out of funds appropriated for the fiscal year beginning February 1, 1921.

The answers to these questions were not received from all departments until the first part of the present month.

Your Honor stated in your message to the City Council on February 7, 1921, that the city departments had unexpended balances amounting to $370,808. This would indicate that the departments had not expended the full amount of their appropriations for the year. Your Honor also stated that there was a surplus in the city treasury of $3,817,250.61, which included these unexpended balances. Apparently your Honor had not been informed at that time that there were any outstanding obligations incurred by the department heads to offset their unexpended balances, or that went beyond their appropriation allowances for the year.

The Finance Commission is now in possession of information, furnished by the department heads themselves, showing that there were outstanding obligations on February 1, 1921, contracted by the heads of departments last year beyond the appropriations allowed them to the amount of $1,226,601.26, exclusive of pay rolls. In addition, there was paid out of the present fiscal year's funds for employees' services rendered in the last fiscal year the sum of $635,207.33, making a total of $1,861,808.59 to be paid out of the appropriations of this year for contracts and obligations entered into last year.

Four city departments overdrew their appropriations in the aggregate sum of $750,000. Of the thirty-seven departments reporting, nineteen showed overdrafts ranging from $17.73, the lowest, to $304,479.65, the highest; eighteen departments did not obligate the city beyond their appropriations.

Section 16 of the charter amendments is as follows:

Section 16. No official of said city, except in case of extreme emergency involving the health or safety of the people or their property, shall expend intentionally in any fiscal year any sum in excess of the appropriations duly made in accordance with law, nor involve the city in any contract for the future payment of money in excess of such appropriation, except as provided in section six of this act. Any official who shall violate the provisions of this section shall be punished by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by a fine of not more than one thousand dollars, or both.

The Finance Commission recommend at this time:

1. That your Honor revise the financial statement published in the beginning of the present fiscal year.

2. That your Honor amend the budget to conform with the actual financial condition that existed at the beginning of the present year.

Respectfully submitted,

MICHAEL H. SULLIVAN,
Chairman,

SPRINKLERS AND AUTOMATIC FIRE ALARM SYSTEMS.

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,
BOSTON 9, April 25, 1921.

HIS EXCELLENCY CHANNING H. COX,
Governor, State House, Boston, Mass.:

MY DEAR GOVERNOR,—The Corporation Counsel informs me that you desire my advice on whether you should or should not veto House Bill No. 1051, relative to the installation of automatic fire alarm systems in tenement houses in the City of Boston, as the same was amended in the Senate and is now presented by the General Court for your approval. The law in detail has, I assume, been already called to your Excellency's attention. The effect of the proposed bill is to weaken the existing provisions which require the installation of automatic sprinklers as preventive against fire in tenement houses having more than ten suites. (See Statutes 1907, chapter 550, section 45; Statutes 1914, chapter 782, section 10; Statutes 1920, chapter 440.)

Whether or not this proposed change in the law is desirable is a difficult question for determination by one not charged with the final responsibility. Its decision depends upon balancing the advantages and disadvantages. On the one hand, in view of the strong opinions of the State Fire Marshal, the City Fire Commissioner and the fire underwriters, it can hardly be questioned that sprinklers are a valuable protection against fire and consequently a safeguard to the lives of dwellers in tenement houses. On the other hand it can no more be questioned that the price of their installation is a heavy burden upon real estate and has thereby some tendency to increase rentals and to discourage building. The automatic fire alarm systems proposed as substitutes are not in my judgement of the same value as a preventive against fire as the automatic sprinklers but they are, I believe, considerably cheaper and to that extent their substitution would be an advantage. On the balance of these considerations, I can only say that when by Acts of 1920, chapter 645, the power to suspend the existing sprinkler law was placed in my hands and the responsibility of determining this purely legislative question was placed by the General Court upon me, as it is now placed by the General Court upon your Excellency, I believed that on the whole it was desirable to retain the present law by which sprinklers are required, and did not suspend the law. Nothing has since transpired to change my view, although I did not, until asked by your excellency, consider it necessary to state my views.

I therefore advise you to veto House Bill 1015 as presented. I may add that the law should, in my judgment, be made uniform throughout the state. This is not so at present and will not be so under the proposed bill.

Very truly yours,
ANDREW J. PETERS, Mayor.

REPORT ON TRAFFIC TUNNEL BETWEEN BOSTON AND EAST BOSTON.

BOSTON, April 18, 1921.

To the Honorable the Committee on Metropolitan Affairs:

GENTLEMEN,—The Finance Commission has made such investigation as the time available allowed of the matter of building traffic tunnels between Boston and East Boston, as provided in the bill filed by the Joint Board, composed of the Division of Waterways and Public Lands of the Department of Public Works of the Commonwealth and the Transit Department of the City of Boston.

As the result of its investigation the Finance Commission believes:

1. That the two reports of the Joint Board fail to establish a need of more or different transportation between Boston and East Boston than now exists, and that the latest report is not warranted in its conclusions regarding future growth of traffic between Boston and East Boston.

2. That there is nowhere, so far as the Finance Commission can learn, a tunnel under water for the use of automobiles operated by gasoline engines. The ventilation of such tunnels is still an unsolved problem. Present knowledge for securing adequate ventilation and fire protection of such tunnels does not warrant their construction.

3. That the method of financing the construction and operation of such a tunnel (if it is otherwise necessary and practicable to do so) recommended by the Joint Board is uncertain as to tolls, unwarranted as to the City of Boston and unjust to the Commonwealth.

4. That any system of transportation which does not provide for the absolute discontinuance of the East Boston ferries should not be considered.

5. That a tunnel or tunnels built according to the general plan outlined by the Joint Board would neither provide adequate communication between Boston and East Boston nor aid appreciably in the development of the East Boston district, nor would it render the present ferries unnecessary.

6. That the tolls estimated by the Joint Board would be prohibitive to all classes of traffic and that as a matter of fact, except possibly for a short time after the tunnel was built, no tolls would be collected and the entire cost and maintenance of the tunnel fall upon the City of Boston or the Commonwealth.

7. That the 5 per cent grade on which it is proposed to construct the entrances and exits of the tunnel would be prohibitive for any traffic except light pleasure automobile traffic.

8. That pleasure automobile traffic, originating beyond the limits of the City of Boston and where there is an alternative route, furnishes no adequate reason for the construction and maintenance of such a tunnel as is proposed.

9. That the additional distance involved in the passage through the tunnel between the areas in the City of Boston needing this transportation would be such that few commercial automobiles would use the tunnel.

In view of the above conclusions, the Finance Commission recommends that your honorable committee give the petitioners leave to withdraw.

Appended hereto is a report of the Finance Commission's consulting engineer, which treats the matter in greater detail.

Respectfully submitted,

J. WALDO POND,
The Finance Commission.

BOSTON, April 14, 1921.

To the Finance Commission:

GENTLEMEN,—By instruction of the chairman I have made an examination of the report of the Joint Board, comprising the Division of Waterways and Public Lands of the Department of Public Works and the Transit Department of the City of Boston, relative to a traffic tunnel to connect Boston and East Boston, and respectfully submit the following information. In making this report I have followed the order in which various subjects are considered in the printed report of the Joint Board, dated January 2, 1920.

The problem of additional facilities for transportation to and from East Boston has been studied for many years, the alternatives to ferries being either bridges or tunnels. Since the death of former City Engineer William Jackson, who was the principal advocate of the bridge method, it has been generally concluded by investigating bodies that such a connection with East Boston is impracticable, and the construction of a teaming tunnel has been the method upon which the entire energies of those people having political and property interests in Boston have been applied.

The matter of a teaming tunnel has been reported upon officially in recent years, at least twice by boards of which the Boston Transit Commission has been a member. The reports of these commissions are contained in the reports of the Boston Transit Commission for the years 1908 and 1911. Both of these reports are definite in their conclusions that the construction of a tunnel would not be desirable and also that the construction of a tunnel would not give such relief as would admit of the discontinuance of the ferry service. The conclusions of the Board of 1908, in addition to the great expense, based their objections upon sanitary reasons due to the use of the tunnel by horse-drawn vehicles. The conclusions of the Joint Board of 1911 contain the following statement, after detailing the sanitary objections above mentioned:

The matter may, however, properly be reviewed when mechanical power is more generally substituted for animal power, since such substitutes will do away with some of the existing obstacles to successful operation and will render possible shorter and less expensive approaches with deeper grades.

The present report apparently assumes that the changed conditions anticipated have arrived, as it is based on such tions. Statistics show that at the present time the vehicles crossing the ferries are about equally divided between horse-drawn and motor-drawn conveyances.

The consensus of opinion of the best authorities on teaming traffic is that there has been no great diminution of the amount of horse-drawn traffic on Boston streets, on account of the substitution of motor vehicles, probably not more than 25 per cent as a maximum; also that there will continue to be a large amount of horse-drawn traffic for a long term of years, if not permanently, the rising prices for fuel, oil and manufacturing materials tending to limit the displacement of horses by automobiles. The total number of automobiles, especially pleasure cars, however, is increasing and will continue to increase. Additional motor trucks will take care of new business.

Considering the subjects of the latest report of the Joint Board in the order in which they are presented:

NEED OF TRAFFIC THOROUGHFARES.

The need of better traffic facilities under certain conditions of weather and tides is admitted, if they can be obtained at a cost in any way commensurate with the advantages gained. The Joint Board states that the experience of the past four years is that the motor traffic is increasing at the rate of 25 per cent a year, and presents statistics and charts to show this increase. This statement is misleading. The inference naturally drawn by the reader from this is that the total traffic to and from East Boston is increasing rapidly. This is not a fact. Although automobile traffic has perhaps increased in the past three years, as stated, the total traffic to East Boston has not increased, and the increase in automobile traffic has been largely for pleasure cars. This fact, taken in connection with the fact that the total traffic has not increased, indicates that, so far as the number of vehicles is concerned, commercial traffic has fallen off. It may be that on account of the larger loads carried by automobile trucks this diminution in commercial traffic is not as much as would appear from an analysis of the number and different types of vehicles crossing the ferries. All available facts, however, point to the conclusion that there has been no increase in commercial traffic to East Boston in recent years.

The figures of the Ferry Service of the Public Works Department for ten years show the total number of paid vehicles crossing the ferries to be as follows:

1911-12.....	946,144
1912-13.....	995,101
1913-14.....	969,655
1914-15.....	968,324
1915-16.....	1,018,666
1916-17.....	983,848
1917-18.....	1,010,471
1918-19.....	953,950
1919-20.....	1,012,071
1920-21.....	983,754
Average for 10 years.....	984,198

From which it will be seen that the number of paid vehicles in the last year, 1920-21, for which there is record available, was substantially the same as the average for the period of ten years. For the ten-year period previous to 1911-12 the average is slightly lower, being 920,257. This lower average does not indicate that there was a substantially less amount of traffic on the ferries, but is undoubtedly due to the fact that previous to 1912 there was no accurate accounts of traffic kept. The agitation of the Finance Commission and its reports rendered in 1912 regarding lax methods in the Ferry Service resulted in a ticket system being installed at the ferries and a more accurate account being kept of the traffic since that time. This resulted in showing an increase of vehicles since 1912, and there is little question that the average for the past twenty years would not vary greatly from the average for the ten-year period just past, were it possible to determine the figures accurately for the ten-year period previous to 1912. It is therefore probable that the increase of traffic to East Boston has been so small as to be negligible and is not a large annual increase, as the Joint Board's report would indicate.

There has, however, been a decided increase in the number of pleasure vehicles carried, and also in the number of auto trucks. The increase in the number of auto trucks is offset largely by the reduction in the number of two, three and four-horse vehicles. The number of pleasure vehicles has also been offset in some degree by a reduction in the number of hacks and horse-drawn pleasure vehicles. There has been a large increase, however, in the total number of pleasure vehicles. This fact, coupled with the fact that there is no increase in the total traffic, indicates that the commercial traffic across the ferries has been diminishing.

Another factor which has not been taken into account in the Joint Board's report is the fact that during the past three or four years there have been local reasons for a temporary increase in ferry traffic. The congestion during the evening hours of the Revere Beach boulevard has undoubtedly been the cause of diverting a large number of pleasure vehicles to the ferries. The interruption of traffic, due to the construction and repair of the temporary Chelsea South Bridge, has also diverted the traffic of Chelsea to the ferries and East Boston route. The repaving along lower Washington street and Commercial street in the city proper, and Chelsea street in Charlestown, has also contributed to the same cause. It is therefore probable that the increases shown in the ferry traffic for the years 1915, 1917 and 1919 was due to temporary causes.

There is undoubtedly, and will continue to be, a considerable increase in motor traffic. By far the greater percentage is pleasure vehicles, which use the ferry route in passing from the city to the pleasure resorts of the North Shore. These vehicles do not in any way add to the commerce of East Boston, neither do they offer any benefit to the city, as the cost of carrying them across the ferry is much greater than the return received in tolls. The street repairs due to this increased traffic is a considerable annual cost to the City of Boston and, instead of encouraging such traffic, it should be discouraged by the raising of the ferry tolls to an amount more nearly commensurate with the service rendered. No cost for a tunnel should be assessed on the City of Boston on account of such traffic.

At the present time the city furnishes for seven cents transportation for about one third of a mile for an automobile and seven passengers. Considering the amount of gasoline, wear on tires, etc. that would be entailed should the automobile take any other route, it can easily be shown that the city presents to the automobile owner not only a pleasing excursion across the harbor, but actually saves him an amount in operating expenses equal to a greater amount than the amount of the fare received.

The report of the Joint Board dwells frequently upon the fact that the traffic tunnel under the Hudson river, connecting New York and New Jersey, has been begun, and the inference to be drawn is that similar conditions exist in Boston as in New York. As a matter of fact the controlling considerations are entirely different. Boston at all times has a physical connection with East Boston by way of Chelsea. The distance by way of Chelsea and the bridges is short and can be quickly covered by motor traffic in cases of emergency. There is no possibility in Boston of a contingency arising such as furnished the deciding argument for the Hudson river tunnel; that is, that a strike by marine workers might diminish to a dangerous degree the fuel and food supply of the city. Such supplies for Boston are dependent either upon the ferries nor upon tunnel facilities.

The statement that the tunnel will unite the entire metropolitan district and promote communication throughout the Commonwealth is rather sweeping. As already stated, a tunnel would assist in reaching certain pleasure resorts on the North Shore, and in the late evening persons who were caught in the crush of the Revere Beach boulevard would undoubtedly use the tunnel as a quick means of reaching the city, but how communication with the entire state would be assisted needs further explanation. If the statement is in any great degree true, it is an argument that the entire cost of such a tunnel should be placed on either the metropolitan district or the state as a whole, and not on the City of Boston, this matter will be again considered in the following paragraph.

CONTEMPLATED DEVELOPMENT IN EAST BOSTON.

The fact that the Commonwealth is committed to an enormous expense in developing land in the East Boston district without any definite prospect of adequate returns, no doubt contributes to the enthusiasm of that part of the Joint Board comprising the Division of Waterways and Public Lands.

For many years we have heard politicians and office seekers expatiate on the necessity of port development in the City of Boston, the act creating the directors of the Port of Boston was the result of this enthusiasm, and the state has incurred an immense expense for construction and maintenance, as was foreseen, on account of the construction of piers in both East Boston and South Boston, without any adequate return. Fortunately the dry dock which was to be a panacea for all the troubles preventing the development of Boston, has been disposed of to a maternal national government at a price that does not involve great loss to the Commonwealth.

BELT LINE.

The remarks of the Joint Board regarding the belt line railroad connecting the freight line terminals do not seem to have any particular application to the problems being considered. It appears to be admitted that such a belt line is not feasible at the present time, and that the traffic that would be carried by it will be taken care of, to a certain limited extent, by the increased use of motor trucks. This may be true. No one acquainted with the problem, however, will claim that motor trucks will ever be of great moment in developing the export or import traffic of East Boston. The cost of operation of such vehicles will never allow competition with steam railroads and the Board no doubt realizes, and in fact their studies along other lines admit, that economical transportation of freight can only be secured by connections between the East Boston docks and the lines of the railroads connecting with the north and west.

BRIDGE.

The present report of the Joint Board dismisses the matter of the bridge with as statement that "it would be a serious obstruction both to navigation and traffic." Just what distinction is implied between navigation and traffic does not appear, Also:

"All shipping on the Mystic and Malden rivers and Chelsea creek to the Mystic and Housac Tunnel docks and the United States Navy Yard would have to pass this bridge."

This second consideration does not present such an insuperable obstacle as would appear. At the present time all of the locations mentioned, except the Housac Tunnel docks, a part of the Mystic docks, and the United States Navy Yard are now above bridges. As suggested, it is possible that the Navy Yard will be moved from its present location in the not distant future. Chelsea creek at the present time has the Meridian Street Bridge near its entrance, and the Chelsea Street and Boston & Albany Railroad Bridges further up. A large part of the Mystic docks are above the Chelsea bridges, and the important works of the New England Coal and Coke Company are also above the Chelsea Bridge, by which they apparently are not seriously inconvenienced.

To gain access to the Malden river the passage of two highway bridges and a railroad bridge is necessary, and barring the upper reaches of the Mystic river there are three highway and two railroad bridges.

In my opinion the interruption to harbor traffic that would be caused on account of the construction of a low level drawbridge to East Boston has been greatly over-estimated, and the bridge problem has been dismissed without such adequate investigation as its importance warrants.

PRESENT STUDY, TWIN TUBE.

The recommendations of the Board's engineers advocate the construction of two tunnels, each tunnel to contain two tracks, one for horse-drawn and other slow-moving vehicles, and one for more rapidly moving vehicles. The northerly tunnel being entirely for traffic from East Boston, commencing on the East Boston side in the vicinity of Deatur and London streets and ending on the Boston side in an area bounded by Hanover street, Cross street, Salem street and Parmenter street; the southerly tube, accommodating traffic to East Boston, starts in the area bounded by Fulton street, Cross street, Hanover street and Richmond street, and ends on the East Boston side, near the junction of Meridian and Paris streets. The total length of each tunnel will be slightly in excess of 5,000 feet, or about one mile.

The distances from the entrances and exits from the streets bounding the wharves on each side is approximately 1,000 feet, so that the traffic between these localities would entail an additional distance of nearly one half mile for each trip, or practically one mile for each trip in excess of the distance across the ferry.

The cost of the plan recommended is estimated as being $16,150,000, exclusive of the charges for maintenance and operation. This cost does not take into consideration the fact that, especially on the Boston side, the entrances and exits are in neighborhoods at the present time seriously congested, with narrow streets that will require widening and relocating at enormous cost before they can possibly accommodate the large traffic estimated as being available for the tunnel.

No estimate of the cost of necessary street widening is possible at the present time, or will be possible until actual conditions develop. It is safe to say, however, that such costs will add several million dollars of expense to the cost of the tunnel for construction as estimated. A total cost for tunnels and incidental work of $20,000,000 is a minimum.

It is not contemplated that both tunnels will be built immediately, and authorization is recommended for one tunnel with two tracks, at a cost between eight and nine million dollars. This tunnel will of necessity be used exclusively by automobile traffic.

ON RADIAL ROUTES.

Plate No. 3, accompanying the report, is cleverly drawn to show that practically all of the important traffic routes from the metropolitan district concentrate at the East Boston ferries. There is no question as to the accuracy of the workmanship of the plan, but the impression which is apparently intended to be conveyed is that the routes shown on Plate 3 contribute a large part of the traffic which they carry to the East Boston ferries to be transported to East Boston. As a matter of fact this is not the case, and it is doubtful if for many of the routes shown any of the traffic is regularly tributary to the East Boston ferries.

AREAS TO AVOID CROWDING.

The discussion of this problem is significant on account of the fact that it appears to be anticipated that there will be a considerable delay at the exits and entrances of the tunnel and that space must be provided for waiting vehicles at the entrances and to distribute traffic and prevent congestion at the exits. This admission is valuable as an indication of what may be expected, as it offsets in a considerable degree one of the principal claims for the utility of the tunnel, that is, that it will not be subject to the waits that are occasioned by the time between departures of ferry boats, but will be available for the use of a constant stream of traffic without delay at the entrances.

The remaining paragraphs, "Based on Revenues," "Meeting Debt Requirements," "Taxes and Repayments," "Traffic Estimates Cut and Sinking Fund Bonds," relate to a discussion of the methods for financing the cost of the tunnel. The discussion is supplemented by Table 1, pages 14 and 15 of the report. These paragraphs are not important in the present discussion, except to call attention to the fact that the increase in the number of vehicles is not warranted by the facts that an average toll of 25 cents for each vehicle passing through the tunnel has been estimated, and the need of explanation of the statement:

We think that if ferry traffic declines because of the tunnel the city will be favored financially than otherwise, and that the question of ferry operation is not immediately concerned with the tunnel operation.

The number of vehicles that will use the tunnel is estimated as approximately 1,000,000 for 1925, the first year estimated for the opening of the tunnel, and an increase to 5,850,000 in 1975. For the first ten-year period it is estimated that the traffic will practically double itself. This estimate is not warranted by past history as has already been shown.

FINANCIAL PROBLEMS AS AFFECTING BOSTON.

In considering any method of determining the cost to the city of a teaming tunnel, assuming that the cost is to be placed on the city, it should be realized that there is no probability that, except for possibly one or two years immediately succeeding the completion of the tunnel, any return from tolls will be collected. The entire agitation for free ferries since the enabling act, so-called, of 1869, has been based on the argument that the ferry was in its nature the same as a street, and that the payment of tolls constituted a discrimination and an additional tax against people using the ferries. The answer to this argument, which has been upheld by the courts, is that the ferries were not comparable to highways, on account of the fact that they not only furnish a way for transportation, but furnish actual transportation. Nevertheless, the rate of tolls has been so reduced as to be practically negligible in determining the cost of ferries. The argument which has been sustained as regards ferries probably will not hold as regards the tunnels, which will undoubtedly be regarded as highway and the users entitled to all the privileges of users of highways, including the free use of the tunnels. Incidentally the successful agitation for the abolition of the 1 cent additional fare for interest purposes on the present East Boston Tunnel indicates what may be expected with greater cost to the city on account of teaming tunnels.

The cost of the tunnels as proposed, using present estimates as a basis, will be $20,000,000. Interest and sinking fund charges on this sum at present rates would result in a cost of perhaps $1,400,000 annually. In addition to this, there would be a maintenance charge, which the Joint Board admits to be $130,000 yearly. In addition there would be the expense of operating the East Boston ferries with an annual deficit of approximately $550,000, and the loss of income to the ferries, say $50,000, making a total of $2,080,000 yearly, the equivalent of $1.40 addition to the yearly tax rate.

It is interesting to compare this sum with the amount which the city receives from East Boston in the form of taxes. The total valuation of the real estate for 1920 of the two East Boston wards is $47,325,200. The tax rate for 1920-21 was $24.10 per thousand, therefore the total tax from East Boston, neglecting reductions and rebates, was $1,140,537. Therefore the annual deficit for the ferries and tunnels, not taking into consideration payment for the present street railway tunnel would be nearly twice the entire amount of taxes derived from East Boston, and allow nothing for police, schools, fire protection, parks and other municipal activities.

TUNNEL DESIGN.

The plans available for examination and the uncertainty of the type to be adopted do not warrant any analysis of the tunnel design. One element, however, seems to require comment. The figures of East Boston ferry traffic do not indicate any great reduction in the number of horse-drawn vehicles. The opinion referred to indicates that there has been no great reduction in the number of horses on Boston streets. Therefore the importance of horse-drawn traffic must be taken into account in tunnel design. The Joint Board cannot abolish the use of horses in the City of Boston by designing a tunnel ostensibly to be used for horses but actually only possible of use for automobile traffic.

The tunnel as designed shows 5 per cent grades both at the entrances and exits. The Transit Commission's reports already referred to place the limit of grade for horse-drawn traffic at 3 per cent and indicate that if possible not exceeding 2 per cent should be used. It is therefore apparent that the adoption of the 5 per cent grade in the proposed tunnel was largely for the purpose of reducing the estimated cost of construction. It may be confidently anticipated that after the tunnel has been authorized there will be necessity of additional legislation to authorize such extension of the tunnels and increased cost to secure a maximum of 3 per cent ascending grades.

Leaving out of consideration for the present the question of horse-drawn traffic, the designed grades of 5 per cent constitute the maximum practicable for heavily loaded auto trucks, even though such trucks are in perfect condition, which is seldom the case. Figures might be submitted to show the increased cost of automobile traffic due to the steep grades which in importance approach the objections of such grades to horse-drawn traffic. At present it does not seem necessary to present such figures.

In this connection I submit a list of familiar streets that will give the commission an idea of the effect of a 5 per cent grade:

	Grade.
Beacon street, Charles street to Spruce street	$5 70
Boylston street, Park square to Carver street	4 33
Cornhill, Franklin avenue to Court street	4 00
Milk street, Post Office square to Washington street	4 67
Park street, from Tremont street to 150 feet east of Beacon street	4 80
Pearl street, Atlantic avenue to High street	4 80
School street, from Tremont street, first 100 feet	5 20
Second 100 feet	4 40
Remainder	3 10
State street, Devonshire street to Washington street	4 60

The average cost of the operating expense of a five-ton truck for depreciation, tires, gasoline and oil is approximately 20 cents per mile, exclusive of depreciation, and chauffeur's wages. In going across the ferries the city transports a truck for a space between one third and one half a mile for a fare of eight cents and the amount saved may be shown to be, for a truck of the size estimated, considerably greater than the fare charged, that is the city is actually contributing a certain amount to the owner of the truck in addition to transporting him across the ferry. Comparing this expense with the cost of the long distance after passing through the tunnel it will be seen that the ferry route for traffic vehicles would save a very large amount each year for vehicles using it. This amount would be increased above the average for vehicles whose destination is the waterfront on either side.

The consensus of opinions of such experts in teaming matters, as I have had opportunity to consult, is that a 5 per cent grade would be prohibitive for practically all heavily loaded teaming traffic, without taking into consideration the matter of the toll proposed. It is also their opinion that with a 25 cent average fare and a higher fare for the larger and heavily loaded vehicles, the cost of operation through the tunnel would be prohibitive without regard to grades.

As a typical example, assume a 5-ton truck, loaded at Commonwealth Pier No. 1 in East Boston, its destination being some one of the terminals of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad. After crossing the harbor, the routes in both cases would meet at the corner of Richmond street and Atlantic avenue. Therefore, the distance between the Commonwealth Pier and this point is all that need be considered by the tunnel route. The total distance from the Commonwealth Pier through the tunnel to the corner of Richmond street and Atlantic avenue would be approximately 9,000 linear feet or 1.7 miles of truck operations. To reach the same point by way of the South Ferry would require approximately 220 feet of truck operation, a difference of 6,800 feet of truck operation, or approximately 1.29 miles, in favor of the tunnel route.

The average cost of operation of a 5-ton gasoline truck in good condition for gasoline, oil, tires and repairs is approximately 20 cents a mile. It therefore appears that the total cost of operation by the tunnel route would be 34 cents. Adding to this the average fare, as given in the report, the actual and higher fare being impossible to estimate, the total cost for the tunnel route would be 59 cents.

For the ferry route the total distance for truck operation would be approximately .4 of a mile, and the cost of truck operation 8 cents; the fare across the ferry would be 6.2 cents, making a total of 14.2 cents, an advantage of approximately 45 cents for the ferry route, or 7 cents per ton of freight.

As regards average time consumed; assuming 7 miles per hour, the figure used by the Joint Board for the speed of traffic through the tunnel, the trip by way of the tunnel would consume approximately fifteen minutes. By way of the ferry route, allowing the average time for ferry operation, the time would be approximately the same, and without the difficulty and cost of operating over 5 per cent grades.

Interruptions would be probable at times on both routes but the probabilities of interruption by the ferries are not greater than the probabilities as regards interruptions in the congested streets of the North End and the passage through Lewis street and Maverick square in East Boston. Added to delays on the streets there will be numerous delays in the tunnels, on account of the troubles to which all motor vehicles are subject, increased by the difficulties of negotiating 5 per cent of grades.

PAYMENT FOR THE TUNNEL.

Any unprejudiced estimate resulting from a study of the conditions will convince the investigator of the truth of several facts:

First, that the traffic originating in Boston proper and East Boston will continue to prefer the ferry route to the tunnel route for financial reasons.

Second, that the traffic passing through the tunnel will be the traffic that originates beyond the limits of either East Boston or Boston proper.

Third, that the greatest part of the traffic will be pleasure automobiles that should be accommodated by the extension and enlargement of the ferries, parks and boulevards.

The conclusion, therefore, must be drawn that if this tunnel is to be built Boston should be exempted from any share in its cost and the entire cost should be placed either on the metropolitan district with Boston excluded or on the state as a whole, and even in this case Boston should be reimbursed for the 30 per cent or more taxes which it would contribute to the original construction. The cost of the maintenance of its streets on account of tunnel traffic should be an adequate contribution to the cost of the scheme by the City of Boston.

The report of the Joint Board is remarkable as to its brevity and lack of information regarding essential matters relating to the successful construction and operation of a teaming tunnel. Nearly every paragraph of the report introduces the New York-Hudson river tunnel as confirmatory evidence of its correctness. New York engineering opinion is not infallible, and, as already pointed out, conditions that may warrant the construction of a teaming tunnel in New York would not warrant the same type of tunnel in Boston. There have been no sub-aqueous teaming tunnels of considerable length built in this country, although a number have been built in Europe. The success of these tunnels has not been great. So far as I can secure information of the principal tunnels, that is, the tunnel under the river Clyde at Glasgow, where conditions are strikingly similar to Boston conditions, the two tunnels under the Thames at London, and the tunnel under the Elbe at Hamburg, all have been operated intermittently and the Clyde and Elbe tunnels have been abandoned. It is true that these tunnels were built for horse-drawn vehicles and the automobile furnishes other problems, and in fact more serious ones.

The serious problems as regards operation of a teaming tunnel are ventilation and fire protection. The matter of ventilating tunnels was discussed by the Finance Commission in its report to the Legislature of 1920, in connection with the bill to authorize an autoway under Beacon street. Since that time many investigations have been made by experts, regarding the effect of carbon monoxide gas (CO) on the human system, and other investigations are still in progress. No definite conclusions have been reached. The conclusions of the Joint Board have apparently been based on a monthly bulletin of the United States Bureau of Mines, herewith appended. This bulletin adds nothing to the common knowledge of the matter.

The Joint Board's report states the opinion that the maximum of four parts in 10,000 of carbon monoxide will not cause serious effects upon persons subjected to such an atmosphere. This conclusion is not convincing. All the evidence points to the conclusion that the effect of CO gas on the human system is more serious than is commonly realized. It may be that the great volumes of air necessary to secure less than the maximum injurious percentage of gas can be obtained by mechanical means, but machinery is always subject to breakage and to carelessness of operation.

The second problem, which is intimately connected with the ventilation problem, is the matter of fire protection. With the large number of automobiles in the tunnel, in case a gasoline tank should leak on the 5 per cent grade, with the gasoline flowing down grade, permeating the ventilating ducts and drainage structures, the effect of an explosion can well be imagined. The large volume of air necessary for ventilation would carry the vapor to all parts of the tunnel and make the structure with its substructures essentially the same as a large automobile muffler, as regards explosive effect.

It is unnecessary to enlarge on this feature of the case at the present time. An example on a small scale of what might happen is indicated by an accident that took place at the corner of Massachusetts avenue and Boylston street on July 18, 1919. At this place there is nearly a level grade, although the street is usually congested with automobiles. A tank wagon containing gasoline came in collision with a United States Army truck, causing the tank wagon to leak, a stream of gasoline flowing along the pavement. This became ignited by some means, with the result that fourteen ears were either destroyed or injured. This effect was on a wide and open street with a very slight grade.

A more recent accident has been reported on Commonwealth avenue near Massachusetts avenue, where a similar trial of gasoline from a leaking tank was ignited by the throwing of a match into a catch basin. The blaze immediately followed up the street until it reached an automobile, which was destroyed.

Accidents of this type are not only possible, but extremely probable to occur with considerable frequency and their results can only be imagined.

As a matter of ordinary business precaution no traffic tunnels should be authorized until the full effect of the plans at present under way for improving the ferries has been determined. In the past year, 1920-21, the city has appropriated in excess of $1,000,000 for ferry purposes. Three of the older boats have been rebuilt, with new deck plans, so that they will accommodate approximately 70 per cent more vehicles than as originally constructed. Two new boats of the improved type are in process of construction and will be in service within a few months. When the improvements under way are completed, the ferries should be more efficient than at any time since the service was inaugurated.

Incidental to the report of the Joint Board it may be pertinent to inquire why the tunnel routes were so designed as to pass directly under the power station of the Boston Elevated Railway Company and the Quincy Market Cold Storage Warehouse? Certainly the slight curvature that would be necessary to avoid these structures would not involve a cost or disadvantages approaching the damages that will undoubtedly be collected in case the tunnels are built on the route shown.

Respectfully submitted,
GUY C. EMERSON,
Consulting Engineer.

APPENDIX A.

AUTOMOBILE EXHAUST CASES IN VEHICULAR TUNNELS.*

By A. C. FIELDNER.†

Purpose and Nature of Tests.

The rapidly increasing use of motor vehicles and trucks in the United States is creating an entirely new problem in the proper ventilation of tunnels, subways and other confined spaces through which such machines must pass. This problem has become of immediate importance because a tunnel 8,000 feet long is being designed to pass under the Hudson river between New York City and New Jersey. Another tunnel at Pittsburgh 5,700 feet long through the South Hills, is already under construction, and a third tunnel, 6,000 feet long, between Boston and East Boston is proposed. It is probable that other tunnels will be started in various parts of the United States in the near future.

The ventilation of such tunnels is a serious matter on account of the poisonous nature of automobile exhaust gases. It is not uncommon to read about finding a man dead in his garage. Generally this happens on a cold, winter morning, after he has been running the engine with the doors and windows closed.

The poisonous constituent of automobile exhaust gas is carbon monoxide. It is the same gas which has caused the death of so many miners after mine fires and explosions. It is also found in illuminating gas, and there, likewise, has caused the death of many persons.

Carbon monoxide has no color, taste or smell. The smoke issuing from the exhaust of an automobile is not carbon monoxide, although where there is smoke, there is usually carbon monoxide present. The amount of it present in automobile exhaust gases varies under different conditions of running a machine. Probably the principal cause for variation is the adjustment of the carburetor. A rich mixture may give as high as 10 per cent carbon monoxide in the exhaust gases. A very lean mixture will give an exhaust gas containing nothing, or perhaps not more than 1 or 2 per cent. All gradations between these percentages occur. For this reason engineers who have to design the ventilation for tunnels have no accurate information on what the average percentage of carbon monoxide is likely to be.

Very few tests have ever been made on cars taken from the street and tested in the condition under which they were operated, and the only way to obtain this information is to run a great many tests on the road under exactly the same conditions as will prevail in tunnels, using cars and trucks of various sizes, so that average results may be obtained for each type of machine.

Method of Conducting Automobile Road Tests.

In order to obtain information as to the amount and composition of automobile exhaust gases, the Bureau of Mines has undertaken to make tests at its Pittsburgh station, on a number of passenger cars and trucks, about 100 in all. The expense of carrying out the work is being borne by the New York and New Jersey State Bridge and Tunnel Commissions, who need the information for designing the tunnels under the Hudson river. Pittsburgh is also contributing to the work by furnishing the necessary cars and truck for making the tests, as the local need for the information is great, to insure adequate ventilation for the tunnel under the South Hills. The work on this problem was started last December. Up to the present time, twenty-four passenger cars and trucks have been tested.

In making the tests, an accurately graduated tube containing the gasoline to be used is attached to the carburetor. Another apparatus for collecting the gas sample is attached to the exhaust pipe by means of a rubber tube. The car is taken to the test course and run exactly one mile at the required speed. During this period, the gasoline is accurately measured and a sample of gas is collected. The gas sample is sent to the Bureau of Mines laboratories and is carefully analyzed for all constituents; and from these results the number of cubic feet of carbon monoxide given off by the car is calculated.

Tests are made on a level grade and up and down a 3 per cent grade, at rates of speed of six, ten, fifteen and twenty miles per hour. Tests are also made with the engine racing, idling, and accelerating, so as to reproduce conditions in a tunnel when it is crowded with cars which are starting up after a blockade in the traffic. Nothing is overlooked in obtaining information on which will show the worst possible conditions that might arise in a tunnel.

Effect of Carbon Monoxide.

The carbon monoxide in exhaust gases is an active poison, for the reason that it unites with the red coloring matter of the blood and prevents it from taking up oxygen from the air. The victim really suffocates in much the same way as if his air supply were shut off. Only a very small percentage of carbon monoxide are needed to render a person unconscious. One per cent in the atmosphere will produce death very quickly. I have been in 1 per cent carbon monoxide for one hour and suffered a distinct headache from this exposure.

In order to properly calculate the amount of air that is needed to sweep out exhaust gases from a tunnel, engineers must know what is the largest allowable percentage of carbon monoxide that a person may breathe for several hours without any ill effects whatsoever. This problem is also being investigated by the Bureau of Mines. The work is carried on by Dr. Yandell Henderson, of the Bureau at the Physiological Laboratory of Yale Medical School, New Haven Conn. He is determining just how many parts of carbon monoxide in 10,000 parts of air may be considered safe.

At the present time authorities differ somewhat in this respect. Practically all of them agree that one to three parts in 10,000 are perfectly safe for at least an hour. A few authorities believe that even five or six parts may be safely tolerated. The work being done by the Bureau of Mines should determine which figure shall be used. These tests are made by subjecting a large number of people, who volunteer themselves for tests, to air containing these small percentages of carbon monoxide.

Value of Tests to Owner and Dealers.

The automobile exhaust gas tests when completed will also be of great value to owners of automobiles and trucks, and also to dealers, as it will furnish reliable, unbiased information on the efficiency of a given machine under particular conditions. For example, the tests thus far may have shown no difference in the efficiency of different makes of cars and trucks as regards gasoline economy, but cars of the same make showed large variations, due to the fact that the owners were running the machines with improper adjustment of carburetors. Most of them were using very rich mixtures. In fact, the average of twenty-four cars tested showed that 20 to 30 per cent of the heat in the gasoline went out in the form of unburned gases in the exhaust. In other words, if the mixture had been leaner, the owner would have gotten 25 per cent greater mileage from a gallon of gasoline.

† Supervising chemist, Pittsburgh Experiment Station, Bureau of Mines.

Drivers naturally adjust their cars to start easily in the winter time. This means that they will use rich mixtures, as a rich mixture starts more easily than a lean one.

It is expected to continue the automobile and truck tests throughout the summer in order to find out whether less carbon monoxide is produced when the machine operates in warm earth, and the Bureau of Mines is very anxious that owners of automobiles and trucks continue their cooperation in furnishing cars for test. United States Bureau of Mines Reports of Investigations.

FIRE DEPARTMENT OF BOSTON, 1920.

Fire-fighting force, 1,210, viz., the Chief, three deputy chiefs, 14 district chiefs (one vacancy), 63 captains, 93 lieutenants, 52 engineers, 51 assistant engineers and 933 privates; other employees, 14 at headquarters, 70 men in repair shop, 42 in fire alarm branch and 4 in veterinary hospital; fire stations, 63; steam and gasoline pumping engines in service, 47, of which 15 are tractor-drawn steamers, 12 motor triple combination (i. e., gas-engine, chemical and hose-reel), 2 steam-propelled and 18 horse-drawn steamers; motor combination chemical engine and hose cars, 27; horse-drawn chemical engines, 4; horse-drawn hose wagons, 18; motor ladder trucks, 20 (9 aerial); horse-drawn ladder trucks, 10; fireboats, 3; motor water towers, 3; touring cars, 7; motor roadsters, 24; motor trucks, 7; 1 rescue company motor car with pulmotors, etc., and 1 motor wrecker; total motor vehicles in service, 119, of which 81 are apparatus, 31 officials' cars and 7 trucks. Leading hose, 126,586 feet and suction hose, 1,967 feet; horses, 185; 2-ton fuel wagons, 41; fire alarm boxes, 1,205. In reserve are 13 steamers (6 motor) and 4 chemical engines; 10 hose wagons (3 motor); 10 ladder trucks (5 motor); 1 water tower (motor) and 8 officials' cars. Total alarms in calendar year 1919, 5,423, or 361 more than in 1918, of which total 575 were needless and 382 were false alarms. Total fires, 4,353 (i. e., 180 more than in 1918), of which 2,763 were in buildings, 1,555 outside buildings and 35 out of city limits.

Cost of maintenance for 1919, $2,864,040 (including pensions), or $642,659 more than in 1918. Value of land and buildings, $2,218,600; of equipment, $1,200,000.

The Boston Protective Department (not a City department) reported the total fire losses in 1919 on buildings as $1,033,314 and on contents as $1,40,970 or total of $2,435,284, which is $386,825 less than in 1918 and $1,545,944 less than in 1917. Of total loss, the amount not covered by insurance was $204,664.

Annual salaries: Commissioner, $7,500; Chief, $5,000; deputy chiefs, $4,000; district chiefs, $3,500; captains, $2,500; lieutenants, $2,300; engineers, $1,900; assistant engineers, $1,800; 1st-year privates, $1,400, with $100 yearly increase until maximum of $1,800 is reached.

By Chap. 4, City Ordinances of 1917, the firemen have one day off in three, dating from Feb. 1, 1918, instead of one in five, as before, which called for an addition of about 170 men to the force.

By Ordinances of 1919, Chap. 2, the Wire Dept. became the Wire Division of the Fire Dept.

New motor apparatus added in 1919, costing $189,000, makes the department 61 per cent motorized. Appropriation of $150,000 for more of same in 1920.

BOSTON PUBLIC SCHOOLS, 1919-20.

Number of permanent school buildings in use for school purposes, 264, or 214 brick and 50 wooden; portable houses, 137; besides these 21 rented quarters; day schools contain 3,127 class-rooms and 130,669 sittings, also 97 assembly halls and 15 drill halls and gymnasias; 3,413 teachers in all schools, or 2,877 women and 536 men; evening schools, 26, with 243 regular teachers. Playground teachers, 153, having charge of games, gymnastics, etc., in 52 park and 32 school-yard playgrounds; school physicians, 46; school nurses, 48; attendance officers, 25. Number of pupils registered in day schools (exclusive of Continuation School) year ending June 30, 1919, 122,452; in evening schools, 8,260; Continuation School, 9,651; day school for immigrants, 937; total registration, 141,300. Average number belonging in day schools, 106,743; average number in evening schools, 4,383; in summer review schools, 4,107. Membership in Normal High and Latin schools on Sept. 30, 1919, 17,018; in elementary schools, by districts: East Boston, 10,233; Charlestown, 3,464; North End, 5,068; West End, 5,981; City Proper, 4,266; South End, 3,754; South Boston, 8,367; Roxbury, 14,453; Brighton, 4,487; West Roxbury, 7,725; Dorchester, 23,284; Hyde Park, 2,048; in special schools, 945. Total, 110,993 or 3,104 more than in 1918. Average number of day-school pupils per teacher in elementary grades, 40.9; in high schools, 28.1; in kindergartens, 25.5. In 1918 the ninth grade or junior high school plan, recently adopted, relieved the high schools of 925 first-year pupils, and in 1919 the number of pupils promoted to these intermediate classes was 1,581. Valuation of school property, $27,670,000. Cost of maintenance for 1919, $7,373,499 (including $134,568 for pensions to teachers), or $619,101 more than in 1918; expenditure for construction of new schools, etc., $545,015.32, nearly all from Tax Levy. Gross debt outstanding for Schoolhouses and Sites, Feb. 1, 1920, $15,781,000 or $210,500 less than in 1919. Annual maintenance cost per attending pupil in high schools (day), $84.86; in elementary schools (day), $44.33. The registration of minors, 5 to 15 years, inclusive, also illiterates over 15 April 1, 1919, as directed by Chap. 102, General Acts of 1916, showed a total of 140,593 or 21,311 of 5 and 6 years of age; 87,229 of 7 to 13; 31,686 of 14 and 15, and 367 illiterates 16 years of age and over. Total belonging to public schools, 102,741; to parochial schools, 25,142; other private schools, 3,009. Employment certificates issued in calendar year 1919 to boys 14 to 20 years of age (inclusive), 8,349; to girls of same ages, 7,730. Educational certificates issued to all minors 14 to 20 years of age (inclusive), 30,843.

Only 174 in each 1,000 pupils in Boston are in private schools, while the average for the large cities is 284. The School Centers for educational and social improvement of other than school pupils started in 1912. There are now 9 with 100 to 110 leaders and assistants and 30 to 40 study, clubs in each; total attendance during the 7 months' sessions in 1918-19, 324,282. Cost of this "extended use of public schools" in 1918-19, $39,134.

Per capita (of Boston population) cost in 1919 of schools, approximately $10.21 (including special appropriations from taxes, etc., for new schoolhouses); in 1917 (for maintenance) $8.10, ranking highest among the 9 leading American cities. (2) Pittsburgh, $7.52; (3) New York,

$7.35; (4) Detroit, $7.26; (5) Cleveland, $6.52; (6) Chicago, $6.23; (7) St. Louis, $6.03; (8) Philadelphia, $4.80; (9) Baltimore, $4.07. (See U. S. Census Bureau's Financial Statistics of Cities, 1918, p. 209.)

BOSTON'S ONE-WAY STREETS.

Between 7 a. m. and 6 p. m. daily (Sundays and legal holidays excepted), to prevent congestion of traffic, vehicles must go in one direction only in the streets named alphabetically below, by order of the Street Commissioners: Ashburton place, westerly from Somerset street; Asylum street, westerly from Harrison avenue; Avery street, easterly from Tremont; Avon street, easterly from Washington; Beacon street, easterly from Bowdoin street to Somerset; Bedford street, westerly from Chauncy; Blackstone street, northwesterly from North street to Hanover on Saturdays and on the day just before a holiday; Bromfield street, westerly from Washington; Chauncy street, southwesterly from Summer street to Essex; Cornhill, easterly from Court street; Court square, entering on westerly side leaving on easterly side; Devonshire street, northerly from Summer street to Winthrop square; Exchange street, northerly from State; Friend street, southeasterly from Causeway; Hanover avenue, westerly from North street; Harris street, easterly from Hanover; Hawley street, southerly from Franklin; Howard street, easterly from Bulfinch; Kingston street, northerly from Essex street to Bedford; Lovering street, easterly from Washington; Mason street, easterly and northeasterly from Avery and from Tremont; Merchants row, northerly from North Market street; Morton street, easterly from Endicott street; North street, easterly from Union to Blackstone; Otis street, southerly from Winthrop square to Summer street; Pemberton square, westerly from south corner of Courthouse to Somerset street; Province street, northerly from Bromfield; Salutation street, easterly from Hanover; School street, easterly from Tremont; Somerset street, northerly from Beacon street to Ashburton place; State street, westerly from Devonshire on north of Old State House; State street, easterly from Washington to Devonshire, on south of Old State House; Stillman street, westerly from Salem; Temple place, easterly from Tremont; Tileston street, northwesterly from Hanover; Wall street, southeasterly from Minot; West street, westerly from Washington; Winter street, westerly from Washington. Special regulations in force between 10 a. m. and 6.30 p. m.: Washington street, between Essex and Franklin, northerly only; Arch street, between Franklin and Summer, southerly only; Essex street, between Chauncy and Washington, westerly only. This list is revised to March 1, 1920.

IMMIGRANT ALIENS ARRIVED IN YEAR 1919.

Total number of immigrants landed at Boston, 5,572, of which, 1,618 or 29.04 per cent stated Massachusetts as their destination. Of said total, 3,623 were South Italians, 859 Portuguese, 365 English, 205 North Italians, 124 Scotch, 68 Hebrews, 51 Irish, 29 Scandinavians, 24 Germans, 10 Greeks and 214 others. Total arrivals in 1918 were only 1,344; in 1917, 6,527; in 1916, 15,297; in 1915, 9,483; in 1914, 38,299. Total in the six years, 76,522; South Italians, 36.86 per cent.

PROCEEDINGS OF SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

Apr. 18, 1921.

A regular meeting of the School Committee of the City of Boston was held in the School Committee Building, Mason street, at 6:48 o'clock P. M., the Chairman presiding.

Present: Dr. Bogan, Miss Curtis, Messrs. Lane and O'Connor.

APPROVAL OF RECORDS.

The reading of the records of the last meeting was omitted, the Board approving them as printed.

APPOINTMENTS OF TEACHERS.

The Chairman stated the question was on approving the appointments of teachers, as reported by the Superintendent and laid over at the last meeting.

The appointments were approved.

DEATHS.

The Superintendent reported the death of the following named teachers who had been retired on pension:

Franklin District—Phebe C. Bradford, Mar. 17, 1921.

Harvard-Frothingham District—Abbie M. Libby, Feb. 1, 1921.

Placed on file.

The following appointments and transfers by the Superintendent certified by him as being in accordance with the rules and regulations, to take effect on the dates stated, were presented:

SPECIAL ASSISTANTS.

Dillaway District—Agnes F. Gould, Mar. 1, 1921; Arvilla Murray, Mar. 7, 1921 (one day).

Elihu Greenwood District—Edwina Q. Ott, kindergarten, Apr. 11, 1921.

George Putnam District—Alice Freeman, Mar. 15, 1921 (one day); Francis J. Dillon, Mar. 17 to 18, 1921 (two days).

Gilbert Stuart District—Joyce H. Young, Apr. 6, 1921.

Harvard-Frothingham District—Grace G. Edema, kindergarten, Apr. 6, 1921.

Henry L. Pierce District—Edward Roddan, Mar. 7 to 11, 1921; Margaret Hemsworth, Mar. 14, 1921; Mabel Langworthy, Mar. 29, 1921 (one day).

Horace Mann School—Marie S. Simonds, Apr. 11, 1921.

Mather District—Frances M. Hendrick, Apr. 13, 1921.

Oliver Hazard Perry District—John W. Gorman, Apr. 7, 1921.

Robert G. Shaw District—Ida Merriam, Mar. 24, 1921 (one day); Mary H. Lyons, Mar. 3, 18, 1921 (two days); Elsie G. Knight, kindergarten, Apr. 4, 1921.

Samuel Adams District—Harriet Haggerty, Mar. 31, 1921.

Thomas N. Hart District—Louise T. Munroe, Mar. 22, 1921.

Approved.

TEMPORARY TEACHERS.

High School of Commerce—Francis J. Dillon, junior master, Apr. 13 to 14, 1921 (two days).

Roxbury High School—Mary V. Sturdivant, assistant, Apr. 4, 1921.

Placed on file.

Continuation School—John J. Farrell, toolkeeper, Apr. 7, 1921.

Approved.

APPOINTMENT.

(From the Eligible List.)

Sewing—Margaret M. Casey, teacher, Apr. 25, 1921.

Laid over.

EVENING SCHOOLS.

Term 1920-21.

On motion of the Superintendent, it was ORDERED, That the employment of Emily Betts in the Washington Evening School on March 31, 1921, (one evening), is hereby authorized and that she be paid for her services at the rate of three dollars ($3) per evening.

Franklin Evening School—Mary M. Fitzgerald, assistant, Apr. 12, 1921 (one evening).

Phillips Brooks Evening School—Mary M. Dacey, assistant, Apr. 7, 1921 (one evening).

Theodore Lyman Evening School—Mary F. McAuliffe, assistant, Apr. 4, 1921 (one evening).

Washington Evening School—Mary E. O'Donnell, assistant, Apr. 4, 1921 (one evening).

Approved.

SCHOOL CENTERS.

Term 1920-21.

On motion of the Superintendent, it was ORDERED, That the employment of Mary Granara, matron, and Rafacila Prezioso, helper, in the Michael Angelo School Center, is hereby authorized from Jan. 1, 1921, to Jan. 31, 1921, the rate of compensation to be one dollar ($1) per session.

Charlestown High School Center—Stella Fricz, pianist, Mar. 1, 1921.

APPOINTMENT OF MINOR OFFICERS.

The following was received:

Office of the Mayor,
Boston 9, April 15, 1921.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—Subject to confirmation by your honorable body, I make the following appointments of minor officers paid by fees for the term of one year beginning with the first day of May, 1921. The appointments of all such officers not named herein are hereby revoked from and after April 30, 1921.

Respectfully,

ANDREW J. PETERS, Mayor.

(The appointments are printed in City Document No. 50.)

Severally laid over under the law.

TRANSFERS, ASSESSING DEPARTMENT.

The following was received:

Office of the Mayor,
Boston 9, April 15, 1921.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I am transmitting herewith a communication from the chairman of the Board of Assessors, requesting a transfer within the appropriation of the Assessing Department, and respectfully recommend the passage of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,

ANDREW J. PETERS, Mayor.

City of Boston,

Assessing Department, April 16, 1921.

Hon. Andrew J. Peters,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—When the budget was prepared for the current year it was expected that the cost of preparing the police list and bills in proper form for the collector's and assessor's lists would be $26,000.

From the original estimates submitted for doing this work, it appears that a saving in time of twenty days can be made if part of this work is done by the Library Bureau at the same time the list is prepared for the Police Department, and the balance completed by temporary help in this department, at no greater cost to the city.

We, therefore, respectfully request a transfer from the item "F-14, Police Listing," of $6,500 to A-2; this last sum to provide for a list of the male and female residents, a duplicate of the list given to the police and as per estimate submitted by the Library Bureau.

Respectfully,

EDWARD T. KELLY,
Chairman.

Ordered, That under authority of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to make the following transfer in the appropriations for Assessing Department:

From the appropriation for F-14, Listing, $6,500, to the appropriation for A-2, Temporary Employees, $6,500.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

REPAIR WORK, PARIS STREET GYMNASIUM.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, April 15, 1921.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I am herewith transmitting a communication just received from the Park Department relative to repair work at the Paris Street Gymnasium.

Respectfully yours,

ANDREW J. PETERS, Mayor.

Park Department,

Boston 9, April 14, 1921.

Hon. Andrew J. Peters,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—I am in receipt of an order of the City Council asking to have the East Boston Gymnasium put in proper condition and to have the showers repaired.

The repairs on the showers are now going on. The delay was caused by reason of the fact that it was impossible to get the necessary parts, and they will be in shape in a short time.

It will be necessary to delay the work of painting until the building is closed for the summer, at which time the work will be completed.

Very respectfully yours,

JAMES B. SHEA,
Chairman.

Placed on file.

NEW BRIDGE, HYDE PARK.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, April 13, 1921.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I am herewith transmitting a communication received from the Commissioner of Public Works relative to the need of a new Hyde Park Avenue Bridge over Mother brook.

I recommend the passage of the accompanying order at the earliest possible moment in order that there may be no unnecessary delay in the construction of this new bridge.

Respectfully yours,

ANDREW J. PETERS, Mayor.

Public Works Department.

Boston 9, April 11, 1921.

To the Honorable the Mayor:

I respectfully call your attention to the condition of Hyde Park Avenue Bridge, over Mother brook, Hyde Park, which has been in bad condition for a number of years and is in urgent need of reconstruction.

I estimate that it will cost approximately $20,000 to build a new structure of reinforced concrete, and I recommend that a loan order for this sum be provided as early as possible.

Yours respectfully,

T. F. SULLIVAN,

Commissioner of Public Works.

Ordered, That the sum of $20,000 be and hereby is appropriated to be expended by the Commissioner of Public Works for the construction of a new bridge, Hyde Park avenue, over Mother brook, Hyde Park; and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, on the request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the City of Boston to said amount.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

DEVELOPMENT OF PLAYGROUND, HYDE PARK.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, April 15, 1921.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I am herewith transmitting a copy of a communication from the Park Department requesting an additional appropriation of $12,500 for the development of Smith's Pond Playground in Hyde Park, and I recommend the passage of the accompanying order.

Respectfully yours,

ANDREW J. PETERS, Mayor.

Park Department,

Boston 9, April 7, 1921.

Hon. Andrew J. Peters,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—I desire to call to your attention a request made by this commission for the sum of $25,000 to be added to $16,594.87 now available for the development of Smith's Pond Playground in Hyde Park.

In a recent conversation I stated to you that a smaller amount could be used with profit at the present time. In accordance with that statement, I therefore request the appropriation of $12,500 to be added to the $16,594.87 now available, making a total of $29,094.87.

If such an appropriation be made, this will be expended as follows:

Field house and children's shelter combined.....	$25,000 00
Grading ball field, back stops, laying out tennis courts and permanent seats for players and spectators..	4,094 87
Total.....	$29,094 87

Very respectfully yours,

JAMES B. SHEA,
Chairman.

Ordered, That under authority of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of $12,500 from the appropriation for Reserve

Fund to the appropriation for Smith's Pond Playground, Hyde Park.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

MINORS' LICENSES.

Coun. WATSON presented reports on petitions for minors' licenses for thirteen newsboys and nine vendors—recommending that licenses be granted.

Reports severally accepted; licenses granted on the usual conditions.

INTEREST IN CONTRACTS.

The following were received by the City Clerk, viz.:

Notice from D. J. Kinnaly, employee of Suffolk County, of interest in firm which performed some work for the Public Works Department.

Notice from Joseph P. Manning, Trustee of City Hospital, of interest in contract with House of Correction.

Placed on file.

LOAN ORDERS IN EFFECT.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Office of the City Clerk, April 16, 1921.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—You are hereby notified that the order for a loan of $150,000 for the Thorndike Memorial Building, filed by the Mayor with the City Clerk February 14, 1921, not having been rejected or withdrawn within sixty days after the date of said filing, was in force on April 16, 1921, as if adopted by the City Council, under the provisions of section 2 of chapter 486 of the Acts of 1909.

Respectfully,

W. J. DOYLE,
Assistant City Clerk.

Coun. DONOGHUE—Mr. President, I want to say in regard to that $150,000 Thorndike Memorial Building order that it came before the Committee on Finance, and we were requested to hold it up until the trustees got in touch further with the Mayor's office so that they might get an appropriation in addition to that which the Mayor made in the first instance. It afterward came to our attention that they were satisfied with the amount the Mayor had submitted. Therefore we passed the order as originally proposed. Had we not been given the impression that the Mayor was to add an additional amount to the appropriation, I feel that the order would have been passed in sufficient time to have taken both readings in the City Council.

The communication was placed on file.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the City Clerk, April 16, 1921.
To the City Council:
Gentlemen,—You are hereby notified that the order for a loan of $629,000 for alterations, etc., to the Out-Patient and Dispensary Building of the City Hospital, filed by the Mayor with the City Clerk February 14, 1921, not having been rejected or withdrawn within sixty days after the date of said filing, was in force on April 16, 1921, as if adopted by the City Council, under the provisions of section 2 of chapter 486 of the Acts of 1909.

Respectfully,
W. J. DOYLE,
Assistant City Clerk.

Placed on file.

CARE OF SCHOOL CHILDREN.

The following was received:

City of Boston, Police Department,
Office of the Commissioner,
April 18, 1921.

To the City Clerk:

Dear Sir,—The Police Commissioner directs me to acknowledge receipt of a copy of an order passed by the City Council April 11, requesting that a policeman be stationed in Tremont street near Cabot, Hammond and Davenport streets, "for the protection of school children immediately before and after each school session."

He further directs me to inform you that the order was sent to the superintendent with instructions to take up the matter with the captain commanding Division 10, who reports that this place will be covered by an officer while school children are going to and from school.

Very respectfully,
JAMES H. DEVLIN, JR.,
Secretary.

Placed on file.

STORAGE AND SALE OF GASOLINE.

Notices were received from the Board of Street Commissioners of application for licenses to store, store and sell gasoline as follows:

M. C. Short, 1,000 gallons, 175A Norwell street, Ward 19.
David Stern, 1,000 gallons, 49-57 Cambridge street, Ward 5.
Bryant & Johnson, 1,000 gallons, 1732 Centre street, Ward 23.
Francis A. Reynolds, 2,000 gallons, 912 and 914 Huntington avenue, Ward 14.
Placed on file.

CONFIRMATION OF APPOINTMENT.

Coun. WATSON called up unfinished business, No. 1, viz.:

1. Action on appointment submitted by the Mayor, April 4, 1921, of Arthur George Grant, to be a Constable.

The question came on confirmation. Committee—Coun. Ford and Moriarty. Whole number of ballots cast 6, yeas 6, and the appointment was confirmed.

MONEY FOR SOLDIERS' RELIEF.

Coun. BRICKLEY offered an order—That there be allowed and paid to the Acting Soldiers' Relief Commissioner, and charged to the appropriation for Soldiers' Relief Department, the sum of three hundred dollars, said sum to be expended, subject to the approval of the Committee on Soldiers' Relief, by said commissioner in affording immediate relief to persons entitled to aid under chapter 79 of the Revised Laws and acts in amendment thereof and addition thereto.

The order was passed.

Later in the session Coun. FORD said:

Mr. President, I would like to move reconsideration of the passage of Coun. Brickley's $300 Soldiers' Relief order, hoping the same will not prevail. I make the motion simply in order to say a word on the matter. I have been looking over the budget for that department because of numerous bitter complaints that have been made to me personally, as they have been made I presume to other members, by veterans who are even now waiting upon the Mayor, wanting relief from the Soldiers' Relief Department. I wish simply to say that I think the acting head of the department, if he has the power—and, if not, he should get in touch with the Mayor—should employ at once the $5,400 that has been provided in the budget to employ temporary help. I feel that this suggestion should come not from myself but from the whole council,—that the acting commissioner should act at once, spending the $5,400 if necessary, and we will supply as much more as he desires, in order to employ temporary help to relieve the situation, investigators or clerks. I also suggest, and will ask the President to draw an order to that effect in the executive session, to be presented to the Council, that if there is not enough help on the civil service list to provide clerks, investigators, or whatever is necessary, he at once employ some of those veterans who are now calling there, who are not incapacitated from doing investigating work. I understand that some of them who cannot work at hard labor in their respective callings can do investigating work. I trust that reconsideration will not prevail, but I simply wished to make this statement on behalf of the whole Council, in order that we may show these worthy men applying to that department that we are in entire sympathy with their claims and have tried to relieve the situation by providing $5,400.

The motion to reconsider was lost, and the order stood passed.

JAMES J. CUNNINGHAM SQUARE.

Coun. BRICKLEY offered an order—That the open space at the junction of Bennington, Ashley and Blackinton streets be named and known as James J. Cunningham square, in honor of said Cunningham who died from disease contracted while serving his country in the World War, and that said space be suitably marked with signs.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

HAROLD S. KEEFE SQUARE.

Coun. BRICKLEY offered an order—That the open space at the junction of Centre and Beech streets and Manthorne road be named and known as Harold S. Keefe square, in honor of said Keefe who gave his life for his country during the World War, and that said space be suitably marked with signs.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

PAYMENT TO MRS. JAMES J. LYONS.

Coun. BRICKLEY offered an order—That Chapter 20 of the Acts of 1921 entitled "A Resolve in favor of the Widow of James J. Lyons" be and the same hereby is accepted. Referred to the Executive Committee.

MICHAEL J. PERKINS SQUARE.

Coun. MORIARTY offered an order—That the space at the junction of East Broadway, West Broadway and Dorchester street now known as Perkins square be named and known as Michael J. Perkins square, and that signs be placed there accordingly.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

P. JOSEPH SWEENEY SQUARE.

Coun. MORIARTY offered an order—That the open space at the junction of Old Colony avenue and Dorchester street be named and known as P. Joseph Sweeney square, in honor of said Sweeney who served during the World War in the 504th Engineers and who has since died, and that said space be suitably marked with signs.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

CLERK OF COMMITTEES' SALARY.

Coun. MORIARTY offered an order—That until otherwise ordered, the salary of the Clerk of Committees be established at thirty-eight hundred dollars annually, to date from April 1, 1921.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

SIDEWALK, WREN STREET.

Coun. LANE, for Coun. COLLINS, presented a petition signed by Gertrude L. Mahady and others for sidewalks on Wren street, Ward 23.

In connection with the petition Coun. COLLINS offered an order—That the Commissioner of Public Works make a sidewalk along both sides of Wren street, from Oriole street to Rutledge street, Ward 23, in front of the estates bordering thereon, said sidewalk to be from 3 to 10 inches above the gutter adjoining, to be from 5 to 12 feet in width, and to be built of artificial stone with granite edgestones, under the provisions of chapter 196 of the Special Acts of 1917.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

USE OF ARMY BASE BY CITY.

Coun. WATSON offered an order—That his Honor the Mayor be respectfully requested to consider the advisability of entering into negotiations with the proper United States authorities on the question of leasing, renting or purchasing or in other manner taking over the United States Army Base at South Boston, and to use the same in the development of the port of Boston, creating, if possible, a better trade condition with American and European ports, and placing Boston where she rightfully belongs, at the top as a United States port.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

SOLDIERS' RELIEF.

Coun. BRICKLEY, for the Committee on Soldiers' Relief, submitted a report recommending the passage of an order for the payment of aid to soldiers and sailors and their families in the City of Boston for the month of April, 1921.

Report accepted; order passed.

RECESS TAKEN.

The Council voted at 2.48 p. m., on motion of Coun. BRICKLEY, to take a recess subject to the call of the President.

The members of the Council reassembled in the chamber and were called to order by the President at 3.37 p. m.

"RACE SUICIDE" CLAUSE IN LEASES.

The following was received:

Rent and Housing Committee,
Boston 9, April 18, 1921.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—The Rent and Housing Committee respectfully submits the following report on your order dated March 28, 1921, which reads as follows:

"Ordered, That the Rent and Housing Commission be requested to at once consult with the Corporation Counsel to ascertain whether or not it is possible legally to prevent landlords from including in leases the so-called 'race-suicide' clause."

Conferences have been held with the Corporation Counsel and the fullest publicity has been given the matter through the newspapers.

Real estate men were asked through the press to give the committee immediately any information within their knowledge or hearsay and the public was asked to bring to the attention of the committee any lease containing such clause.

While it is undoubtedly true that there is and always has been a reluctance on the part of some landlords to admit children to their property, and while there may be cases where leases have been drawn discriminating against children, the committee has had called to its attention but one lease containing a clause discriminating against children. This was submitted by a landlord who stated that he had no intention of enforcing the provisions of the clause.

In another case complaint was made by a tenant at will that his landlord proposed to raise the rent $2 per month.

While there has been presented to the committee little direct evidence of a discriminatory policy in written leases, it is our opinion that the widespread publicity of the past few weeks has been entirely beneficial in expressing public disapproval of discrimination against children. We believe that by reason of this a great deal of hardship has been averted and that both sides of the controversies arising between landlord and tenant have been made to feel the imperative need of adjusting their affairs peaceably and placing them on a basis as far removed as possible from dispute and litigation. The committee has been advised by the Corporation Counsel that it is possible to draw legislation to prevent objectionable contracts relating to children, but he states that such a law would be subject to the danger of evasion and not easily enforceable. We believe, therefore, that cases which may arise in the future can be satisfactorily handled by this committee as other rent cases have been and do not at this time advise the passage of specific legislation dealing with the subject matter of your order.

Respectfully submitted,

MALCOLM E. NICHOLS,
Chairman.

Placed on file.

HARRY B. DOLAN SQUARE.

Coun. WATSON offered an order—That the open space at the junction of Neponset avenue and Pope's Hill street, Dorchester, be named and known as Harry B. Dolan square, in honor of said Dolan who died while in the service of the United States during the World War, and that said space be suitably marked with signs.

Coun. WATSON—That is merely a correction of an order passed last week. The Mayor sent it up for correction.

The rule was suspended and the order was passed.

ROPING OFF OF STREETS.

Coun. MORIARTY offered an order—That the City Messenger rope off the course of the race to be held under the auspices of the Michael J. O'Connell Post, Jamaica Plain, April 19, and also to rope off the course of the Marathon race to be held under the auspices of the Boston Athletic Association, the expense attending the same to be charged to the appropriation for City Council, Incidental Expenses.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

Coun. FORD in the chair.

EXTRA EMPLOYEES, SOLDIERS' RELIEF.

Coun. WATSON, under instructions of the Executive Committee, offered the following, viz.:

Ordered, That the Acting Commissioner of Soldiers' Relief be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to employ temporarily extra visitors and clerks to attend to the applicants for soldiers' relief, and if said employees cannot be obtained from the civil service list to employ, temporarily, veterans for such work.

Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be respectfully requested to appoint a Commissioner of Soldiers' Relief at once.

The order was passed.

Later in the session Coun. DONOGHUE said:

Mr. President, I move that the Council reconsider the order just passed relative to the Soldiers' Relief Department, whereby they asked that additional employees be provided in that department, for the purpose of asking for a division of the question. While I agree with both requests made in that order, I think one of the requests is none of our business. I refer to that one which said that his Honor the Mayor shall be requested to appoint at once a Soldiers' Relief Commissioner. I think that is the business of the Mayor, and it is none of our business to interfere in his appointments or to make any suggestions to him along that line. I would like to vote against that part of the order.

Chairman FORD—Coun. Donoghue's motion is to reconsider the vote whereby we passed the order relative to the Soldiers' Relief Department.

Reconsideration prevailed, and Coun. DONOGHUE moved to strike out that part of the order requesting that the Mayor appoint at once a Soldiers' Relief Commissioner.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, I don't quite know the gentleman's reason for his amendment. He gave some reason for it while I was otherwise engaged, and I would like to have him give it again.

Coun. DONOGHUE—Mr. President, I did not give any reason other than that I feel that it is none of the Council's business to request the Mayor to appoint a Soldiers' Relief Commissioner. I feel that that is the Mayor's duty under the law and that we are rather overstepping our authority when we request the Mayor to do that which the law says it is in his province to do. That is all. It may be just merely a question of ethics.

Coun. WATSON—Well, I want to continue in harmony with my friend opposite, and I accept his amendment. I would like to say that I agree with the Finance Commission for the first time in my life, that it is high time that a Commissioner of Soldiers' Relief was appointed.

Coun. MORIARTY—Mr. President, I will say that the councilor on the other side does not have to go so far as to agree with the Finance Commission in the matter, because I think I called the matter of the Soldiers' Relief Commissioner to the Council prior to the Finance Commission even making that recommendation. I do not agree with my friend the councilor on the right (Coun. Donoghue) that we have not a right to call the attention of the Mayor to the neglect now going on in the Soldiers' Relief Department on account of its not having a permanent head. It is true that the Mayor has power to appoint, but I believe we, as members of the Council, have a right to request. We have no right to demand, but we have a right to request that he fill that position, for the protection of the boys and those who are compelled to go to the Soldiers' Relief Department. I thought that the fighting for the boys was all over when they came back from France, but they still have to continue to fight to get their money upstairs. The other morning there was such a crowd up there that the windows in the door were even broken. There is no uniformity or anything else in the way things are being run, and I think we have a right to request the Mayor to fill that position.

Coun. DONOGHUE—Mr. President, I had no intention of starting any controversy over the matter, but have only expressed my personal opinion. I stated in the beginning that I agreed with both portions of the order. I said that I thought they ought to have more help in the Soldier' Relief Department, and that I also felt that there should be a permanent head of a department appointed as soon as possible. I agree with the order in its entirety, as far as my personal feelings go, but, nevertheless, I feel that for us to act upon that part of the order I have referred to is, as we may call it, a sort of breach of ethics. That is, we are requesting the Mayor to do that which he has a right to do and is supposed to do under the law, a thing which, as the chief executive of the city, it is his duty to do. I feel that he ought to attend to that matter himself, without any request from the City Council.

Coun. Donoghue's amendment was declared rejected. Coun. DONOGHUE doubted the vote and asked for the yeas and nays. The roll was called with the following result:

Yeas—Coun. Donoghue—1.

Nays—Coun. Ford, Lane, Moriarty—3.

Chairman FORD—One having voted in the affirmative and three in the negative, it is not a vote. The question is on the passage of the original order, as drawn.

Coun. DONOGHUE—Mr. President, in view of the fact that but four members of the Council voted on the order, I feel that there has been no vote on the question.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, will the gentleman yield for a moment?

Coun. DONOGHUE—I will yield after I have made my statement. I feel that, in view of the fact that a quorum has not voted on the matter, the action taken ought not to stand.

Chairman FORD—The question comes on the original order as drawn.

Coun. DONOGHUE—Mr. President, I ask the chair if that vote should stand, a quorum not voting?

Chairman FORD—The Chair would rule that, there being five members present, that constitutes a quorum, and the Council can do business. There being sufficient votes in the negative to defeat the amendment, the amendment will stand rejected.

Coun. LANE—Mr. President, I move that reconsideration of this matter go over until next Monday.

Coun. MORIARTY—Hasn't the matter been already decided?

Coun. LANE—The amendment was defeated, I understand, Mr. President, and the main question is now up. I move that the question go over till next Monday.

Coun. MORIARTY—Mr. President, didn't you declare that it had already been passed?

Chairman FORD—No, the Chair did not so declare. The Chair declared the amendment defeated, and the question then before the house was on the original order as drawn. The Chair had no time to put that question before Coun. Donoghue rose and asked a ruling from the Chair. Before the question was put, Coun. Lane moved that the matter be laid on the table or postponed until next Monday, which motion was properly in order, and the question is now on the motion of Coun. Lane.

Coun. Lane's motion to assign the matter to next Monday's meeting was lost.

The order as originally drawn was passed, yeas 5, nays 0:

Yeas—Coun. Donoghue, Ford, Lane, Moriarty, Watson—5.

Nays—0.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, has Coun. Brickley gone?

Chairman FORD—The Chair cannot answer that question.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, I move that we proceed to take a ballot for president of the Council for 1921.

(An effort was made to find if Coun. Brickley was still in the hall.)

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to withdraw my motion.

The motion was withdrawn.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE REPORTS.

Coun. WATSON, for the Executive Committee, submitted the following, viz.:

1. Report on petition of W. P. Edgar (referred today) for permit for children under fifteen years of age to appear at Jordan Hall, April 22—that a permit be granted.

Report accepted; permit granted on the usual conditions.

2. Reports on communications from Board of Street Commissioners (referred today) on applications for storage of gasoline—that the same be placed on file.

Report accepted; communications placed on file.

3. Report on message of Mayor, communication and preambles and order (referred April 11) for alterations in Cambridge Street Bridge—that the preambles and order ought to pass.

Report accepted; preambles and order passed.

4. Report on order (referred today) accepting chapter 20 of the Acts of 1921, entitled "A Resolve in Favor of the Widow of James J. Lyons"—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; order passed.

5. Report on order (referred April 11) to accept chapter 169 of the Acts of 1921 relative to school property—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; order passed.

6. Report on message of Mayor, communication and order (referred today) transferring $6,500 in appropriations for assessing department—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; order passed, yeas 6, nays 0.

7. Report on order (referred today) for leasing, renting or purchasing of the Army Base at South Boston—that the order ought to pass.

The report was accepted, and the question came on the passage of the order.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, I shall be very brief on this matter, as I simply desire to have a record made of what I said in the Executive Committee concerning the order. From information I have received I know that the United States authorities have been negotiating with someone in Boston, either real estate interests or someone representing or claiming to represent the Mayor, concerning the taking over of the Army Base. The question of taking over the Army Base was considered by some one representing the army with a real estate concern in Boston, who desired to take it over for development purposes on a cost-plus basis, but that proposition did not meet with the approval of the United States authorities, and there were then requests made of certain individuals and corporations to make an offer for the taking of a long-time lease of the Army Base at South Boston. You want to bear in mind, gentlemen, that the Army Base represents more than ten million dollars, that the physical valuation is more than ten million dollars. Today it is practically inactive; it is a liability rather than an asset to either the United States Government, the state of Massachusetts or the City of Boston. Under a call for bids there were bids by different individuals and corporations, some of them to take it under a long-time lease on a cost-plus basis, and others bid a certain sum per year for a number of years. The high bidder was one by the name of Wiggin, who I understand is a developer of waterfront property and waterfront storage. I am informed by Coun. Lane that that is so—not that he in any way has communicated with Coun. Lane concerning the matter, but Coun. Lane informs me that there is a Wiggin interested in matters of this kind. The government, I believe, has turned down that bid or offer, as it was not an advantageous one to the United States Government, or for some other reason. Now it seems to me Boston is not going ahead. We hear much from ex-Mayors and leading men in the business world of lack of initiative and progress in our community. I think there is a lot in what they have said. I have heard much about our port being so much nearer Europe than any other port. We have heard much about what a grand harbor we have. I know little about it, but believe much that has been said is true. Now, we can develop Boston as a port by the city in some way or other, by act of the Legislature or otherwise, and that if we can rent, lease or purchase from the United States Government the Army Base it will be of great assistance in this line. The waters there are deep enough for the largest boats to land, discharge and take on, and it seems to me there ought to be enough public-spirited citizens in Boston, men of means, men who desire to develop the city, plus the city's help, to take over that Army Base and develop it as a port station, in a way. The thought occurred to me that it might be well for us to initiate it, and in this order we call upon the Mayor to consider the advisability of so doing, communicating, if he will, what he may or may not do concerning the matter. I trust that the order will pass unanimously.

The report was accepted and the order was passed.

A QUESTION OF PRIVILEGE.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, as a matter of information I would like to have it made a part of the records of the Council that the order passed by this body last week calling upon the Police Commissioner, through his Honor the Mayor, to place a traffic officer at Tremont, Davenport and Hammond streets, in Roxbury, before and after school sessions, for the protection of school children, has been honored by a reply from the Police Commissioner, and it is about the first time since I have been a member of the Board that any official request of ours has been so speedily recognized. Of course, there have been other actions more speedy, but those are personal! The language used by the Police Commissioner is as follows:

Police Department,
Office of the Commissioner, April 18, 1921.
To the City Clerk:
Dear Sir,—The Police Commissioner directs me to acknowledge receipt of a copy of an order passed by the City Council April 11, requesting that a policeman be stationed in Tremont street, near Cabot, Hammond and Davenport streets, "for the protection of school children immediately before and after each school session."

He further directs me to inform you that the order was sent to the superintendent with instructions to take up the matter with the captain commanding Division 10, who reports that this place will be covered by an officer while school children are going to and from school.

Very respectfully,
JAMES H. DEVLIN, JR.,
Secretary.

As the introducer of the order, I desire to thank the commissioner for his broadness and his speed.

President FORD—Note will be taken of the fact that the councilor has just spoken on a question of personal privilege.

ORDINANCES.

Coun. BRICKLEY, for the Committee on Ordinances, submitted the following, viz.:

1. Report on ordinances (referred January 31) relative to bonding of Treasury Department employees—that the ordinances ought to pass.

Report accepted; ordinance passed.

2. Report on ordinance (referred January 31) concerning the removal of refuse—that the ordinance ought to pass.

Report accepted; ordinance passed.

3. Report on message of Mayor and ordinance (referred February 28) increasing salaries of Building Commissioner, Auditor, Collector, Treasurer and Superintendent of Public Buildings—that the ordinance ought to pass.

Report accepted; ordinance passed.

4. Report on order (referred April 11) relative to salary of Budget Commissioner—recommending passage of ordinance in the following new draft, viz.:

An Ordinance Concerning the Salary of the Budget Commissioner.

Section five of chapter three of the Revised Ordinances of 1914, as amended by chapter three of the Ordinances of 1917, is hereby amended in the clause establishing the salary of the Budget Commissioner by striking out the words "five thousand" and inserting in place thereof the words "six thousand."

Report accepted; ordinance passed.

JOHN M. COSTIGAN PARK.

Coun. BRICKLEY offered an order—That the Park Commissioners be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to name the park in Central square, East Boston, John M. Costigan Park, in honor of said Costigan, who lost his life while in the service of the United States during the World War, and that said park be suitably marked with signs.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

EDWARD J. CLARK SQUARE.

Coun. BRICKLEY offered an order—That the plot of land at the junction of Bennington and London streets, East Boston, be named and known as Edward J. Clark square, in honor of said Clark, who died while in the service of the United States during the World War, and that said space be suitably marked with signs.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

JAMES F. MOSHER SQUARE.

Coun. BRICKLEY offered an order—That the plot of land at the junction of Bennington and Havre streets and Brooks streets be named and known as James F. Mosher square, in honor of said Mosher who lost his life while in the service of the United States during the World War, and that said space be suitably marked with signs.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

FREDERICK J. CAREY SQUARE.

Coun. BRICKLEY offered an order—That the space at the junction of Bennington, Paris and Putnam streets, East Boston, be named and known as Frederick J. Carey square, in honor of said Carey who lost his life while in the service of his country during the World War, and that said space be suitably marked with signs.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

TRAFFIC SIGNS.

Coun. DONOGHUE offered an order—That the Board of Street Commissioners be requested to make a study of the matter of traffic signs, with a view to having installed a uniform sign to be conspicuously displayed.

Coun. WATSON—The Chair agrees heartily with that order. I have bumped against some signs that haven't been signs, lately, myself. The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

GENERAL RECONSIDERATION.

Coun. DONOGHUE moved a general reconsideration on all business transacted at the meeting, hoping that the same would not prevail. Lost.

Adjourned at 3.53 p. m., to meet on Monday, April 25, at two o'clock p. m.

Monday, April 25, 1921.

Regular meeting for the City Council, held in the Council Chamber, City Hall, at two o'clock p. m., Coun. HAGAN, senior member, presiding. Absent—Coun. McLaughlin.

VETO—PENSION FOR WILLIAM S. FOSTER.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, April 20, 1921.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I am herewith returning without my signature the order passed by the City Council on April 4 accepting chapter 192 of the Acts of 1921, and also the order passed on April 4 providing for the pension of William S. Foster at an annual pension equal to one half of his present annual salary.

Upon the receipt of these orders I requested the Finance Commission to advise me what course should be followed in connection with them. In the report received from the Finance Commission today it points out that at the present time the commission has a bill before the General Court providing for a comprehensive pension system which would cover just such a case as that of Mr. Foster in case the bill became law. In view of this fact it recommends that I disapprove your orders, and it is for this reason that I am vetoing them.

Respectfully yours,
ANDREW J. PETERS, Mayor.

Placed on file.

VETO—HARRY B. DOLAN SQUARE.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, April 18, 1921.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I am herewith returning without my signature the order of the City Council giving the name of Harry B. Dolan square to the junction of Neponset avenue, South Munroe terrace and North Munroe terrace, Dorchester. I am returning this order at the request of Coun. Watson, who originally introduced it.

Respectfully yours,
ANDREW J. PETERS, Mayor.

Placed on file.

VETO—DENNIS J. CALLAHAN SQUARE.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, April 18, 1921.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I am herewith returning without my signature the order passed by the City Council on April 11 naming the juncture of Hancock street and Dorchester avenue, Dennis J. Callahan square. This square was given the name Edward J. Leary square by the City Council on January 31, 1921.

Respectfully yours,
ANDREW J. PETERS, Mayor.

RELATIONS BETWEEN EDISON COMPANY AND CITY.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, April 25, 1921.
To the Honorable the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I am in receipt of a copy of your order, dated April 11, in which you ask me to inform you what action, if any, I have taken relative to the orders passed by your honorable body on Monday, February 21, 1921, and Monday, March 7, 1921, dealing with various aspects of the relations between the Edison Illuminating Company of Boston and the city.

In reply I beg to inform you that I have the matters referred to under advisement and have been in conference concerning the same with the Corporation Counsel, but I think it better for the public interest that we should delay any public statement on the matter at the present time.

I should be glad at any time to confer confidentially with your honorable body.

Yours very truly,
ANDREW J. PETERS, Mayor.

REVENUE FOR PARKING AUTOMOBILES.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, April 23, 1921.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I am herewith transmitting a communication received from the Street Laying-Out Department in connection with the order passed by the City Council on April 11 relative to the securing of revenue to the city from the parking space on Charles street, between Beacon and Boylston streets.

Respectfully yours,
ANDREW J. PETERS, Mayor.

Placed on file.

Street Laying-Out Department,
Boston 9, April 23, 1921.

Hon. Andrew J. Peters,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—In compliance with your Honor's request this Board has considered the order of the City Council suggesting the preparation of a draft of an ordinance or order "that will permit of the securing of revenue to the city from the parking space on Charles street, between Beacon and Boylston streets."

The matter of charging a fee for the parking of automobiles on Charles street was considered by this Board two years ago. Corporation Counsel Whiteside stated at the time that it could not legally be done. Corporation Council Hill has reaffirmed that opinion and advises that an ordinance of this kind "if passed by the City Council would be in violation of the laws of this Commonwealth."

Respectfully,
JOHN J. O'CALLAGHAN,
Chairman.

Placed on file.

SALE OF PIGS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, April 23, 1921.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I am transmitting herewith a communication for the Institutions Commissioner in which he requests authority to sell to H. C. Kelley 115 pigs, weighing approximately 6,000 pounds, at 14 cents per pound, that being the highest bid received, and I respectfully recommend the passage of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,
ANDREW J. PETERS, Mayor.

Institutions Department,
Boston 9, April 23, 1921.

Hon. Andrew J. Peters,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—During the occupancy of a portion of Deer Island by the immigrants it was possible to feed a great many pigs from garbage collected from the immigrants' quarters. The island is no longer used for the detention of immigrants and it is essential that a large number of pigs be disposed of at once.

I have secured proposals which I transmit herewith for the purchase of forty pigs weighing approximately 75 pounds each and seventy-five pigs weighing approximately 37 pounds each.

I respectfully ask permission to sell pigs to the amount of 6,000 pounds by live weight at the rate of 14 cents per pound to H. C. Kelley, whose bid was 14 cents per pound for all sizes.

Other bids were received as follows:
A. J. Cunningham Company, 1½ cents per pound.

P. J. Gaffney Company, pigs weighing 35 to 40 pounds, 14 cents; pigs weighing 75 pounds, 11 cents.

A. M. Lux Company, pigs weighing 35 to 40 pounds, 15 cents; pigs weighing 75 pounds, 13 cents.

Very truly yours,
THOMAS C. O'BRIEN,
Commissioner.

Ordered, That the Commissioner of Institutions be and hereby is authorized to sell to H. C. Kelley 115 live pigs, weighing approximately 6,000 pounds, at 14 cents per pound. Referred to the Executive Committee.

TRANSFER, SUPERIOR CRIMINAL COURT.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, April 22, 1921.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I am transmitting herewith a communication from the clerk of the Superior Court requesting a transfer within the appropriation of the Superior Court, Criminal Session, and respectfully recommend the passage of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,
ANDREW J. PETERS, Mayor.

Superior Court, Criminal Session,
Boston, April 21, 1921.

Hon. Andrew J. Peters,
Mayor of Boston:

I most respectfully call to your attention that it is necessary for the dispatch of business in this court that the following transfer be made in the annual appropriation of the year 1921-22, by reason of increases in interpreters:

From the appropriation for B-35, Fees, etc., $1,443.69, to the appropriation for A-1, Permanent Employees, $1,443.69.

Respectfully,
JOHN P. MANNING, Clerk.

Ordered, That under authority of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to make the following transfers in the appropriation for Superior Court, Criminal Session:

From the appropriation for B-35, Fees, Service of Venires, etc., $1,443.75, to the appropriation for A-1, Permanent Employees, Official Interpreter, 1 at $2,250 per year ($2,475), $168.75; Official Interpreter, 1 at $2,100 per year ($2,300), $150; Official Interpreter, 1 at $1,500 per year, $1,125.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

MONEY FOR ENGLISH HIGH SCHOOL CELEBRATION.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, April 20, 1921.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—The committee making arrangements for the celebration of the centenary of the English High School has requested an appropriation by the city of $3,000 to aid in defraying the expenses of the celebration.

I am in favor of this amount of money being allotted, but it cannot be taken from the public celebrations fund as this fund is all accounted for for this year. Nor do I believe it would be wise to take so large a sum from the contingent fund of the Mayor's office for one purpose. I am therefore submitting an order appropriating the amount from the Reserve Fund, and I recommend its immediate passage, in order that the committee may proceed with its plans.

In making the request I quote one paragraph from the committee's letter to me in order that the City Council may be familiar with the manner in which the appropriation will be spent, if made:

"In accordance with your request a few days ago at the interview you had with the Celebration Committee for the English High School centenary, we respectfully petition that on behalf of the City of Boston you co-operate in the manner and to the amounts set forth below: 10 bands of music, $2,000; decoration of City Hall, Parkman Bandstand and reviewing stand, $200; building small reviewing stand on Common opposite West street, $200; roping streets along line of parade where necessary, and incidentals, $500. Total, $3,000."

Respectfully yours,
ANDREW J. PETERS, Mayor.

Ordered, That the sum of $3,000 be appropriated to be expended under the direction of the Mayor, on account of the celebration of the centenary of the English High School, said amount to be charged to the Reserve Fund.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

TRANSFERS FROM RESERVE FUND.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, April 25, 1921.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I am transmitting herewith requests for transfers from the Reserve Fund, on account of recent changes in salaries of department heads, and respectfully recommend the passage of the accompanying orders.

Respectfully,
ANDREW J. PETERS, Mayor.

Ordered, That under authority of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer:

Referred to the Executive Committee.

SALARY OF CHAIRMAN OF ASSESSORS.

Coun. MORIARTY offered an order—That chapter 283 of the Acts of 1921, entitled "An Act Increasing the Salary of the Chairman of the Board of Assessors of the City of Boston," be and the same hereby is accepted. Referred to the Executive Committee.

CHARLES L. SMELLEDGE SQUARE

Coun. WATSON, for Coun. FORD, offered an order—That the space at the corner of Vinton, Middle and Dorchester streets in South Boston be named Charles L. Smelledge square, in honor of the memory of said Charles L. Smelledge, who lost his life on July 19, 1918, at Chateau-Thierry in the World War, and that suitable signs be placed thereon to designate the name.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

MEMORIAL TABLETS IN PARKS, ETC.

Coun. WATSON offered an order—That his Honor the Mayor be requested to inform the City Council the approximate cost of erecting bronze tablets in the public squares, parks and playgrounds in different parts of the city, bearing the names of all Boston soldiers, sailors and marines who died in the service during the World War.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, early in 1919 I offered an order similar to this, and at that time nothing came of it, except that his Honor the Mayor appointed a committee to consider the advisability of erecting one grand memorial to those who died in the great World War. We met several times, and the thing dropped out of sight. I am now embarrassed by the numerous legitimate requests made of me by relatives and friends of the boys who died in the service, and who had lived in Boston to do something to honor their memory. I find now that suitable squares and parks are exhausted, and that there are many boys who died in the service who will be forgotten, so far as having parks and squares named after them is concerned. I know the members of the body agree with me that we do not desire to belittle the memory of a single man who died in the service; but we cannot do justice to them all now by naming squares after them. Consequently I believe now, as I believed two years ago,—and Coun. Lane agreed with me at the time—that the proper way to remember the boys would be by the erection of bronze tablets in all the open spaces, public squares and playgrounds in the city, having inscribed on those tablets the names of the boys. My idea would be, for instance, to have in Cedar square, Roxbury, near my home, a bronze tablet erected, containing the names of all the boys within a certain zone or radius from that place who died in the war, whether a soldier, sailor or marine. The same thing could be done on Boston Common. There are a number of brave men who died, who lived in Coun. Lane's vicinity, whose names could be commemorated there. Tablets might also be erected on Commonwealth avenue, in all the parks and open spaces of the city, and the names of the boys who had lived in each vicinity thus commemorated. The bronze tablets will endure and will not be battered or become disgraceful looking. I believe we ought to spend $15,000 or $20,000 on this proposition. The Mayor might not consider it a proper subject for a loan, but it might well be taken care of by appropriation. We can, if the Mayor is agreeable, confer with him, with the result that we can provide a reasonable sum for the purpose, after the matter has been looked into. In that way we can honor the memory of our noble boys who died in the service, boys in whose honor we are at the present time unable to name additional parks and squares. I venture to say that as the years go on there will be found to be many boys who were as great or greater heroes than any, who have been neglected, through no fault of ours, but whose memory can be honored in this way. I ask a suspension of the rule that the order may be put upon its passage.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

MUNICIPAL GAS AND ELECTRIC PLANT.

Coun. WATSON offered an order—That the Executive Committee be directed to consider and report as to the advisability and feasibility of establishing a municipal gas or electric lighting plant under the provisions of chapter 164 of the General Laws.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, I introduce the order for a committee to investigate and report as to the advisability of the city entering into the manufacture and sale of gas and electricity to the inhabitants of Boston, because I realize the absolute futility of any help through any other channel. I have said on many occasions on the floor of this body that the lighting interests of Massachusetts, and particularly of the City of Boston, are committing daily legalized robbery upon the consumers of these commodities. With brazen effrontery the Edison Company, because there is no controlling power over them, to compel them to strike from the consumers bills the additional charge under the fuel clause, are not only continuing this method of extortion, but are increasing the charge under the fuel clause so it runs anywhere from 15 per cent to 50 per cent, notwithstanding the fact that the price of coal in large quantities, as the Edison Company purchases, has dropped more than 100 per cent in eight months. I have been contending since I first entered public life in 1898 against these and other vicious special privilege interests and individuals, and it is with much satisfaction I see blazing before me a realization of the loosening of the cruel clutches of these brutal aggregations of wealth from the throats of the individuals and municipalities and public servants. The Legislature on Beacon Hill has truly unearthed a rotten condition which I have known of in a general way as having existed for more than a generation. Nothing will come of the Elevated inquiry other than the public definitely knowing the unfaithfulness of some of their public servants. No reduction in fares, no better service will come of it. A few blasted reputations and future relegation to private life of unfaithful and, perhaps, corrupt public servants. I wonder why it is, if the purists on Beacon Hill are sincere, that they do not do something besides locking the stable door after the horse is gone. Give greater power to the Public Utilities Commission over the Edison Company, as I understand that they are powerless in controlling this and other lighting companies in the Commonwealth. It is my opinion that the total amount representing the pilfering of those serving sentences in our correctional institutions in Massachusetts does not equal the sum total of legalized graft and extortion paid to the lighting interests for the past twelve months in Massachusetts. Mr. President, have you read in the newspapers within 72 hours the statement by that great publicist, William J. Bryan, saying that the total sum representing the stealings of those in our penitentiaries in the United States does not equal the amount robbed from the people by the profiteering coal barons in twelve months? You may not want to take my word for some of these things. There is a public man who is looked up to who says frankly and plainly that the coal barons of the United States have taken by profiteering—which is really genuine robbery—more money from the consuming public of the United States than all the pilferings of the men serving time within the boundaries of the United States today. What an amazing statement! And it cannot be denied. We believe it is so. We cannot say that it is so, but I certainly believe it is so, as much as I believe that there is a great creator overhead. I have never seen Him, but my faith leads me to believe that He is there, and I believe, just as much as a man can believe, that the lighting corporations of Massachusetts have stolen more money through extortion and high prices for their commodities from the consuming people of Massachusetts than has been stolen by the convicts in our correctional and penal institutions in the past twelve months. I know that that is a mighty strong statement, and I know that perhaps members here may think that during the past nine weeks I have been, in the vernacular of the street, blowing my bag, blowing off my excess steam. It may be that the public think so, and it may be that you, my colleagues, believe it. Perhaps it may be so, but I intend to continue my course on the floor of this Council from now to the close of my term, doing my part with your assistance to bring to their knees the corrupt and vile influences represented by the privileged class and the money interests of this Commonwealth, even though I am hounded in certain quarters as I have been hounded in the past few weeks. They sprinkle their poison very cleverly, and they go far afield when they desire to incriminate and embarrass with the Police Department of the city a man whose methods they do not like. I believe, in a general way, that some one greater than the ordinary man is responsible for the activity, for instance, of Superintendent Crowley of the Police Department, who compelled an officer to arrest me after the officer decided that I was not guilty of any offence. There is greater power than that of the ordinary man responsible for action of that sort. There is some power responsible for the position taken by policemen of the city in embarrassing, handicapping and insulting me and beating my friends; certainly some greater power than that of the ordinary man. I do not accuse the Police Commissioner of being responsible, or Mr. Crowley, the superintendent of Police, or some of the captains; but I say that somebody of great influence is responsible for what has been done for me and what may be continued as far as I am concerned. But as long as God gives me breath, as long as he gives me my voice, as long as I remain a member of this body, I shall continue in my perhaps helpless and floundering way to bring about relief from extortion and legalized highway robbery on the part of the privileged classes of this city and state as against the consuming classes. And I am going to have your co-operation, my colleagues. It has been suggested to me that the members of this body are not in co-operation with me; it has been suggested that you, Mr. Chairman, are receiving special rates from the Edison Company. I do not believe it. You tell me that I can see your bills, and I accept your proffer. I believe it is a part of their game to belittle those who dare attack them and who attempt to prevent their profiteering and extortion. We are having a spectacle on Beacon Hill of a vile smelling scandal, reminding one of the contents of a garbage can after it has lain around for a long time. But we who have been in politics for a number of years—as I have for twenty-seven years—know all about these things. I saw this sort of thing on Beacon Hill in 1901. I saw them buy members of the Legislature, as Lawson said, like herrings at the wharf. I remember distinctly when these very interests were using their influence to turn over to the New York Central Railroad the only Massachusetts owned railroad that we had, the Boston & Albany. I voted against it. I remember when the Fitchburg lease to the Boston & Maine was consummated, and I remember that they bought them in the same way. I tried to tell the public about it, but everybody discounted what I said. They said, "He is crazy; don't notice him," and some people believed that sort of thing and didn't notice me. But I have kept hammering and hammering, until today the privileged class not only respect me but fear me. That is not said in any spirit of vanity. I know it. If I told this body about the pulling and hauling that they have done, the inducements that have been suggested, the opportunities that I have had to lie off in clover for a few years, it would astound you. But, thank God, I am going to wind up my career in this body in eighteen months and, thank God, I am going out as clean as I was in 1898. I am going to retire with my self-respect, with the admiration, respect and confidence of those who know me, and without any necessity of apologizing for my action to the great public. I started this contest against the lighting interests in 1898, when I joined with Councilman Sonnabend of Ward 8, who introduced an order for a joint committee of the Board of Aldermen and Common Council to investigate the question of lower rates and possible municipal ownership of gas and electric lighting plants. That order went through the Council at that time, went to the Board of Aldermen downstairs, and was there referred to the graveyard, the Committee on Public Improvements, and later on, at the end of the year, it came out with a report, "No further action necessary." In 1899 I introduced an order on the thirteenth day of April that a joint special committee, consisting of eight members of the Common Council with such as the Board of Aldermen might join, be appointed to consider the advisability of the city manufacturing and selling gas and electricity, going into municipal ownership of lighting plants either by acquiring or building the same. That was sent up to the Board of Aldermen and there it was again slaughtered. I went to the Legislature and made my fight there. I offered an order empowering not only the City of Boston but other cities to build and maintain plants and manufacture their own gas and electricity, selling it to the inhabitants, and, as usual, they got busy, the same interests, through Burdett, the cunning Burdett, who has just fallen prostrate on Beacon Hill because the Legislature did not dare pass his bills, because the publicity that you and I, fellow members, gave to the papers and the public concerning the corruption back of them had its effect. I want to pay tribute here and now to one member of the Legislature in particular, a man whom I have never met, a man who is an aristocrat, they tell me, a man of great wealth and a man of great learning. He is a friend of Coun. Lane's—Representative Shattuck of Ward 8. Representative Shattuck has stood like a stone wall against their attempts to coerce and influence him; and I want to say that if all the aristocratic, so-called better element, in the high places where the rich dwell, were like Representative Shattuck, or if there were a few more like him, there would be fewer men on the pay roll of the state and on the pay roll of the corporations at the same time, and we in the ordinary walks of life, the so-called lower stratum of life, would be able to look up to them with with admiration rather than distrust. In 1906 Alderman Linehan introduced an order calling for the city's embarking upon the manufacture and sale of electricity and gas to the inhabitants, and that went through for one year, by a vote of 9 to 3. I beg your pardon, I am wrong. I withdraw that. The matter was referred to a committee, and later on I believe it was passed by that Board. The law calls for the passage by two City Councils or Boards of Aldermen of such an order, and it is then referred to the people for their approval or disapproval, on referendum. It was not passed a second year, and it has lain dormant since. I made a rather ridiculous campaign for a high office once. I had the audacity to be the lamb to be slaughtered for an ideal. I ran for a high public office on the platform of municipal ownership, and I received fewer votes in the entire city than I have received in some precincts since. But I did not care. I was fighting for a principle. I have been fighting in favor of public ownership in my humble way ever since, and making some progress. I know I am horing the members, but I cannot quit for a moment or two, because I want to say some things that are essential and necessary in connection with this order. The order will be passed, undoubtedly. There will not be a vote in this body against it. After that committee meets I am going to produce an order asking the Mayor to permit us a reasonable sum to prosecute our inquiry, in order that we may report intelligently, and if I have my way, from the knowledge I have of gas and electricity, the manufacture and the principle of public ownership, we will report back an order in favor of taking the first step for municipal ownership of gas and electric light plants in the City of Boston and before the act is consummated, passed another year and accepted by the voters, you will have legislation on Beacon Hill that will permit the City of Boston and other cities and towns to buy the existing plants at a reasonable figure rather than at a figure out of all proportion to their real value. I might say this, that I think you will all be rather surprised. There will be an order come to this body, showing that we have made progress, for the appropriating of $50,000 to prosecute an attempt on the part of the Mayor of Boston to reduce the price of electricity, $50,000! It ought to be here today, and I don't know why it isn't, but it is coming here; and you can say to yourselves, fellow members, that we nine men at least have started something that is going to have a definite result so far as the consumers of electricity are concerned in the City of Boston. $50,000! That is the result of my order for $5,000. I knew if I introduced an order for $5,000 it would not cover the thing, but I had hoped that public spirited men would aid us, and they would have done so. I have been informed by somebody on the floor today, a member, that the Chamber of Commerce is interested in reducing the price of electricity. In God's name, who woke them up? Who played a band under their window and knocked at their door, and got them started? I did not know that there was such a thing in Boston as a real Chamber of Commerce. They are only interested in putting around the necks of the people a phony lease of the Army Base, which I can tell you a little about. A little clique runs the Chamber. Our chairman once had faith in him, but even he got disgusted. He could not stand their lack of activity in matters affecting the progress of the City of Boston. If I am wrong, I will withdraw that statement.

President HAGAN—You are wrong.

Coun. WATSON—I suppose I do make mistakes, but some of the things I say are true, and I guess I am being pitied by you, Mr. Chairman, as I have been before. I was pitied by you once before, when you promised to vote for me for president on the first ballot.

President HAGAN—You will kindly confine yourself to the question before the body.

Coun. WATSON—I am perfectly willing to have the remark stricken from the record, if there is no objection on the part of other members. I would rather have it stand there, but what is the use? Well, if you are not dissatisfied with the conduct of the Chamber of Commerce, you ought to be. Any business man who does not see some action there, aside from their mild activities, ought to get out of the organization. I don't know your thought, but it is my judgment that right down in your heart, Mr. Chairman, you are disgusted with the conduct of the Chamber of Commerce as it is carried on today. And do not feel that it is a live force in the affairs of the City of Boston, notwithstanding your protestations. Well, Mr. Chairman, we never have got along, and I suppose we never will. Let me say that I have in my hand a clipping from my favorite newspaper, the Boston Herald, in which there is an article that shows that the Holyoke Electric Light Company, under municipal ownership, municipal control, is a positive success. In the Herald! How did it ever happen? It was a mistake, of course. I bet that the man who wrote that story will lose his job when my good friend Robert Lincoln O'Brien sees this article. Well, I think I have said sufficient. I don't intend to give away my entire case. I have enough "dope," to use the slang of the day, on the lighting situation from expert electrical engineers par excellence, to wake up the gentlemen who preside over the destinies of those highway-robbing companies, the Edison and the Consolidated Gas Companies. One reference, and I am through. I was assured of the assistance of the Boston Artificial Ice Company in this contest, in the beginning. They have an artificial ice plant in Roxbury. The chief engineer was coming here from Philadelphia. The Boston Artificial Ice Company is a subsidiary company of the American Ice Company, and they were paying 100 per cent more for fuel charges and were going to give me all that data. I have part of it that they gave me. They have got the originals back, but I have got the copies. They were going to supply me with information that I got elsewhere, but I have not seen them for six weeks; and I make this claim, that the Boston Artificial Ice Company's plant has got a reduction, a tremendous reduction in the price they pay for electricity to the Edison Illuminating Company, since I started this investigation. They have quit. I might go on indefinitely, Mr. President, but I will not do so. I will close by referring to a few places. The municipal plant in Holyoke is a positive success. The Old Colony Real Estate Trust is selling electricity for five cents per kilowatt hour to the courthouse, and has been doing so for five or six years, without any coal charges. In Danvers they are selling electricity to the inhabitants for less than five cents per kilowatt hour; in Elmira, N. Y., they are selling it for less than seven cents per kilowatt hour; in Cleveland, Ohio, for less than five cents per kilowatt hour. But, my friends, the Edison Company not only continues charging under the fuel clause, but raising the percentage of increase; and bear in mind that coal has dropped 100 per cent in cost since November, 1920, and that they have increased their rates nearly 100 per cent. Oh, Lord, how much longer have we got to wait? How much longer? How about those purists on Beacon Hill. How about the great leader of Ward 5? How about it? His opportunity is here, now. Let him initiate some legislation giving the Public Utilities Commission some power over the Edison and Consolidated Gas Companies. Sir, you are not doing anything so far as anything in which the public is interested is concerned. Car fares will not be reduced and the service will not be improved by anything you may do, Mr. Leader of Ward 5, you who say that we are not fit to handle affairs pertaining to the city; you who took from us the little power we did have, and who have tried to take the balance; you, sir, who are no purer in your public or private life than any member of this body. I say to the gentleman from Ward 5, let him be consistent. If he believes in home rule, let him offer some legislation that will give to this body, the body closest to the people of Boston, some power and authority, instead of allowing us to be nothing more nor less than a rubber stamp. Another member of the Legislature, a gentleman from the South Boston district, has come in with an order that, in the event of our not electing a president of this body for four meetings, the Mayor will appoint a member as presiding officer. I say to that member that we can attend to our own business here. I cannot be president of this body; I cannot get the votes. Some other member may get them. But I will vote for myself until a man is elected. As far as handling that gavel is concerned, Mr. President, I don't care a whit for that. I don't expect it and don't want it; but, so far as that representative from South Boston is concerned, I say to him that if we had the power and could go up on Beacon Hill, we can all see where we could improve conditions there vastly, where we could take action that would be greatly for the moral and financial benefit of the people of Boston and the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. And I say, sir, to that representative from South Boston, that if we cannot elect a chairman we at least have a chairman now presiding, and that we are functioning. The City of Boston is not handicapped. We have passed all the measures that needed to be acted upon. We have passed loan bills and appropriation bills sooner than they have been passed in any other year since I have been a member. The public affairs of this city are not being handicapped because we have not elected a president. We are standing on our own feet. I, myself, and two of my fellow members, believe that I should be president. The two who have been voting for me may change their minds and turn to another, but they have been standing by me so far.

There are two other members of this body who have been candidates for president, and each of them has received two votes besides his own—

Pres. HAGAN—The gentleman will kindly confine himself to the question before the house.

Coun. WATSON—Oh, Mr. President, kindly permit me to close. Some day I may be swinging the gavel and keeping you within bounds. I am wandering, I know, but I will close in a moment. As I have said, Mr. President, and this is in conclusion, Coun. Lane has two followers voting for him, as they rightfully should if they so desire, and Coun. Brickley has two that have been voting for him. If we cannot elect a president, that is no business of the gentleman on Beacon Hill. As I say, we are functioning. Now, Mr. President, I feel better, you feel better, we all feel better, and we are good friends. You and I have disagreed at times and have said some bitter things to each other, some harsh things. I never have said harsher things to you than you have said to me. But I do not have any feeling of malice towards you, and I would be one of the first men to befriend you if you needed a friend, as I am sure you would do to me. There is no bile, no feeling. I am satisfied that among my eight colleagues here I have eight friends. We may differ, but fundamentally we stand together on the things where the public good is at stake. On those matters we are a unit. I hope, Mr. President, that the order at this time will be referred to the Executive Committee and that it will be passed later in the session.

The order was referred to the Executive Committee.

RECESS TAKEN.

The Council voted at 3.37 o'clock p. m., on motion of Coun. FORD, to take a recess subject to the call of the President.

The members of the Council reassembled in the chamber and were called to order by the President at 5.18 p. m.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE REPORTS.

Coun. WATSON, for the Executive Committee, submitted the following, viz.:

1. Reports on petitions (referred today) for permits for children under fifteen years of age to appear at various places of amusement—that permits be granted, viz.:

M. Theresa Connell, Jordan Hall, May 9.

Mabel Lyman, Horticultural Hall, May 2.

Michael J. Raleigh, Dudley Street Opera House, April 28.

Ramona Hawkins, Liott Hall, April 30.

Reports severally accepted; permits granted on the usual conditions.

2. Report on message of Mayor and orders (referred today) for various transfers from Reserve Fund on account of recent changes in salaries of department heads—that the orders ought to pass.

Report accepted; orders passed, yeas 7, nays 0.

3. Report on message of Mayor, communication and order (referred today) that the Commissioner of Insitutions be authorized to sell to H. C. Kelley 115 live pigs—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; order passed.

4. Report on message of Mayor and order (referred today) that $3,000 be expended under the direction of the Mayor for celebration of the centenary of the English High School—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; order passed, yeas 7, nays 0.

5. Report on order (referred today) accepting chapter 283, Acts of 1921, increasing the salary of the chairman of the Board of Assessors—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; order passed.

6. Report on message of Mayor, communication and order (referred today) for transfer within appropriation of Superior Court, Criminal Session—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; order passed, yeas 7, nays 0.

7. Report on order (referred today) accepting chapter 284 of the Acts of 1921, entitled "An Act Establishing the Office and Salary of a Chief Court Officer in the Municipal Court of the City of Boston for Criminal Business"—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; order passed.

8. Report on order (referred today) that the space at the junction of Monmouth and White streets, East Boston, be named and known as Miss Agnes Queenan square—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; order passed.

9. Report on order (referred today) that the space at the junction of Putnam, Trenton and White streets, East Boston, be named James Joseph Flynn square—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; order passed.

10. Report on message of Mayor, communication and order (referred April 18) transferring $12,500 to Smith's Pond Playground—that the order he referred to the Committee on Appropriations.

Report accepted; said reference ordered.

11. Report on order (referred today) that the Executive Committee be directed to consider and report as to the advisability and feasibility of establishing a municipal gas or electric lighting plant—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; order passed.

CONFIRMATION OF APPOINTMENTS.

Coun. HAGAN called up unfinished business, Nos. 1 and 2, viz.:

1. Action on appointments submitted by the Mayor April 18, 1921, of Constables for the term of one year beginning May 1, 1921, as contained in City Document No. 49.

2. Action on appointments submitted by the Mayor April 18, 1921, of minor offices paid by fees, for the term of one year beginning May 1, 1921, as contained in City Document No. 50.

The question came on confirmation. Committee—Coun. Brickley and Moriarty. Whole number of ballots cast 6, yeas, 6, and the several appointments were confirmed.

SIDEWALK, SUMMIT AVENUE.

Coun. WATSON offered an order—That the Commissioner of Public Works make a sidewalk along both sides of Summit avenue, from Allston street to Corey road, Ward 25, in front of the estates bordering thereon, said sidewalk to be from 3 to 10 inches above the gutter adjoining, to be from 5 to 12 feet in width, and to be built of artificial stone with granite edgestones, under the provisions of chapter 196 of the Special Acts of 1917.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

GENERAL RECONSIDERATION.

Coun. MORIARTY moved a general reconsideration on all business transacted at the meeting, hoping that the same would not prevail. Lost.

Adjourned at 5.23 p. m., on motion of Coun. WATSON, to meet on Monday, May 2, at two o'clock p. m.

MASSACHUSETTS CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATIONS.

JANITORS, MAY 27, 1921.

This examination will be held for the service of the state and all cities and such towns in the state as are classified under civil service. The subjects of examination with their respective weights will be as follows: Experience (5); special questions on the duties of the position (5); total (10). Applicants are required to obtain a mark of at least 50 per cent in practical questions. Successful applicants will also be given a physical examination.

PUBLIC DEBT OF BOSTON IN 1920.

Gross funded debt, February 1, 1920, \$124,410,101 (including \$380,000 issued by State for enlargement of Court House); sinking funds, \$41,934,033.41; other redemption means, \$1,567,670.12; net debt \$80,908,397.47 (i. e., \$1,558,505.28 less than in 1919 and \$3,661,779.57 less than in 1918), of which total \$48,329,646.98 or 59.73 per cent was City debt; \$30,757,415.36 or 38.01 per cent Rapid Transit debt (representing $\frac{4}{5}$ per cent investment); \$1,485,335.13 or 1.84 per cent County debt and \$336,000 or 0.42 per cent Water debt. Net debt per capita \$102.41; net debt exclusive of Rapid Transit debt, \$50,150,982.11, or \$63.48 per capita, which is \$11 less per capita than in 1915. Loans authorized but not issued (within debt limit) \$1,467,500.

In the fiscal year 1919-20, the net City debt was reduced by $1,448,392.23; the net Rapid Transit debt by $104,698.59 and the net Water debt by $16,000. The net County debt was increased by $10,585.54. Total debt contracted, $3,210,500; total debt paid, $5,924,616.69; total decrease of gross debt, $2,714,116.69; of net debt, $1,558,505.28.

Total debt incurred in the ten years 1909-1919, $51,460,433, of which $19,320,000,000 or 37.5 per cent was Rapid Transit debt.

Total amount of debt incurred by the city in the 97 years since its incorporation (in 1822), $259,324,437, of which 58 per cent belongs to the last 25 years, 20.1 per cent to the last 10 years.

CITY OF BOSTON.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

PROPOSALS FOR CLEANING SEWER.

The Commissioner of Public Works of the City of Boston, office 508 City Hall Annex, invites proposals for cleaning sewer in Public Alley No. 704, between Shawmut avenue and Tremont street, city proper, and giving bond therefor of a surety company approved by the Commissioner in the sum of seven hundred (700) dollars, to secure the due performance of the contract and the full protection of the city. Forms of proposals may be obtained at Room 508, City Hall Annex. Each proposal, accompanied by a statement clearly setting forth the equipment of which the bidder is possessed for the proper and speedy carrying out of such contract (such equipment to be considered as an essential consideration in the awarding of the contract), should be inclosed in an envelope, sealed, marked "Proposal for Cleaning Sewer," and left at Room 508, fifth floor, City Hall Annex, before 12 m. on Friday, May 6, 1921, with a certified check for three hundred (300) dollars, payable to and to become the property of the city if the proposal after acceptance is not carried out. The proposals will then and there be publicly opened and read. Proposals must be made in duplicate, the sealed duplicate, without check, to be deposited by the bidder with the City Auditor previous to the time named for opening the bids. If the price bid on any item appears to the Commissioner to be abnormally high or low it may lead to the rejection of the proposal containing said price. The undersigned reserves the right to reject any or all proposals or to accept any proposal should he deem it to be for the best interest of the city so to do.

MUNICIPAL SERVICE.

Complaints, inquiries or suggestions regarding the work of municipal departments should be made in writing to the officials directly in charge. The failure of such officials to make reply within a reasonable length of time should be brought to the attention of the Mayor.
Communications should be directed as follows:

TO THE BOARD OF STREET COM-
MISSIONERS, Room 401, City Hall Annex, for information relative to the laying out, relocation, widening and the discontinuance of highways; the taking of real property for municipal purposes; the assessments of betterments for streets and sewers; the plotting of undeveloped areas for streets and the opening of private ways; the granting of licenses for the storage or sale of merchandise
in public streets; the regulation of street traffic; the making of specific repairs
in public streets, the naming of public streets, the planting and removal of trees in public ways, the issuing of licenses for the storage of gasoline, oil and other inflammable substances or explosive compounds, the use of the public ways for any permanent or temporary obstruction or projection in, under or over the same, including the location of conduits, poles and posts for telephone, telegraph, street railway or illuminating purposes, signs, marquees, bay windows, coal holes and vaults.

TO THE COMMISSIONER OF PUBLIC WORKS, Room 511, City Hall Annex, for information as to the watering, cleaning, lighting and repairing of streets, the construction and care of sewers and catchbasins, the operation of the ferries, the maintenance of bridges and drawbridges
and the removal of ashes and offal.

To Room 604, City Hall Annex, for information relative to the supplying or metering of water and the water charges of the city.

TO THE HEALTH DEPARTMENT, Room
1107, City Hall Annex, for information relative to the inspection of milk, vinegar, meat, fish and vegetables, the issuance of permits for stables, slaughter houses, etc., smoke nuisances, the existence of contagious diseases or public health nuisances.

TO THE BOARD OF PARK COM-
MISSIONERS, 33 Beacon street, for information as to the care of the Common,
Public Garden, Franklin Park, Franklin
Field, Commonwealth avenue, Back Bay
Fens, Marine Park and the small parks and playgrounds in general throughout the city, and as to the extermination of gypsy moths and the charges made for such service. Application may be made to this department for information regarding the public baths and gymnasiums maintained by the city, and with regard to municipal indoor concerts and band concerts; also information relative to Mount Hope, Evergreen, Fairview and other public cemeteries owned by the City of Boston.

TO THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE, 26 Mason street, for information relative to the operation of the schools of the city.

TO THE SCHOOLHOUSE COMMISSIONERS,
Room 1007, City Hall Annex, for information as to the construction and repair of school buildings.

TO THE BOARD OF EXAMINERS, Room
1001, City Hall Annex, for information regarding the licensing of persons having charge or control of the work of construction, alteration, removal or tearing down of buildings.

TO THE WIRE DIVISION OF THE FIRE
DEPARTMENT, Room 905, City Hall
Annex, for all information relative to the erection of poles, the building of conduits, the installation of wires and electrical apparatus. Also to the same office for permits for the installing of wires and electrical apparatus within buildings in the City of Boston, and for the payment of fees incident to the granting of the privileges above named,
and which must invariably be paid in advance.

SUPPLY DEPARTMENT.Feralun Treads.

On April 29 to American Abrasive Metals Company as per following communication:

Boston, April 22, 1921.

HON. ANDREW J. PETERS,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—Attached please find list of bids on proposals for furnishing approximately 312 sets of Style "A" Feralun treads to the Transit Department, which were publicly opened and read at this office under date of March 8, 1921.

At this opening the American Abrasive Metals Company was the only bidder and submitted a price for the entire lot of $1,166. This department has been negotiating with the above-named concern since the opening of the bids as we were of the opinion that the price quoted was higher than it should be and we have finally arrived at a price of $1.35 per square foot net, f. o. b., Boston, as the proper price on this material. This adjusted price will show a saving of approximately $80 for the total quantity desired, and in view of the above explanation, I respectfully request that permission be granted me to award a contract to the American Abrasive Metals Company at a price of $1.35 per square foot, net, f. o. b. Boston.

Yours respectfully,

G. J. CRONIN,
Superintendent of Supplies.

Bids opened March 8, 1921, were as follows:

American Abrasive Metals Company, $1,166 per lot; date of delivery April 20, 1921.

On April 30 to Builders' Iron Foundry for furnishing and delivering Venturi tube meters for the High Pressure Fire Service, Water Division, Public Works Department. Bids opened April 21:

Builders' Iron Foundry, four (lot), $3,300; Simplex Valve and Meter Company, four (lot), $3,990.

Bathing Suits.

On April 30 to bidders indicated in following communication and bids for supplying bathing suits to Park Department:

Boston 9, April 26, 1921.

HON. ANDREW J. PETERS,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR SIR,—Attached hereto is a list of bids received on proposals for furnishing bathing suits to the Park Department, which were publicly opened and read at this office under date of April 21, 1921. Included in the tabulation is a list of prices submitted by the Department of Correction, State House. The latter named prices were furnished the Park Department prior to the formal opening of bids.

All bids were accompanied by samples which have been inspected by the Deputy Commissioner of the Park Department, and he recommends that the bid of the Kingston Knitting Company for the item of 250 dozen men's trunks at $3.75 per dozen be accepted; that the Department of Correction be given an order for 25,000 fig leaves at 65 cents per dozen, 105 dozen men's suits at $10.50 per dozen, 84 dozen women's suits at $12.50 per dozen, and 150 dozen girls' suits at $10.50 per dozen. The samples submitted by the Horace Partridge Company, Kingston Knitting Company (with the exception of that for men's trunks), and the Milbury Atlantic Manufacturing Company are not acceptable to the Park Department.

This office concurs with the recommendation of the Park Department, and respectfully requests authority to place an order with the Kingston Knitting Company and the Department of Correction. Inasmuch as this delivery will be made by a department of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, authority is requested to waive the requirements relating to a formal contract.

Respectfully yours,

G. J. CRONIN,
Superintendent of Supplies.

Bids opened April 21, 1921, were as follows:

25,000 Fig Leaves.—Horace Partridge Company, $1.30 per dozen; Milbury Atlantic Manufacturing Company, No. 1, 5.9 cents each; Prison Commission, 65 cents per dozen.

ARTIFICIAL STONE SIDEWALKS.

Boston, April 25, 1921.

To the Mayor of Boston:

Permission to award a contract for the construction of artificial stone sidewalks in the public streets without advertising, to Adams Pond Company, 560

Columbia road, F. S. Cassilli, 154 Belgrade avenue, W. A. Murtfeldt, 77 Sumner street, is hereby requested on the ground that these contractors are not selected by the city in the first instance, but by the abutters, and secondly, the expense of construction being divided by the city and abutters, also because such contracts vary greatly in amounts and seldom involve one thousand (1,000) dollars.

Respectfully yours,

T. F. SULLIVAN,
Commissioner of Public Works.

April 29, 1921.

The authority requested is hereby given.

ANDREW J. PETERS, Mayor.

WITHOUT ADVERTISING.

The Mayor has approved the following contracts awarded without advertising; requests of heads of departments to do work with the department forces without advertising; additions to and deductions from contracts.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

On April 29 to the Pitometer Company for a waste water survey, as per following communication:

Boston, April 28, 1921.

To the Mayor of Boston:

Authority is respectfully requested to award a contract to the Pitometer Company of New York City without inviting proposals therefor by public advertisement, for a waste water survey of the high service system of the city proper, Roxbury and the greater part of Dorchester, and also of the low service system of a small portion of the city proper, at a cost of $20,000.

The Pitometer Company is the only company qualified to undertake this work, and the results obtained from their recent surveys in Charlestown, Brighton and portions of the city proper warrant this expenditure immediately. Provision has been made in the budget for doing this work.

Yours respectfully,

T. F. SULLIVAN,
Commissioner of Public Works.

SUPPLY DEPARTMENT.

Touring Car.

On April 29 to Boston Buick Company as per following communication:

Boston 9, April 26, 1921.

HON. ANDREW J. PETERS,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—I respectfully request permission to purchase, without advertising, and enter into contract with the Boston Buick Company for one five-passenger Buick touring car with a winter top at a price of $2,310. I also request permission to sell to the Boston Buick Company, one 1917 Buick runabout for $300. This car is to be taken in exchange, making the net amount of the contract $2,010.

This car is for the use of the Health Department. I attach hereto a letter received from the Health Commissioner requesting this purchase.

Respectfully yours,

G. J. CRONIN,
Superintendent of Supplies.

Touring Car.

On April 29 to J. H. MacAlman as per following communication:

Boston 9, April 26, 1921.

HON. ANDREW J. PETERS,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—I respectfully request permission to purchase and enter into contract with J. H. MacAlman for one Stearns-Knight L-4 five-passenger touring car, cord tires and standard catalogue equipment, with a winter top, at a price of $3,260.

Authority is also requested to sell to J. H. MacAlman one Stearns-Knight L-4 five-passenger touring car, 1916 model, for which $800 is allowed, making the net amount of the contract $2,460.

This car is for the use of the Health Commissioner, and I attach hereto a letter received from the Health Department requesting this purchase.

Respectfully yours,

G. J. CRONIN,
Superintendent of Supplies.

White Truck.

On May 2 to the White Company as per following communication:

Boston 9, April 27, 1921.

HON. ANDREW J. PETERS,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—Authority is requested to enter into contract with the White Company and purchase without advertising one two-ton White truck, standard equipment and standard express body at a total cost of $3,380.55. This truck is for the Boston City Hospital, and his request is based upon a letter received from the president of the Board of Trustees in which he states that the Hospital Department is standardizing on White trucks, having already six of these trucks in the Hospital Department.

Respectfully yours,

G. J. CRONIN,
Superintendent of Supplies.

ADDITIONS TO AND DEDUCTIONS FROM CONTRACTS.

The following additions to and deductions from contracts have been approved:

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT (Bridge Service).

An addition, amounting to $360, on contract with Michael Meehan for rebuilding Brookline Avenue Bridge, over the Boston & Albany Railroad, on account of placing 9 cubic yards of extra concrete sidewalks at agreed price of $40 per cubic yard. Original contract, $46,364; total additions, $4,020.55; contract as standing, $50,384.55.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT (Paving Service).

An addition, amounting to $225, on contract with John Kelly Company for relaying granite block pavement in Dorchester avenue, from Dorchester Avenue Bridge to West Second street, South Boston, on account of loading and hauling second-hand granite blocks from the Chestnut Hill avenue paving yard instead of from the Massachusetts avenue lot. Original contract, $18,210.60; total additions, $825; contract as standing, $19,035.60.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT (Water Service).

An addition, amounting to $133.72, on contract with the C. & R. Construction Company for laying high pressure fire pipes in North, Commercial, Portland, Medford, Friend streets, Exeter place, Essex, Chauncy, Milk and Brookline streets, city proper, on account of furnishing labor for cutting, removing and replacing 10-inch water pipes in Essex street, at South Lincoln street, etc. Original contract $111,859; total additions, $2,570.12; contract as standing, $114,429.12.

PERMISSION TO DO WORK WITH DEPARTMENT FORCE.

The Mayor has granted to the Commissioner of Public Works authority to do the following work with the department force without advertising for competitive bids:

To reset edgestone, relay gutters and resurface with tar macadam Columbia road, from Buttonwood street to the bridge over Mt. Vernon street, the estimated cost for labor and material being $1,500.

To resurface with asphalt macadam and regulate Windermere road, Dorchester, from Stoughton street to Cushing avenue, the estimated cost for labor and material being $2,800.

To lay granite blocks with grout joints and regulate Park street, Dorchester, from Adams street to the Old Colony Railroad Bridge, the estimated cost for labor and material being $8,000.

STREET COMMISSIONERS.

April 25, 1921.

Ordered, That this Board deeming it necessary does hereby order that the sewerage works hereinafter described be constructed, and does hereby take for said city for its sewerage works, the lands, rights and easements hereinafter described. Said lands are shown on a plan marked "City of Boston, Plan No. 391, Sewerage Works, Roanoke road, Hyde Park, April 6, 1921, B. C. Whitney, Chief Engineer, Street Laying-Out Department," deposited in the office of the Public Works Department, Sewer Service, of said city, and said lands, rights and easements, and said works to be constructed are as follows:

The right and easement is taken to lay and maintain sewerage works in the following described lands, exclusive of any interest in trees, buildings or other structures standing thereon, reserving to the owners thereof the right to use the lands for any purpose except such as may injure or obstruct said works, and except for placing or maintaining any structure on said lands not authorized in writing by the Mayor of said city; trees, buildings or other structures standing upon affixed to the land in which an easement is hereby taken are to be removed therefrom within thirty days following a notice of the city's intention to enter upon said taking for the purpose of constructing said sewerage works. Said lands are in that part of Boston known as Hyde Park, and are bounded as follows:

A parcel of land, owners unknown, being part of the private way known as Roanoke road, bounded:

Southeast by Blake street, six and 5/100 feet; southwest by another part of Roanoke road, one hundred sixty and 47/100 feet; west by the same, one hundred thirty-two and 88/100 feet; again southwest by the same, by three measurements, eighty-three and 31/100 feet, two hundred thirty-three and 61/100 feet and three hundred eighty feet; northwest by the same, six feet; northeast by the same, by three measurements, three hundred eighty and 24/100 feet, two hundred thirty-four and 73/100 feet and eighty-five and 7/100 feet; east by the same, one hundred thirty-one and 96/100 feet; and northeast by the same, one hundred fifty-seven and 83/100 feet; containing fifty-nine hundred and forty square feet more or less.

The sewerage works to be constructed are as follows: One thousand feet of 12-inch pipe sanitary sewer, in the above described premises, being part of the private way known as Roanoke road, from Blake street to Weybosset street.

Betterments are to be assessed for the making of the improvement ordered therein.

This Board determines that no person sustains damages in his estate by the taking of said easement and construction of said sewer and awards no damages therefor.

Ordered, That this board estimates that the lots of land on both sides of said Roanoke road, between Blake and Weybosset streets, within a maximum depth of one hundred sixty feet, will receive benefit or advantage, other than the general advantage to the community, from the improvement herein ordered, each of the particular lots within said limits to the amount respectively set against it herein; said lots and the supposed owners thereof being shown on a plan marked "City of Boston, Plan No. 391, Sewerage Works, Roanoke road, Hyde Park, April 6, 1921, F. O. Whitney, Chief Engineer Street Laying-Out Department" and on file in the office of said department.

BOSTON'S TRUST FUNDS AND BEQUESTS

Number of permanent funds and bequests held by the City, Feb. 1, 1920, for various purposes, 127, representing a total value of $9,686,171. The earliest dates back to 1674, viz., Gibson School Fund. The largest fund is the bequest of the late George F. Parkman, consisting of various parcels of real estate (now mostly sold) valued at $5,000,000 to $6,000,000 the income from which (about $197,500 annually) is used for the upkeep and improvement of the older parks. Total amount of Parkman Fund in custody of City Treasurer, $5,214,277; next in amount, $898,502, made up of 17 funds in charge of the Overseers of the Poor; (3) the Franklin and Franklin Union, amounting to $758,917; (4) Public Schools Teachers' Retirement $617,135; (5) 41 Public Library Funds, $673,749; (6) 8 Cemetery funds, $536,381; (7) Permanent School Pension, $355,898; (8) Police Charitable, $207,550; (9) 19 School funds, $170,860; (10) 19 Hospital funds, $92,750; 17 others, $160,152. Average annual income from all invested funds, nearly 4 per cent.

Another fund, viz., Firemen's Relief Fund, amounting in 1919 to $248,238, is not held by the City but by an incorporated body of 13 members of the Fire Dept.

The Thorndike Memorial Building Fund, viz., $200,000 (bequest of George L. Thorndike) received by City Treasurer in 1919, is to be used for a ward building for clinical research purposes by the City Hospital Trustees as soon as a sufficient addition thereto can be raised.

JOINT BOARD FOR INVESTIGATING THE FEASIBILITY OF CONSTRUCTING BRIDGE OR TRAFFIC TUNNEL, TO CONNECT BOSTON AND EAST BOSTON.

COMMENT ON CRITICISM OF FINANCE COMMISSION RELATIVE TO PROPOSED TRAFFIC TUNNEL.

BOSTON, May 4, 1921.

To the Honorable the Committee of Metropolitan Affairs:

The Joint Board was created by chapter 51 of the Resolves of 1919, for the purpose of investigating the feasibility of constructing either a bridge or a traffic tunnel, to connect Boston and East Boston, and the relative advantages and disadvantages of a traffic tunnel. The Board was directed to prepare preliminary plans and estimates of cost covering that type of structure which it deemed most suitable.

The Board submitted its report on January 2, 1920, approving a traffic tunnel as the more suitable structure.

After consideration of the report, the Legislature passed chapter 73 of the Resolves of 1920, continuing the Board and directing it to prepare final plans and estimates of cost of such a tunnel as it might approve, together with a comprehensive financial plan applicable thereto.

The Board submitted its report, in conformity with said chapter on March 7, 1921, and it is these reports that are now before you for consideration.

The wording of these resolves indicate that the Legislature did not desire the opinion of the Board as to the need of a tunnel or bridge at the present time, or recommendations as to whether or not either should be built. It did direct that the Board should determine the feasibility of constructing either the tunnel or bridge, and to prepare the plans and estimates of cost of the type of structure which seemed most suitable. The Board endeavored to answer these questions in the two reports submitted.

The question of a bridge has been under consideration for many years and the objections to it are stronger today than ever before. The obstructions that such a structure would offer to navigation on the one hand, and on the other hand the obstructions that the frequent opening and closing of the draw would cause to the traffic on the bridge are extremely serious and delays will constantly increase as the shipping in the harbor and the traffic between Boston and East Boston increases with the development of the city. The Board, after careful consideration, believes that the construction of a bridge is not feasible.

On the other hand the construction of a tunnel is feasible. Such a structure will shorten the route materially between Boston and East Boston for about 90 per cent of the vehicles which now use the ferries. The Board considered carefully placing the portals of the tunnel near the waterfront, but discarded it, as such a location would require elevators or spirals, neither of which were considered satisfactory.

The Board decided that a straight twin-tube tunnel with approaches of not over 5 per cent grade, a grade which is constantly met throughout the Commonwealth, would be a satisfactory structure and submitted plans and estimates on that basis.

In their report, dated April 18, 1921, the Boston Finance Commission states its opinion in a number of paragraphs that the Board would like to answer in detail.

Paragraph 1. Need of more or different transportation routes between Boston and East Boston not established and estimates of the growth of traffic not warranted.

This criticism is beyond the scope of the resolve.

As a part of its engineering study to determine the location and size of the tunnel, the probable income from tolls, and the cost of operating such features as will increase as the traffic increases, the ventilating system for example, the Board made a comprehensive traffic survey and an estimate of the probable future traffic, based largely upon the figures obtained from the survey, but with careful consideration given to probable future development. While these estimates were not taken for the purpose of establishing the need of a tunnel, they are presented in the report and may be of use to your committee in making your decision. The Board believes that this estimate is as accurate as can be made and is thoroughly justified by the facts. The estimated growth of traffic is based upon actual experience—(see pages 14-17)—financial study. It is not based upon the proposed development of East Boston. This, however, would be an additional benefit and would contribute to the tunnels.

In paragraph 2 the Finance Commission states indefinitely there is no under-water tunnel for automobiles.

There are under the Thames two such tunnels with ventilating shafts but no fans. These shafts are 1,221 and 1,570 feet apart. In the proposed East Boston tunnel these shafts are 2,200 and 2,750 feet apart and artificial ventilation is provided by fans of great capacity. (See pages 27 and 28.) It is planned also to have reserve fans and independent sources of supply for power to operate them. Fire protection can be easily secured by portable fire extinguishers located along the line of the tunnel. It is also planned, as indicated, to have the tunnel thoroughly policed by men capable of handling traffic in case of breakdown, fire or other emergency. We can find absolutely no ground for the statement that the present knowledge does not warrant the construction of traffic tunnels.

Paragraph 3. Method of financing recommended by the Board is uncertain as to tolls, unwarranted and unjust.

There will probably be more difference of opinion in regard to the method of financing than over any other feature presented to the Board for study.

The mere statement that the city or the state or any district should pay the cost of constructing and operating the tunnel did not seem to the Board to comply with the direction from the Legislature to submit a comprehensive plan.

As before stated, it seemed that a plan of financing, based upon possible revenue, should be presented; accordingly the Board presented a plan which is believed to be the best that can be prepared on that basis.

This statement is apparently founded upon the total ferry traffic shown on page 4 of the Finance Commission's report. But on page 5 the admission is made that there has been an increase in automobiles. This increase by investigation the Joint Board shows to be about 25 per cent each year over the preceding year.

Attention should be called to the fact that the number of vehicles using the ferries cannot be increased beyond the capacity of the boats, and during the rush hours of the morning and evening their capacity is wholly inadequate. For this reason the traffic count is less than it would be if proper accommodations were provided.

Moreover the count of vehicles disregards the tremendous increase in tonnage due to the increase in the size of motor trucks now using the ferries.

Handling tonnage is a very grave question daily presented on the ferries. The figure of 25 per cent increase produces in 1925 an estimate of 1,800,000 motor vehicles. Study of the chart indicates that the exits and entrances of the tunnel are nearer to 90 per cent of the traffic than the ferries, and, conversely, that the ferries are nearer to 10 per cent. While these figures may or may not work out with great exactness it seems likely that nearness will be a factor in determining the use of the tunnel. With this factor in mind it appears that the present ferry automobile traffic increased yearly by 12½ per cent instead of 25 per cent will produce an estimated automobile traffic of 1,110,000 in 1925, assuming that 90 per cent of the vehicles will use the tunnel. This figure, for conservatism, is again reduced by a flat decrease of 10 per cent, producing 999,000. It will be observed that this 12½ per cent yearly increase is still further graduated down to 6 per cent. It cannot be contended that estimates of this kind are free from criticism, and it is not intended that they shall be regarded with the exactness of mortuary tables. Nevertheless they are about as reliable a guide to the assumption of a reasonable business risk as probably could be found. It is far more likely that the financial advantages of the 25-cent average toll with increases based on experience and reduced according to the foregoing statement have been underestimated rather than over-estimated. The details of the traffic are more fully set forth on pages 14-17 of the Joint Board report.

In paragraph 4 of the Finance Commission's report it is stated that any system of transportation which does not provide for the absolute discontinuance of the East Boston ferries should not be considered.

This is merely a dogmatic statement, given with no reason or explanation and having very remote connection with the construction of the tunnel, inasmuch as the ferries may be discontinued if deemed expedient in the light of later experience.

In paragraph 5 it is stated that the tunnel will not be adequate, nor be a developer of East Boston, nor render the present ferries unnecessary. The tunnels provide adequate communication between Boston and East Boston, one tube having a capacity of 6,000,000 automobiles a year. (See page 15 of the Joint Board report.) It seems unnecessary to argue that such a thoroughfare will aid development. Ferry service may be limited as finance and economy require.

In paragraph 6 the statement is made that the 25-cent toll will be prohibitive; that sometime no toll will be collected and the cost will fall on the city or Commonwealth. The proposed 25-cent toll compares favorably with the proposed New York toll of 45 cents, and is therefore probably not prohibitive. It can be demonstrated in a variety of ways that the 25-cent toll would show a great economy to the automobile and prove attractive rather than otherwise. The toll provisions are fixed by statute under the supervision of state and municipal authorities.

In paragraph 7 it is stated that the proposed 5 per cent grades at entrances and exits would be prohibitive for any traffic except light pleasure automobile traffic. The admission is made that 5 per cent grades do not affect light pleasure traffic, therefore it is unnecessary to discuss that traffic. As to heavy trucks, they are using roads with much greater grades, 7 per cent not being excessive and percentages in excess of 7 per cent being quite common.

In paragraph 8 of the Finance Commission's report it is stated that pleasure automobile traffic originating outside of Boston furnishes no reason for the tunnel.

The traffic count shows that only a very small part of the pleasure automobile traffic originates beyond the limits of the city at present, and the Sunday count shows a very free use of the ferries by pleasure automobiles.

Paragraph 9. The entrances and exits of the tunnel are purposely located at points where the traffic counts show the greatest amount of traffic has its origin and destination. It therefore decreases rather than increases the distance involved in passing through the tunnel and consequently would encourage commercial vehicles to use the tunnel. Ferry delay would also be avoided.

CONCLUSION.

No difficulties have been underestimated in the Joint Board report. Recognition has been fully given to problems, both engineering and financial, and a painstaking effort made to present a sound and workable scheme.

The need of this traffic thoroughfare has long been apparent and the Legislature in two successive years manifested its desire to have the matter fully dealt with.

The Joint Board feels that the criticism offered by the Finance Commission has served to emphasize the opinion of the Board of the feasibility of the building and the soundness of the financing of an undertaking of this character and to that extent has been of much value.

We append hereto supplementary comments prepared by the engineers.

RE OUTSTANDING OBLIGATIONS, JANUARY 31, 1921.

BOSTON, May 3, 1921.

HON. ANDREW J. PETERS, Mayor:

SIR,—Your Honor's communication to the Finance Commission, dated April 29, was received during a brief absence of the chairman. Hence the delay in reply.

The Finance Commission stated in its reports of April 26 that there were outstanding obligations of the city at the beginning of the present year amounting to $1,861,808.59. Your Honor has failed to point out in your letter to the commission, or in your statement given to the press, that these figures are incorrect. The request, therefore, in your Honor's letter that the Finance Commission retract this statement in its report of April 26 is without warrant.

The commission reiterates that the financial condition of the city, as stated by your Honor in your annual message to the City Council on February 7, 1921, was inaccurate, because you made no reference to the $1,861,808.59 of liabilities then outstanding. Whether or not these liabilities have been carried over from other years does not in the opinion of the Finance Commission change the fact that these liabilities should be shown in a statement purporting to give the true financial condition of the city.

The absence everywhere of any record of these obligations but in the files of the departments where they were incurred makes it necessary to apply to the several departments for the information. When the chief executive fails to ascertain the city's obligations at the beginning of the fiscal year—the only time when it is practicable to obtain them—and does not include such obligations in his statement of the city's financial condition at the beginning of the fiscal year, there is no means of ascertaining any record of these obligations thereafter during the entire fiscal year.

Your Honor suggests that a charge of dishonest practice was conveyed in the report of this commission under date of April 26. Nothing of the kind was intended. The report was a simple statement of the facts obtained from the department heads and was sent to inform your Honor of the true financial condition of the city.

The Finance Commission repeats the recommendation it made in its report to your Honor on April 26, 1921.

STUDY OF EXPERIMENTAL HEMOCHROMATOSIS.

HOSPITAL DEPARTMENT.

Boston, April 28, 1921.

HON. ANDREW J. PETERS,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—I enclose herewith a copy of a communication from Dr. F. B. Mallory, Pathologist at the Boston City Hospital, to the trustees. The letter explains itself. On behalf of the trustees, I therefore respectfully request the privilege of devoting to Doctor Mallory's work the sum of $500, the same to be charged to G-2.

Yours respectfully,

JOSEPH P. MANNING,
President Board of Trustees.

Approved April 29, 1921.

ANDREW J. PETERS, Mayor.

Boston, April 25, 1921.

To the Trustees of the Boston City Hospital:

GENTLEMEN,—I herewith make application for a special appropriation of $1,500 for the study of experimental hemochromatosis. The term is applied to a condition in which two pigments, one giving the iron reaction and the other not, and both derived from the blood, are deposited in the liver and other organs of the body. The extreme type of the disease in which the pancreas is much injured so that diabetes results and in which the skin is deeply pigmented is rare, but the early type of the condition in which only the liver is involved is comparatively common. Its effect on the liver is to cause one of the five well recognized types of cirrhosis which leads to jaundice and ascites.

This money is needed partly for animals and chemicals but chiefly to pay for expert technical assistance. Five hundred dollars are required for immediate use and the balance during the course of the year.

Very truly yours,

F. B. MALLORY,
Pathologist.

PRICE OF ELECTRICITY—STATE- MENT BY MAYOR PETERS.

MAYOR'S OFFICE,
Boston, April 29, 1921.

I have today filed a petition with the Public Utilities Department requesting a reduction in the price charged by the Edison Electric Illuminating Company to its consumers for electricity, both for light and power. I am taking this action because I am convinced that the citizens of Boston are entitled to material relief in the cost of this necessity of life. The petition was filed by the Law Department, and no stone will be left unturned to secure the relief which I believe we ought to have.

While I am much interested in securing a reduction in rates for the citizens as a whole, the city has a particular interest in a reduction at this time in connection with its street lighting contract. The Corporation Counsel therefore, at my direction, has executed on behalf of the city a joint request with the Edison Company for an investigation of the prices charged under the contract which the city has with the Edison Company. This particular action, that is the one in connection with the street lighting contract, will be in the form of an arbitration, as it is required to take this form under the statutes. Every effort will be made by the Law Department to secure a decision on both phases of the situation, at the earliest possible moment.

RE OUTSTANDING OBLIGATIONS, JANUARY 31, 1921.

MAYOR'S OFFICE,
Boston, April 29, 1921.

HON. M. H. SULLIVAN, Chairman, Boston Finance Commission, Boston, Mass.:

DEAR SIR,—It seems advisable to make further comment in connection with your report of April 26.

The effect on the public mind that may be caused from an injudicious and misleading report, is already indicated through editorial criticism appearing in the Boston Press.

The recent report of the Finance Commission upon the surplus of the city as at January 31, 1921, is so lacking in the essentials of fair argument that I am forced to believe that the honorable gentlemen constituting the commission were themselves misled by the author of the report.

Briefly stated, the statement as issued conveys the information (?) that the administration withheld the payment of certain liabilities and thereby created a surplus of $3,817,250.61. The suggestion of dishonest practice, here conveyed, would be serious, if true.

There is an apparent deception in this suggestion, which I cannot believe was intended. I fail to understand, however, why the commission did not make clear the fact that the surplus was computed as it was always computed and that the financial obligations of the city were paid for a full twelve months' period, as they have always been paid. The point to be emphasized is, that the commission in its illadvised communication failed to state that a compliance with its contention would have included the payment of fourteen months' invoices in the last year as well as thirteen months' payments to those employees paid on a monthly basis. Figures incorrectly quoted by irresponsible agents may be due to gross ignorance, but figures inaccurately used by a responsible public authority cannot be condoned on the same grounds.

In this connection, it may be of public interest to note that the commission's statement was further in error as it included over $517,000 of school pay rolls, which under the law could not in any event be paid from the surplus stated, as the expenses of the School Department are separately provided for by state law.

It is to be regretted that an agency of the city (not under the control of the Mayor), possessing wide powers for constructive effort such as are given the Finance Commission under the Charter, should use those powers in a careless or indifferent manner to the detriment of the city and its administration. The wide publicity obtained through the publication of this unfortunate communication in the daily press has created an unfair impression on the part of the public.

Truth and justice demand public retraction, which will correct, as far as possible, the damage already done. This should immediately be forthcoming.

Very truly yours,

ANDREW J. PETERS, Mayor.

EAST BOSTON TRAFFIC TUNNEL.

NOTES ON REPORT OF CONSULTING ENGINEER OF THE BOSTON FINANCE COMMISSION, APRIL 14, 1921.

The Joint Board was created in 1919 to investigate the feasibility of constructing a bridge or tunnel, and in 1920 was directed to prepare plans for such a tunnel as they might approve after the consideration of different styles.

The question of the necessity for a tunnel was never before the Board. Statements as to the character of the traffic do not conform to the facts as determined and stated in the Joint Board's report. The criticism of the traffic statements on page 3 of the report, that they are misleading, depends upon how they are used. It does not state that the charts themselves are misleading but the natural inference which he draws is misleading. The statistics speak for themselves and are correct. There is no attempt made in the report of the Joint Board to prove the necessity for a tunnel as this question was not referred to it. The engineer's reference to the Revere Beach Boulevard also is an element which was not considered, but shows the need of the tunnel. The emergency route through Chelsea which he suggests is three and one half miles compared with one mile by the tunnel, making the cost excessive both in mileage and time, and is now congested and seriously obstructed by three drawbridges.

On page 1 he notes what he considers "sweeping statements." His own remarks on the proposed developments in East Boston would come under this heading. In fact the only reason for the present location of the City of Boston is its harbor. The state is developing for the benefit of the state as a whole the extensive area at East Boston known as the East Boston flats. If these are not developed the city will retrograde as a port, inasmuch as the other port facilities are not enough to provide for a great increase in port business.

BELT LINE.

It is generally conceded that the use of motor trucks for short hauls is more economical than railroad transportation. This is a direct contradiction to the Finance Commission engineer's assertion under his remarks on the belt line.

It is a fact that practically no goods to and from points in Boston go to or from East Boston or South Boston piers by rail because the cost of handling is too great. Goods put on trucks at the factory or warehouse go directly by truck to the piers. Goods from the north and west will go by rail, direct to piers, tunnel or no tunnel.

BRIDGE.

So far as highway traffic is concerned the great objection to a drawbridge is the delay attendant upon the many openings of the draw to allow vessels to pass. The serious obstruction of traffic over the Chelsea North Bridge is now a cause of investigation and complaint, and even this traffic is small compared with that which would cross a bridge to East Boston. The draw in a bridge to East Boston would necessarily be open a large part of the time on account of the demands of vessels constantly passing its proposed location. It is extremely doubtful if the consent of the War Department could be obtained even if such a bridge were to be even considered.

In the statement on page 10, second paragraph, it is evident that no regard has been paid to the diagram submitted by the Joint Board showing the results of the traffic count, viz., that but a very small percentage of the traffic is from the wharves. (See Plate 4.)

The location of the entrances and exits is commented upon as being in the most congested part of the city. They are purposely put there to relieve this congestion. If the streets in the vicinity should be widened on this account it will certainly prove that the tunnel is being used to its capacity.

RADIAL ROUTES.

The radial routes are shown on Plate 3 exactly as they exist in order to give all the information possible as to the connections to the tunnel.

AREAS.

The use of areas or plazas is explained in the Joint Board's report. It is for the purpose of allowing the collection of tolls, the distribution of traffic and to prevent delay in the tunnel which might otherwise occur by blocking the exit.

FINANCIAL.

The number of vehicles which will use the tunnel is an estimate based upon the records of the present traffic and best judgment as to probable growth. Predictions as to traffic growth, whether of the number of persons which will use subway or elevated transportation systems or of highway traffic, have in general been under-estimated rather than over-estimated.

The assertion that the tolls will not be collected after one or two years is his estimate of the desires of the people, as section 9 of the bill submitted distinctly requires the collection of tolls, and any change from this would require legislative action; therefore the basis for his computation on page 13 of his report is the assumption that the people will prefer to pay the costs in taxes rather than have a few pay them by tolls.

He says that "The plans available for examination and the uncertainty of the type adopted do not warrant any analysis of the tunnel design." Quite contrary to this statement, the plans available do show in detail the type adopted as the final plan. There is absolutely no uncertainty; even the dimensions, the mixture of the concrete, the wooden lining, in fact all details, are shown in a manner perfectly clear to those familiar with tunnel design.

GRADES.

Five per cent grades are not considered excessive, as anyone may notice by the grade referred to, that of School street down from Tremont street, which is 5.2 per cent.

Grades of 5 per cent are adopted in many cases of grade crossing abolitions. Trucks are climbing greater grades in and around Boston every day. In regard to horse-drawn traffic, our observations are that for long hauls, horses are rapidly being replaced by motor trucks. Heavy motor trucks easily operate on 7 per cent grades in many highways under the supervision of the Division of Highways, Department of Public Works. As for interruptions and delays, no one can seriously question the advantage of the tunnel over the ferry service.

PAYMENT FOR THE TUNNEL.

Under this heading, on page 18, are three assertions which are set down as facts. We can find no basis whatever for these statements and they are contrary to all data and statistics presented in the Joint Board's report.

On page 18 is the statement, "The Joint Board's report is remarkable as to its brevity. The Joint Board's report is brief and to the point. It recognizes and refers to many new features, and gives credit to New York for the work of investigation already done."

In the matter of ventilation he states that the conclusions of the Joint Board have been apparently based on a monthly bulletin, etc. This matter was given careful study. An engineer was sent to New York to interview the ventilating experts who were planning for the New York tunnel. Other practical ventilating experts were also consulted and an independent computation based on all data which could be obtained at the time was also made in order that the problem might be handled with great thoroughness.

The provisions for introducing fresh air and removing the foul air and gases will make it exceedingly difficult to get an explosive mixture. The power for operating the ventilating equipment will be provided from two sources, and the number of units is sufficient to provide spare units for an unusual traffic demand or for emergency service.

The question of fire protection has been carefully considered, and the proposed use of modern appliances, in the hands of experienced men policing the tunnel, will eliminate the hazard described in the engineer's report.

The final paragraph of the report would indicate that there were some serious objections to a tunnel passing under buildings, even at a great depth. The tunnel is designed to run in a straight line, principally for safety and capacity. The depths at which it goes under the buildings are such that, by modern tunneling methods, no real estate damages greater than those in the case of the Beacon Hill tunnel will be collected, and this would be greatly offset by the disadvantages of a curved tunnel which, once built, must remain so permanently.

ELEVATED PUBLIC CONTROL BILL.

MAYOR'S OFFICE,
BOSTON 9, May 2, 1921.

SENATOR LYMAN W. GRISWOLD, Chairman, Special Committee Investigating Elevated Bill, State House, Boston:

DEAR SIR,—I am informed that statements have been made before your committee which would tend to mislead its members as to my position, as Mayor of Boston, on the so-called Elevated Public Control bill when it was under consideration by the Legislature in 1918.

At my request I was granted a hearing by the subcommittee of the Joint Committee on Metropolitan Affairs and Street Railways in the spring of 1918. I appeared before this subcommittee in executive session. I protested against those features of the bill which assessed any part of the deficit in the cost of operation of the road upon the City of Boston. I also expressed the opinion that two of the trustees should be appointed by the Mayor in accordance with the recommendation of the Public Service Commission, and I protested against the proposal that all five trustees should be appointed by the Governor. I further objected to the provisions of the bill taking from the city its interest in the subway leases, and allowing the trustees to charge to depreciation the expenses incurred in the general rehabilitation of the road. This hearing by the subcommittee was the only opportunity given me to express my opinion.

My purpose in writing this to your committee is to correct any wrong impression which may have been given your committee because of statements made before it during the investigation which is now in progress, for I desire your committee to be correctly informed as to my attitude, and I request that this letter be made part of your records.

Very truly yours,

ANDREW J. PETERS, Mayor.

RE BILL FOR DESIGNING FERRY-BOATS.

BOSTON, April 30, 1921.

To the Honorable the Mayor:

I attach a letter from Fay, Spofford & Thorndike, dated April 5, 1921, asking that a payment of the sum of $3,750 be made them under their contract approved June 28, 1920, and supplementary contract approved on the same day, for the design of the two new ferryboats. Under the terms of these contracts, this payment is due upon the launching of the boats, but the launching will not take place for some time owing to delays on the part of the contractors.

I respectfully request authority to make this payment.

Yours respectfully,

T. F. SULLIVAN,
Commissioner of Public Works.

ROOM IN CITY HALL FOR AMERICAN LEGION.

MAYOR'S OFFICE,
BOSTON, May 5, 1921.

Mayor Peters announced today that he was making arrangements to turn over Room 51 and the anteroom thereof, in City Hall, to the Suffolk County Council of the American Legion for permanent occupancy. Several weeks ago a committee from the Suffolk County Council of the Legion headed by John W. Reth, chairman, called on the Mayor and requested that quarters be provided for the council in City Hall. The need of such quarters was imperative because of the work of investigating welfare cases, the employment work that the council is doing, and the other matters of detail in connection with conducting the organization.

The rooms will be turned over to the council fully furnished, and it is expected that the council will take possession in about ten days.

PARK DEPARTMENT.

Boston, April 29, 1921.

HON. ANDREW J. PETERS,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—Daniel J. O'Keefe, 14 Larchmont street, Dorchester, age, 70 years, clerk in the office of this commission for fourteen years, having been transferred to this department from the Collector's office, has been absent on account of sickness. He has been carried on the office rolls for three weeks beyond the usual two weeks' vacation to which he is entitled.

I recommend that the Board be allowed to pay him his regular salary for a period of at least thirty days on account of the faithful service that he has given to the city.

Very respectfully yours,

BOSTON NOTES.

PORT OF BOSTON.

Best of natural harbors, sheltered, spacious for anchorage, main ship channel 35 feet in depth at low tide, near open sea, area about 6,300 acres; waterfront (i. e., lineal pier space) 40 miles, 6 miles fronting on 30 feet depth at low water. A 45-foot channel from entrance of harbor to President Roads, and 40-foot from there to wharves will be dredged in the near future. New Commonwealth Pier No. 5, South Boston, 1,200 feet long, 400 feet wide, accommodating five 600-foot ships at one time, 40 feet depth at mean low water on both sides, with three 2-story fireproof buildings of steel and concrete construction, containing 900,000 square feet of floor space; total cost of this enterprise to State, $4,500,000. Commonwealth Pier No. 6, South Boston (Fish Pier), buildings on same erected by lessee, Boston Fish Market Corporation, cost to State, $1,487,361. New Commonwealth Pier No. 1, East Boston, 900 feet long, costing State $764,000; for site and about $300,000 for construction. New dry dock at South Boston (probably the largest in world), completed in 1919, 1,200 feet long and 120 wide, costing over $3,000,000 and taken by U. S. Government at total cost of same to State. Islands in Boston Harbor over 3 acres in area, 17, with total area of 965 acres; Long Island the largest, or 215.5 acres. Owned by United States, 392 acres; by City of Boston, 334 acres. Number of wharves, 146, of which 8 are owned by the City. There are 22 foreign steamship lines with regular sailings to and from Boston and 10 coastwise lines. In 1915 a revision of the harbor lines was made and the project undertaken whereby 600 acres of flats between Governor's Island and Jeffries Point, East Boston, will be filled in and used for extensive commercial development under State control.

In April, 1918, the Government decided to establish its Army Supply Base on a portion of the Commonwealth lands in South Boston. About 57.6 acres were purchased of the State, the price being $1,317,510, quickly followed by the construction of two pier sheds, each 920 feet long, a wharf shed and other buildings, including one of the largest storehouses in the world, built of reinforced concrete, eight stories high, 1,638 feet long, 126 feet wide and with floor space of over 1,650,000 square feet. The total outlay for the plant was about $26,000,000.

Total Federal expenditure for improvement of Boston Harbor from 1790 to June 30, 1918, $12,487,842; total expended and provided for by State, $15,986,832 since 1870.

PUBLIC RECREATION IN BOSTON.

Number of large parks, 24; separate playgrounds, 42, with total of 327 acres, also 14 playgrounds in parks, with area of 155 acres; small parks and squares, 75; total areas, 2,688.5 acres. Cost of Main Park System, i. e., 1,386 acres, land and construction (since 1877 when begun), $11,788,065; of Marine Park System, i. e., 457.9 acres (since 1883), $4,436,697; of all other parks and public grounds, $2,357,009 of separate playgrounds, $4,416,315. Total cost, $22,998,086.

The leading attraction of the Main Park System is Franklin Park (named for Benjamin Franklin), acquired in 1883-84, and containing 527 acres, about 80 of which are occupied by the Zoological Gardens, 15 miles of walks, 8 miles of driveways, etc., the entire cost up to 1920 being $1,408,244. There are also within the city limits 958 acres of Metropolitan parks and parkways under State control, chief of which is Stony Brook Reservation in West Roxbury, containing 464 acres of wild forested hill and dale with many rocky knolls and an extensive view of the Charles River valley and beyond.

Number of public indoor baths open all the year, 14; 9 beach baths and 7 floating baths open during summer; indoor gymnasias, 11; total number of indoor baths taken in year 1919, 1,549,480, of which 75 per cent were by men and boys.

Park and Recreation Department maintenance for 1919-20, $1,075,287 or 121,179 more than in 1918. Outlay for playground improvements, $105,342; for park improvements, $257,081, of which $79,067 was from Parkman Fund income. Gross debt for parks outstanding February 1, 1920, $10,896,550; for playgrounds, $2,397,300; total, $13,293,850 or $960,311 less than in 1919.

Including the State assessments of $886,211 for Metropolitan parks, boulevards, etc. and $232,968 for Charles River Basin improvements, the total expended for public recreation purposes in 1919 was $2,556,889 or $14,757 less than in 1918.

Total valuation of city properties devoted to recreation, $69,072,400 (including $55,112,400 for Boston Common and Public Garden), which far exceeds that of any other American city except New York. The L Street seaside bath, opened in 1866, was the first municipal bath established in the United States, so far as known.

BOSTON BANK STATISTICS, 1919 20.

Bank clearings or exchanges in year 1919 show the largest total on record in Boston, viz., $17,902,682,762, an increase over 1918 of $2,401,597,454 or 15.49 per cent, and over 1917 of 41.36 per cent. Highest single day's clearings on record, $112,803,738, i. e., on December 16, 1919. Highest on record for a single month, $1,927,686,674, viz., December, 1919. Total clearings for first three months of 1920, $4,814,181,761 or 24.55 per cent more than in 1919. On February 28, 1920, the 15 national banks showed aggregate capital of $28,950,000; surplus and undivided profits, $48,655,103; deposits, $139,142,341; loans and discounts, $359,501,955. On same date, the 30 trust companies showed aggregate capital of $26,901,100; surplus and undivided profits, $34,440,284; deposits, $371,395,851; loans and discounts, $326,767,150; 26 trust companies each have a savings department with total deposits of $69,380,933. Total resources of the national banks, $601,284,213 or $37,511,275 more than in March, 1919; of the trust companies, $513,939,691; grand total of the 45 banks, $1,115,223,904 or $106,070,844 more than in 1919. Savings banks, 24 with $341,215,952 deposits (as of October 31, 1919); cooperative banks, 39, with total assets of $36,369,400 (as of October 31).

Among the twelve Federal Reserve Banks, that of Boston on April 9, 1920, ranked fourth in these respects, viz., total resources, total reserves, gross deposits and F. R. notes in circulation; fifth as to capital paid in and surplus, while as to total earning assets and total discounts (bills on hand) it stood sixth.

On September 12, 1919, the resources of the 7,785 national banks, which are all members of the Federal Reserve System, established in 1914, amounted to $21,615,000,000; total deposits, $15,924,- 865,000. The number of State banks and trust companies belonging to the Federal Reserve System increased from 250 to 936 during the year 1918. All the trust companies in Boston are now members.

The First National Bank of Boston has next to the largest foreign business among the national banks in the United States, having a branch bank in Buenos Aires, Argentina, and active bank accounts in the principal foreign cities.

The Boston Clearing House, established in 1876, ranks second to that of New York in number of checks cleared, viz., 35,300 daily average.

FOREIGN TRADE OF UNITED STATES, CALENDAR YEAR, 1919, WITH RANK OF TEN LEADING PORTS.

Exports $7,922,150,592 or $1,773,-663,047 more than in 1918 and the highest total on record.

Imports, $3,904,406,327 or $873,193,-617 more than in 1918 and the highest for imports. Total foreign commerce in 1919, $11,826,556,919 or $2,646,256,664 (i. e., 28.82 per cent) more than in 1918. Excess of exports over imports, $4,017,-744,265.

New York, ranking first among United States ports, handled 46.69 per cent of total commerce, or 4.69 per cent more than in 1918; New Orleans (2nd) 6.26 per cent; Philadelphia (3rd) 5.72 per cent; Boston (4th) 5.36 per cent; Seattle (5th) 4.13 per cent; Galveston (6th) 4.10 per cent; San Francisco (7th) 4.04 per cent; Baltimore (8th) 3.32 per cent; Detroit (9th) 3.14 per cent; Buffalo (10th) 2.50 per cent. Of value of all imports, 69.14 per cent free of duty. Total duties collected, $249,774,758 or 44.62 per cent more than in 1918. Of total export value, 70.30 per cent applied to manufactured and partly manufactured materials, 20.78 per cent to crude materials for use in manufacturing and 8.75 per cent to foodstuffs (crude) and food animals.

Boston's rank for many years as the second importing port changed to fourth place in 1917, Seattle taking second place and San Francisco third, probably due to war conditions. In 1918 Boston advanced to third place and was but slightly behind Seattle. In 1919 it regained its former rank of second.

ANNEXATIONS TO BOSTON.

East Boston in 1637; South Boston in 1804, being set off from Dorchester; Roxbury in 1868, a city of Norfolk County since March, 1846; Dorchester in 1870, a town since September, 1630; Charlestown in 1874, a city of Middlesex County since February, 1847; Brighton in 1874, set off from Cambridge and incorporated as a town of Middlesex County in February, 1807; West Roxbury in 1874, set off from Roxbury and incorporated as a town of Norfolk County in May, 1851; Hyde Park in 1912, a town of Norfolk County since April, 1868.

These annexations, which added 24,312 acres of land to the original land of Boston, were by area as follows: East Boston, 1,435 acres; South Boston, 795; Roxbury, 2,450; Dorchester, 5,600; West Roxbury, 8,075; Brighton, 2,664; Charlestown, 424; Hyde Park, 2,869. Filled land increased the area later by 1,396 acres. In 1875 the annexed territory had a population of 201,250, or 58.86 per cent of city's total; in 1910 its population had increased to 477,311, or 71.18 per cent, Hyde Park not included.

HOURS OF SUPERINTENDENT OF MARKETS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, April 29, 1921.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I am herewith transmitting a copy of a communication from the Superintendent of Markets relative to the passage of an ordinance determining the hours during which the office of the Superintendent of Markets will be opened from June 1 to December 31 each year. I recommend its passage.

Respectfully yours,
ANDREW J. PETERS, Mayor.

Boston, April 16, 1921.

Hon. Andrew J. Peters,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Chapter 191 of the Acts of 1921 prohibits the sale of fresh provisions and perishable produce by farmers now occupying stands on South Market street between the hours of five p. m. and four a. m. of the next day.

To comply with the above act I most respectfully desire that an ordinance be created opening the market office from four a. m. to five p. m. from June 1 to December 31 of each year.

Yours truly,
PATRICK J. MCGOURTHY,
Superintendent of Markets.

An Ordinance
Concerning the Office of the Superintendent of Markets.

Be it ordained by the City Council of Boston, as follows:

The office of the superintendent of markets shall be open between four o'clock a. m. and five o'clock p. m. from June 1 to December 31 of each year.

Referred to the Committee on Ordinances.

RECONSTRUCTION OF WAYFARERS' LODGE.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, April 28, 1921.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I am herewith transmitting a copy of the message sent to you on March 21, 1921. The conditions have not changed any, and I therefore recommend the passage of the accompanying order.

Respectfully yours,
ANDREW J. PETERS, Mayor.

Office of the Mayor,
Boston 9, March 21, 1921.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I have several times discussed with the Overseers of the Poor the matter of making certain necessary changes and improvements at the Wayfarers' Lodge on Hawkins street, and I have also discussed the matter with the Superintendent of Public Buildings. As a result of these conferences, and also of my personal experience at the Wayfarers' Lodge last week, I am convinced that certain improvements are absolutely essential for the well-being of those who are forced to find shelter at the lodge.

I am herewith attaching a copy of a communication from the Superintendent of Public Buildings stating what changes should be made, and estimating the cost of making them. You will note that his estimate is $42,900, but in order to be on the safe side, I believe it would be wise to authorize the expenditure of the sum of $45,000. I therefore recommend the passage of the accompanying order.

Respectfully yours,
ANDREW J. PETERS, Mayor.

Ordered, That the sum of $45,000 be appropriated, to be expended by the Superintendent of Public Buildings, for reconstruction and improvements of the Wayfarers' Lodge, Hawkins street, the same to be met from the unappropriated cash remaining in the treasury January 31, 1921.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

TRANSFERS FROM RESERVE FUND.

The following was received:

Office of the Mayor,
Boston 9, April 29, 1921.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I am transmitting herewith various communications, requesting additional appropriations, and respectfully recommend the passage of the accompanying orders.

Respectfully,
ANDREW J. PETERS, Mayor.

Ordered, That under authority of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer:

From the appropriation for Reserve Fund, $680.55, to the appropriation for Assessing Department, A-1, Permanent Employees, Assessor, Chairman, 1, at $5,000 per year ($6,000), $680.55.

Ordered, That under authority of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer:

From the appropriation for Reserve Fund, $12,500, to the appropriation for Public Buildings Department, Old State House, Repairs, etc., $12,500.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

APPROPRIATION FOR STREET LIGHTING ARBITRATION.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, April 29, 1921.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—It has become necessary under the terms of the street lighting contract between the City of Boston and the Edison Electric Illuminating Company, dated December 7, 1914, that there should be a further arbitration, and I have instructed the Corporation Counsel to join with the company in the necessary request for such arbitration. It is also in my judgment expedient in the interests of the city that I should file a complaint with reference to the price at which electricity is sold and delivered and the rates charged for the same, and I have also instructed the Corporation Counsel to prepare and file such a petition.

Both these petitions will necessarily involve hearings before the Public Utilities Commission, at which the evidence on behalf of the city ought to be fully and adequately presented. In my opinion, and that of the Corporation Counsel, this will require the expenditure of money for the service of experts, of stenographers, of legal assistants and other necessary and reasonable expenses connected with the hearings, in excess of the your honorable body will appropriate the sum of $50,000 to be expended under my direction, and that of the Corporation Counsel, for the foregoing purposes, and I submit an order for that purpose.

In making this recommendation, I desire to recognize the interest shown in this question by your honorable body in the numerous resolutions concerning the subject matter of electric lighting transmitted to me from time to time.

Respectfully,
ANDREW J. PETERS, Mayor.

Ordered, That the sum of fifty thousand dollars be and the same hereby is appropriated for the purpose of meeting charges for expert services, stenographic services, additional legal assistance and other necessary and proper expenditures in connection with the hearings on the request for arbitration under the street lighting contract between the City of Boston and the Edison Electric Illuminating Company, dated December 7, 1914, and under the petition for a reduction in the price of electricity filed by the Mayor with the Public Utilities Commission, said amount to be charged to the Reserve Fund. All expenditures under this appropriation shall be subject to the written approval of the Mayor and the Corporation Counsel.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

Ordered, That the Boston Terminal Company be hereby authorized to sell at public auction on or before June 1, 1921, and after publication of the time and place of sale, according to law, the articles left and remaining unclaimed in the possession of said company in the City of Boston.

Report accepted; order passed.

LOAN FOR ARTIFICIAL STONE SIDEWALKS.

Coun. WATSON offered an order—That his Honor the Mayor be requested to send to the City Council an order for a loan of at least $50,000 for use in the laying of artificial stone sidewalks in various parts of the city.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, I am in the position as other members of this body are, concerning granolithic sidewalks. There is hardly a meeting but what we have one or more orders introduced, with the consent of the Public Works Commissioner, for artificial sidewalks in the different parts of the city. We appropriated in the budget something like $50,000 for granolithic walks. I understand that there are live petitions in the hands of the Commissioner of Public Works that represent in dollars and cents, and that we have passed orders to provide for, granolithic walks, if they were all built, amounting to more than half a million dollars. Fifty thousand dollars will build very few granolithic walks. I have myself a number of live orders over there, which I have been trying to have acted upon for four or five years, for the building of granolithic walks, and the only reason why the work has not been done is that there are some streets or sidewalks that they claim are more important to fix up than the ones I am interested in. I feel that the city can make no better investment, can make no improvement that would be more appreciated or that would be a more substantial public improvement, than can be done by providing for granolithic sidewalks. The average person walks considerably, and walking on uneven sidewalks is not a pleasant thing for people to do, particularly old people. My reason for introducing this order is that I want to go on record, and put the members on record, so that we may show that it is unanimous, in favor of the expenditure of more money in this city for granolithic sidewalks. I know of several very important ones that should be built. Yesterday, for instance, I went up on a place called Windermere road, at Uphams Corner. A gentleman came to me and said that after a storm the sidewalks on Windermere road were being washed away. I said that that was nothing remarkable or unusual, that rain storms do wash away sidewalks. "But," he said, "our sidewalks have been washed away. If you will come up there, Mr. Watson, and go along that street up to Stoughton street, you will see what the condition is." So I went up there and looked. I was really surprised. The edgestones were all in, but the gravel had been washed away from the sidewalks down to the foot of the street, and any person going through there in the dark would get up to his ankles in it, and might fall down and be injured seriously. It might well be that the damages resulting from the injuries to one person alone would cost the city more money than the granolithic walks would cost. Therefore I have introduced this order, in order that we may at least make a start toward remedying this situation. We will at least be trying to do something, trying to do all that it is in our power to do, and perhaps if $50,000 can be appropriated at this time we may obtain more later, and after awhile we may get somewhere with this work. Therefore I ask for a suspension of the rule.

Coun. COLLINS—Mr. President, the order as submitted by the member of the Council, referring to granolithic sidewalks, is one that is very dear to me, because I suppose I have put in more of these orders than, or certainly as many as, any other member of the Council. But the order as framed by the member provides that the Mayor shall send in a loan order for $50,000 for this purpose. I feel that this type of improvement should come from taxes and not through loans, and therefore I feel that the order should be amended in that respect.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, if the gentleman will yield for a moment, I want to say that I erred in putting the order in in that way. I intended that it should be done by appropriation from taxes, and if the councilor will permit I will move to amend the order by requesting that the money be provided by appropriation from taxes, instead of by loan. I do not agree with you on the principle, however, just the same, but I want to have your support.

Coun. COLLINS—Mr. President, I am very glad that the member has seen fit to move that amendment, because if he had not done so I was going to do so. With common consent, nobody objecting, I will now move another amendment, that there shall be an order for at least $75,000 sent in by the Mayor, either by transfer from the Reserve Fund or appropriation from tax levy, for the purpose of making granolithic sidewalks, thereby assuring people of the community of a reasonable appropriation to start the work on granolithic sidewalks this year. Prior to 1917, when the great war began, it was nothing unusual for the City of Boston through the Public Works Department to spend at least $100,000 to $200,000 annually for this purpose. Then the war came on. Public works which were not of imperative necessity were suspended, and none of this work was done. During the last year or two the price of cement has been prohibitive. That, with other things, is now on the descent, and it strikes me, in view of the fact that there are orders with the Commissioner of Public Works contemplating the expenditure, roughly, of over half a million dollars for granolithic sidewalks—convinces me that we ought to begin now, when times are getting normal, to appropriate at least $100,000 annually for granolithic sidewalks. The Mayor has sent in an item in his budget for the small amount of $25,000 for this purpose. It is frightfully inadequate. The Commissioner of Public Works has so stated in our budget hearings. It strikes me that we ought at least to have $100,000 appropriated, so that eventually we will catch up with this work. I move, therefore, that $50,000 be stricken out and $75,000 be inserted in place thereof.

The order was amended with a provision that the amount should be $75,000 instead of $50,000, and that the money should be appropriated from the tax levy instead of by loan.

The question came on suspension of the rule for passage of the order in its amended form.

Coun. DONOGHUE—Mr. President, while I agree that there ought to be money spent on granolithic sidewalks, still I think when the Commissioner of Public Works was before us at the budget hearing he said that this year he had taken up with the Mayor the question of spending $50,000 this year instead of $25,000 for granolithic sidewalks, but that the Mayor had absolutely refused to do anything further along this line this year. It does seem to me that, if these granolithic sidewalks are to be put in, they should not be confined almost entirely to the suburban districts. I think that some of our sidewalks right here in the center of the city are a disgrace. Take Washington street, for example, I don't think there is any street which might better be fixed up so as to make the city attractive than Washington street, where there is more travel and people passing back and forward in one day than in a month on any of the other streets. I have noticed on most of these granolithic sidewalk orders that have been submitted and passed with the approval of the Mayor and the consent of the Commissioner of Public Works that week after week we have read in the City Record that they have not been advertised. They have been granted to a contractor without any advertising, and the reason given for it is that, in the first instance, the abutters on the property along the streets foot one half the expense, and, further, it is seldom that the amount reaches more than $1,000. It seems to me that the principle of advertising these various contracts should be rigidly enforced. I think we are getting away almost entirely from the idea of advertising contracts. I should like to see in this city of ours, where there are contracts of a nature that should naturally be advertised, that they be advertised, and that everybody have an opportunity to bid upon them. I have noticed recently that the Park Department is giving privileges that citizens of this city have paid thousands of dollars for in the past. I refer, for instance, to the rectory building out in Franklin Park, and also the headhouse privilege over in Marine Park. They give as a reason the fact that the people to whom they are giving these privileges will be people who will better serve the people of the city who go to these various places and buy refreshments. Why wouldn't they be better able to serve them? Let us take, for instance, the headhouse at Marine Park, for which in the past I understand $5,000 a year has been paid for the privilege. If you take away the $5,000 a year, any of those who have held that contract in the past would surely be ready to compete in the future with those receiving the contract, with that handicap removed. I think the tendency of the times, under this administration, is to give away these revenue-producing privileges of the City of Boston practically for nothing, in my opinion, to a lot of social settlement workers, who I very much doubt are even residents of the City of Boston. I think all these things that are advertised or should be advertised should be submitted to somebody such as the Finance Commission. We see the amount charged under contract after contract increased after the contract has been granted. I think that is a dangerous practice. I think when a contractor submits a bid on a proposition he ought to be able to know just about what he is bidding on and ought not later to be faced with the fact that some one who bids lower than he will in addition to his contract price be paid more money under that contract to complete the work than he would have been willing to do the entire job for. I think the whole thing, seemingly, is getting away from what it ought to be, and I feel that this matter is worthy of serious consideration. I move that it be referred to the Executive Committee.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, I accept that reference.

The order as amended was referred to the Executive Committee.

WORLD WAR MEMORIAL PARK.

Coun. WATSON offered an order—That the Board of Park Commissioners be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to change the name of Wood Island Park, East Boston, to World War Memorial Park, in honor of the East Boston soldiers, sailors and marines who gave their lives for the cause of freedom during the World War, and to properly mark the park with the necessary signs.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, I want to be fair concerning this order with the gentleman who is responsible for its birth. I am merely an instrument by which it is brought to the attention of the City Council, his Honor the Mayor and the Park Department. Mr. Giblin, a former member of the Legislature and of the City Council, from East Boston, suggested the thought to me, and I felt that it was a good one. In consequence I have introduced the order. The object, if successful, is to change the name of Wood Island Park to World War Memorial Park, and it is proposed that a committee wait upon or get in touch with the Secretary of War or the Secretary of the Navy and request that some unknown hero of the late war be buried here and that there be a sort of consecration to the memory of all those who died in the service. I thought that the idea was an excellent one. I realize, however, that the Mayor is inclined to oppose changing names of existing parks, that is, where the name represents some individual. But, as I understand it, Wood Island Park is not an island at all and the name does not have reference to any person by the name of Wood. It simply means that at one time it was a wooded section on that particular place that was called an island. So I see no objection, from my point of view, to the change of name, and I fail to see any objection that the Park Department can have to the change to the name suggested. Of course, the Park Department might decide on some other name, or it might be that some better name would suggest itself. In that case, I think the initiator of the order, Mr. Giblin, would be satisfied. I spoke at the last meeting concerning the lack of open spaces and parks that might be used to honor the memories of those who died in the service. No doubt the other members here are aware of the scarcity of such places. There are practically no places left. I know of one case now of a widow who lost a boy in Europe in the late war, and lost another boy off a mine sweeper, and I cannot find a suitable square in Roxbury, where the boys were born and where the mother now lives, to name in honor of the memory of those boys. It is unfortunate. This lady would never have spoken to anybody about the matter, but I was told by somebody that that situation existed, and I called at her house. She told me, "yes," that she had lost two boys. I said, "Well, don't you think their memories should be recognized by having a square named after them?" She replied, "I have nobody who will do it," and the thought struck me that there were a tremendous number of fathers and mothers, sisters and brothers who had lost some dear one and who were similarly situated. They feel that they have no influence, nobody to interest themselves in the matter and so they simply let the thing go. They are not acquainted with Coun. Brickley, Collins, Ford, Moriarty, McLaughlin, Donoghue, Lane, Hagan or Watson. They merely know that some one has been able to get some councilor to name a square after somebody's else boy, that it was done because those people happened to have influence. I think that this idea of Mr. Giblin's—and I feel that other members here will agree with me—helps to meet that situation. In my opinion it is an excellent idea, and he deserves all the credit in the world for it. I think there could be no more fitting act of the Park Department than to change the name of Wood Island Park to the name suggested in the order, or to some name as appropriate or more so. The idea of having the body of some unknown dead soldier or sailor brought there and buried and having a tablet over his remains to consecrate that particular location to that boy's memory and to the memory of all the East Boston boys who died in the service, I think is an excellent one. I believe the Park Commissioners would agree with me in that matter, and I know that my colleagues will, because they all recognize the lack of opportunity to memorialize all those who have died in the service by reason of lack of parks and squares. I move that the matter be referred to the Executive Committee in order that I may more fully acquaint myself with the facts, finding out whether or not any real objection can be raised to the changing of the name of Wood Island Park to another name such as is proposed. If there is some proper objection, if the name "Wood" represents some individual of historic importance who has had something to do with the past history of Boston, I would withdraw the order rather than have it passed and vetoed by the Mayor because of that reason. I move, therefore, that the order be referred to the Executive Committee.

The order was referred to the Executive Committee.

EDWARD J. MORAHAN SQUARE.

Coun. MORIARTY, for Coun. BRICKLEY, offered an order—That the open space at the junction of Cornwall street and Brookside avenue, Jamaica Plain, be named Edward J. Morahan square, in honor of Private Morahan of Company D, 60th Infantry, who fell in action in the Argonne on September 22, 1917, while serving his country during the World War, and that said space be suitably marked with signs.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

CHARLES NEWCOMB SQUARE.

Coun. MORIARTY, for Coun. BRICKLEY, offered an order—That the space at the junction of Boylston street and Massachusetts avenue be named Charles Newcomb square, in honor of Private Charles Newcomb who was killed in action at Cnateau Thierry, July 20, 1918, while serving in Company C, 103d Infantry, 26th Division, and that said space be suitably marked with signs.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

EDWARD J. QUINLAN SQUARE.

Coun. MORIARTY, for Coun. BRICKLEY, offered an order—That the space at the junction of Broadway and Albany street be named Edward J. Quinlan square, in memory of said Quinlan who lost his life during the World War in the service of the United States, and that said space be suitably marked with signs.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

WALTER J. FOLEY SQUARE.

Coun. MORIARTY, for Coun. BRICKLEY, offered an order—That the space at the junction of East Brookline street and Harrison avenue be named Walter J. Foley square, in honor of said Foley who gave his life for the cause of freedom during the World War, and that said space be suitably marked with signs.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

CORNELIUS A. MURPHY SQUARE.

Coun. MORIARTY, for Coun. BRICKLEY, offered an order—That the space at the junction of Compton and Emerald streets be named Cornelius A. Murphy square, in honor of said Murphy who gave his life for the cause of freedom during the World War, and that said space be suitably marked with signs.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

JEROME J. CROWLEY SQUARE.

Coun. MORIARTY, for Coun. BRICKLEY, offered an order—That the space at the junction of Broadway and Washington street be named Jerome J. Crowley square, in honor of said Crowley, who gave his life for the cause of liberty during the World War, and that said place be suitably marked with signs.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

DENNIS J. CALLAHAN SQUARE.

Coun. HAGAN offered an order—That the square at the junction of East street and Dorchester avenue and Freeport street in the Dorchester section be named and known hereafter as Dennis J. Callahan square, to commemorate the memory of Dennis J. Callahan, a member of the 101st Engineers, of the 26th Division, who lost his life in France.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

MATHEW E. O'GORMAN SQUARE.

Coun. MORIARTY, for Coun. BRICKLEY, offered an order—That the space at the junction of Seaverns avenue, Elm, Gordon and Revere streets, Jamaica Plain, be named Mathew E. O'Gorman square, in honor of Chief Yeoman O'Gorman, who was killed August 20, 1918, on the Belgian front, while in the performance of his duty during the World War, and that said space be suitably marked with signs.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

UNION BINDING AND RULING.

Coun. MORIARTY offered an order—That his Honor the Mayor be requested to instruct the Superintendent of Printing to have all binding and paper ruling done in binderies and printing establishments where forty-four hours constitute a week's work.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

FIVE-CENT FARE LINES.

Coun. DONOGHUE offered an order—That the Boston City Council request the Trustees of the Boston Elevated Railway Company to further improve the five-cent fare line running between Eustis and Essex streets, by putting more cars on this line, and also extending the hours of service until 11.30 p. m. The question came on the passage of the order.

Coun. DONOGHUE—Mr. President, I realize that the Elevated is probably going through a very strenuous stage of its career, but I do feel that when we who live near the center of the city and who have to travel between City Hall and Eustis street pay the same fare that practically everyone else pays, and then the trustees put on a 5-cent fare line, when they do so, they should at least provide a sufficient number of cars to adequately serve the people of that district. Last Saturday I purposely waited for the 5-cent fare line at Essex street, and seventy-five people got on the car between Essex street and Union Park street, so that the car was over-crowded and there was no room to move on it. I also went out to the other end of the line, at Eustis street, and while out there I saw one of these 5-cent fare cars standing still on Eustis street for about fifteen minutes. I feel that they ought to put more cars on that line. They have only two, or possibly three at the most, and they are a small type of car, so it means lack of accommodation even if they have three cars running on that line on twenty-minute time, if they are on schedule.

I think they ought to do better than that for the people who live between here and there, as far as service is concerned, particularly in view of the fact that the cars if they do come along are well crowded with people. I think from a business standpoint it would be well for the trustees of the Elevated road to put more cars on that line and to further extend the hours, so that, instead of shutting down at 6.30, as they do now, they would run them until, say, 11.30, so as to take care of the theater crowds, and so forth, that come into town and go back in the evening after supper. Along Harrison avenue they have not been running the cars recently, owing to the fact that the Castle Street Bridge has been open for repairs. I don't see any reason why they could not run that line either along Harrison avenue from Eustis to Essex street or along Shawmut avenue for the same distance, where there are no street cars that run now. I hope the order will be acted upon favorably.

The order was passed.

Coun. COLLINS in the chair.

INVESTIGATION OF REMARKS.

Coun. HAGAN offered an order—That the Boston Finance Commission be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to make a thorough and complete investigation of the serious charges as made by a member of this City Council, as reported in the public press: "That in order to have the original Stuart street act accepted by the City Council it would have called for the use of a 'slush fund'."

Coun. HAGAN—Mr. President, during my term of membership in this body I have always taken considerable pride in the idea that members of the body selected by the citizens of Boston were men of honest thought and intent, men about whose vote under any conditions there was no question. I have lived in that thought up to the moment when I picked up the Boston press a few days ago and saw the fact stated that a member of this body before another body of the city government had given utterance to a thought that was contrary to what I had always believed. I read that with more or less discouragement and some dismay, for I wanted to continue to believe that the members of the City Council of Boston were men of absolutely honest intent, that their vote was not and could not be purchased and that, therefore, there would be no need or no suggestion of the need of a so-called "slush fund." Mr. President, if that is so it must have a direct bearing upon the members of this Council who voted against the original Stuart street act, for originally I could not possibly be applied to those members of the body who consistently and persistently at all times voted for the original Stuart street act in the belief then that it was for the best interests of the city, as that is now the belief and opinion, I think, of every observing citizen. I think, therefore, that those who voted for the Stuart street act are exempt from this suggestion of being so influenced in voting for it. Certainly, in the case of those who so voted for it there would be no need of a "slush fund," and the suggestion must apply directly to those who voted against it. However, I do not agree with that conclusion. I do not think that those who voted against it were holding back their vote for a good and meritorious act simply and solely because of the fact that they were on the lookout for a so-called "slush fund." I have more confidence in the members of this body than that. I believe that those members were conscientious in their objection, that they had a reason, and a rightful one, for withholding their approval from that original Stuart street act. But it is evident that there is a difference of opinion here, that a member of this Council at least thinks otherwise, or that he would not have given public utterance to any such suggestion. If the gentleman is better informed upon the matter than I am, and if the majority vote of this Council was susceptible to the influence, corrupt and otherwise, of a "slush fund," I think the citizens of Boston should know it. I believe it should be unearthed to the very depths, and that we should find out whether it is possible or probable, so that the reputation of this body in this community and among citizens of Boston may remain, as I feel that it will, when the facts are known, as untarnished as I have always believed it was. If there is any truth in this suggestion it should be probed to the very bottom, that we should be shown who the guilty parties, if there are any, are. Again I reiterate that, in my opinion, there are none. If, on the contrary, after a complete and thorough investigation by the investigating body of the city government, the Finance Commission, it should be found that there is nothing whatsoever in the thought but the empty vaporings of a sick mind, then let us have that fact brought out. Let us know whether irresponsible statements can be made by a person in a position in a person of responsibility that cannot be borne out by the facts, statements that are a reflection on every member of this Council. While we may differ in some degree here on many matters, I think I can safely say, for one and for all, that we want our skirts cleared of any suggestion such as appeared in recent editions of the Boston press. I hope this order will go through to its passage. I can conceive of no legitimate reason why it should not. Every man here who believes in honesty of purpose, who has confidence in his own honor and his own integrity, should favor this order, in order to clear this body as a whole of the 100 per cent taint of suspicion that has surrounded us since this utterance appeared in the public press.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, I wish to say a word in response to the utterances of the gentleman who presides over this body by accident and not because of good judgment. I do not refer to the present chairman (Coun. Collins). I am satisfied that my statement of last week made concerning his getting special rates from the Edison Company for his lighting, must have struck home. Another reason for his desire to introduce this order is that he has not been in the public eye recently. He has not got as many press notices as some of us. He has played the labor game, increasing the laborers' pay to the limit, has got them an increase, and he feels now, in order to preserve his identity as a real member of this body, that he must do something of this nature. I accept his challenge and I will vote for the order, and I shall furnish the Finance Commission with all the information I have provided Mr. McDonald, Sumner Draper and the rich real estate grafters will tell what they know and what Mr. Hagan, opposite, knows that they know. He makes reference to the majority of this Council. Five members of the body are a majority. The fact that four members voted for the order against five might lead some one to believe that the slush fund got busy early and, instead of being a reflection on the five who voted against it, in my opinion would be a reflection on the four who voted for it. But I want to say to the gentleman opposite (Coun. Hagan), with all his great business ability and his communing with the so-called better class, the business men in the Chamber of Commerce, that he ought to take a little care in his statements. The vaporings of a sick mind, of course, vilification, abuse and reference to a man's mental condition, is always a cowardly way to try to attack some one who is trying to do something good. But the public are wise to that, as well as to my colleague opposite, who, I believe, although some people may have doubts in the matter, is honest. If the hat fits you, wear it. If my informant is correct in regard to you, Mr. Hagan, the councilor opposite, the reason you are not acting in an attempt to lower the lighting rates is because you have a special contract with the Edison Company, which may furnish the reason why every now and then you try to pull my pins out from under me. I regard you highly, in some things; not many, but some. I think you are a successful business man. You can change your mind in thirty seconds. You have the greatest commercial mind that a man ever had. You are all right, sometimes. Now, as for the Finance Commission, does the gentleman know that this personal organ, the Boston Herald, editorially attacked the Finance Commission, saying recently, within a week, that in order to protect the public or the people, or officials, from the errors of the Finance Commission, it might be a good idea to have an organization to check up the Finance Commission's work. If the gentleman would listen to me for a moment, he might get some wisdom that would do him some good in his public life. You wouldn't stumble so often. I would like to move, and I will move, to get the report, in order that the members of the body may know just what I said before the members of the Street Commission, and I will pay for it. There was a stenographer present during my remarks, and I will get those remarks and make them a part of the record of this body, if necessary. I suggest to you, sir, that instead of reading and judging from a newspaper report, extracts being taken from my remarks that they thought were apropos and important, because through lack of space they could not print it all, you get and read my remarks in full before the Street Commissioners before attempting to criticize me for criticism of this body. You cannot get my goat, sir. You got it once, sir, but never again. I have got your measure. The gentleman has attempted for three or four years to make a buffoon out of me, and has not succeeded. He has discounted my attempts to do my public work properly, has attempted to slight my efforts, but he has failed. He has acted the hypocrite, by pledging his vote to me on the first ballot for president of this body and then voting otherwise, without rhyme or reason. Why, I will take your word when your bond is with it, and then only when the bond is protected as well. I stand by every word said by me in front of the Street Commission. The act that the Mayor is operating under in connection with the extension, widening and construction of Stuart street, is against the interests of the taxpayers of this city. You know that it is, and I believe in years to come it will be found to the sorrow of the citizens that that act, instead of being a proper thing for the citizens, has placed a burden on their shoulders that the gentleman and others cannot remove, because they will not have the power to do so. I refer to the Mayor, now. Now, sir, as long as you have brought up the Stuart street matter, let us have a complete record of what I said across the way. I said that I believed, although I could not prove it, that a "slush fund" was secured by the real estate politicians who put through the Stuart street act. I did not say that that "slush fund" was used in connection with any member of this body, that any member of the body knew that it was going to be used, because it is my belief that many an act goes through this body where every member votes honestly, intelligently and fairly, where money is being paid to somebody other than the members of this body. The gentleman may have another reason for introducing this order. He has a great good friend, the political leader of Ward 5, whom he hobnobs with. Although the gentleman is a member of the Good Government Association and receives their indorsement, although Coun. Hagan hobnobs with the Chamber of Commerce and also with the reformers in the Good Government Association, he also goes down and does the self-same thing ten minutes afterwards with the Mahatma of Ward 5, Martin M. Lomasney. Oh, you are perfect. Talk about Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde; I never saw a better example of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde in politics before than the example given us by the member who spoke prior to me. I have no fear of Mr. Lomasney. Mr. Lomasney is one man, and I try to represent him as well as my other constituents. I try to represent all my constituents properly. If I fail, the fault is with my head and not with my heart. But I don't dance when Martin M. Lomasney fiddles, I don't dance when Coun. Hagan fiddles, and I don't dance when Laurence Minot fiddles, unless the tune suits me and my feet are in good dancing order. I do not fear you, sir, politically or otherwise. I believe—God forgive me for being vain, as I do not desire to be—that I have as good an intellect as yours, that I am as intelligent as you are and as honest as you are, as good living a man as you are, that I am as much respected by those who know me as you are, if not more. Now, as to your order, I will vote for it. The Finance Commission, if it was a live body, would not wait for the Good Government Association, would not wait for such men as reformer Bob Bottomley, reformer Charles H. Innes, reformer Laurence Minot, reformer Robert Winsor, reformer James J. Storrow, and all the rest of the hypocritical leaders of public affairs in Boston. I fear nothing from them. I may be driven from the town, but I have opinions and I will express them, and I do not take back one word I said concerning Stuart street. I say that when they passed the bill in the Legislature and amended it so that we would have no power over it, it was because they felt that we intended to see that the people of Boston got a square deal. They secured that bill, got it through the Legislature, I presume, the same way in which they passed the trustee act of the Elevated, not with a "slush fund" but with a bundle. I want to say that I accept the suggestion of the gentleman opposite. I hope that the Finance Commission will be asked to look into the matter, and I will be willing to unbosom my heart to them, as I wish he would. He may know more than he tells us about the "slush fund." I don't know that he got anything. I think he is honest, but he may know something. Search your conscience. Think over the conferences you have had with men and groups of men. Think of the visits you made prior to coming down here to offices of big business men. I don't know that the gentleman got anything, but my guess is that when these men wanted to have the bill put through here the gentleman opposite was not the last one they saw but one of the first, and I would like to have the gentleman make good his promise to me in regard to his lighting bills. I would like to see his lighting bills of recent date. I await the opportunity to look at them.

Coun. HAGAN—Mr. President, in my former statement in presenting this order I took particularly good care not to cast any reflection upon the honesty of the gentleman opposite. I raised no question as to his honesty. I did refer to the fact that he was raising a question as to the honesty of his colleagues in this body by giving utterance to that thought publicly. We can always trust the gentleman, with his adroitness of mind, by a deluge of words to create a smoke screen that will obscure the real issue. He has gotten through life on words—then more words and more words—and facts are beyond him and beneath his serious consideration. At the last meeting of this body the gentleman plucked out of the air the thought that I was getting some rebate for a contract that was particularly favorable to myself from the Edison Company.

Coun. WATSON—Tell it all, now. Tell it all.

Coun. HAGAN—Yes, Mr. President. When the gentleman has the floor, every member of this Council listens in respectful silence, but I find that that is impossible when somebody else has the floor and he is in his seat. Out of the air he pulled that thought. He had nothing, absolutely nothing, to convince him of it. But he wants to think evil, evidently, of his fellow men, and he thought evil of me. He came to me and asked me if I had got a reduction on my bill, and I said, "If I have, I don't know it." And he said, "Will you permit me to look over your bills?" I said, "Very willingly, you can see them." And I think I remarked, "If you can show me where I can get the advantage of some concessions, I think I would approve of having them." In his remarks before this body a little later he insidiously got that in a new way. In insidious methods is where the gentleman plays best. Today, knowing absolutely in his heart of hearts that I told him the truth when I told him that I had no private agreement with the Edison Company, and that there had been no reduction in my bills, to the best of my knowledge and belief, knowing that fact he stands on his feet here and repeats that and now makes it as a charge direct. And I say that it is a falsehood, absolutely, and I believe, Mr. President, that it was known to be a falsehood when utterance was given to the word. We are now led to believe by the gentleman that all the men who have displayed public spirit in the affairs of Boston for a long period of years are crooks and criminals, and names have been mentioned here promiscuously today, the names of Mr. Minot, Mr. Storrow, men of that high type and high character, men whom every man of sane and sensible judgment in this community admire and respect. But destruction, and not construction, represents the chaotic condition of the gentleman's mind, and he would destroy the reputations of those men of integrity at one blow, if it were possible for him to do so. Fortunately, they stand too high, stand too firmly on their own feet in this community, to be pulled from their pedestals today by any member of this body. I have been charged with being a Dr. Jekyll and a Mr. Hyde because of the fact that I have received the approval and indorsement of the Good Government Association, which the gentleman opposite never did receive, because in their opinion he never deserved it. One would be led to believe that the gentleman opposite never wanted it. There never was a moment that he did not want it, but he never could get it. I am called a Mr. Hyde because of the fact that Mr. Lomasney in my campaigns as a member of this body has seen fit likewise to give me support. Let me tell the gentleman opposite for his benefit, that in my first campaign as a member of this body Mr. Lomasney gave me his indorsement. I had never met the gentleman or spoken to him once in my life, before that. Let me tell the member opposite that since I have been a member of this body I have personally met Mr. Lomasney just twice in my life, and both times it was with the express purpose of thanking him for helping me, a duty that I felt I owed to any man. So much for the insidious talk that I am playing a Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde game with the Good Government Association and with Mr. Lomasney, sometimes considered in the politics of Boston its direct opposite. Mr. President, it is truly unfortunate that I cannot present an order here in good faith and make in good faith the statement I have of my reasons for so presenting it, and have my statement taken as 100 per cent true, that I cannot do this without being accused in these various ways, through camouflage, subterfuge, and attempts to confuse the real issue, taking the members' minds off of what is really before us and concentrating attention on my poor self. I am told that I am playing politics, a thing of which I have been accused in connection with every good and meritorious act I have tried to do since I have been a member of this body. Playing politics! My Lord, whatever else is ever played here? Why pick me out more than all the others? Let me say right here and now, as far as it is humanly possible to give utterance to the thought, that I am not committing any act in this body with any political thought back of it. I am not a candidate for any office now or ever, that I know of at this minute, and there is no reason for my playing politics. I do not get my living from politics. I am here to try to do my duty, believing that every public man in any sphere of action should contribute at least 20 per cent of his time to public work. In my judgment, no man can be considered a good public servant unless he is so willing, and today that applies as well to women with the franchise. They cannot consider themselves good citizens unless they are willing to give part of their time to public work. It was my fortune or misfortune to be asked to give that time in this body, and I have given it without thought or consideration to the effect it might have upon myself personally; for if I were to consider that, in the matter of dollars and cents and everything else, it would mean that I would have quit, I assure you, long ago. The gentleman sees fit to attack my honesty of purpose, in an attempt to divert attention from his statement before the Street Commissioners, in which he said, not what he would now like to make you think he said, but in which he really said that, in order to have the original Stuart street act accepted by the City Council would have called for the use of a "slush fund." He would now try to make you believe that he was attacking the Park Square Real Estate Trust, that he was attacking the big men of Boston, who were going to create this "slush fund." But he did not say that. He said that it "would have called for the use of a slush fund," which carries with it the thought that no "slush fund" was established, but that it would have called for such a fund to have gotten the act through the City Council. I do not believe it. This gentleman, who questions my honesty, who has questioned the honesty of his colleagues in this statement, is the same gentleman who stood on the floor of this house for the last few weeks making speeches of an hour or more in duration upon a subject-matter in regard to which it was very clear to all of us of intelligent thought, he really possessed little information. He made the statements that he did make, as I am informed, at the suggestion of somebody else, with the thought in mind of bearing down the stock of the Edison Company, not realizing and not caring, he or his cohorts, what effect it might have upon small stockholders. I am not here to defend the Edison Company. I agree absolutely and entirely with these suggestions that they have been getting exorbitant rates in recent months, with that coal clause still in existence. I believe that I am one of the victims, just as much as any other citizen of Boston who uses electricity, and I will be as anxious to join with the gentleman opposite in modifying the terms of their contracts as anybody else. But I believe before we approach a matter of this sort we should have some real knowledge, not pulling down out of the air something destructive, but presenting something of a really constructive nature. Mr. President, when I have anything to say about this gentleman or any other member of the body, I invariably make it a point to say it when the gentleman is present. I find, however, that he has not been as generous in that respect. Sometimes when I have been absent and unable to defend myself he has made an attack of some bitterness on me. I have in mind a recent meeting of the Committee on Appropriations, where the gentleman, taking advantage of my absence, doing what I believe he would not have done if I were present, gave utterance to some thoughts at that time, because I had been detained from attending one or two of the meetings of the committee by something which came up that made it impossible for me to be here. The gentleman stood here on the floor of this chamber, without any attack having been made upon him, of any nature, by myself or any other member of the Council, and, with a sob in his voice in every syllable, declared to the world that he was honest. He was the honest man; there was no other honest man, evidently, but him. It gave rise to the thought that "the gentleman doth protest too much!" Or perhaps a better adage is that "a guilty conscience needs no accuser." I have been in attendance at committee meetings of the Appropriations Committee over a long series of years, when the gentleman did not attend meetings of that committee, when he did not attend 10 per cent of the meetings of the committee that were held. That was all right and honest for him, but because I was unable to be here at one or two meetings recently of the Committee on Appropriations he took advantage of the fact to make the direct attack that he made upon me at that time. I did not intend to go into that matter today, but to take it up at some future time as I have a transcript of what took place at that meeting. I want first a chance to read and absorb it so that I can make a proper reply. We have had in this case simply another illustration of his attitude of mind, his attempts at all times to confuse the issue and to make me the goat, where he was the goat.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, the gentleman has been given the same latitude that the Chair allowed me, and I think the Chair has used both of us very fairly. The gentleman has seen fit to bring up the question of my criticism of his absence from the budget hearings. I want to answer that, because it has some bearing on this discussion, and because I want him to know something that he does not know concerning it, that other members besides me attacked him for his absence. The fact is that the largest single department, the department with the greatest budget, was under consideration that day, a department that was to spend eight million of the taxes, pretty nearly one third. This business man, who is a big business man, who deals in soles, in shoes and not other souls, was absent. If I hurt his feelings by showing to the public that the great business man accidentally neglected his duty, I am sorry. But he cannot get away from the main argument, nor can he get away from what I know, that his whole intent today is to discount me and my actions, in the past and the future, concerning a great big proposition. The gentleman has not yet shown me his bill from the Edison Company. Until he does I will have to say that I think my informant is correct and that he is getting special rates. He has not been very vociferous in his defense of my orders, or our orders. In fact, in the Executive Committee, he started in to defend the gas company one day. Perhaps he burns a good deal of gas and is getting special rates, I don't know. He says that if he could he would. All right; that is his privilege. If he can, he has, and if he hadn't he would come here and howl louder than I have. I use gas. The gentleman is all right, but, of course, it is cruel that he cannot be the headliner all the time. This is a body of nine stars, instead of one, and the gentleman has to take the same chance of publicity for his future campaigns that he doesn't intend to make, as others. If the gentleman says anything worth while, the papers will print it, but they won't print much for that reason, that he does not say much that is worth while. We might as well have it out today, because we are going to shake hands afterwards and be good friends. The fact that you are going to retire from public life, as you suggest, is a welcome notice to the intelligent voters of the community, who seldom vote for you. The gentleman speaks of my making some statements with a sob in my voice. The gentleman must have been in a closet somewhere listening, and must have mistaken something else for a sob. I was not sobbing; I was laughing. But he always gets things contrary, anyway; gets the cart before the horse. I want to say one word in conclusion. I cannot gather much from his argument or his reasoning. He says, in the first place, that he does not say anything in the nature of criticism of me in his speech, and then goes on to say that my statements were the ravings of a sick mind. I suppose his ravings are those of a great intellect. After referring to my remarks as the ravings of a sick mind, he goes on to tell about my "usual adroitness." I certainly cannot figure out what he means. I seem to be adroit and also the opposite. But it is old stuff, the old story of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde. I want to tell him that I am one of the members of this body, elected here by the people, and I think I have the respect of most of my colleagues. I do not think that wealth is the standard by which to measure men, and it never has been. He must take the conduct and the character of men, not measuring them by artificial standards. "A man's a man for a' that," as Bobbie Burns says. You don't have to have a bank roll or to profiteer in shoes, coal or anything like that, to be a big man or to rise to a proper standard. A man without a dollar can be a good citizen, can conduct himself properly and be recognized as a worthy citizen in the community. He refers to my attack upon certain people of standing in this community. I referred to Mr. Innes, to Mr. Lomasney, to Mr. Storrow and several others, that the stenographer knows, and said that I didn't dance when they played the fiddle. That is nothing out of the way. I didn't say anything other than that. He knows them better than I, and he apparently has referred to something else. I don't know that they are off color. He knows them, and when their names are mentioned he is ready to defend them. But what is the use of wasting time on trivial matters? The gentleman knows perfectly well that we have accomplished some good in the gas situation. I don't forget a session when you brought out for the benefit of the gas company the fact that the reason they took the Lawrence Building which they bought for nearly two million dollars of the taxpayers' money, was that they had to give up the building on West street. You brought out the fact, or somebody told you of the fact, that the reason why they moved was because the lease was up and they had to get a new lease. Of course, the gas company didn't know it until they were brought right up against it. Well, of course, we all know that you are with the public. You are with them as long as they will buy their shoes; that is as long as you are with them.

Coun. MORIARTY—Mr. President, I rise in opposition to the order. I will say that if the matter was going to some body that had some power to make the investigation, I would be glad of it. If they will change the words from "Finance Commission" to "District Attorney" I will vote for it. Otherwise, I shall vote against it. The Boston Finance Commission has no power to call any witnesses before it and put them under oath. What is the use of going into an investigation that is going to be a pink tea party? But if the matter can be sent to some place where some one will have power to put witnesses under oath, something may be brought out that will be of interest to the public and to men here. Until an order is put in, however, that proposes to refer the matter to somebody with power, I am going to vote against it.

Coun. HAGAN—Mr. President, if the gentleman makes that as an amendment I will accept it as an amendment and incorporate it in the original order. I shall be glad to do so.

Coun. MORIARTY—Mr. President, I have never been accused of being a copper, yet. If I want an investigation I will introduce an order, and if somebody else wants to introduce an order and hasn't courage enough to send it to the place where it ought to go, that is not my fault. I am not going to pull anybody's chestnuts out of the fire. If anybody brings in an order here, the person bringing in the order ought to be satisfied to go the distance, without expecting anybody else to amend it.

Coun. WATSON—Good boy, Jim!

Coun. MORIARTY—If the gentleman who put the order in wants to amend it as suggested, I will vote for it, but if I am asked to pull anybody's chestnuts out of the fire, I say "No."

Coun. HAGAN—Mr. President, I shall be glad to amend the order so that, instead of simply referring to the Boston Finance Commission, it will include the District Attorney of Suffolk County I put in the Boston Finance Commission, believing that that was the investigating body of the city government and the body that would be able to make the investigation. I am willing, however, to bow to the judgment of others. To show my good faith, I shall be glad to include the District Attorney in the order, putting in both, if it is deemed wise.

Chairman COLLINS—Do I understand the gentleman to move that the words "and the District Attorney" be added?

Coun. HAGAN—The Finance Commission and the District Attorney.

Chairman COLLINS—Instead of substituting the District Attorney for the Finance Commission.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, I would vote for the order if the Finance Commission were struck out and the District Attorney substituted therefor, making it perfectly clear that the District Attorney was to look into the matter, in order that the gentleman may have all the information he desires on the proposition referred to. I do not think, however, that we ought to have any duplication of work. Why doesn't the gentleman move to strike out the Finance Commission and substitute therefor the District Attorney, making it a straight order to that effect? I will not vote for an order that divides responsibility. The gentleman heard the suggestion made by Coun. Moriarty, and I think it is a proper one. If you want information concerning the matter, and if you are on the level in inquiring into it and want a thorough inquiry, then have it sent to the proper authority. The Finance Commission has nothing to do with it. If there is something they want to know concerning this matter from me, I want to go to some one whom we can depend upon to tell what little I may know about the matter, some one who are not friends of those who are interesting themselves in the thing at the moment and unfriendly to me. That is all. I do not believe in going against a packed jury, and I think if the gentleman opposite is sincere he will eliminate the Finance Commission and send his worthy order, his wonderful order, to the District Attorney for consideration; and I will be on tap and furnish all the information I have to the District Attorney and I trust that he will do likewise. I will not vote for an order calling upon the Finance Commission and the District Attorney jointly to work on it, because oil and water do not mix, and I think that applies to the present controversy.

Coun. HAGAN—Mr. President, the gentleman only a few moments ago said he was going to vote for the order, and it then provided for investigation only by the Finance Commission. Now he takes advantage of the fact that the District Attorney has been interjected into the dispute to say that he is willing that the matter should be referred to the District Attorney, but he objects to referring it jointly to the District Attorney and the Finance Commission. He says now he will not vote for it if the Finance Commission is included, although before he was willing to vote for it when it was proposed that it should be referred to the Finance Commission. I don't care who it goes to. I want an investigation made, a thorough and absolute investigation, to clear the skirts of this body from the tinge that has been placed upon them by the gentleman opposite when he gave public utterance to that thought. If there is anybody you can send it to who will give us results, I am perfectly willing to bow to the superior judgment of the majority of my colleagues here, in order to get the result that I want. Let us not camouflage this any more. If the District Attorney is the place and the only place, and we have the power to send it there, then let us send it there, if you are agreed. If, on the contrary, it has to be first investigated by the Finance Commission, as the city investigating body, we can include them in the order, as well as the District Attorney, with the approval of the Mayor.

Coun. WATSON—No, you don't need the Mayor.

Coun. HAGAN—I am talking now. You have had your say. We cannot pass this order without the approval and consent of the Mayor. I want the matter investigated. I want the gentleman to tell a complete story to some reliable body which can put him under oath and get the truth from him if that is possible. I would like to get facts, and not fancies, and I am satisfied, if the facts are absolutely ascertained, that we will find that there was absolutely no truth in what the gentleman said before the Street Commissioners. That is my judgment and opinion. If there is any truth in what was said, let us have it; and if there is no truth in it, let the public know, what many have suspected, that this is simply another vagary of an idle mind. Let us place the responsibility where it belongs. I do not want this unsavory reputation surrounding me in my remaining time in this body, and I don't think anybody wants it. Yet the gentleman has characterized us and put us in that unenviable position. I lived in the country when I was a boy, and I know the animal, and I know that it is safe to give him a wide berth. Mr. President, I want this order passed, so that we may have a complete and thorough investigation. I don't care where it goes. I would ask now that the order be referred to the Executive Committee, so that we can come to a conclusion as to the form in which it should be passed here, instead of thrashing it out here and talking our heads off all day.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, the gentleman is now showing signs of common sense. After all, when we go after information we ought to do so coolly and carefully, or we might get on somebody's horns that we did not expect when we throw these things into the ring. The gentleman refers to an animal. Well, there are other animals besides the skunk. There are hounds. The gentleman has come down from his pedestal as a great business man and has now got down to the ordinary fellow in his discussion here. He has got down below me now in some of the things I have said. But the gentleman knows, as I do, that I meant every word I said before the Street Commissioners. I will have it made a part of the record of this body as soon as I can get the typewritten report. I do not take back one single word; I do not rub out the dot of an i or the crossing of a t. I stand by every word I say. I welcome every kind of inquiry he may desire, and I am prepared to go forward and tell all that I know. I am satisfied that the public believe in me as much as they believe in him; and if this is part of an attempt to discount my efforts and those of my colleagues in bringing about a reduction in lighting rates in Boston, or an attempt to discount my efforts along other lines, the gentleman has fallen down very, very much, because the reduction in wage rates by the Edison Company and the possibility of municipal ownership are going on just as the wave comes up on the shore. You cannot stop it. The public are back again. They are no longer reactionary; they are again progressive. They are getting back to the normal, and are no longer in an abnormal state. They now know what is what and they know that the rich man, the privileged class have been using all kinds of camouflage and bluff. The people are awake and have caught them bluffing. They do not propose to allow the gentleman opposite, with any camouflage, if he is an agent for the Edison Company, to discount our action and our efforts. He has failed signally, because the matter of reduced rates is going to be fought out and public ownership will ultimately succeed, whether you remain a member here or pass away, or whether I remain a member or pass away. It is a great public question, a matter of great public importance. Why should not the public get the benefit of earnings from the furnishing of gas and electric light? Why should this privilege be allowed to Robert Winsor, of Elevated fame, and his friends, McKnight of the Fidelity banking concern and other gentlemen who have for some time been prominent in certain affairs, men who are not, in my opinion, the equal of any member of this body, notwithstanding the fact that I consider the gentleman opposite? Why, Mr. Lomasney referred to this body with disrespect. On Beacon Hill he ridiculed this body, and consequently must have ridiculed the member opposite. Why? We are doing something here. The nine members of this body were responsible for the defeat of five bills that would have meant taking from the pockets of the people of the Commonwealth $100,000,000 in increased rates for lighting. Does the gentleman opposite know that? Does he realize what he has done or helped to do? Does he realize that he has done something in his career? If he doesn't, let me tell him that he was one of the nine men responsible for defeating five measures in the House of Representatives which, if they had passed, would have meant $100,000,000 in additional burdens placed upon the shoulders of the people of the Commonwealth. You have done much, unknowingly; you have built better than you knew. Furthermore, we are going to have a reduction in electric lighting and a reduction in gas, because the public are aroused, and no camouflage, no attempt to lead me from the course I am pursuing as the instrument of the people, with the help of the other members here, no attitude of yours, will lead me to change my position of being on watch, watching the rich grafter, whether the real estate politician or the Edison light robber barons, or the Consolidated Gas Company, who are robbing the blind, the old, the infirm, the poor and the rich alike. I will not be turned aside; I will not be side-tracked. You can pull no red herring across the trail, as far as I am concerned. You may be doing the bidding of the interests. If you are, you are making a mighty poor job of it. You cannot change my course. No vilification, no ridicule, no false statements, no acts of yours, will change my position. The public are satisfied that I am on the job, and the only unfortunate part of it is here that you have to get a part of the credit, as unfortunately you will. I am through. Come on.

Coun. HAGAN—Mr. President, the order as presented is clear and concise in its language. There is no undecurrent of thought contained in that order. The gentleman in his harangue is only endeavoring to create another smoke screen, another barrage of words, with an attack on myself and other representative citizens. It is an endeavor to confuse the issue, to lead you, my colleagues, to believe that the order as presented is to discourage and discount the work that he has done in this body and his efforts to reduce the price of electricity. How under the name of the sun he can work that in is beyond my understanding. The investigation that is called for here has no bearing upon what the gentleman has said. I do not mean that it shall have; I am not trying to discount his action. I am supporting him and have supported him in his efforts. I am sympathetic to his efforts in that direction. I wish him Godspeed in bringing down the price of electricity and gas, if it is in his power or in our power collectively. There is no desire on my part to interfere with that work, and the gentleman knows it. He speaks of dragging a red herring across the trail. He is the one who is dragging the red herring, to see if he cannot confuse the minds of the members of this body. I hope the order will be considered for its real worth and that it will be referred to the Executive Committee, to decide what body it should go to for investigation. If it were in my power to do so, in order to get at the truth I would send it to the Supreme Court of the United States.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, do I understand that the order now contains the Finance Commission and the District Attorney?

Chairman COLLINS—Coun. Hagan's motion is that further consideration of the order be referred to the Executive Committee.

The order was declared referred to the Executive Committee. Coun. Moriarty doubted the vote and asked for the yeas and nays. The order was referred to the Executive Committee, yeas 5, nays 1:

Yeas—Coun. Collins, Donoghue, Ford, Hagan, Lane—5. Nays—Coun. Moriarty—1.

MUNICIPAL SERVICE.

Complaints, inquiries or suggestions
regarding the work of municipal departments should be made in writing to the officials directly in charge. The failure of such officials to make reply within a reasonable length of time should be brought to the attention of the Mayor.
Communications should be directed as follows:

TO THE BOARD OF STREET COM-
MISSIONERS, Room 401, City Hall Annex,
for information relative to the laying out, relocation, widening and the discontinuance of highways; the taking of real property for municipal purposes; the assessments of betterments for streets
and sewers; the plotting of undeveloped areas for streets and the opening of private ways; the granting of licenses
for the storage or sale of merchandise
in public streets; the regulation of street
traffic; the making of specific repairs
in public streets, the naming of public streets, the planting and removal of trees in public ways, the issuing of licenses for the storage of gasoline, oil
and other inflammable substances or explosive compounds, the use of the public ways for any permanent or temporary obstruction or projection in,

under or over the same, including the location of conduits, poles and posts for telephone, telegraph, street railway or illuminating purposes, signs, marquises,
bay windows, coal holes and vaults.

TO THE COMMISSIONER OF PUBLIC
WORKS, Room 511, City Hall Annex, for information as to the watering, cleaning,
lighting and repairing of streets, the construction and care of sewers and catchbasins, the operation of the ferries, the maintenance of bridges and drawbridges
and the removal of ashes and offal.

TO Room 604, City Hall Annex, for information relative to the supplying or metering of water and the water charges
of the city.

TO THE HEALTH DEPARTMENT, Room
1107, City Hall Annex, for information
relative to the inspection of milk, vinegar, meat, fish and vegetables, the is-surance of permits for stables, slaughter houses, etc., smoke nuisances, the existence of contagious diseases or public health nuisances.

TO THE BOARD OF PARK COM-
MISSIONERS, 33 Beacon street, for information as to the care of the Common,
Public Garden, Franklin Park, Franklin
Field, Commonwealth avenue, Back Bay
Fens, Marine Park and the small parks
and playgrounds in general throughout the city, and as to the extermination of gypsy moths and the charges made for such service. Application may be made to this department for information regarding the public baths and gymnasiums maintained by the city,
and with regard to municipal indoor concerts and band concerts; also information relative to Mount Hope, Evergreen, Fairview and other public cemeteries owned by the City of Boston.

TO THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE, 26 Mason
street, for information relative to the operation of the schools of the city.

TO THE SCHOOLHOUSE COMMISSIONERS,
Room 1007, City Hall Annex, for information as to the construction and repair of school buildings.

TO THE BOARD OF EXAMINERS, Room
1001, City Hall Annex, for information regarding the licensing of persons having charge or control of the work of construction, alteration, removal or tearing down of buildings.

TO THE WIRE DIVISION OF THE FIRE
DEPARTMENT, Room 905, City Hall
Annex, for all information relative to the erection of poles, the building of conduits, the installation of wires and electrical apparatus. Also to the same office for permits for the installing of wires and electrical apparatus within buildings in the City of Boston, and for the payment of fees incident to the granting of the privileges above named,
and which must invariably be paid in advance.

MUNICIPAL CALENDAR.

CONTRACTS AWARDED.

The following contracts for work, materials and supplies have been awarded with the approval of the Mayor. Those awarded without public advertisement are especially indicated. Week ending May 12, 1921.

PARK DEPARTMENT.

Repairs at L Street Bath House.

On May 9 to R. A. Bossi Company as per following communication:

Boston 9, May 5, 1921.

HON. ANDREW J. PETERS,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—Invitation proposals were opened at the engineer's office of this department on May 3, 1921, for repairs to the plank fences, platform floors, stair tread and risers, at the L Street Bath House, in the boys, men and women's section.

On account of the difficulty in working between tides, we received only two bids out of four firms that were asked, as follows:

John J. Flynn, $1,440; R. A. Bossi Company, $962.

By vote of this board, subject to your approval, the contract was awarded to the lowest bidder for the sum of $962, same to be charged to B-39 General Plant Repairs. The Board believed that as this sum, $962, was so close to $1,000, it should be submitted to you for your approval.

Yours very truly,

DANIEL J. BYRNE, Secretary.

Oils and Grease.

On May 9 to Crew Levick Company and Jenney Manufacturing Company as per following communication and bids:

Boston 9, May 5, 1921.

HON. ANDREW J. PETERS,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—Attached please find list of bids on proposals for furnishing engine, machine and cylinder oils and grease to the various city departments, which were publicly opened and read at this office under date of April 21, 1921.

I respectfully recommend that permission be granted me to award the contract for furnishing the 50 barrels of heavy engine and machine oil to the Crew Levick Company, the second lowest bidder, at 38.95 cents per gallon, and to award the contract for furnishing the 100 barrels of medium engine and machine oil to the Jenney Manufacturing Company, the lowest bidder at 30 cents per gallon.

Regarding the cylinder oil and lubricating grease, would state that no award will be made at the present time on these items.

Regarding the bid submitted by the Vacuum Oil Company, would state that their bid was irregular as they submitted it as per their specifications and also they deposited both bids at the Supply Department and neglected to file the necessary check which should accompany the bid. For this reason we have awarded the heavy engine and machine oil to Crew Levick Company, the second lowest bidder.

Respectfully yours,

G. J. CRONIN,
Superintendent of Supplies.

ARTIFICIAL STONE SIDEWALKS.

BOSTON, May 7, 1921.

To the Mayor of Boston:

Permission to award a contract for the construction of artificial stone sidewalks in the public streets, without advertising, to Joseph Rugo, 173 Marginal street, East Boston, Mass., is hereby requested on the ground that this contractor is not selected by the city in the first instance but by the abutters; and secondly, the expense of construction being divided by the city and abutters; also because such contracts vary greatly in amounts and seldom involve one thousand (1,000) dollars.

Respectfully yours,

T. F. SULLIVAN,
Commissioner of Public Works.

BOSTON, May 9, 1921.

The authority requested is hereby given.

ANDREW J. PETERS, Mayor.
